TORONTO PROFESSOR, MINISTER AND CAPITALIST DIES IN INDIA

Son of Founder of Implement Firm, Who Was Widely Known For His Benefactions and His Eminence as a Biblical Teacher, Succumbs to Smallpox at Delhi, Where He Went to See the Durbar.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—With startling suddenness yesterday morning came the news by cablegram from Delhi, India, of the death on Monday through smallpox of Dev. Dr. Elmore Harris of this city.

Four brief words—"Elmore Harris dead, smallpox"—was the whole of the message received by his brother-in-law, Mr. J. N. Shenstone, of the Massey-Harris Co., which told of the end of the earthly career of one who had been an outstanding figure in the Baptist Church of Canada, and one of the greatest benefactors of Christian institutions of his time.

The news will come as a shock to thousands of people in Ontario, by whom Dr. Harris was known, loved and respected.

J. N. Shenstone, who is a brother-in-law of Dr. Harris, said last night that no further news had been received from Delhi, India, where Dr. Harris died.

Preceding the announcement of his death, no news of Dr. Harris' illness had been received. It is probable his remains will not be returned to Toronto, but will be interred in India. Rev. Dr. Harris was a native of Beamsville, and a son of Allison Harris, one of the founders of the Massey-Harris Co. He was educated at the Beamsville public and high schools, and had a brilliant course at Toronto University, especially in classics and Hebrew. His first pastorate was at the Baptist Church, St. Thomas. Coming to Toronto, he became pastor of Yorkville Baptist Church, and was prominently identified with the establishment of Bloor Street Baptist Church. He was a pioneer in the mission in Walmer road, from which developed the stately church there, to which he pledged $36,000 just before starting on his journey.

Eighteen years ago Dr. Harris was identified with the Bible training movement, resulting in the founding of the College Street Bible Training School.

While Dr. Harris was a trenchant champion of the Old Testament as against some of the views of the higher critics, he is universally spoken of in the highest terms by the most representative Baptist clerygmen of the city, to whom the news of his death came as a stunning shock. He was a member of McMaster University senate, and one of the lecturers there.

Brantford's License Board.

Brantford, Dec. 20.—A permanent license board, governing all except liquor licenses in this city, has been appointed by the City Council. The board consists of five members—the city engineer, chief of police, fire chief, medical health officer and chairman of the finance committee. All license bylaws have been consolidated.

Dr. Bruce Smith addressed a meeting of ratepayers here last night, urging the adoption of the hospital bylaw to raise $35,000 by debentures for an enlargement to the hospital. The county will spend $15,000 and the Women's Aid $20,000 for the nurses' home. Dr. Smith showed the imperative necessity of increasing the accommodation, as the city has long ago outgrown the hospital.

Five Years For Stanton.

St. Catharines, Dec. 20.—This was sentence day in the general sessions of peace. County Judge Carman handed out stiff terms of imprisonment to Wm. Leiden at Vineland, convicted of burning a barn last September and Burner Goodall, convicted of writing threatening letters to Annie Black, a Beamsville girl, to whom he was previously engaged to be married.

Goodall was given a sentence of two years in the penitentiary.

Stanton, who is quite deaf, made a strong plea for freedom, claiming that he was not only innocent, but the victim of a conspiracy, even his own family turning against him. The judge imposed t sentence of five years in the penitentiary.

Rich Strike In Yukon.

Dawson, Yukon Territory, Dec. 20.—A stampede to the head of Sixty-Mile River is in progress, as the result of a rich gold strike there, news of which was brought by John Matton, who told of getting two and a half ounces of gold, worth nearly $40 from a bedrock space five by eight feet. Many old prospectors have started over the 130-mile trail to the new diggings, which are 20 miles from the Alaskan boundary.

Teachers Are Defiant.

Kingston, Dec. 20.—Teachers in the public schools are up in arms because the Board of Education has decided to adopt the bonus system instead of a fixed salary increase. They have written the board, stating they will not accept the plan and asking that the question be reconsidered. If the board decides to press the scheme many resignations will follow at the end of the year.

Bernard McColl, aged 22, of Camden East, left on Nov. 27, with a rifle, to spend a few hours shooting in the bush and has not since been seen. He is a chemist employed in Rochester, but he has been visiting at his home.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will likely extend a call to Rev. S. J. Compton, Bellymony, Ireland, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Mackie.

CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Persian Parliament Refused to Permit Shuster's Dismissal

Special to the Review.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 20—The Persian cabinet resigned to-day, as a result of Parliament's refusal to permit the dimissal of Shuster. It is predicted that the new ministry will be composed of men, pledged to support Shuster. It is reported that Russian troops are ready to advance on Teheran to-morrow.

RETURN THANKS

The Knights of Pythias wish to thank their many friends who aided in the library contest, by generously contributing votes. They also extend to them a hearty invitation to be present at the K.O.P. Hall on Simcoe street, Thursday evening, when they will present the Protestant Home with the library.

SKATING AT JACKSON PARK

If the present excellent ice making weather continues there will possibly be good skating at the Jackson Park rink before the end of the week and on Christmas Day at any event. This was given out to the Review by J. H. Munro to-day.

The work of getting the ice into good shape has been taking place all this week, and although there is a good sheet of ice already formed, it will require another good flooding and freezing to give it sufficient thickness.

The toboggan slide will be thrown open as soon as the necessary snow comes to make the slide.

No Practice

The regular Wednesday night practice of the Conservatory of Music orchestra will not be held to-night, it being postponed till after Christmas.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Rev. Clarence Richeson Used Piece of Tin—Will Likely Recover

Special to the Review.

Boston, Dec. 20—Rev. Clarence V. S. Richeson, the young Baptist minister who is accused of murdering his former sweetheart, Miss Avis Linnell, attempted to commit suicide this morning in his cell, by gashing his groin with a small piece of tin.

His condition is serious, but it is likely that he will recover. The trial is set for January 15.

ESCAPED THE CANNIBALS

Toronto Missionary and Wife Are Home From Africa.

Rev. Dr. W. T. Currie and Mrs. Currie Arrive In New York After Undergoing Privations In Portuguese Province of Angola — Were Surrounded by Man-Eating Natives, But Talked Blacks Over.

New York, Dec. 20.—Stories of cannibalism in Africa were told by missionaries who arrived yesterday on the Minnewaska.

Rev. Dr. W. T. Currie and Mrs. Currie of Toronto, who have been stationed in the Portuguese Province of Angola, on the west coast of Africa, told of having been surrounded by man-eating natives.

"We were making a 14-month trip into the interior," Dr. Currie explained, "when on one occasion armed cannibals surrounded us and made preparations to serve us up for a Christmas dinner. It looked pretty serious for a time, but I called the chief over and finally talked him out of his intention of eating Mrs. Currie and myself.

"It ended up by the cannibals giving us a pig and a gourd of native beer."

On other occasions they were surrounded, but they still have the same arms and legs with which they started.

Dr. Currie has spent twenty-five years in Africa, and his wife has been with him there for eighteen years. He said that the natives of Angola practice polygamy, but discard all their wives except one when they become Christians. He told of one chief who had twelve wives, and seemed to be glad to get rid of 11 of them.

The missionary was met at the pier by his brother-in-law, Rev. Henry J. Johnston of the First M. E. Church of Hoboken, with whom he will stay for two days before leaving for home.

B. C. To Control Railway Belt.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—The Dominion Government has made an important concession to the Province of British Columbia in response to appeals from the McBride Government. The administration of the unalienated rights in that portion of the province, known as the railway belt, along the line of the C.P.R., goes to the province subject to any possible future action of the federal administration.

The condition is that the administration by the province is to be paid for out of the revenue and any surplus revenue, after the administration charges have been met, comes to the Dominion Treasury.

The necessary order in council has been passed. Valuable water rights exist in the railway belt and the province has been anxious to have the administration of them. In the action now taken there is no provision for the ultimate transfer of the unalienated territory back to the province.

Medico In Jail.

North Bay, Dec. 20.—As the result of a prosecution by Charles Rose, detective for the Ontario Medical Council, an unregistered physician practicing in a village near North Bay, is serving 30 days in the county jail in default of a $50 fine imposed on a second conviction. The first conviction, some months ago, resulted in a fine of $25 and costs, which was paid.

Right to Slap Passenger.

Galt, Ont., Dec. 20.—Magistrate Blake yesterday ruled that a conductor on a G., P. & H. train was justified in slapping a passenger's face when the passenger used profane language, and although warned, continued, and the conductor punched him in the face. The complainant was a local man, while the conductor was a Preston man.

Child Fatally Scalded.

Hamilton, Dec. 20.—Wilbur Lloyd, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Billington, 391 Main street west, died last night as the result of being fatally scalded yesterday morning, when he accidentally fell into a tubful of boiling water, which was being prepared for the family washing.

FENELON FALLS MAN HAS MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED

Foul Play is Hinted at—Missing Man May Have Fallen Into River.

Fenelon Falls, Dec. 20.—The disappearance of John Taggart, a young man aged about 30 years, a resident of Fenelon Falls is attracting a good deal of attention. Three weeks ago the missing young man left the Philips' camp near Burnt River with Mr. Philips' horse and rig to go to Coboconk for the mail. On his way he was joined by a young Englishman, who also worked at the camp, and another young man. The three proceeded to Coboconk. On their way home they disagreed as to their destination. Taggart being determined to come to the Falls leaving the rig to walk to the village by way of the railway track. The others drove on to Burnt River, leaving their companion on the road, which is said to be the last seen of him to reach Fenelon Falls by way of the track he would have to cross a railway bridge which is not provided with a railing. The general supposition is that the unfortunate man stumbled and fell off the side of the bridge into the river, as the timbers are only a few inches apart, making it impossible for anyone to fall through.

A search party drove to Burnt River on Sunday morning, having sent their canoes up on Saturday night, and paddled down the river, carefully searching the whole distance for some trace of the missing man. The members of the search party were Messrs. A. J. Gould, Geo. A. Calder F. A. Metcalfe, F Keast and Thos. Lodge.

No clue whatever was found by the party, and rumors of various kinds are rife as to the cause of the young man's disappearance, some hinting at a suspicion of foul play. It was thought until recently that he had walked to a neighboring camp or to some place in the vicinity, therefore it was not thought necessary to take an decisive action until Friday last.

A preliminary investigation was held on Monday before his Honor Judge Harding, of Lindsay. One of the most important witnesses being absent it was found necessary to postpone it until a later date.

HON. ADAM BECK COMING TO EXPLAIN HYDRO-ELECTRIC

Public Meeting in the Opera House Next Thursday Night.

Word was received to-day by City Clerk Armstrong that Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, will be in Peterborough on the evening of Thursday, Dec. 28, to address a mass meeting in the opera house on the hydro-electric question.

The public will now be afforded an opportunity of being thoroughly informed on a matter of such vital interest, and no doubt will turn out to hearthe proposition fully explained.

John Bigelow Dead.

New York, Dec. 20.—John Bigelow, the venerable diplomat and author, died at his home here yesterday morning from general breakdown due to old age.

Although in the 95th year of his age, Mr. Bigelow had displayed almost to the time of his death, amazing vitality and mental keenness. He had kept thoroughly abreast of current events and recently taken part in many public functions.

He leaves four children: Major John Bigelow, jr., U.S.A.; Poultney Bigelow, the journalist and author; Miss Grace Bigelow, and Mrs. Butler K. Harding, Mrs. Lionel Guest and Mrs. C. B. Tracey.

John Bigelow, author, statesman, journalist, lawyer and diplomat was born in Malden, N.Y., on Nov. 25, 1817. His long life was of action.

A conspicuous figure in the anti-slavery contest, a convincing journalist, minister to France throughout the troublous times of the Civil War, his career was always one of service to his country and the world in general.

LEGISLATURE WILL MEET

Provincial House Will Assemble on Jan. 30th.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—About six weeks from to-day, or to be more explicit, about Jan. 30, the newly-elected Legislature of Ontario will begin its session with Sir James Whitney and N. W. Rowell in the glare of the spotlight.

Preparations for the coming session are beginning already. A busy session of the Cabinet was held yesterday, with Hon. Adam Beck the only absentee. Mr. Beck is in Ottawa at present attending to the interests of the Hydro-electric power project and its contemplated extensions and ramifications throughout the province. Hon. J. S. Hendrie and Hon. I. B. Lucas, both without portfolio, were in attendance.

Among the names already mentioned for the Speakership this session are W. H. Hoyle of North Ontario, Dr. Jamieson of South Grey, and T. Herbert Lennox of North York.

The following official document was handed out yesterday afternoon:

"Although in all probability the coming session of the Legislative Assembly will not be opened at an earlier date than usual, yet it is important that all persons interested in private bill legislation should lose no time in taking the preliminary steps required by the rules of the House. The requirement of the rules in such matters will not be set aside in cases of mere carelessness or negligence to comply with them. In all ordinary cases the rules will be adhered to. Suggestions have been made that the rules at Ottawa be adopted, namely—that in no case will an exception be made except on the payment of a much larger fee."

Applications for legislation must be advertized previously for six months in The Ontario Gazette.

Jamaica Sugar Industry.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—The Department of Trade and Commerce is in receipt of an exhaustive report, which may have an important bearing upon the negotiations for closer trade relations between Canada and the British West Indies. The report comes from E. H. S. Flood, Canadian trade commissioner at Barbados. He says that the favorable market offered by Canada to West Indian sugar and molasses and the absence of destructive competition from beet-growing countries in Europe have not been sufficient to increase the sugar production of the islands, capital being repelled by the speculative character of the industry.

"There is," he says, "in Jamaica, the appearance of an awakening and with the improved machinery, which is being introduced throughout the colonies, a larger output of sugar may be looked for in the near future."

Attacks Montreal Liberals.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Oliver Asselin, the young Nationalist, who was defeated in St. James' constituency last election, was in the city yesterday and asked the Government to appoint a royal commission to investigate the preparation of the list in Montreal for the last election. He claims that if such an investigation is held it will reveal an astounding state of affairs. He believes that a wholesale system of personation and ballot-stuffing was followed in Montreal and district by the Liberal machine last election.

Mr. Asselin is strongly in favor of the abolition of the system of plural voting in vogue in Quebec for federal elections and would favor a Dominion election law for the cities at least.

AT PEACE CONFERENCE

Delegates Awaiting Word From Premier Yuan at Pekin

Special to the Review.

Shanghai, Dec. 20.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai's representative at the Peace conference this afternoon announced his willingness to agree to the establishment of a republic in China if the premier consents. The Peace delegates are eagerly awaiting word from Pekin.

Doctors Protest.

London, Dec. 20.—A large gathering of 2,000 doctors from all parts of the United Kingdom at a meeting held in Queen's Hall yesterday struck against the Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George's insurance scheme.

Sir Victor Horsley, member of the council of the British Medical Association, which the doctors charge with sacrificing their interests to the blandishments of Mr. Lloyd-George, was roundly hissed. He was denounced as a traitor when he tried to defend the action of the council of the British Medical Association in promising Mr. Lloyd-George that the doctors of the United Kingdom would do their share toward the success of his measuree.

The meeting passed a resolution to boycott vigorously Mr. Lloyd-George's scheme and not to treat the poor under its provision until the demands of the medical profession were granted.

Railway Rights Cancelled.

Brantford, Dec. 20.—Acting on instructions from the City Council, City Solicitor Henderson has been instructed to serve notice on the Grand Valley and Brantford Street Railway here that the rights of the company have been cancelled owing to default of terms of the agreement, and to prosecute the same immediately. The company, it is stated, owes the city a considerable amount in taxes.

Just what result will follow from the action of the city is problematical, as a deal is understood to be in progress whereby the company will be acquired by big interests.

Work on C. N. R.

North Bay, Dec. 20.—Work on the Canadian Northern Transcontinental Railway has been started east and west of North Bay, and the sub-contractors are busy erecting the necessary camps.

ARE IN FAVOR OF SECESSION

Northwestern Ontario Men Want to Join Manitoba.

Kenora, Ont., Dec. 20.—The business men of this section favor cutting off all the Ontario country west of Fort William and adding it to Manitoba. The culmination of a long agitation resulted Monday night in the following resolution by the local Board of Trade:

"Resolved, that it is the opinion of this Board of Trade that the welfare of this district would be best advanced by joining the Province of Manitoba, and that copies of this resolution be sent to the Premier of Canada, the Premier of Manitoba, the Premier of Ontario and the Boards of Trade for Fort Frances, Fort William, Port Arthur and Dryden."

The resolution was passed at a largely attended meeting called specially to consider the question of the electoral division of Kenora casting in her lot with Manitoba. A committee consisting of Messrs. Pope, Horn and Earngey were appointed to draw a memorial.

While many speakers spoke in favor of the move, they did not think there would be any likelihood of Kenora joining Manitoba. Still they thought it would have the effect of waking up the Provincial Government to the fact that the people were much dissatisfied with the treatment which has been accorded them, not only by the present Government, but by previous Governments. There were many speakers, and with one exception, all were in favor of a change.

Looted Jewelry Store.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 20.—Thieves early yesterday entered the store of Harry Laws, Welland, and nearly fifty watches and many rings were taken. They practically cleaned out the store, leaving no clue to their identity. The border is being guarded to prevent the escape of the thieves to the States.

Local authorities will ask the Government to investigate the methods pursued by contractors in bringing foreign laborers into Canada.

The request results from a number of foreigners picked up by the local police during the week, who told of having been paid paltry sums for several months' work after the contractors deducted transportation charges from the wages.

SECOND CENSUS BULLETIN IS MORE SATISFACTORY

German Budget Goes.

Berlin, Germany, Dec. 20.—The Norddeutsche Allegemeine Zeitung publishes yesterday a summary of the imperial budget for 1912. The total expenditure is given as approximately $704,840,750, an increase of $14,506,670. The army expenditure is given as $192,626,000, an increase of $10,310,250.

On the navy $114,353,750 is to be spent, a decrease of $199,500. The naval ordinary and non-recurrent expenditure shows an increase of $6,385,500.

The army increase is due to the larger peace footing voted in the Reichstag during the last session.

The interest on the national debt calls for $8,198,000 less.

Big Real Estate Deal.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—The biggest single real estate deal ever put through in Canada was closed yesterday at 6 p.m., the Dominion Bond Co. buying the Manufacturers' Life building, at the northwest corner of King and Yonge streets for $800,000.

The deal has many other outstanding features. The price per foot, including the structure, on the King street frontage, is over thirteen thousand dollars. This is the highest price paid for property in Canada, exceeding any Montreal sale.

Liner to Blame For Collision.

London, Dec. 20.—The Admiralty Court yesterday found that the White Star line steamship Olympic was responsible for the collision with the British protected cruiser Hawke, near Osborne Bay, on the north side of the Isle of Wight, on Sept. 20 last. The company pays the costs.

C.P.R. WILL ERECT NEW STEEL BRIDGE

Structure Will be 350 Feet in Length

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway will this year start the erection of a new steel bridge across the north fork of the Kettle River on the boundary line of the C.B.R.

The structure will be 350 feet long and will be supported on three mammoth concrete piers. A big staff of men will be employed on the erection work, which is expected to extend over a year.

Ready to Try Packers.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—The jury, which is to try the ten Chicago packers, who are charged with violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, was completed yesterday and the opening statement of U. S. District Attorney James H. Wilkerson was begun.

In outlining the case, Mr. Wilkerson, in a speech replete with bitter invective, declared that the defendants through the National Packing Co. had continued the old pooling practices of the packers and had actually put into effect the most powerful engine for the suppression of competition ever devised in the industrial world.

Stationmaster Assaulted.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 20.—The provincial police are facing a mystery that may never be completely solved, in finding Ross Hall, Michigan Central stationmaster at St. David's, unconscious in the road near his home, late Monday night. It was Hall's custom to take railroad money home over night, and the police believe he was sandbagged and robbed. His head and body are cut, and his condition is serious.

Brantford's Busy Custom House.

Brantford, Dec. 20.—Ald. J. W. Blakney and Edward Young have been added to the staff of the Customs Department in this city. Both are well-known factory foremen. Receipts of the Brantford office have reached the half million mark annually, and an increase in the staff was necessary.

Flying Post Must Go.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Exit the "Flying Post." The manner of its going is decreed in an announcement issued last night by the Postoffice Department:

It points out that last May the late Government entered into a contract with the G.T.R. for a special train to leave Toronto at 2.55 in the morning and reach London at 6.30 a.m. This was an entirely new departure in the railway mail service and costs the country some $40,000 a year.

The new Postmaster-General says he has looked into this matter very carefully and has come to the conclusion that this cannot be continued, and if certain newspapers desire to have special delivery they must do so at their own expense.

Claims $10,000 Back Taxes.

North Bay, Dec. 20.—The town of Sturgeon Falls is suing the Imperial Land Co., Limited, of that town for back taxes amounting to nearly $10,000. The company contests the claims, alleging that the law was not complied with in reference to assessment and collection, and that consequently no taxes are due, and that the municipality lost the priority of its lien to the bondholders by accepting promissory notes for taxes, and asking judgment on the same.

Male Population Has Grown Much Faster In the Last Decade Than Female Owing to the Influx of Settlers In the West—Bulk of Eastern Constituencies Are Below the Unit of Representation In the Commons.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—A second census bulletin issued last night gives the count of June last by sex and electoral divisions. It covers the whole of Canada with the exception of two subdivisions in Saskatchewan, two in British Columbia, and a few in the Yukon.

With these omissions, the total is still greater than the 7,180,000 announced in October, the figures announced yesterday being: Males, 3,805,350, and females 3,376,987, a total of 7,192,338, as against 5,371,315 for 1910. The male population has increased by 1,054,642, and the female population an increase of 757,330, showing a much greater increase of males than of females. This increase is largely in the west, which has seen a great influx of settlers and railway builders. A large male surplus is shown in each of the western provinces.

The figures issued last night will form the basis of the coming redistribution of constituencies. The unit of representation will be 30,852, which is higher than may now be found in a majority of eastern constituencies, but lower than may be found in the big riding of the west. Maisonneuve, which is represented by the one Labor man in Parliament, has the largest population of any riding, 170,976. Winnipeg is second with 127,388, Vancouver third with 123,902, and West Toronto fourth with 105,368. Many of the ridings are far below the new unit. Antigonish, N.S., has only 11,962, the Yukon 10,051, North Lanark 14,629, North Middlesex 13,737, and West Northumberland 12,965.

The provincial totals are:

Ontario: Males, 1,299,403; females, 1,223,955; total, 2,523,358. Population in 1901, 2,182,947.

Quebec province: Males, 1,012,506; females, 992,799; total, 2,005,305. Population in 1901, 1,648,898.

ABROGATION IS RATIFIED

U. S. Senate Backs Taft In Stand With Russia.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The Senate, by an unanimous vote last night, formally ratified President Taft's notification to Russia of the termination of the treaty of 1832. The Lodge joint resolution reported by the foreign relations committee as a substitute for the Sulzer resolution, that passed the House 300 to 1, was adopted after an all-day debate over Russian discrimination against the Jews of America. The House to-day is expected to agree to the Senate measure.

Commercial relations between the U.S. and Russia will not be affected as a result of the abrogation of the treaty of 1832, in the opinion of Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, because the favored nation clause of that treaty has been swept aside by the operation of the maximum and minimum clause of the Payne tariff law, carried into effect by the President's proclamation of July 18, 1910.

The Senator's view was discussed widely at the capitol yesterday as a feature hitherto lost sight of in consideration of the annulment of the pact.

Framing New Treaty.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—Having accepted in an equable spirit the notification of the American ambassador that the treaty of commerce and navigation entered into by the United States and Russia in 1832 would be abrogated on Jan. 1, 1913, officials of the Russia Government are now directing their attention to the question of a new treaty. It is recognized that diplomacy of the most experienced kind will be required, especially on the American side, if negotiations for a new treaty are to proceed satisfactorily.

SUFFERED FROM VIOLENT CATHARTICS

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox, whose friends throughout the West are legion In the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power. I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Pergatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching.

"From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, biliousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition."

HYDRO-ELECTRIC PROGRESS

Under the above heading the Toronto Mail-Empire refers to power development in this district. The negotiations at Ottawa between representatives of the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Otonabee Power Company, of Peterborough, for the acquiring by the commission of the company's generating plant and distributing system, is another step toward the introduction of a public power service into the Trent Valley. Since the change of Government at Ottawa every encouragement has been given the commission to extend its system by the utilization of power sites that had been held to be under Federal jurisdiction, and there will be no delay in the implementing of Sir James Whitney's pre-election promise to give Central and Eastern Ontario cheap hydro-electric power.

Two dams on the Trent waterway system have already been leased by the Dominion Government to the commission. These are No. 4, about five miles north of Peterborough, and No. 8, about 25 miles south-easterly. No. 4 has a generative capacity, under its own head, of about 1,100 horse-power; and No. 8 a capacity of 6,000 horse-power. These two heads, however, are alone capable of yielding the quantity of power the commission wants. Not only have municipalities in the Peterborough and Lakefield district to be provided for, but hydro-electric power has been promised to the lake shore municipalities. The commission wants dam No. 5, owned and developed by the Otonabee company, to combine with No. 4, and thus add 3,000 horse-power to the public battery. Dam No 5 is wanted particularly, because while Nos. 4 and 5 can singly develop only 1,100 or 1,200 horse-power, combined under one head they can develop 4,000 horse-power. The Otonabee company sought No. 4 dam for some years intending to combine the two heads, but was blocked by the City of Peterborough. The Otonabee company, which was for years an independent, competing company in Peterborough, is now controlled by the Electric Power company interests, that have a virtual monopoly of water power in the Trent district.

If the commission secures dam No. 5 the power from the combined development will probably be held for Peterborough and Lakefield. Dam No. 8, being below Rice Lake, and a larger dam, may be used to serve the more southerly municipalities. However, the expressed intention of the commission is to acquire other dams, enlarging its battery at every opportunity, until eventually there are units with an aggregate capacity of nearly 20,000 horse-power, which is considered ample to meet the needs of the district for years, especially as there are few large municipalities in it.

WESTWOOD LOSES AN OLD RESIDENT

Passing of Mrs. John Brackenridge at Welbeck

Special Correspondence.

Westwood, Dec. 18.—On Dec. 15th the messenger of death visited us, and removed from our midst one of the pioneers, in the person of Mrs. John Brackenridge.

The late Mrs. Brackenridge, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson, was born at "Boghall," Galston, Ayrshire, Scotland, April 23rd, 1831.

The family moved to Canada in 1853, crossing the Atlantic on a sailing vessel called the "Glencairn," landing at Montreal, hence up the St. Lawrence to Cobourg. Here they took the overland route to Gore's Landing and crossed Rice Lake to Keene in a row boat. They settled on a farm a mile north of the village of Westwood.

On the 7th of July, 1854, Agnes Stevenson was married to John Brackenridge by the Rev. Mr. Maclisse, and with her husband settled on a farm a short distance from her father's home. Eleven years later they moved to "Welbeck," the present family residence.

In 1904 Mr. and Mrs. Brackenridge celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding, one pleasing feature of this event being the presence of fourteen of their family of fifteen, one, Janet, having passed away sixteen years previous; also twenty grandchildren. Another was that many of their associates of early days—among them being the groomsman, Mr. Matthew Brackenridge, of Indian River—were also present

Throughout her life Mrs. Brackenridge was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. She was a woman of sterling character, who always entertained the highest ideals of life, was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, where her sympathy and presence will be greatly missed. The whole neighborhood feel that they have lost a true friend, one who was always ready and willing to help in any way she could.

The funeral took place from the family residence, "Welbeck," to the Methodist cemetery at 2 p.m., Dec. 18th, 1911, the bearers being the eight sons of deceased.

Besides the bereaved husband, she leaves to mourn her loss eight sons and five daughters; John, of Dinsdale, Iowa; Matthew, Thomas, David, Mrs. Jas. Robb, Mrs. J. Thomson, of Westwood; Mrs. Gillott, of Millbrook; James, of Edmonton, Alta.; Norman, of South Monaghan; Hugh, of Lundbrick, Alta.; Marian, Agnes and William, at home.

It was added that no further announcement would be made at this time. Mr. Reick, the new proprietor, was for several years general manager of The Times, and also president of The Philadelphia Public Ledger Co. He is 47 years old.

Berlin's New High School.

Berlin, Ont., Dec. 18.—The high school, which is nearing completion at a cost of $100,000, will be formally opened by the Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. Pyne, during the first week of the New Year. The Board of Education decided to name the school Victoria, owing to its close proximity to Victoria Park and the Queen Victoria monument. It is an eight-room school and is one of the most modern in the province. It is fireproof throughout, and has every convenience for teaching.

The Burglar's Prayer.

Sir Herbert Risley, speaking of the castes of eastern Bengal at a meeting of the Royal Anthropological Institute, said a curious system of religious worship prevailed among a caste who were professional burglars. They made a space in the ground, and a man then cut his arm and prayed to one of the earth gods that there might be a dark night and that he might succeed in obtaining great booty and escape capture.—London Standard.

No Whiskers on His Sea Food.

Two colored porters paused to rest a moment on their mops in a downtown office building recently. "Boy," said one, smacking his lips, "did you ever eat mushrat?" "Mushrat?" returned the other. "No; I never eat any mushrat. The only fancy sea food I ever fussed with was lobster."—New York World.

Puzzled.

Mother (at lunch)—Yes, darling, these little sardines are sometimes eaten by the larger fish. Mabel (aged five)—But, mamma, how do they get the cans open?—London Ideas.

The Truth.

"Truth is as clear as a bell," quoted the wise guy.

"Yes, but it isn't always tolled," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation, and Prevented Sleep—When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveler of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the traveling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

Testimonial No. 4890

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline. 50c per bottle, trial size 25c, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Despite the bullish nature of the government report the wheat market to-day closed weak. Misleading reports as to a break in prices at Buenos Ayres had much to do with the setback. Latest trading here varied from 1-4c higher to 1-4c to 3-8c lower as compared with 24 hours before. Corn finished 1-8c to 1-4c lower, oats off 3-8c to 1-2c and hog products at an advance of 12 1-2c to 20c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅝d to ⅞d lower than yesterday on wheat, and ⅝d higher on corn. Buenos Ayres wheat was 4½c lower, Paris wheat closed ½c higher, Antwerp 1¼c higher, Berlin unchanged and Budapest ⅜c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat continues good, and especially so from the continent, there being orders in the market for round lots for shipment as far as May-June, and the prices bid were better than those from the United Kingdom. The volume of business done was not large, on account of the ocean freight situation. The demand from outside points for coarse grains is fair. The demand from European sources for spring wheat flour was again good, and orders for some round lots were accepted at an advance of 6d per sack for March shipment. The local trade is fair at steady prices. Demand for cheese is quiet, but the trade in butter is good and the market is strong. Eggs are active at firm prices. Provisions steady under a fair demand.

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

"The devil! I'm glad you got rid of that fellow," he muttered. "He wears on one like the very deuce."

Now, during the last hour I had been sensible of a growing change in this young man; of a gradually increasing nervousness and apprehension,—as if I had all the time been pointing out little details, which he had previously overlooked and which were forming together, link by link, into a chain that would connect him with the tragedy. Up to the present he had concealed his thoughts only with an effort; but now his expression was become frankly worried and anxious; and as I stood silently regarding him, his agitation measurably increased. At last—

"For Heaven's sake, Swift, don't look at me in that way!" came in a sudden outburst from his tightened lips. "I know—I can see—now that I've had time to think it over—that the facts are damning. If I close my lips and refuse to make any statement at all, it will be equivalent to a confession. On the other hand—"

I waited, silent, motionless, without removing my eyes from his face. Some moments elapsed before he went on, during which he was patently exerting an effort at self-control.

"Swift," he at last continued, more calmly, "I'm well aware what your conclusions must be; the responsibility for that old man's death lies between—between that secretary fellow and me; any fool can see that. It's downright devilish to be one o two such alternatives; but if I tell you what brought me here last night—Swift, I just simply can't contemplate doing it!'

Again he paused.

"Take time, Maillot,' 'I admonished, "but choose wisely."

He lifted his head with a little jerk.

"Give me a moment to think. I must decide, and decide irrevocably, whether to become as dumb as a graven image, or else take you into my confidence."

At this unfortuitous instant there came a loud rap upon the door, which immediately opened to disclose the rotund form of Stodger, and behind him two slight figures in furs and veils, bearing into this desolate and gloomy old mansion a delicious flavor of young, dainty, pretty femininity.

"Miss Belle Fluette and Miss Genevieve Cooper—to see Mr. Maillot," announced Stodger, with all the absurd importance of a conscientious flunkey.

One, a tall girl in brown furs and with truly wonderful hazel eyes, came rapidly, gracefully, into the room, her companion following more sedately, and then stopped suddenly, as if petrified. She stood a moment—this haughty, handsome maid—a lovely picture of bewildered astonishment.

"Royal Maillot!" she cried, "whatever in the world has happened to your eye?"

"Royal Maillot!" she cried, "whatever in the world has happened to your eye?"

CHAPTER VI.

An Extraordinary Errand

I fancy that in ordinary circumstances Mr. Mailot would have betrayed discomposure at the unintentional ridicule of this remarkably pretty girl's naïveté, and furthermore, that the fact of his not having done so at once perplexed and alarmed her. For a moment she contemplated his worried countenance in round-eyed bewilderment, and then glanced inquiringly at me.

Maillot, in a sober manner, presented me. The handsome brown-eyed girl was Miss Belle Fluette; the other was her cousin, Miss Genevieve Cooper. She, too, was strikingly pretty, but instead of brown, her eyes were a deep and wonderful blue. Her hair was wavy and had many of the bronze lights and shadows that lurked in her cousin's reddish tresses, although it approached nearer a chestnut shade than auburn. She was not so tall as Miss Belle, and was more reserved in her demeanor.

Yet, in her sidewise regard of Maillot, there was a humerous, shrewd appreciation of his damaged appearance, connoting worldly knowledge sufficient to ascribe it to causes not precisely complimentary to his sobriety. Both, however, were very lovely, and very jaunty in their turbans and veils and long fur coats, while their cheeks glowed and their eyes sparkled from the crisp wintry air."

Miss Fluette acknowledged the mention of my name a little distantly. She made me feel that she had already surmised trouble, and that she was disposed to hold me accountable for it.

Miss Cooper was more cordial. She was very gracious, in a quiet, reserved way, and the expression of her blue eyes was so congenial that I caught myself more than once attempting to steal a glimpse of her countenance without her observing me, only to be disconcerted by a candid and not at all shy regard.

"Can we not go at once, Royal?"

queried Miss Fluette, doubtfully. "It is dreadfully warm and stuffy in here. Jepson is waiting with the carriage."

I understood clearly, of course, that my presence accounted for her constraint. More than likely she would have given much to have got Maillot away immediately; but he replied with a gravity that did not ease her mind:

"I'm afraid not, Belle—not for some minutes. Mr. Swift and I have to—to discuss Mr. Page's death."

Instantly her countenance reflected a deep concern.

"It is true, then, is it, that your uncle is dead?" she asked in a hushed voice.

His uncle! For the second time that morning I was staggered. Felix Page's nephew and Alfred Fluette's daughter sweethearts! One lying cold in death—murdered! Is it any wonder that I was stricken speechless?

"Don't look so astonished, Swift," Maillot was saying. "That is only a part of what I have to tell."

"But—Felix Page your uncle!" I marvelled, as soon as I recovered my breath. "Look here; Maillot, it's not often that I'm so thunderstruck; why haven't you told me this?"

BOY SCOUTS FIGHTING CONSUMPTION

The Boy Scouts of the country, ever true to their creed, have enlisted in the battle against consumption. Under the direction of their superior officers, they are planning to do real substantial work in the selling of stamps, between now and the end of the year. Living up to their motto that each scout shall each day do some kindness to another, the boys have resolved that this slogan can be well made effective in the selling of Christmas Stamps to help on the great work being done for needy consumptives in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. In fact, the young people everywhere, in Public Schools, Sabbath Schools, and through their many different organizations, are proving themselves a wonderful help in this Christmas Stamp campaign. If no one in your town is active in this work—if you want to be active—write the Secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street West, Toronto, and learn all about the possibilities of this little one cent Messenger of Healing.

PASTORAL TO THE ANGLICAN CHURCHES

Archbishop Hamilton, of Ottawa Metropolitan of Canada has issued a pastoral letter to the members of the church of England in which he says "Never has the blessed season of Christmas found Canadians more prosperous or with brighter prospects. The one class of the nation which has no direct share in this prosperity is the clergy. The advanced cost of living, which brings into the country and enriches many, affects the stipend of the clergy, by making many comforts and some necessaries too costly for them to buy. I earnestly ask you all to think of this and avail yourselves of the opportunity which the Christmas offering affords you to add your clergyman's stipend this year."

FINE OF $25 WAS IMPOSED

Gave Liquor to Young Man Under Age of 21

Mr Gordon Says He Will Enter An Appeal

The bar-tender who sold the liquor to a minor was fined $25 at police court this morning. G. N. Gordon asked His Worship to impose the minimum fine for the offence which is $10, the maximum being $50.

"No, I won't," said Magistrate Dumble curtly. "I am trying to help the Government and save the boys."

"I intend to appeal this case," rejoined Mr. Gordon.

"Well I wish you would," replied the Magistrate.

The mother of the boy, swore to the boys' age being only nineteen, when put in the box to-day, producing a certificate that he was born in Nov. 1892, which makes his age nineteen.

Mr. Gordon strongly urged His Worship to take into consideration the extenuating circumstances of the case, and give the bartender the benefit of any doubts in the matter.

Magistrate Dumble would not consider it in that light however.

"It is quite evident to my mind," he said, "that the bartender had a reasonable doubt in his mind, as to the boy being under age, and I can't deal lightly in the matter. It would mean that it would then be very easy for any bartender to absolve himself from blame when selling to those under age by saying that he had inquired the age of the party to whom he sold liquor.

James Wilson Was the Grateful Recipient To-day

After a protracted period of good behavior the face of James Wilson, appeared in police court once more this morning. It was the whiskey again that caused Jim's fall from grace.

Magistrate Dumble was very lenient with him this time, and he was remanded two weeks.

"This is Christmas time and I don't want to see you locked up," said His Worship.

Jim is going to Drumbo, Ont., for Christmas to visit his sister. "I am going to live a different life, too," added the prisoner.

"Well, this is the festive season, so it's up to you to behave yourself," was His Worship's final enjointment. Jim departed with a grateful "thank you."

WHAT ABOUT THAT BOY ?

To be or not to be, that is the question; whether would it be more profitable to have your boy learn to swim, or deprive him of the opportunity, and, perchance, drag him from a watery grave next summer; whether would it be more sensible to expand his chest, or permit him to grow up round shouldered and sickly, a victim of the dread white plague, to be taken off many years before his time; whether would it be better to have his body well developed, or allow him to grow up a puny fellow, a prey to disease, doctors and death; whether would it pay to be particular where he spends his evenings, or take no thought thereto, and have to bury your face in shame for some of his thoughtless pranks; whether would it be wiser to give him an outing up the lakes next summer under careful supervision, or allow him to swelter in the city's dusty streets and gain no strength for the next year's school; whether would it be wisdom to develop his mental, mora land spiritual nature, or suffer him to grow up a mamby-pamby, spineless youth, to be tossed about by every wind that blows.

A season's ticket for the "Y" will aid you greatly in the development of your boy along the right lines. If you deprive him of it, don't cast the blame on him in after years if he is a disappointment.

It is up to you to do your duty by that boy NOW.

If you have no boy of your own, possibly you would like to help aome other boy who cannot afford a ticket.

Call up the boys' secretary of the Y.M.C.A. They have a special Christmas Gift Ticket, beautifully embossed with holly in two colors.

It would be an ideal Christmas gift.

Last call for Christmas Greeting Cards. We can fill rush orders, from now till Saturday See our exclusive designs. Review Office—Open to-night. 3d

BOYS CAUSING DAMAGE TO THE FARMERS

Police Will Prosecute if Further Complaint is Made

Complaints come from farmers on the outskirts of the city, that youngsters and their elders are causing much damage by cutting Christmas trees.

One farmer complained to the police authorities to-day that some trees on his property had been practically destroyed through the action of certain individuals.

The police will vigorously prosecute should there be further cause, and those who would eat their Christmas dinner at home may find themselves elsewhere, and at this place, the bill of fare is not so extensive.

THE COW AND THE MOON

Musical extravaganzas, kladiescopic pictures, rapid change of scenery gorgeous costumes and plenty of them riotous fun and color, music and mirth seem to be what the theatre going public want. Chas. A. Sellon who has launched several musical extravaganzas, seems to have gauged the public fancy, and this season is presenting a brand new entertainment of this sort and will be seen at the Grand, next Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee. It has the title of "The Cow and the Moon" most peculiar but at once interesting. It deals with earth beings and immortals from the Moon, and "Molly" the vaulting cow who nimbly leaps over the Moon is sure to be great fun for the kiddies as well as the older folk. Ed. Gilmore will be seen and as "Happy" will be surrounded by a cast of forty or more, together with a large and capable chorus.

A meeting of the hockey clubs of District No. 2, of the Trent Valley League, is called for St. Alphonsus Lyceum to-morrow night.

Atlas and His Load.

Strictly speaking, "atlas" is a misnomer for a map book, since it was not the world, but the heavens, that the "atlas" of mythology upheld. Mercator, the famous Dutch geographer, who made globes for Emperor Charles V. of Germany, was the first to use the name in this connection, choosing it as a convenient and in some sort an appropriate title, because Atlas, the demigod, figures with a world upon his shoulders as a frontispiece of some early works on geography.

Atlas, it was said, made war with other Titans upon Zeus and being conquered, was condemned to bear heaven upon his head and hands. Later tradition represented him as a man changed by means of Medusa's head into a mountain, upon which rested heaven and all its stars.

In any case, Atlas was always associated with a heavy burden strongly borne. Thus Shakespeare makes Warwick say to Gloucester:

Thou art no Atlas for so great a weight.

It is not difficult to see how by an association of ideas this came to be chosen as the name for a book of maps which upholds and exhibits to us the whole world.

REPORT OF LOCAL COW TESTING ASSOCIATION

Peterboro Herds Did Exceptionally Well — How They Tested.

An encouraging feature of the cow testing work this year is the fact that very few men have started keeping records and then neglected to carry on the work which shows that a great deal of interest is being taken. Judging from the enquiries received, and the number of people who have stated that they intend to test their cows next year, the Peterboro Dairy Record centre should be one of the largest in the province.

However, there are a few men every year who drop out after testing for one or two months, or before they have found out what their cows are doing or will do in the milking period and will then declare "that there is nothing in cow testing." It might be well to explain that it was never claimed that weighing a cow's milk would cause her to give more milk or that the testing of samples would cause her to give richer milk but it is claimed and has been proven many times in this county, that any farmer, who will use the information, which he has obtained by weighing and sampling each cow's milk, and by disposing of this cow which only produced 3700 lbs of milk in the year, and by keeping the heifer calf from that cow that gave 10.0 lbs, and by giving the other cow a little more feed which you have found she can profitably use, because you were weighing the milk, and by feeding the cow in the corner a little less you obtained more profit from her because she was getting more grain than she could profitably consume, will in the course of 2 or 3 years raise the average production of the herd and materially increase the profits.

Every observant farmer has noticed cows in his herd which, while not producing a large quanity of milk at any time, will continue to produce a fair amount of milk after the other animals in the herds have fallen very low. On the other hand, some cows will give a large amount of milk for a short time and then go dry, but the average man is inclined to boast of the large amount of milk his cow gave in the flow and to forget how long or how short a time she kept it up. An extreme case of the type of cow just referred to is reported by Prof. Mitchell, of the Manitoba Agricultural College. A certain cow gave 1400 lbs. in June but, during the entire milking period, only gave 8030 lbs. It is therefore very plain that if the farmer wishes to know to any degree of certainty which cow is giving the most milk, he must use the scales throughout the milking period.

Many people will argue that the cow producing the most milk is the most profitable as owing to the large yield of milk, she will produce a large number of lbs. of fat, even if the milk does contain a low per centage of fat, and while this is sometimes true, we have in the October records two cows in a herd, one of which gave 375 lbs. milk and the other 775 lbs. and the cow which gave 375 lbs. produced 6 lbs. more fat than the larger milker.

LATEST RECORDS

For the month of October the records show that the highest herd average was 855 lbs. milk and 34 lbs. fat, which was produced by the herd of Mr. Louis Brown of Norwood. The herd of Mr. F. J. Greenbank of Norwood was a very close second.

The highest individual yield was 1082 lbs. of milk and 43 1-4 lbs. of fat, which was produced by a 4 year old pure bred Holstein owned by Mr. Andrew Marks of Norwood.

Among the herds around Peterboro which did exceptionally well, was that of Mr. J. R. Mann of Trewern, which averaged 21.7 lbs. fat. The herd of Mr. John Elliott of Peterboro 23 lbs. fat; the herd of Mr. J. O. Ball also of Peterboro, 21.4 lbs. fat; the herd of Mr. W. J. Telford of Ennismore 27 1-2 lbs fat, and the herd of Mr. W. G. Henderson, of Shearer, 28.4 lbs. fat.

A certain farmer of good reputation living within the vicinity of Keene, reports that thieves are roaming around in the shade of the night. It appears he was aroused by the ferocious barking of his dog, and on going to ascertain the reason, found a man about to appropriate some of his fine turkeys. The man on seeing the approach of the farmer turned and fled. The farmer stated he is pretty sure of the identity of the visitor, and strongly advises him not to return as there might be a funeral.

CONFERENCE AT MEET AT ORILLIA

Some of the Most Successful Y.M.C.A. Workers to Speak

Would you like to become an expert in the business of building boyhood? Are you anxious that the boys of your Sunday school should have all the advantages that modern investigation and study can supply? As a citizen of Peterborough is it of any advantage to you that the boys of the city should have every opportunity to make good? You should be interested, then in the Conference at Orillia on the last three days of this year.

It will be a gathering of young men and boss who are interested in the future of Canada. We are being blessed with material prosperity, let us keep the heart of our country pure. The period of adolescence is the habit-forming period. Science has revealed the fact that we can do anything with a boy. We can make him what we choose. Like moulding moist clay, we can shape and reshape his character. And like clay, his character soon hardens. This conference will study the how of boy-moulding.

Some of the most successful workers with boys on the continent have been secured for this conference. They will reveal the secrets of their success. They are men whom you have often heard about and wished you might meet.

Albert E. Roberts will be there and give his great lecture, "A Challenge to Leadership." One of the boy workers said that he would not take one hundred dollars and miss it.

H. G. Hammond will tell "How the Scout Movement can Co-operate with the Sunday School." Hammond is the Ontario General Secretary of the Canadian Boys' Scouts. No man knows as much as he does of the Boy Scout movement.

There will be Mr. Halpenny, well known to the Sunday school workers of this district; R. G. Dingman, of Toronto; J. P. Hagerman, Frank Yeigh, George A. Warburton, and F. A. Crosby, who is City Boys' Work Director of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Chicago.

Each Sunday school in Peterborough is entitled to two delegates. They will have to pay their railroad fare, but will be entertained by the citizens of Orillia.

Dave Russell will appeal in his suit against the Pinkertons.

PRINCIPAL PETERSON TO SPEAK TO CANADIAN CLUB

The Canadian Club of Peterboro are to be given the pleasure of hearing one of the most foremost speakers of the Dominion, address the meeting of the Club to-morrow evening at the Oriental Hotel. Principal Peterson of McGill University, Montreal is the gentleman who has been secured, and his subject "Our English Speech," is one which he is eminently qualified to discuss. Principal Peterson has never been heard in Peterboro, but his reputation as a scholar, and brilliant speaker has preceeded him, and the gathering at the usual banquet to-morrow evening is expected to be very largely attended.

Those who desire membership tickets for the Club, may secure them from the secretary, G. C. Wainwright at the Bank of Ottawa.

Principal Peterson will arrive in the city on the 4.28 C.P.R. to-morrow afternoon.

HELP THE OTHER FELLOW

"Help the other fellow," That is always a good slogan to follow, and especially at this season of the year, when opportunities are so abundant for doing something for somebody else. What comes home to one more than the appeal of the Peterborough Health Association. It is an appeal that strikes all classes, for there is "no respecter of persons" as regards those whom the white plague affects. It is an appeal that can be readily responded to by all, from the small boy to the full grown working man. A purchase of a few cents' worth of stamps is the answer. Think of the noble object—that, of wiping out tuberculosis in our midst. Is not the aim of the Health Association a worthy one? Is it not deserving of your co-operation? Let each do his or her share in the accomplishment of this grand enterprise. The calendars are receiving a good patronage, but there are yet quite a number in the drug stores, and the citizens are asked to remember these when doing their shopping, also the stamps with their message of healing, in sending parcels to friends. The latter are only a cent apiece, thus within the reach of all.

SUNDAY SCHOOL AT PARK STREET

That the Sunday school of Park street Baptist church is a growing organization is evidenced by the large turnout on Sunday, when there was an attendance of 235. Rev. Mr. Riddiford had 42 young men in his Bible class. The average attendance is 75 are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost is the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are thing and scanty. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Pariaisn Lash Lustre. THE GOOD OLD SUN

BEAUTIFUL EYES

W. LYMAN HUME, Esq., M.D., says:

I took my last policy in the "Sun Life" five years ago. You may think how agreeably surprised I was to receive your letter of the 28th ult., informing me that my share of the profits earned by my Policy during the last five years amounted to $205.80 IN CASH; or if I preferred they would give me $46.65 a year for for the next five years, to be used as an annual reduction of my yearly premium; or better still they would increase my policy by $311.00, making it worth $5,311 instead of $5,000, upon which I would continue to pay the old premium. This is the option I have chosen.

Suppose that instead of insuring I had placed the amount of my premium $277.75, in the Bank each year, and had allowed the interest to be compounded for five years at three per cent., the interest allowed by all safe, conservative Banks. What would be the results? To-day I should receive $130.11 as the accumulated interest from the Bank, instead of $205.80 from the "Sun Life," a difference of $75.70; but in addition to this the Company has carried the risk on my life for $5,000, which they might have been called at any time to pay.

This is in marked contrast with the so-called Fraternal Societies. I have a policy of $1,000 in one of the best of them; I was notified the other day that my policy would be reduced one-half, or my premium doubled. The "Sun" increases my policy, or reduces my premium; the Fraternal Society reduces my policy or increases my premium; it should not be a difficult matter to choose which is the better system of the two.

The "Good Old Sun," may it never set except to rise again with increased effulgence!

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

NEWSY NOTES FROM OMEMEE

Omemee, Dec. 20 — Mr. Orman Hayes of the J. A. McLean Company of Toronto, made a business trip to Peterboro on Friday, and stopped off over night to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hayes of King street.

The Women's Institute made a donation of five dollars to the fund for the purchase of a piano for the town hall.

Mr. Dave Magee has removed to the King street residence, recently occupied by Dr. Sutton.

Mrs. (Rev.) H. Earle and Miss Robinson spent the week end with friends at Peterboro.

On Monday, Dr. N. H. Sutton made a professional call to Lindsay.

The girl friends of Miss Gertie McQuade called on her on Friday evening and presented her with a kitchen shower.

Miss May M. Dockrill, who has been with friends in town, returned to her home at Peterboro on Friday evening.

The concert to be given on Christmas night, under the auspices of L. O. L., No. 113, promises to be an array of splendid talent. Entertainers from Toronto are to be assisted by some of the best local talent and a full house is expected.

A consignment of new books has been received by the Public Library Board. Selections will be made and the same put in circulation at an early date.

There was some tall hustling the last two weeks to prepare the town hall for the opening on Monday last.

The village and township of Emily councils met on the 15th inst.

GRAND OPENING

On Monday evening the new hall was opened with a grand concert When the curtain rose, the chorus of 40 voices, the speakers, the outside entertainers and the chairman, Judge McMillan of Lindsay, presented a picturesque scene. On the rear of the hall was draped a Union Jack, and across the draping was the name "Coronation Hall." The chairman made a neat and witty speech of introduction and then followed the program as follows—

Chorus—By the Choral Class, Mrs. Eaton taking the solo parts.
Address—Rev. R. Burns.
Cello Solo—Mr. Paul Hahn.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Lister.
Address—Mr. Boxall.
Legal—Signing deeds and handing over same to Reeve Mulligan.
Presentation—An engrossed address to Mrs. Eaton, by the village council.
Address—To Mrs. Eaton from the Board of Trade by Mr. Wm. Curry.
Address—To Mrs. Eaton, from the Public Library Board, by Mr. T. C. Stephenson.
Chorus—"Hail King George."
Address—Rev. D. H. Currie.
Pano Solo—Mr. Harvey Robb.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Walker.
Address—Rev. H. Earle.
Cello Solo—Mr. Paul Hahn.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Eaton.
Address—Rev. Father Maguire.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Lister.
Impromptu Address—Mr. H. Robb.
Chorus—"His Majesty the King and God Save the King.

The building was comfortably filled and possessed splendid acoustic properties and plenty of space. A new Grand Nordheimer piano had been purchased and placed in working order for the concert. It is a work of beauty, good tone and excellent action as testified to by Mr. Robb, of Toronto, who was accompanist of the evening as well as a solo performer of the program. Mrs. Eaton appeared in two vocal solos, which were given in good voice and with splendid effect. Mrs. Walker of Toronto gave a vocal selection with an interpretwtion quite pleasing. The addresses by the clergy were all eulogistic, not too long, somewhat humorous and quite to the taste of the audience. The cello selections by Mr. Paul Hahn of Toronto were delightful and encored continuously. The professor was liberal in his re-apperances.

Mr. Lister of Toronto showed a full rich voice in his selections, which were always popular.

The pano solo of Mr. H. Robb was a masterpiece of expression and execution.

The Toronto performers were all artists in their individual departments and their contributions were much applauded. Rev. R. Burns witnessed the signing of the deeds. Mrs. Eaton was presented with a handsome key of the hall; this entitles her to entrance and the use of 10 reserved seats.

Great credit is due R. J. Mulligan for the training of his chorus of 40 voices, which he conducted on the program and not only was the subject of appreciative remarks in this but for his untiring zeal in the securing of the site and the erection of the hall.

The engrossed address presented to Mrs. Eaton is as follows—

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eaton;

Dear Sir and Madam,—Allow us on behalf of the citizens of Omemee to thank you for this commodious, useful and permanent building.

No person can estimate the benefit that this beautiful hall will be to the village and to the surrounding community during our time and through coming generations.

May you both live long to enjoy the generous spirit you possess and continue to be as prosperous as you are liberal.

Dated at Omemee this 18th day of December, 1911;

W. B. Kennedy, Clerk, R. J. Mulligan, Reeve.
Councillors—James Bushnell, A. Scott, R. G. Carey, J. Sanderson.

The prefatory page of the engrossed presentation address bore a streamer of colored maple leaves, with the word Omemee on it and borne by pigeons, the whole being emblematic of our village and our country.

A letter of regret was read from Hon Colonel Sam Hughes, whose multifarious duties of state precluded his coming.

Dr. Mason, M.P.P., of Fenelon Falls, sent his regrets with Dr. Sims, Reeve of Fenelon Falls. The audience was distressed to know that Dr. Mason was unwell Votes of thanks were presented to Mr Robb for his high class work as pianist and to Judge McMillan for his proficient chairmanship. The perpetrators are supposed to have gone north, an old bag with some cast-off garments, having been found near the cheese factory.

CHINA WANTS REPUBLIC SAYS PREMIER'S REPRESENTATIVE

Inspired Announcement, Made After Peace Conference With Powers, Says Emperor Will Have to Abdicate, But That Premier Will Not Allow Any Intervention — Tang Shaoyi Wants Peace.

Shanghai, Dec. 21.—"I am convinced that the abdication of the Emperor and the establishment of a republic is the only thing that will satisfy the people and prevent the further wholesale shedding of blood."

This statement was made last evening by Tang Shaoyi, the representative of Premier Yuan Shi Kai, after the session of the peace conference with foreign powers.

Continuing, he said: "Pekin is not aware of the depth or the extent of popular feeling in the south. Even I myself, although somewhat prepared, am astonished to find such a change from an attitude of patient forebearance in dogged patriotic determination. It now appears certainly too late to save the dynasty.

"It will be difficult to persuade Yuan Shi Kai to abandon his plan for a limited monarchy, but we must use every endeavor to secure peace and end this awful bloodshed and the suffering among my people."

Tang Shaoyi expressed the belief that the situation might have been saved at one time by a conference with the revolutionary leaders and prompt assurances of adjustment of the wrongs, but he considers that it is now too late. He is also convinced that there must be no foreign interference in the way of loans, or otherwise.

Six foreign powers, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Germany, France and Russia, united yesterday in presenting an identical note to Tang Shaoyi, and Wu Ting Fang, Foreign Minister in the revolutionary provisional cabinet. While the exact wording of the note has not been made public, it is understood that it did not go much further than to express the good will of the Governments represented and the hope that the peace conferences would result in bringing the revolution to a close. The German consul was first to read the note, he being followed by the other consuls.

In reply, Tang Shaoyi said he hoped that the conference would be successful in restoring peace. Wu Ting Fang, in response to the consuls, said that he was a lover of peace and therefore would do his utmost to attain a settlement. "But it must be remembered," he added, "that the Chinese are fighting for freedom and good government and that hasty peace might lead to serious consequences—perhaps to another worse revolution."

The conference between the delegates of the Imperial Government and the revolutionaries was resumed in the afternoon.

Practically the whole of the session was devoted to Wu Ting Fang's speech in favor of a republic. Tang Shaoyi, whose powers are clearly limited, expressed his readiness to accept Wu Ting Fang's views, but declared that the matter was so important that he must first communicate with Pekin. He suggested, however, that a settlement be left to the National Assembly, but made no counter propositions.

Thus neither side presented a well-defined scheme and the conference was again indefinitely adjourned.

In the meantime, it is announced, the armistice has been extended to Dec. 30. A telegram from Premier Yuan Shi Kai stated that he had issued an order to the generals commanding the Imperial forces to suspend hostilities.

FOR CUT IN WOOL TARIFF

President Taft Recommends a Liberal Cut In the Duty.

Washington, Dec. 21.—President Taft sent to Congress yesterday the long-awaited report of the tariff board on schedule K, of the Payne Tariff Act, and with it a message recommending that the rates on wool and woollens be materially reduced. The duties now are so arranged as to keep out of the United States entirely wools of finer qualities which, if imported, might be used to displace the cheaper substitutes now employed.

On raw wool, the board finds the duties higher than the difference in cost of production in the United States as compared with the cost abroad.

On tops, from which yarn is made, the present rate of duty is found to be prohibitory. On yarn, from which cloth is woven, the present duty is found to be prohibitory because it keeps out all except the finer grades.

On cloth, the present rate of duty is pronounced prohibitory on heavy-weight, cheap and medium grade cloths, principally because of the specific compensatory duty which fixes a certain charge per pound before the ad valorem rate begins. It costs 100 per cent. more to make cloth from yarn in the United States than it does in England or France. The present system of fixing the same ad valorem rates of duty on different grades of fabric is condemned as unfair.

The board's figures would seem to show that the "prohibitory duties" do not affect the American consumer so much as would be inferred by the use of those words, for while the duties on sixteen samples of foreign cloth selected by the board averages 184 per cent., the actual excess of the domestic price over the foreign price was found to be 67 per cent., as the result of domestic competition.

"At the present time the industry in general is on a competitive basis," says the report.

Revision of U. S. Tariff.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Congress will actively begin consideration of tariff legislation in the committees of the two Houses immediately after the holiday recess. The committees must decide just what rates should be fixed after thoroughly comparing its own data with facts submitted by the tariff board in the report which President Taft submitted yesterday to both Houses of Congress.

Senator Penrose announced that he hoped the Republican Senators would be able to formulate a bill to comply with the tariff board's views. Representative Underwood said the President's message really pointed out the necessity of a great reduction in wool rates and that he had no doubt the House would carry out the suggestions made.

ANNUITIES TO RECEIVE BOOST

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, and Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, have been completing arrangements during the past few days for the transfer of the annuity branch to the Postoffice Department from the Trade and Commerce. All the details have now been completed, and after Dec. 31 the annuities will be administered by the Postoffice.

It is felt that with the machinery of the postoffice at the disposal of the annuities branch and the thirteen thousand odd postmasters throughout Canada to act as agents, there should be a great increase in business.

While the annuities branch has so far been a moderate success, the expenses have been so great that it has scarcely been paying its way. Hon. Mr. Pelletier is planning an aggressive campaign for the annuities branch throughout Canada.

NO CONTRACT UNTIL THE RATEPAYERS SANCTION IT

On the street and in the press comment has been and is being made in connection with the vote to be taken on municipal election polling day with regard to the power proposition. Some uncertainty exists with many as to the direct result to follow from an answer in the affirmative.

The question asked on the ballot is "Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario a supply of electric power."

The contention has been made, and is being made by opponents of the Hydro-Electric proposition, that a vote in the affirmative at once commits the city to a contract. This is not so. The people most capable of assuring the ratepayers are the City Council, who are watching the interests of the city and who wish to be progressive.

The Council submit the following letter to the ratepayers through the DAILY REVIEW, and all are urged to read and study the statements, and to register their votes in favor.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE REVIEW.

Sir,—We, the members of the City Council, who are responsible for the submission to the electors of the question whether they desire to obtain power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, desire to address the electors through your columns in regard to it.

The Council has had under consideration for several years, the matter of obtaining power for the city. In 1907 application was made to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission for advice, and the Commission, after its engineers had enquired into the power situation here, reported in 1908 that Burleigh Falls would be the best power for the City's purpose. Negotiations were opened with the Central Ontario Power Co. and carried on for some time, but a price could not be obtained from the company that the Council deemed low enough to make the project feasible. This year, again, the Council applied to the Commission, and a report was made recommending the purchase of the Otonabee Power Co.'s property on certain terms, but the Otonabee Co. refused to sell to the city. The Council then procured an option on the Lakefield power property, and had reports made upon it, including one from the Commission, but were advised that the price asked was too high for acceptance by the city.

After having reached this stage, we were informed by the Chairman of the Commission that if the people of Peterborough so desired the Commission would obtain power for the city. The Commission has larger powers of expropriation than the city, and is in a better position to undertake and carry out the object in view as power matters stand in this district at this time.

We believe it is in the interest of the city to have the Commission undertake this work for us, and have submitted to a vote of the ratepayers the question: "Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, a supply of electric power?"

If the ratepayers by their votes say that they are, the Commission will take steps to prepare a contract and an estimate of the sum the city will require to raise for distribution system, etc., and if these are favorable, a by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers to raise the sum required.

The City Council cannot borrow money for this purpose without again submitting the matter to the ratepayers, and so far as those of us who will be in the Council next year are concerned, a contract binding on the city will not be entered into until the ratepayers sanction it.

We believe it will be in the interest of the city to have a majority vote in favor of obtaining power from the Commission. The city will then have all the great powers of the Commission and the wealth of the Province to assist in obtaining municipal power. With water powers in and near the city, as we have, electric power and light should be as cheap here as any place, and much cheaper than most places. We believe it will be cheaper if the ratepayers vote favorably on this question.

In addition, the revenues will be used to pay for the system so that the city will at the end of the borrowing term have still lower rates.

If we do not do this, all the western cities which use Niagara power from the Commission, and other places that take advantage of such an offer as we have now, will have much cheaper power when the first term is up and the initial debt paid off. The future of the City demands that this condition must not arise.

If a householder by paying the same sum as a purchaser, as he paid in rent, can become an owner, and in a term of years own the house free of debt, it certainly would be good business for him to do so. And the city would be foolish to continue paying rent for power if it can purchase it in a similar way.

A favorable vote will give us the aid of the Commission to procure power owned and controlled by the Municipality.

An unfavorable vote will reject that offered aid and tie the City up to the power monopoly.

We urge the ratepayers in their own interest, to vote in favor of obtaining power from the Commission.

ANOTHER CANADIAN GETS SEAT IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Special to the Review.

Was Brother of Mr. L. B. Kingston Who is Engaged in This City.

A despatch from Mistatim, Sask., tells of finding of the body of Kenneth Kingston, a young civil engineer, from Ottawa, in the woods beside a deserted trail. It was at first thought that he had lost his way, but foul play is now suspected.

The dead man has a brother, Mr. L. B. Kingston, who is at present at work for the Auburn Power Company at their new power house. Mr. J. H. Munro, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway company, attended college with young Kingston.

London, Dec. 21.—The Italians continue their work of establishing their position in Tripoli. The occupation of Zangur Sunday rendered the further smuggling of arms from the west impossible.

Steamer Companies Turned Down.

New York, Dec. 21.—The full bench of the U. S. Circuit Court yesterday overruled the demurrers interposed by the Hamburg-American Steamship Co. and other transatlantic lines, which form the "Atlantic Conference," against the Government's suit for their dissolution. The Government's contention is that the conference is by reason of an alleged pooling agreement on passenger rates, a trust in restraint of trade, and an injunction is asked to restrain the companies from further execution of the agreement.

The demurrers alleged want of equity in the Government's petition and followed closely the petitions in the Tobacco and Standard Oil cases sustained by the U. S. Supreme Court in the "light of reason" and under the "rule of reason."

Judge Noyes, who read the opinion of the full court, said the transportation of passengers between the United States and Europe form a part of the commerce of the United States with foreign nations and that Congress had the power to prohibit all contracts.

Pontypool, Ont., Dec. 20.—The body of a man was found lying beside the track of the C.P.R. just east of Pontypool station. Sectionmen found the body cut in two. They gathered it together and took it to the baggage room of the station, waiting the coroner and identification. It is supposed he had been riding the trucks of a freight car, and becoming cold and exhausted, fell off and was run over.

COMMISSION TO PROBE INTO AFFAIRS AT OTTAWA

Inquiry Into the Affairs of Government Departments Will Begin Where the Liberal One Left Off and Is Expected to Yield Sensations—A. B. Morine Is Probable Chairman.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—It is reported that the Government has determined upon the men who are to conduct the investigation into the several departments of the public service at Ottawa. The names mentioned are those of Hon. A. B. Morine, K.C., of Toronto, who will be chairman; Richard S. Lake of Grenfell, Sask., and G. N. Ducharme of Montreal. Mr. Morine is regarded as peculiarly well fitted for the work of investigation by reason of his lengthy experience in the administrative affairs of Newfoundland and of his high standing as a member of the Bar.

Mr. Lake represented the Saskatchewan riding of Qu'Appelle in the last Parliament, but was defeated in the September election. He is a practical farmer, with a wide knowledge of business affairs and has made a study of civil service questions.

Mr. Ducharme is a wealthy man, who has had a long and creditable business career in Montreal. It is expected that Mr. Morine will be the chairman of the commission.

No authoritative announcement in regard to the work of the commission is obtainable this morning, but it is to be expected, following the attitude repeatedly taken by Mr. Borden in Parliament within the last five years, that the inquiry will be wide open and that there will be time enough allowed for the commission to make the enquiry thorough and complete. The present Premier repeatedly protested, while in opposition, against the restrictions with which the previous investigations by the Courtney and Cassels commissions were circumscribed. The Courtney-Fyshe-Bazin Commission, appointed in 1907, dealt chiefly with the Marine Department, but reported that there was no time to go into the work of the other Departments, at the same time indicating their opinion as to what an investigation into the other Departments would reveal.

The Cassels enquiry, which followed, had to do only with the work of Marine Department officials.

The probability is that the new commission will take up and complete the work begun by the other commissions. The probe will go deeper under the enlarged powers of the commission now being established. Before the adjournment of the House the Minister of Justice gave notice of a bill to amend the Enquiries Act to enable commissions to employ experts who could be entrusted with some of the detailed work of investigation. This amendment, it is believed, will bear directly upon the investigation to be made by the new commission.

Schools Close

All the schools of the city closed at four o'clock to-day for the Christmas holidays and the scholars will rejoice "in the freedom of school let out," until Jan. 3rd, 1912.

Russia Not Interested.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—The Russian newspapers are giving small attention to the Russo-American relations. About the only article published on this subject is an interview with M. Timiriazeff, who was Minister of Commerce in the Witte Cabinet, and has taken a leading part in developing Anglo-Russian commercial relations.

The former Minister of Commerce says that the treaty of 1832 is old fashioned and primitive, the principle of the most favored nations being obscurely formulated therein. Commercial treaties, however, he adds, pursue solely economic objects, never political objects. If the Jewish question served as the reason for the abrogation of the treaty, the United States, he declares, will scarcely gain its point in a new treaty.

The Moscow newspapers ignore the subject completely. A few despatches from London and one or two mail letters from occasional correspondents in America represent the sum total in the treaty question.

Indians on War Path.

Montreal, Dec. 21.—Oka reservation is to-day the scene of strife between railway workers and Indians.

"Chief" Gabriel Kennatosse, famous for his struggle with the seminarians and appeals to Ottawa and King Edward, is the leader of a malcontent band of red men some forty strong, who bar the way of Canadian Northern track layers, preventing the linking up of the Ontario and St. Eustace branches over a strip of land little more than 400 yards wide.

Kennatosse, who claims the chiefship, declares that the land is owned by himself and his followers, and declares that the Indians will not allow the railway to be laid over their land without a forcible attempt to prevent it.

The band is armed with guns, pistols and clubs, and has adopted a very defiant attitude. The railway workers are also becoming restless, and a clash is feared.

The authorities are rushing deputies to the scene.

SHUSTER TO QUIT OFFICE

Teheran, Dec. 21.—The Cabinet has won an important victory over the National Council, which foreshadows the acceptance of Russia's demand for the dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, the American treasurer-general of Persia, unless public opinion proves too strong.

The National Council, in a session which lasted from eight o'clock Tuesday night until after midnight, finally accepted the proposal to appoint a commission of five deputies with plenary powers to deal with the Russian ultimatum.

Banker Cughan Released.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—After serving a year of his sentence, R. E. Cughan, formerly manager of the Farmers' Bank branch at Athens, has been released from the penitentiary on parole. He was sentenced to three years for forgery. W. R. Travers, general manager of the bank, on the eve of his own downfall, took an active part in the proceedings against the Athens branch manager. Travers will spend Christmas in the penitentiary.

Another Steamboat Merger?

Montreal, Dec. 21—The Herald says: "It is understood, upon good authority, that the directors of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co. are discussing with the directors of the Quebec Steamship Co., certain plans which may later be embodied in proposals looking towards the amalgamaiton of the two companies.

TREATY RECEIVES RATIFICATION

Paris, Dec. 21.—The Chamber of Deputies last evening ratified the Franco-German accord on the question of Morocco. The ratification was adopted by 393 against 36 votes.

M. Jaurez, Socialist leader in the Chamber, after a lengthy speech, announced that he would vote for the treaty because it would put France in a position to intervene and bring Great Britain and Germany closer together, although he did not believe that an economic conflict between England and Germany would lead to war. He declared that the greatest peace forces were international organizations of the proletariat and the renaissance of the old Puritan Liberalism in Anglo-Saxon countries.

M. Jaurez raised applause by referring to millionaires, who, with no further material wants to satisfy, turn their aspirations towards idealism. This recrudescence of idealism had led Great Britain, the United States and Japan to conclude arbitration treaties and was an excellent omen for peace.

Most of the deputies from Lorraine departments abstained from voting. They declared that, while they realized the advantages of the treaty for France, and were unwilling to embarrass the Government, the representatives of a part of Lorraine which was still French, they could not give their consent to a treaty detaching a portion of the national territory to give to Germany.

A PET DOG SAVES LIVES

"Happy," a Dalmation, Which Follows the Wagons, Realizes Danger of His Master and Climbing to the Third Story Guides Lost Men to the Window by His Barking—Crowds Watch Sensational Feat.

New York, Dec. 21.—To the already long list of life-saving heroes of the fire department another new name was added last night. It was that of a dog—"Happy"—a Dalmation, which follows the apparatus to every fire.

Three firemen were saved from a burning furniture warehouse in Harlem last night through the sagacity of "Happy," which climbed a ladder three storeys to effect their rescue. The three firemen, one of them "Happy's" master, had been caught at the rear of the third floor in that dread of all firemen, the back draught, and forced to flee. The smoke was so dense that they lost their way in their search for the window, at which their ladder had been run up.

Standing near the hose cart "Happy" heard his master's cry for help, jumped for the ladder and began climbing it. Thousands of spectators watched the black and white spotted animal as he mounted rung after rung, and several firemen who had seen the dog start up the ladder and knew something must be wrong, began climbing after him. "Happy" reached the third floor window first and, poking his nose inside, he began barking. The nearly-suffocated firemen inside the building heard their company's pet and, guided by the barks, made their way through the smoke to the window.

"Happy's" master picked the dog up in his arms and tenderly carried him down to the street. Then he tied the animal to the hose cart, saying he would take no more chances of having him hurt by climbing ladders.

Wants Packers Discharged.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Formal notice that the defence will present a motion in the near future to have Judge Carpenter instruct the jury to return a verdict finding the ten Chicago meat packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, not guilty, for the reason that U. S. District Attorney Wilkerson failed to make out a case in his opening statement to the jury, was given yesterday by Attorney Levi Mayer at the opening of the afternoon session of the trial.

The action of the defence came as a surprise to the Government and caused Judge Carpenter to adjourn court until this morning, when he will rule on the motions.

Catarrhal Bad Breath

Corrected Quickly by the Use of

Catarrhozone

Catarrh is an inflammation. Where there is inflammation there is always more or less offensive secretion. Inflammation may be of the very active sort, but it is often of the slow kind, and this is the particular form in which the breath is rendered offensive and the presence of the sufferer becomes an offence to every person of delicate sensibility.

Bad breath is in itself sufficient to urge you to correct it, because one dislikes to be unpleasant to their friends, but this form of catarrh is dangerous because it supplies a hotbed for the development of Consumption or of other diseases of the throat and lungs.

Bad breath is an evidence that the microbes have found a good resting place and are carrying on their evil inroads into the health of the body.

Catarrhozone acts at once and destroys these minute organisms, but it does more—it heals the inflamed surfaces in which they found a nesting place and consequently removes both cause and effects of their action.

If we only highly estimated the value of prevention and used Catarrhozone at the beginning of a cold or just before it becomes well seated, the deadly ravages of Consumption would be stayed and the terrible agonies of sufferers of Asthma or Bronchitis completely abolished.

There is no remedy as effective for bad breath, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, etc., as Catarrhozone. Besides being healing and soothing it is germ destroying. Nothing ever offered to the public can compare with it in its promptness, efficiency, and permanency of action, and you can buy it from any dealer in medicine throughout the Dominion of Canada, 25c, 50c, and $1.00 sizes. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

SENSIBLE ADVICE

The cost of living may be high. But the place to economize is not in the quality of food. We must eat well to live strong. Cash for food is the very first, proper use for a dollar. Time to eat is the very first right of man in this world of time. The pleasure of eating is itself a wonder, and innocent beyond all question.

FINISH UP STRONG

It might be a somewhat sorry business for any one of us to sit down quietly these short December days and try to estimate how the year that has actually been, compares with the year that we had hoped and planned for twelve months ago. Whatever it has brought to us of incidental good or ill, probably with the great majority of us the part of which we ourselves have had the making has not been so good and fair as it might have been, or perhaps as we thought it would be. There were many good things, no doubt, that we had planned to do that are still undone, and considerable hoped-for good character that is still unachieved.

But may it not be that this wonderful time of the year, this time when it would seem as if goodness and unselfishness were just a little easier than they are ordinarily are, were given to us for the very reason that we might do and be that good thing that we had forgotten to do or had neglected to be throughout the year. It does really look as if this closing of the year might furnish us with a great opportunity for doing something in the way of redeeming the past and achieving the still accomplished good.

Suppose that every man and every woman, every boy and every girl, should determine in heaven's name to live these last few days of the year up to his or her highest ideal of unselfishness and kindliness and goodness, would it not be possible even yet to buy back the year from much that was mean and unworthy in it? Lost opportunities do not always leave us altogether: there is sometimes a trailing garment by which we may catch them and bring them back to us again. There is often such a thing as a second chance. The year that we can make end well cannot be counted as altogether ill. It is not yet too late to make a good ending.—Christian Guardian.

PARTY PARTIZANSHIP

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review makes comment on recent dismissals from the public service of office holders who were conspicuous in party service and propaganda, while still in office, and adds:

"Public servants, therefore, who insist upon being politicians as well know what they have a right to expect, and therefore there is no need to waste much sympathy on those who deliberately tempt fate. But it is also an understood part of our system that partizanship up to the time of a man's appointment is not regarded as offensive. Both parties require partizanship as a qualification for office. It is not the custom of either party, and has not been the custom, in filling an office, to consider only the men who are best qualified to discharge the duties of the office. Party service is in most cases one of the first necessities. In fact, in most cases, a man must have been an active partizan to stand a good chance of an appointment. There are exceptions, but such is the general rule with both parties.

The same system which requires a man to be a partizan in order that he may receive an appointment requires that he shall cease to be a partizan after his appointment. If the practice held good of going back to a man's record before his appointment in order to find a cause for complaint against him, very few officers of the public service would be safe. Even judges might be dismissed with as little ceremony as an employee of the Public Works. Some of the most competent judges the country has had were conspicuous for their partizanship before their appointment."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Three men are under arrest in Hamilton for holding up a man in the city hall. The aldermen are righteously indignant over any interference with their vested rights.

Promoters of aviation meets have decided to only engage aviators who are strict abstainers in future. Their experience with those disposed to take a drop too much was expensive and unsatisfactory.

Hon. Frank Oliver grows eloquent over the loss to the west by the rejection of reciprocity, and is as dumb as an oyster about the loss of somebody that produced that $96,000 bank roll.

Anyone who has a copy of the Liberal platform of 1893 should at once forward it to that party in Ottawa. The Liberals intend to use it for the first time in fifteen years. Liberal platforms are for use in opposition only.

Marjory Clouston Married.

London, Eng., Dec. 21.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At Paris the marriage of Miss Marjory Clouston, daughter of Sir E. Clouston, president of the Bank of Montreal, to Dr. John Todd of McGill University, was celebrated very quietly here yesterday. The civil ceremony was celebrated at the British consulate by Percy Inglis, the consul-general, at noon, and the religious ceremony was celebrated a few minutes later by Bishop Ormsby, in the presence of members of the family and some intimate friends, no invitations having been issued.

DIPLOMATS AT WORK

BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE IS WORKING OVERTIME.

The Smooth, Easy-Going Gentlemen Who Are Criticized In Times of Peace Have Had Their Hands Full During the Last Few Months and the Lights Burn All Night Monopolizing the 'Phones.

During the past three or four months, since the Morocco crisis became acute, the clerks in the Foreign Office, who usually are known as arm-chair Civil Servants, from the easy character of their duties, have been working a good deal harder than most clerks, even in the busiest offices.

Since about the middle of July last the Foreign Office in London has been working day and night, says Answers. The staff has been divided into two divisions for night and day work, but the ordinary Foreign Office staff, large as it is—for it is one of the most heavily-staffed branches of the Civil Service—was not sufficiently large to deal with the tremendous extra pressure of work brought about by the critical diplomatic situation that arose over Morocco, and still exists, in consequence of the outbreak of war between Italy and Turkey.

Clerks had, indeed, to be drafted from the Treasury and Home Office to assist the Foreign Office staff in their work.

Throughout the day and night lengthy cable messages keep pouring into the Foreign Office. Those messages came from all quarters of Europe—from Secret Service agents, from our various diplomatic representatives abroad, and from the great financial magnates, who exercise such a powerful influence on the course of European politics.

In addition to these correspondents, the Foreign Office officials have been for months past in continual communication with the Admiralty, the War Office, and our Naval and Military Intelligence Departments in different parts of the world.

It must be borne in mind that directly a diplomatic situation becomes at all critical preparations have to be made for war.

The telegraphic messages to the Foreign Office are transcribed on long slips of blue paper, known among Foreign Office clerks as "spools." All the messages are, of course, in cipher. They are deciphered and written out in longhand by a special staff of clerks, who, in performing this duty, see all that is going on behind the scenes.

The deciphering staff work in a large room, which is rigidly guarded, and no one—not even a Foreign Office official—can enter it without a permit from the Foreign Secretary or Permanent Secretary.

The telephone has greatly expedited, if it has not simplified, the work of diplomatic negotiations. During the last few months, on several days when the diplomatic situation was specially acute—notably on the memorable day when the King put off his departure from London for Goodwood, and when Europe was on the very verge of war—the four telephone lines between London and Paris were monopolized by the Foreign Office for the greater part of the day.

As a matter of fact, only one line was required by the Foreign Office, another being requisitioned by the French Ambassador in London, but the other two lines were deliberately held up by the authorities, in order to guard against any attempt in London or Paris at "tapping" the lines whilst these critical conversations were in progress.

One of the busiest officials at the Foreign Office, when diplomatic negotiations are in progress, is the Superintendent of the Treaty Department. He is assisted by five staff officers and a registrar.

Whilst diplomatic conversations are in progress, the treaties made between this country and the various Powers concerned in the conversation, or likely to be concerned, have to be looked up, and the Foreign Secretary has to be kept daily informed of how far the points in dispute are affected by the treaties.

In the Treaty Department in the Foreign Office is a copy of every European treaty, and the department may have to make extracts from perhaps a hundred different treaties for the information of the Foreign Secretary, when he is carrying on "a conversation" on merely one point in the matter in dispute.

The precis writers at the Foreign Office during the progress of important diplomatic negotiations are worked tremendously hard. Each precis writer might have from twenty to fifty thousand words of cabled and written despatches every morning to deal with, which would have to be cut down to about three or four thousand words. The precis copy of the despatches must embody with absolute accuracy what is officially called the "main intent" of the depatches, and precis copies must be delivered to the Permanent Secretary two hours after the original documents have been handed to the precis writer.

At the end of the day, and sometimes twice a day during the hours of critical diplomatic conversations, the King is communicated with by the Foreign Secretary.

If you were to stand outside the Foreign Office for an hour or so any time between midnight and four or five in the morning during a diplomatic crisis, you would see many remarkable people enter and pass out; you would see some of the Secret Service agents, for example, who knew more about the inner working of European politics than even the Foreign Secretary or an Ambassador. It is upon their information—secured so often at the imminent risk of their lives—that the course of our policy in an international dispute may be finally determined.

The night visitors to the Foreign Office sometimes include men and women, who come by stealth to sell, if they can, some secret bit of information.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Dec. 20.—Good business continues to be done in all grades of Manitoba spring wheat over the cable, there being a good demand from both the United Kingdom and the continent, and the prices bid showed no change. The local market for coarse grains remains steady, with a fair amount of trade doing. There was a good inquiry from European sources for spring wheat flour, but, as the prices bid to-day were not so satisfactory, the volume of business done was small. CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 20.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the offerings this morning were 700 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 1650 hogs and 200 calves.

The feature of the trade was the display of some extra choice cattle for the Christmas market, and, as these were first lots to come forward this week, they met with a good demand, and sales of steers were made at $6.50 to $6.75 and $5 per 100 pounds.

There was also a good demand for ordinary choice steers, and on the whole a fairly active trade was done, and, as the supply was not in excess of the requirements, a firm feeling prevailed in the market. The offerings of common stock were much smaller than usual, for which the demand was limited, as buyers of such are well supplied for the present.

A feature of the small-meat trade was the stronger feeling in the market for sheep, and prices scored an advance of 25c per 100 pounds. The demand was good, and sales were made at $4 to $4.25 per 100 pounds.

The market for lambs showed no further change, but the undertone was firm at the recent advance in prices, with a good trade passing. Calves were scarce and in good demand, but buyers found it impossible to fill their wants, altho they were willing to pay good prices for choice stock.

The undertone to the market for hogs continues strong, and prices have made a further advance of 10c to 25c per 100 lbs., which is attributed to the continued good demand from packers for supplies and the small offerings, and sales of selected lots were made at $7 to $7.25 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $6.25 to $6.35; do., medium, $4 to $5.50; do., common, $3.50 to $3.75; canners, $1.50 to $3.25; butchers' cattle, choice cows, $5.25 to $5.50; do., medium, $4.50 to $5; do., bulls, $4.50 to $5.50; milkers, choice, each, $75; do., common and medium, each, $50 to $60; springers, $30 to $40.

Sheep, ewes, $4 to $4.25; bucks and culls, $3.50 to $3.75; lambs, $5.75 to $6.35.

Hogs, f.o.b., $7 to $7.25.

Calves, $3 to $12.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

"It's true," he said slowly; "he was my mother's brother. Neither of us was particularly proud of the connection—not enough to brag of it. I was meaning to tell you, though, Swift; it is an essential part of my story."

He wheeled a chair up to one side of the table for Miss Fluette and I made haste to perform a like service for Miss Genevieve Cooper; an act which she recognized with a slight smile and one of her friendly looks.

"Perhaps you and Genevieve had better get out of your wraps," the young man suggested to Miss Fluette, "because I want you to hear all I have to say to Mr. Swift; it will take some time."

She was now genuinely alarmed, and the handsome hazel eyes searched his face with an apprehension and dread that made her love for him only too apparent. Most young fellows, I hazard, would court any peril for such a look from a girl as beautiful as Miss Belle Fluette.

And the blue eyes, too, mirrored anxiety; they turned to me in a quick, questioning glance. I tried to disregard them—to ignore the presence of these two pretty girls—and confine myself strictly to what Maillot had to relate. It was not easy to do, since Miss Fluette's attitude toward me had become not only openly accusatory, but more than a little scornful; and I feared, moreover, that I should shortly lose the support of Miss cooper's sympathetic interest.

First of all, though, both young ladies were anxious for an account of the tragedy—a task of which I relieved Maillot by relating briefly the details as I understood them, but, of course, adding no comment that might be construed as an expression of my opinion as to who might be responsible. They listened attentively; but when I had finished, Miss Fluette turned to Maillot as if I were no longer in the room. I noticed that Miss Cooper's brow was gathered in a little frown—whether of perplexity or disapprobation I could not determine—and that she was looking fixedly at her cousin.

"Royal," said Miss Fluette the instant I was through, "is that—is Mr. Burke here?" Unless I was very much mistaken, the abrupt lowering of her voice which accompanied this question, the sudden narrowing of her eyes, betokened a strong dislike for the secretary. So, then, Miss Fluette was acquainted with him, was she?

"Yes, he's here," Maillot absently replied. Then a swift look—a flash of understanding—passed between the two girls.

Both pairs of eyes, the brown and the blue, avoided mine—in a studied effort, I fancied—when I glanced from one to the other to read further.

After all, I concluded, I was glad these two young ladies happened to be present.

"The object of my coming here last night," the young man at length began, "was known only to myself and Mr. Fluette, although I told Miss Fluette the bare circumstance of my intention. My mission would seem so absurd to any sane man, so utterly hopeless; it would be so impossible to bring any one else to look at the matter from my point of view, that my fear of ridicule stayed me from taking even her into my confidence. It was this."

His voice dropped, and he had every appearance of one who speaks with the utmost reluctance.

"I came to ask my uncle for the Paternoster ruby," he announced.

I merely waited, neither stirring nor speaking; not so the two girls, however, who made no pretence of concealing their amazement.

"You asked him to give it to you" gasped Miss Fluette.

Maillot laughed bitterly, looking straight at me.

"I did," said he, as one convinced that he would not be believed in any event. "I not only asked him to give it to me—after having stated my reeasons—but he promised to do so—this morning."

He seemed to measure our incredulity; to determine if its degree would warrant him in proceeding. My own countenance, I know, told him nothing; but it was obvious that the girls were assimilating his startling affirmations only with the greatest difficulty. I watched them curiously. They knew this young man perhaps better than any one else, and their fresh youthful faces were a clear index to their thoughts. Both were deeply troubled.

And now Miss Cooper, after a quick side glance at me, spoke. Her voice was remarkably sweet and soft, her whole attitude inexpressibly gentle.

"Royal," said she, "you are greatly wrought up; I think I know why; but take your time, and keep nothing back. The truth is not going to hurt you; lack of candor may be extremely harmful."

He responded to this appeal with a certain hopelessness.

"Swift," he bluntly asked me, "have you ever heard of that confounded ruby?"

I told him that I was pretty well acquainted with its history; but did not tell him that I was cognizant of Alfred Fluette's association with it. Neither did I say anything about my knowledge of the long-standing enmity between the two men. I had already received more than one hint that the causes of the tragedy were deep and powerful, whatever their nature—I would have to find this out for myself—and I was extremely curious to hear his story.

"Then you know of the contest several years ago in London for its possession," Maillot pursued; "how Mr. Fluette coveted it for his collection, and how my uncle thwarted his efforts to obtain it. Mr. Fluette is very determined, and when his purpose is once set, it is not an easy matter to change or sway it. He was bitterly disappointed, though he never ceased hoping that some day he should acquire the jewel; but knowing Mr. Page as he did, I believe he was in a measure reconciled to a conviction that he would have to wait until the owner died.

"As I have said, his failure to get the stone was a great blow—perhaps more so than you can imagine; and, besides, my uncle stepping in in the way he did and outbidding him seemed so like a bit of petty spite-work—dog-in-the-manger, you know—that he couldn't get over it. The stone cost my uncle a cool five hundred thousand; a pretty big price to pay for the indulgence of a personal grudge, isn't it?

"And now, Swift, knowing all this as I did—the strong aversion which each felt for the other—if I should come to you and tell you that I intended asking my uncle to give me his precious ruby for the purpose of passing it on to Mr. Fluette, wouldn't you think I had become a fit subject for a lunatic asylum?"

"Yet," returned I, calmly, "you say that you did this, and that your uncle assured you he would give you the stone this morning—promised after he had heard your reasons. I must admit that your present declarations are very extraordinary; perhaps they will not seem so after you've recounted all the circumstances." And I added a bit grimly: "I'm growing impatient to hear what moved you to come here last night at all."

Once more the friendly blue eyes met mine, and I felt better for their encouragement. But Maillot's look became momentarily apprehensive.

"You already know what my most cherished hope and ambition is," he went on, with a glance at Miss Fluette. Their frequent frank exchange of ardent looks would have made that ambition plain, had I not already been apprised of it. "I'm fairly well off by reason of a small inheritance from my father, and I'm just beginning to make certain my foothold in my profession: prospects as good as most young men can boast of, I don't hesitate to say.

"Our engagement, though, has never met the approval of Belle's father. But that fails to express it: he has been actively opposed to me from the very start. We had the support of Mrs. Fluette, however, and so remained hopeful—until one week ago to-night."

He paused, staring gloomily at the table; and both the young ladies now sat with downcast eyes and sober expressions clouding their pretty faces, fairly enveloping the young fellow in their silent sympathy. Lucky chap! Maillot should have stood a good deal, uncomplainingly, too, for their deep interest in his welfare.

He looked up in a moment and proceeded.

"At that time matters reached a crisis. Last Wednesday evening I called, as I had been in the habit of doing whenever I found an opportunity; and just as I was departing Mr. Fluette sent word to me to come to his study before I left. For a bit we thought he had relented, but on reflection I couldn't entertain the idea; so, much dispirited, I went at once to see him.

"He was walking up and down before the fire, and, further than to nod his head toward a chair in a curt invitation for me to be seated, he said nothing for several minutes, but continued to pace thoughtfully back and forth between me and the hearth, as if pondering the best means of opening his mind to me.

"At last he wheeled about midway in his promenade, and bluntly fired his first question.

"'Why do you continue coming here?'" said he.

"The question stung me—of course it did; but I determined to keep my temper at any cost, and before I left, to find out at least one specific, definite reason why he didn't want me. I did, all right.

"Well, I laid my claims before him, pointing out that I was neither a pauper nor a criminal; I told him that Belle and I sincerely loved each other, and concluded by asking him whether he utterly disregarded his daughter's preferences in her choice of friends.

"'Far from it,' he replied. 'But I certainly interfere whe nI think she is exercising bad judgment in such a choice.'

"All at once he leaned forward and rapped sharply with his knuckles upon the table-desk, before which I was sitting.

"'One thing you fail to take into consideration,' 'whether wilfully or not, I don't know, of course; but—to me—it is the most important factor of all.'

THE OPTIMISM OF THE CONSUMPTIVE

Perhaps there is no disease, whilst often fatal in its outcome, is yet viewed with so much optimism by the patients themselves. It is well that it is so, for all know to what extent one's own feelings, whether cheery or the opposite, influence both mental and physical conditions. "I was certainly impressed with this thought," remarked a newspaper reporter, "in interviewing a patient of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. She was a pretty girl of 24, brown hair and dark gray eyes, who had come all the way from Saskatchewan. She said she felt pretty sick when she first arrived at the Hospital, and for two days the nurses had to personally feed her. 'I have been in bed all the time,' she said. 'I have been well cared for while I have been here. I am sure I am going to get well, and feel better now than before I took sick. Everybody seems so happy and bright, and tells me when I get up I am sure to like it. Everything is done to please me and make me happy.'" One may well wish that so bright a patient should soon be restored to health.

Big Fruit Convention.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—Arrangements are being completed by Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, for the holding of a fruit convention in Ottawa early in the New Year. The gathering will be a large one and will be representative of the fruit-growing interests of all Canada, the various associations and administrative bureaus.

The convention will be held some time in February.

Big Cotton Strike Feared.

Liverpool, Dec. 21.—The weavers of the Helene mill at Accrington went on strike last night because of the employment of non-union labor. The strike threatens to spread to other mills in Lancashire unless the employers meet the demands of the men. On their part the mill owners threaten to retaliate by a general lockout, which will affect 100,000 cotton operatives.

Mme. Langevin Gets Divorce.

Paris, Dec. 21.—The petition for a separation from her husband presented in the divorce court here by Mme. Langevin, was granted yesterday.

Better Inspection Wanted.

St. Catharines, Dec. 21.—The fruit growers of Niagara district at a meeting yesterday afternoon decided to tender a banquet to Hon. Martin Burrell, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, who was for some years a prominent grower in Louth Township, close to the city, and who will be here for the Christmas holidays. It was also decided to extend an invitation to Hon. J. S. Duff.

The principal subject of discussion was the growth and spread of little peach and yellows, which are becoming a great menace to growers. A resolution unanimously adopted provides for a memorial to the Provincial Government asking the appointment of an inspector to take charge of all inspection, that he have power to appoint or dismiss local inspectors, and to assess half the cost to townships.

Sentenced For Murder.

Riviere du Loup, Que., Dec. 21.—Jules Plourde and his brother Ovide were sentenced yesterday morning for the murder of Louis Dion, who was shot by the former while mixed up in a quarrel.

The death sentence was passed on Jules, while his brother, who gave him the cartridges with which the deed was committed, got ten years.

The men had nothing to say before sentence was passed. They are both young fellows under 25 years of age, and unmarried.

Brockville Rector Resigns.

Brockville, Dec. 21.—Rev. R. B. Patterson, rector of the Anglican Church at Athens for the last seven years, has tendered his resignation, to accept a charge at Stellarton, N.S.

The death is reported from Edmonton, Alta., of Dr. I. J. Lone, a native of Williamsburg, Dundas County. Deceased was 55 years of age, and a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston. He also took a post-graduate course in Edinburgh.

New York's Busy Subway.

New York, Dec. 21.—Figures available to-day show that last Monday's travel on the subway and elevated railroads of Manhattan set a new high record. The number of tickets sold was 2,460,000, the subway carrying 1,400,000 and the elevated 1,060,000. The total exceeds even the tremendously heavy traffic recorded during the Hudson-Fulton celebration. The great increase in travel was due to Christmas shopping.

His Illusions Shattered.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 21.—In broken English, with choking sobs, Jacob Klenovic, Russian Jew, said in the police court: "I never could believe they would do anything like this in America." Klenovic had been rejected at Bridgeburg by Officer Thomas, Canadian immigration department, coming to Niagara Falls and attempted to enter the country on the G.T.R. train passing over the lower bridge. Magistrate Fraser find him $50 and costs, which was paid. He was then deported.

New Phase of "Ne Temere."

London, Dec. 21.—The ne temere decree is now before Justice Kenny and a special jury in Dublin. An Irish Catholic farmer seeks a declaration that his secret midnight marriage with a Catholic servant in his mother's employment is null and void, because, though celebrated by the parish priest, it was performed before one witness instead of two, as required by the decree of the Council of Trent and the ne temere decree.

A large array of leading counsel on each side are arguing for and against the validity of the decree in relation to the common law of Ireland. The respondent's counsel contends that while as a Catholic he has every respect for the decrees of the church, they are absolutely without legal force or effect in an English governed country.

The Waste of the Wind.

Every one who wants a cheap motive force has tried to harness the wind. Every child has made a paper propeller or a windmill. But can it be said that the possible uses of the wind have been as arduously investigated as such recently discovered forces as steam and electricity and gases? Is it not conceivable that the practical uses of the wind are underestimated just because they are so familiar?

We cannot help thinking that the wind will be more variously employed some day in the same way that probably the problem of laying under contribution the great physical fact of the tides will be solved. One would think that the wind could be used for electric lighting, yet there is no practical apparatus for the purpose. True, the wind is variable and occasionally absent, but as electricity can be stored one might suppose that this was the very case in which variability did not particularly matter.—London Spectator.

TEMPERANCE AND MORAL REFORM LEAGUE ACTIVE

Committee is to Report To-night on Their Success in Search of Mayoralty and Aldermanic Candidates—Nominations To-morrow.

Whether the temperance party of Peterborough will bring forward any opposition in the approaching mayoralty election, or place contestants in the field for places in the new city council, will be definitely known this evening at the very latest.

To a Review representative to-day Mr. A B. Cunningham, secretary, of the Temperance and Moral Reform League of the city, stated, that several local strong temperance advocates had been approached on the matter of their coming out in support of the temperance cause, and the committee from the League who have the matter in hand are expected to report on their success this evening.

Those interviewed, it is understood, are strong temperance men who would contest both the mayoralty seat, and some of the city fathers' chairs.

"Do you know who, or how many have been approached," Mr. Cunningham was asked.

"That I could'nt say, was the reply, but we will know this evening, and at any rate it is our intention to have some opposition brought forward by the temperance party.

MORE TROUBLE AT CHINESE CAFE

Disorderly Youth Assessed $10.10 for His Misbehavior

Proprietor Said Prisoner Kicked One of the Waiters

A local young fellow appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on two charges, one of being drunk and disorderly, and the other of assaulting Thomas Jacks, a waiter at the Dominion Chinese Cafe, last night.

"What have you got to say?" asked His Worship.

"I don't know whether it was an assault or not, sir. I was pretty well 'canned,' though, I guess."

To the charge of being drunk he pleaded guilty.

HAD A SLEEP.

The Chinese restaurant proprietor went into the box and stated that the prisoner came into his place last night in a badly intoxicated state. He ordered a meal, and while it was being prepared, he fell over on the table and went to sleep. The waiter brought the meal three times, but he refused to accept it. Then the prisoner got up, paid his bill, and on the way out, according to the proprietor, he kicked another waiter viciously on the leg.

The prisoner gave his version of the occurrence, and stated that he did not know whether he had kicked the Chinaman or not.

His Worship gave him the benefit of the doubt by assessing him $4.35, and on the charge of intoxication the fine was $5.75, amounting to $10.10 in all. The fines were ordered to be paid forthwith.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

THE POWER VOTE

To the Editor of the Review.

Peterborough, Dec. 21, 1911.

Sir,—A by-law is being submitted to the electors, the important part of which reads as follows:

"1 That the following question be submitted to the ratepayers of the municipal corporation of the City of Peterborough entitled to vote on money by-laws. Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario a supply of electric power.?

It will be observed that only the ratepayers who are entitled to vote on "money by-laws" are entitled to vote because they are the only class of ratepayers in the city who are interested in by-laws which involve the placing of a mortgage upon the people's property.

This question looks innocent. To find the real meaning of it you must look at the Statutes of Ontario, 1909, Chap. 19, Section 11, which reads as follows;

"11. Where a municipal corporation not a party to the contract set forth in Schedule A as varied by this Act applies for a supply of power and a question has been heretofore or is hereafter submitted to the vote of the electors of the municipality pursuant to paragraph 1A of section 533 of The Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, and the amendments thereto, including the amendment made during the present session as to a supply of electric power from the commission and the electors have voted in favor of a supply from the commission, the council of the corporation of such municipality may authorize the entering into and such corporation may enter into a contract with the commission in the form set forth in the said schedule or with such variations thereof as may be approved by the Lieutenant Governor in Council without submitting a by-law approving the same for the assent of the electors as provided by sub-section 1 of section 13, of the Power Commission Act and when executed such contract shall be legal, valid and binding."

This means that the ratepayers of the city of Peterborough are authorizing the City Council, not only for this year but for every succeeding year to enter into a binding contract, whereby the property owners of the city of Peterborough may be liable for $100,000, $200,000 or $500,000, or any amount that the council may see fit to bind the city to, and to use the words of the section "such contract shall be legal, valid and binding," and to again use the words of the section "without submitting the by-law approving of the same for the assent of the electors."

The contract also provides that money can be borrowed upon the debentures of the town for any amount of money without having to submit a new money by-law to the ratepayers.

Still another worse feature, the electors having once voted upon this by-law can never repeal it.

The ratepayers of Peterboro are anxious to get cheap electric light and power but the ratepayers surely are entitled to know the amount that the city is being mortgaged for and the terms and conditions upon which such power may be obtained.

Yours truly,
"ENQUIRER."

A FARMER'S VIEW

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—As one of the ratepayers of North Monaghan, I beg to say that I think the franchise should not be given the railway for 30 years. The way the thing stands now the railway could run a car service of one car a day pulled into town by a decrepid horse and the franchise is good.

The by-law is of no benefit to North Monaghan unless the railway goes down another mile or three-quarters into the township. If this were done there would be quick transit for milk cans, fruit and vegetables into the city at 6.30 in the morning.

North Monaghan would get a "pig in a poke" if it votes for a by-law framed up the way this is. Remember this, that the railway company's lawyer is the same man as the township solicitor, and you can understand what this means.

I own a little piece of land in North Monaghan, and I do not want to see the street railway go to the tracks and remain there for 30 years. Let them go into the township for a couple of miles, or as far as Crawford's Grove and this will open up greater extent of territory, and increase the land values in the township, which will benefit every taxpayer.

Yours truly,
A TAXPAYER.

ALD. KERNEGHAN TO REMAIN IN NORTH WARD

"Yes, I am going to run for reelection in my own ward," said Ald. Kerneghan, today, in reply to a query by the Review, as to whether he would run in his own ward or the centre ward this year."

Ald. Kerneghan's decision to remain in the North ward, will mean that ex-Ald. W. J. Johnston is out of the field.

REUNION TO BE HELD IN TORONTO

The sons and daughters of Mr. Henry Cox, Rogers street, East City, with their children, to the number of twenty-four will hold a Christmas family re-union in Toronto on Christmas Day at the residence of Mrs. A. C. Weir, 14 St. James street.

Owner Turns Down Offer for His Fast Stepper

Mr. Dave McMann, of Reaboro, received a very tempting cash offer for his fast trotting horse, Harry Mack, last week. His owner feels that he is in possession of a horse that has, and can furnish the goods when called upon, consequently left the offer on the table for consideration.—Lindsay Warder.

STARS FROM THE COAST SIGN WITH TORONTOS

Turnbull and Spring Coming East to Play Lacrosse

New Westminster, Dec. 21— New Westminster fans will learn with regret that both Clifford Spring and Len Turnbull have signed up to play with the Toronto lacrosse team next year.

A representative of that organization was in this city recently, and he obtained the signature of the two star players if the local lacrosse team offering them much better inducements than they received from the local organization last year.

While this will materially weaken the local team it can be stated that no effort will be spared by those who have the welfare of the Salmon Bellies at heart to strengthen the local team and make it strong enough to win back the Minto Cup from Con Jones' aggregation of all-stars.

Orillia, Ont., Dec. 21—Orillia is out to have some hockey here this winter, having both junior and intermediate teams in the O.H.A. The intermediates held a good organization meeting in the Council Chambers last night, when the following officers were appointed: Manager and secretary, J. A. Fowlie; treasurer, Alex. Caldwell; coach, Wm. Dunn; Committee of Management, J. C. Miller, J. Lynch, W. C. George.

Canadian Associated Press Cable

London, Dec. 20—An exchange telegraph to-day from Sydney, N.S.W. states that England scored 263 runs for 8 wickets in the second inning of the first test cricket match with Australia. Of these Gunn scored 12 and Hearne 43. This closed play for the day.

The score stands: Australia, first inning, 447; second 308; England, first inning, 318, second inning, 263 for 8 wickets.

Pittsburg, Dec. 21—Barney Dreyfus is much worried over the condition of Marty O'Toole, the famous $22,500 pitcher, who joined the Pirates the latter part of last season. After three games O'Toole's arm went bad. He is now in Brockton, Mass., having his arm treated by Dr. Henry Daniels, an eminent specialist. Daniels says that O'Toole is suffering from contracted muscles of the shoulder. He is of the opinion that these muscles will never reach their normal state, but he says this ought not to preven them from pitching fairly good ball next season.

Hickman, Ky., Dec. 21—It is Thespian Waddell—not "Rube" now— if you please. The eccentric twirler left to-day to join a stock company which will play river stations. Waddell said he expected to tread the boards until spring training time.

SPORT TALK

London, Ont., Dec. 20.—Ex-Alderman Thomas Gillean, one of the directors of the London Baseball Club, dropped when the row over the franchise came up for settlement, is out with a statement that he intends to sue "Joe" Keenan, former manager of the team, for slander. Mr. Gillean says Keenan made disparaging remarks about him at the meeting of the Canadian Club at Hamilton.

Writing to a friend in Kingston, William McCammon, formerly of the Kingston Frontenacs, who is now in Calgary, states:—"Both Davidson and myself are well pleased with our positions out here. We are each making $1,800 a year, and working for it. We secured our positions through the personal friendship of Mr. Gravelle, and not through our hockey ability. Whether we play hockey or not, we intend to remain here in Calgary."

CURLING

A meeting of the executive of the Kingston Curling Club was held last night and a program was arranged for the reception of the Scotch Curlers which will arrive on Friday, January 19th at 4 o'clock. They will be met by the local club which will include the club piper and conducted to their hotel. On Saturday morning they will be entertained by a drive around the city and a visit to the public buildings. From 1 to 3 p.m. luncheon will be held, at which a number of short addresses will be delivered and presentations will be made by the local curlers.

After lunch adjournment will be made to the rink where two outside and three Kinston clubs will play the visitors. In the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, five Kinston teams will play with the visitors, after which a smoking concert will be given. The visitors will then leave at 12 p.m. for Peterboro.

The following clubs were invited: Belleville, Brockville, Colborne, Napanee, Prescott, Eastern Hospital and Rockwood—Kingston Standard.

NEWSY NOTES FROM BENSFORT

Large Eagle Was Sighted But it Eluded Capture

Special Correspondence.

Bensfort, Dec. 20.—Mr. Breckenridge, of Indian River, was visiting at Mr. John Pue's recently.

Mr. Jas. Whittington's pure bred pigs, which he purchased from Stirton Bros., have had violent coughs. The change of conditions was supposed to be the cause of their contracting severe colds. He was fortunate, however, in not having to procure veterinary attendance, and they are now doing well.

Mr. L. Nicholson and Mr. Jas. Taylor left for England on Tuesday last. They will both be greatly missed in this neighborhood, the latter being a member of the Methodist choir and an active worker in religious affairs, and Mr. Nicholson an esteemed church member. Both have the best wishes of the entire community for a pleasant trip, and a Merry Christmas in the Old Country.

One of our local trappers, a young Englishman, undertook to skin a skunk a short time ago. The result may be better imagined than described.

Many are taking advantage of the plowing weather. It is pleasant to hear the whistle of the steamboats. The steamer Geneva made a trip on Thursday, and again on Saturday a large number took advantage of the trip, owing to the state of the roads. These are the latest known trips in a number of years.

Should navigation remain open Mr. W. A. Nurse may make many more trips with his steam launch, "Mayflower." Other winter sports, which were so promising, may be delayed for an indefinite length of time.

Mr. J. Blakely is busy finishing clover threshing, bad roads making making slow moving.

A very large eagle was seen a short time ago. Some of our local sportsmen tried to get a shot at it, but the bird proved to be too cunning for them. After quite a chase they gave it up, coming to the conclusion that a "flying machine" would be the best means of capturing such an unusual visitor.

Mrs James Jackson and her son, Harry, of Saskatoon, have arrived home.

Mr. Mat Lang, of Oxbow, is home to see his father, Mr. Wm. Lang, of Bailieboro, who died recently.

The programs for the several entertainments are under practice. We are expecting to hear something good.

As the season for all game is at a close our local inspector will no doubt be on the watch for lawbreakers again.

Many from this neighborhood are cultivating their musical talent. Mr. Charlie Fisher is seeking prominence as a pianist and we hope shortly to be able to boast of having professors amongst our young men.

The elections on Monday resulted in a Conservative majority in our township, though the riding of West Northumberland went Liberal. The No. 2 polling division was controlled by Mr. Everett Wood, D.R.O.; Mr. Harry Kerr, poll clerk; Messrs. Stanley Fry and Robert Roddy, Conservative scrutineers; Messrs. Richmond Morrison and Byron Wood Liberal scrutineers, while Mr. John Pue was constable for the occasion.

Stirton Bros.' farm is open for speculation by any desirous of purchasing, and there is said to be many bidders for the property, which is considered amongst our best. We regret the conditions which make it consistent for them to depart from from our midst, and hope that the contemplated change of clime may prove a blessing to Mr. Edward, the younger, who has been ill for some time. They hope to make Vancouver their future home.

Many attended the funeral of the late Jas. Wood on Thursday, and that of Wm Lang on Monday, both of Cavan township, and much sympathy is extended the sorrowing friends in their hour of trouble. Both were widely known and much respected.

CLOSING OF THE SCHOOL AT SALEM

Concert Attracted Many Young People From the City

A rousing and highly successful school concert was given at the Salem school-house in Otonabee last evening, previous to the closing of the school for the Christmas holidays.

A big party from the city drove down and the attendance was very large, the school-room being packed to its utmost capacity, while large numbers crowded the entrance seeking to find even standing room. The school is under the management of Miss Maysie Armstrong, daughter of City Clerk Armstrong, and the classy and meritorious program rendered by her pupils last evening came in for many warm expressions of praise, from all sides. The pupils were assisted by many of the young people of the vicinity, and every part of the program was of a high order and was heartily applauded.

The usual recitations, flag drills, dialogues, musical numbers, quartets etc., comprised the program. Probably the most popular performance was the Cooks drill, in costume, given by a number of young men. It was splendidly received.

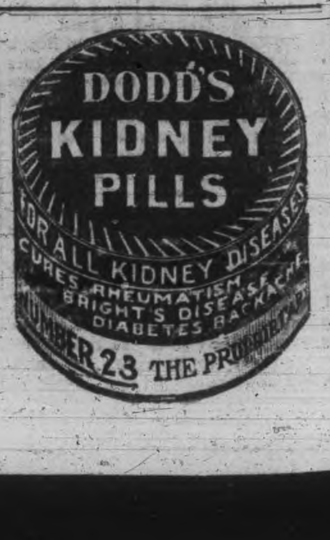
The closing patriotic choruses of "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf Forever," with the flag manoeuvres combined to make a very effective and pretty picture.

TWO MORE TEAMS FOR THE TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Lakefield and Hastings Want to Join This District

Hastings and Lakefield are after a berth in No. 1 district of the Trent Valley Hockey League, which now is made up of All Saints', T.A.S., Campbellford and Havelock. Both clubs will have representatives at the meeting to be held in St. Alphonsus Lyceum to-night.

Some of the Ontario opposition papers charge that the Government of the province is composed of men who are asleep. The critics, if they have justification for their charge, would do well to make no noise about the discovery. If the ministers were asleep when they won that election on Monday night, and should awake and go to work on their opponents they might not leave even a critic to cheer for Mr. Rowell.



YOUNG PEOPLE AT SPRINGVILLE

Officers Were Elected for the Christian Endeavor

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Springville Presbyterian church held their annual meeting last night for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

After the business of the evening was transacted the following program was given:

Musical Selection—Olive Kelly and Bert Sanderson.

Trio—Rev. Dr. Marsh, James Marsh and John Marsh.

Violin Solo—Dr. Marsh.

Bright speeches were made by the following:—Fred Wilson, Bert Sanderson, Bruce Elliott, Harry Clarke and Robert Colin.

THE GOOD OLD SUN

W. LYMAN HUME, Esq., M.D., says:

I took my last policy in the "Sun Life" five years ago. You may think how agreeably surprised I was to receive your letter of the 28th ult., informing me that my share of the profits earned by my Policy during the last five years amounted to $205.80 IN CASH; or if I preferred they would give me $46.65 a year for for the next five years, to be used as an annual reduction of my yearly premium; or better still they would increase my policy by $311.00, making it worth $5,311 instead of $5,000, upon which I would continue to pay the old premium. This is the option I have chosen.

Suppose that instead of insuring I had placed the amount of my premium $277.75, in the Bank each year, and had allowed the interest to be compounded for five years at three per cent., the interest allowed by all safe, conservative Banks. What would be the results? To-day I should receive $130.11 as the accumulated interest from the Bank, instead of $205.80 from the "Sun Life," a difference of $75.70; but in addition to this the Company has carried the risk on my life for $5,000, which they might have been called at any time to pay.

This is in marked contrast with the so-called Fraternal Societies. I have a policy of $1,000 in one of the best of them; I was notified the other day that my policy would be reduced one-half, or my premium doubled. The "Sun" increases my policy, or reduces my premium; the Fraternal Society reduces my policy or increases my premium; it should not be a difficult matter to choose which is the better system of the two.

The "Good Old Sun," may it never set except to rise again with increased effulgence!

Like fruit juice, "Fruit-a-tives" acts on the great blood purifying organs of the body—namely the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin, and stimulates all these parts to increased activity. The splendid nerve tonics and intestinal antiseptics, combined with the intensified fruit juices, make "Fruit-a-tives" the finest of nerve tonics.

On the stomach, "Fruit-a-tives" acts as a soothing tonic and allays all irritation.

By purifying the blood—strengthening the nervous system and regulating kidneys, bowels and skin—"Fruit-a-tives" builds up the whole system as nothing else will

"Fruit-a-tives" is a really wonderful medicine—being made directly from fresh fruit—and is the intensified juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit. It is mild in action—pleasant to take—and is a tonic of inestimable value.

JAS. J. HACKETT MARRIES AGAIN

Bride is Former Leading Lady of His Company

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 21.—Jas. K. Hackett, actor, was secretly married here Saturday, but the news did not get out until after he had left for a week's engagement in St. Louis.

The bride is Beatrice Mary Beckley, who gave her address in the marriage license as London, and her occupation as none. Miss Beckley, however, was formerly leading woman for Mr. Hackett, having been in his company four years. It was while she was playing in Milwaukee two years ago that the first report came of the prospective divorce by Mary Mannering, a report which was angrily denied at that time by Mr. Hackett, who said that jealousy of Miss Beckley's talent had started the report to make trouble for him. The divorce, however, was granted a short time later.

The wedding came as a surprise to the members of the Hackett company Miss Beckley had arrived from the east yesterday and a special dispensation had been obtained for the immediate marriage without the usual formality of a five days' intermission between the issuance of the license and the marriage.

Meanwhile the leading members of the Hackett company had been notified, and after the Saturday matinee went singly to the offices of Fred. Lorenz, a court commissioner, where the wedding took place.

USING A TRUNK FOR CHRISTMAS

Not every family has its Christmas tree because of the difficulty of getting the tree. It is time that in default of a proper tree any old shrub is pressed into service. Each year the boys and men who offer trees for sale have to go farther from the city in order to procure them. Trees are selling at from 25c to $1.00, depending on the size of the tree and the expectations of the vendor.

A lady who has mothered a brood through many Christmases offers the suggestion that while there is nothing like the antique stocking, of generous depth and capacity, that failing a Christmas tree a trunk is a good substitute.

The trunk may be set in some obscure corner and the gifts popped in from time to time, one person—of mature judgment and firm resolution sworn to secrecy—to hold the key. On Christmas morning the trunk, suitably decorated, may be given the place of honor and opened with due formality. The most benign and affable person to dive for the gifts and announce the names of recipients and donors. Try a trunk this time.

JUDGMENT IN FAVOR OF REAL ESTATE AGENTS

Montreal Judge Held Plaintiffs Were Intitled to Commission

Montreal, Dec. 21—Chief Justice Tait awarded $387.50 with interest and costs, to the House of Browne, Limited, yesterday, and settled the interesting point whether or not a real estate agent, who, acting in the interest of a client, brings a transaction to a point where a deed of promise of sale is passed, may collect commission. His Lordship decided that he could, and allowed a commission of two and a half per cent. on a $15,500 deal which nearly went through, but owing to some alleged defect in the title, did not. M. Hamilton was the defendant.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

Indian River, Dec. 20 — A number from here attended the chicken pie supper at South Dummer. There was a large crowd and a good time.

Mr. Ruth shipped a carload of cattle last week. J. E. Devlin and W. Stabler each shipped a car of hogs

There is talk of bringing out a councillor to represent Indian River vicinity in the Township Council. We should have a man in this part, as the other councillors all live so far from here, that they are never seen except at election time and most of them not even then. While we have no complaitn to make, yet everyone likes a favor in its turn, and it is now ours. We have always loyally supported outside men and made no kick, so expect the favor returned.

The saw mill is running again. Messrs. Staples and Walsh being in charge.

Which shall I take, the wheels or the runners is the question now asked. Both are on the road, but neither make good going. A good fall of snow before Christmas would be acceptable.

We wish a Merry Christmas to all readers of this column.

BANK OF COMMERCE ABSORBS EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK

By Absorption, Which Has Been Foreshadowed For Some Time, Ontario Financial Institution Will Press Bank of Montreal Hard For First Place — New Paid-Up Capital Is Fifteen Millions.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—A despatch from Montreal, announcing the amalgamation of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Eastern Townships Bank, does not come as a great surprise to the local financial world, as the sharp advance in the market quotations of each bank within the past few days foreshadowed important developments. However, realization of expectations is causing more than a mere flutter, for the import of the news is that the biggest banking merger known to Canada has been effected. Moreover, the Bank of Commerce promises to press the Bank of Montreal hard for the distinction of being the biggest banking institution in the country.

At Montreal yesterday the directors of the Eastern Townships Bank ratified the terms of the agreement for the amalgamation, and the plans will be presented at a meeting of the shareholders shortly.

The united banks will operate under the title, "The Canadian Bank of Commerce, with which is incorporated the Eastern Townships Bank." The new bank's paid-up capital is $15,000,000. The reserve is $12,000,000; the aggregate assets are in excess of $210,000,000.

The basis of exchange is two $50 shares of Commerce stock for one $100 share of Eastern Townships.

The new bank's headquarters will be in Toronto. All the existing offices will be maintained.

Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Bank of Commerce, stated last night that the agreement had been pending for some time. The Eastern Townships Bank, he said, was strongly intrenched in the English-speaking parts of Quebe and in Nova Scotia, and the amalgamation was made for geographical reasons and not to eliminate competition.

When asked if the merger would have one significance to Toronto in the way of a new head office building, or a more extensive banking facility, Sir Edmund replied that it would not.

The Bank of Commerce, previous to the amalgamation, had a paid-up capital of $11,000,000, which figure is exceeded by the Bank of Montreal by nearly $4,000,000. The Bank of Commerce, however, has considerably more branches in Canada than its rival. The last statements give the Bank of Montreal 141 branches, and the Bank of Commerce 239.

The amalgamation will mean an aggregate of over $132,000,000 of deposits. This, however, is little below the deposits of around $170,000,000 which the Bank of Montreal can claim.

The news has been well concealed until the last few days, when rumors began to get about which forced a speedy decision of the directors. The climax came yesterday morning, when in consequence of the stories of the merger, which were floating around,

SIR EDMUND WALKER

Eastern Township stock took a jump on the local exchange of seventeen points, going up to 210.

The terms of amalgamation provide for the retention of all the Eastern Township and Commerce offices now in existence, and since the Eastern Townships Bank has a wide connection in the Maritime Provinces, while the Bank of Commerce branches cover the whole of the west to the Pacific coast and the Yukon, it will be seen that the amalgamation gives the new financial institution a very wide range.

The staff of both banks will be retained in full, and the Eastern Townships employes will be allowed to share the advantages offered by the Commerce pension scheme.

The new bank will have a total of some 330 branches, and will also have direct representation in London, New York, San Francisco and Mexico City.

One of the most important features of the amalgamation is in the arrangement of the directorate. The Eastern Townships directorate is retained as an advisory board, while a certain number of the directors will be placed as full directors on the new board to represent the Eastern Townships shareholders.

The directors of the amalgamated corporation are as follows:

Eastern Townships: William Farwell, president, Sherbrooke; S. H. C. Miner, vice-president, Granby; Gardner Stevens, Waterloo; C. H. Kathan, Rock Island; J. S. Mitchell, Sherbrooke; A. C. Flumervelt, Victoria, B.C.; O. A. Robertson, Minneapolis, Minn.; Geo. G. Foster, K.C., Montreal; B. C. Howard, Sherbrooke; F. H. McCrea, Sherbrooke; and Charles W. Colby, Ph. D., Montreal.

The Bank of Commerce: Sir B. E. Walker, C.V.O., LL.D., D.C.L., president; Z. A. Lash, K.C., LL.D., vice-president; Hon. Geo. A. Cox, John Hoskins, K.C., LL.D., Robert Kilgour, J. W. Flavelle, LL.D., A. Kingman, Hon. L. Melvin Jones, Hon. W. C. Edwards, E. R. Woods, Hon. J. M. Gibson, K.C., LL.D., William McMaster, Robert Stuart, G. F. Galt.

W. H. BRADBURN AND J. J. HARTLEY ARE IN THE FIELD FOR RACE TO MAYOR'S CHAIR

T. F. Matthews for Water Commissioner by Acclamation.

No Change in Personnel of Board of Education.

Some New Candidates for Aldermanic Honors.

The nominations for Mayor, Board of Education and Water Commissioners were held in the City Council Chambers to-day from 11 to 12 o'clock as follows:

FOR MAYOR.

W. H. Bradburn—Proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by Ex-Ald. Batten.

J. J. Hartley—Proposed by J. H. Calender, seconded by A. A. McIntyre.

FOR CHAIRMAN OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

T. F. Matthews—Proposed by W. G. Monrow, seconded by Mr. Stabler.

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION.

J. Wesley Miller—Proposed by J. B. McWilliams, seconded by James A. Graham.

George Burnham—Proposed by Jas. Graham, seconded by George H. Duncan.

John Crane—Proposed by W. H. Bradburn, seconded by George H. Duncan.

W. H. Hill—Proposed by W. G. Monrow, seconded by George H. Duncan.

T. H. Adams—Proposed by G. N. Gordon, seconded by Jas. Graham.

OPPOSITION FOR W. H. BRADBURN.

The appearance of J. J. Hartley in the field in opposition to W. H. Bradburn, for the Mayor's chair, came as a surprise to quite a number to-day. It was generally felt that W. H. Bradburn was to have a clear field, although a movement was on foot throughout the city to bring in some opposition at least. The general feeling at the nominations this morning was that Mr. Hartley was perhaps handicapped to some extent for success, owing to the lateness of his nomination. Both of the contestants made rattling good addresses, however, and that the Mayoralty fight will be warmly waged seems assured.

T. F. Matthews, the mover of Mr. Bradburn's nomination, spoke first. He considered the candidate was well qualified for the proposed position, qualified both by municipal training and ability. He felt that Mr. Bradburn would do his best for the city, if elected, and that he would be the right man in the right place.

Ex-Ald. Batten, the seconder, heartily endorsed Mr. Matthews' remarks. Having sat with Mr. Bradburn in the Council he had found him to be an honorable and upright man, and one who had splendid qualifications for the position of mayor.

MR. BRADBURN'S PLATFORM.

The candidate in commencing his pointed address, first expressed his sincere thanks to the mover and seconder of the motion of his nomination. "If elected to the responsible office of Mayor I will certainly do my best to advance the interests of this city," he said. "My finances are practically all locked up in Peterborough, and my efforts naturally would be concentrated to the advancement of the city's interests."

Mr. Bradburn went on to briefly review some of the vital matters before the city, to the successful settlement of which his energy would be directed. He referred to some of the permanent work that had been done by the city, first of which was the erection and estab-

HARRY THAW IN BANKRUPTCY

R. Blair. A meeting of the creditors will be held December 27th, and the account may be approved at that time, thus ending the long-drawn-out litigation.

YUAN SHI KAI HAS PLEDGED HIMSELF TO THE MONARCHY

Britain Is Behind Him, Not With a View to Balking Chinese In Securing Their Rights, But to Get a Practical Solution of the Present Problem—Powers Are Believed to Be Enlisted.

Pekin, Dec. 22.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai yesterday gave his answer to those who are aiming to transform China into a republic. In an official statement, he declared, without qualification, that he refused to accept a republic.

At the Shanghai peace conference Wednesday, Wu Ting Fang, Foreign Minister in the revolutionary provisional cabinet, spoke strongly in favor of a republic and later Tang Shao Yi said that he was convinced that the abdication of the Emperor and the establishment of a republic was the only thing that would satisfy the people. At the same time he expressed doubts whether it would be possible to persuade Yuan Shi Kai to abandon his plan for a limited monarchy.

It is believed here that Yuan Shi Kai means what he says and will uphold the monarchy. A new situation has arisen. Great Britain, which has been supporting the Premier's monarchial program for several weeks, is now strengthened by the Japanese and is endeavoring to obtain the support of the United States and other countries. Great Britain believes that the action of the dependencies, Manchuria, Mongolia and Thibet, and the serious internal troubles of China would result far from the establishment of a republic, whereas the republicans have already obtained in a material way everything they desired. Only the name of the monarchy is left.

It is stated that the American group, if not the American State Department, already supports the British idea and are ready with two, if not three of the others of the "four nation group" of financiers, to lend Yuan Shi Kai's Government money. Negotiations to this end have been proceeding for some days.

It was on Grent Britain's initiative that the six powers urged the Shanghai peace conference to reach an agreement. Now Great Britain is endeavoring to persuade the rebels of the necessity to settle the revolution and come to terms.

It is pointed out that British interference is not directed against China's interests, but against the sentimental idea in such cases where the practical interests of the entire nation are being jeopardized. The extension of the armistice for ten days to which the revolutionists have agreed, has given some hope, but unless the revolutionists accept Premier Yuan's offer the only alternative is continuation of the conflict, with possible division of the country, the dependencies rallying around the northern empire.

The Premier has sent 3,000 troops to Chinwangtao, on the coast of Chihli, with the object of preventing republican troops from assembling in the north. Precautions are also being taken below Tientsin.

The revolutionary leader here positively assert that if Yuan Shi Kai persists in his refusal to accept a republic, the powers giving him their support would be regarded as the enemies of China and the lives of all foreigners in China would be jeopardized.

It is generally believed among the revolutionists that Great Britain is supporting the monarchy solely because of the dangerous example which would be set for India, should China become a republic.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the reform leader, is due to arrive here in a few days and it is believed that he will assume the leadership of the south. Large reinforcements of well-armed and well-trained troops are arriving from Canton.

For the first time an English-speaking man has been elected Mayor of St. Boniface, Man. He is H. Berry.

Used Axe Wilfully.

London, Dec. 22.—The coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of Frederick Culver, who died as the result of a wound in his leg, inflicted near a roadhouse, by Dan Reynolds, last night returned a verdict that he had come to his death, by bleeding, from a wound in his left leg, inflicted by a blow from an axe, in the hands of Daniel Reynolds. They also believed that the wound was wilfully inflicted.

A sixteen-year-old son of the prisoner testified that he was drunk at the time and remembered nothing that happened, adding that he had become intoxicated a number of times with his parent.

POLICE CHIEF IS HEARD

Appears Before Grand Jury in Dynamite Cases

Indianapolis, Dec. 22.—Claude E. Myers, chief of police of Tiffin, O., where 540 pounds of dynamite and other explosives were found hidden in a barn the day after the arrest of John J. McNamara in Indianapolis on last April 22, was the chief witness before the federal grand jury in the investigation of the dynamiting conspiracy yesterday.

He was among those from whom it was said, the investigators expected to learn facts as to who, besides the McNamaras and Ortie E. McManigal, were implicated particularly in the explosions in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana, to carry on which the stores of explosives at Tiffin were used as a base of supply. Information was said to have been obtained by U. S. District Attorney C. W. Miller that the explosions were directed from McNamara's headquarters in Indianapolis, where as secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, he had his office,—also the suggestion that the destruction of property erected by firms employing non-union men came originally from the city where the explosions afterwards took place.

In connection with Chief Myers' appearance it was learned the district attorney's office had accumulated important data relative to local conditions in the score of cities where structural work was blown up in the last five years.

County Prosecutor Frank P. Baker also was before the grand jury. He was summoned because of his work as prosecutor in conducting before the country grand jury a case involving a series of explosions in Indianapolis. Baker earlier in the day had been fined $50 for contempt, because he interrupted a murder trial in the county court, by dragging in a detective, who was working on the dynamite investigation and whom, Baker says, was "shadowing him."

Seven days' work by the federal jury has developed that the evidence is more voluminous and the number of witnesses to be called from distant cities is greater than was anticipated. The investigation temporarily will stop to-day when the jurors will adjourn until Jan. 3.

Old Wedlock Tangle.

Winnipeg, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Fred Brewer charges the St. Boniface Hospital with refusing to permit her to see her husband because she is a Protestant and he a Catholic.

At the palace it was said the woman was not admitted because she is not Brewer's wife, saying that he had a wife when he married the present Mrs. Brewer. The records show that the first Mrs. Brewer died Dec. 16, 1895, and that he was married again four years later.

The case is being given wide publicity and has caused a sensation. Mrs. Brewer claims the priest was trying to force her to be married again in the Catholic faith.

FREIGHT WRECK AT NORTH BAY

Two Freight Trains Meet in Rear End Collision

North Bay, Dec. 22.—A serious freight wreck occurred last night about seven o'clock on the C.P.R., 30 miles west of Pembroke. Two freight trains, which left North Bay about noon yesterday, eastbound, came together in a rear-end collision near Bass Lake. The leading train had stopped at the foot of a grade, and in the early evening darkness and by some mistake in flagging, the second train thundered down the grade and crashed into the standing train, wrecking the caboose and demolishing ten cars and the locomotive of the second train.

Engineer William Packer of North Bay was badly injured and Fireman Mackay of Chalk River is reported so seriously hurt that he may not live.

Washington, Dec. 22.—After a five-days' search around the Bermuda Islands, the revenue cutter Seneca has given up hope of finding the big derelict five-masted schooner Nathaniel T. Palmer, of Portland, Me. Numerous steamers have reported the Palmer as drifting in the vicinity of the islands.

THEATRE MEETS WITH FAILURE

New York Scheme Was Backed by Several Millionaires

New York, Dec. 22.—"The New Theatre" idea, which was backed by several millionaires, headed by W. K. Vanderbilt, with the purpose of giving the country an endowed theatre with an established repertoire company of the first-class, is now announced to have been wholly abandoned.

When the founders of the project gave up the magnificent but unwieldy playhouse they had erected near Central Park, it was announced that the idea would not be abandoned, but that a smaller theatre would be erected further down town to house the stock company. At a meeting of the founders Wednesday night it was decided with reluctance to abandon the project altogether.

It was stated that the promoters had acted according to the advice of experts. It has been estimated that a fortune of several million dollars has been spent in the New Theatre cause, which commercial managers have continually berated.

Fear Win For Railway.

Winnipeg, Dec. 22.—Consternation has been created in civic circles by the possibility of the Privy Council's decision against the city's contention that the Street Railway Co. has no authority to supply current for light, heat and power in Winnipeg.

While decision has not yet been rendered, the law lords it is felt have forecasted their opinion by many direct questions, and by asking the solicitors for the city if they were willing to pay all costs, without contest, in the event that the decision went against them.

Six million dollars has been invested by Winnipeg in a municipal power plant, after the highest courts in Manitoba had decided that the Street Railway Co., which also furnishes light and power, had no legal status in the streets of the city.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

SERIOUS HOSTILITIES HAVE COMMENCED IN PERSIA

Governor's Palace Has Been Bombarded and Other Clashes Between Russians and Persian Constitutionalists Are Reported—National Council Has Decided to Surrender, Says London Post.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 22.—That serious fighting has commenced between the Persian constitutionists and Russian troops is evidenced in despatches from Tabriz, which state that the governor's palace has been bombarded. There were casualties on both sides, but their extent is not yet known. The Russian legation last night professed to have no details of the engagement.

There has been fighting also between the Russians and the Persians at Enzeli, on the Caspian Sea, and at Resht, 16 miles northwest of Enzeli. Conflicting versions are given as to the cause of the fighting. One says that the Russians seized the police headquarters at Resht.

It is feared that the news will have a deplorable effect upon public opinion in Teheran. The special commission of five deputies, which the National Council on Wednesday decided to appoint to deal with the Russian ultimatum, has not yet been formed, owing to the reluctance of the deputies to serve.

Attacked the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—According to reports received from the town of Julfa, a suburb of Ispahan, Persia, the Persians yesterday attacked a Russian detachment. The firing lasted all day and the artillery took part in the engagement. Telegraphic communication with Persia has been interrupted.

A despatch from Tabriz reports that a small body of Russians was attacked while engaged in repairing a telephone line. Two of the attacking party were killed.

Will Not Fight.

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—The Teheran correspondent of The Morning Post says that Russia on Wednesday presented to Persia a final ultimatum, demanding compliance with 24 hours, otherwise the Russian troops now stationed at Kasbin would advance on Teheran.

The National Council, says the correspondent, has now abandoned its policy of resistance and has voted the regent authority to settle in the best interests of the country. The acute stage of the crisis is believed to be ended.

New York Backs Taft.

New York, Dec. 22.—President Taft went back to Washington early yesterday with assurances that he would have practically solid support from the New York delegation at the coming national convention. Col. Roosevelt's friends seized the occasion of the President's visit to reiterate that his predecessor would not allow his name to be used in opposition to Taft's.

The President returned without seeing Col. Roosevelt or receiving any communication from him.

Can't Beat Niagara Peninsula.

St. Catharines, Dec. 22.—W. H. Bunting, appointed by the Laurier administration and continued by the Borden administration, to investigate the fruit conditions of Canada is home for Christmas. He has completed his work in the eastern and western provinces.

All things considered, Mr. Bunting declares the Niagara district the most favored of all he has seen and declares it offers the best inducement as to growing of fruit and residence.

Watching Gypsy Band.

Brockville, Dec. 22.—The band of fortune telling gypsies, who made trouble for the police in Belleville, tried to work their game here, but unsuccessfully. A wire yesterday was received by Chief Burke, from G. T. Stewart, Toronto Dominion Immigration agent, concerning the band. Stewart is anxious as to their whereabouts and in turn was informed by the chief that they had been ordered out of here and left for the east.

McKenna Is Caustic.

London, Dec. 22.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford's recent speeches, in which he made statements against the administration of Reginald McKenna, former First Lord of the Admiralty, in relation to the alleged unreadiness of the British navy during the Anglo-German crisis in regard to Morocco last summer, have drawn a pointed reply from Mr. McKenna.

In a letter written for publication, Mr. McKenna, who in October changed the portfolio of the navy for that of Secretary of the Home Department, says: "Lord Charles Beresford's speeches did not disturb me in the slightest. Nobody attaches any importance to what he says, and it is common knowledge that I refused to employ him and also refused to recommend him as admiral of the fleet."

PORTE DROVE THE BARGAIN

Asked Britain to Requite Cession of Sollum

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—A belated despatch reports a fight at Derna on Dec. 16, between the Italians and Turks, in which the casualties were small. No movement is reported from other occupied points. It is said that 15,000 Arabs and Turks have assembled within four or five miles of the Italian trenches at Tobruk.

According to despatches to a news agency, six Italian warships have appeared off Durazzo, on the Albanian coast, and the inhabitants are preparing for flight.

The Porte, in consideration for the cession of the Sollum district of Barca, the eastern division of Tripoli, to Egypt, stipulated that Great Britain use her influence to preserve peace in the Balkans, prevent Italian naval action in Turkish waters, and maintain a benevolent neutrality on the Egyptian frontier. Sollum has been occupied by Egypt, and, it is announced, will be held pending the conclusion of the Turco-Italian war.

Turks Draw Off.

Derna, Tripoli, Dec. 22.—Turkish forces have made several attacks on the Italian soldiers, while the latter were engaged in throwing up works outside the town. Reinforcements were sent to the aid of the Italians, and a counter attack resulted in the withdrawal of the Turks. The Italians had three killed and 24 wounded.

Anarchy In Macedonia.

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—A despatch from Saloniki, European Turkey, to a London news agency reports a condition of anarchy throughout Macedonia. Murder, pillage and brigandage are rife. Travel in the country districts is safe only for large armed parties. Twenty-seven assassinations have occurred within the past month within a two hours' journey of Saloniki, all the victims being Greeks.

The Christians, finding it impossible to obtain redress, are organizing bands with the object of killing the Turks.

LATER

Special to the Review.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 22 — Violent anti-Russian demonstrations are in progress in the streets of Teheran to-day, following the news of fighting in the north. Placards everywhere call on Persians to fight the invaders and armed resistance to the Russian troops who are due to arrive here tomorrow seems inevitable.

New Western Freight Rates.

Ottawa, Dec. 22.—The C.N.R. and C.P.R. have been given until April 1, 1912, to frame new schedules of freight rates between Fort William, Regina, Moose Jaw and other points west of Manitoba. This order was made by the Board of Railway Commissioners in 1910, when discrimination against these cities in favor of Winnipeg was alleged.

The order was appealed by the companies, but the appeal was dismissed with costs by the Supreme Court.

Deadlock In New Zealand.

Christchurch, N.Z., Dec. 22—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The parties are evenly balanced after the elections, and the only possible way out of a deadlock seems to be to take a vote of confidence in the Ministry. Many members favor dissolution.

AN END TO GRAFT

As an evidence of the thoroughness with which Mr. Borden and the Cabinet will conduct the business of the country, reference to a recent order promulgated is interesting. The government has decided to hold, or rather continue, the enquiry into the Civil Service Act, which was ostensibly begun by the late government. So far as conducted by it the investigation was largely superficial. It stopped just when interesting revelations could have been made, especially in the Marine department.

The personnel of the commission is ample guarantee that the investigation will be a thorough and important one. It includes Messrs. A. B. Morine, K.C., Toronto; C. N. Ducharme, Montreal, and R. S. Lake, ex-M.P., Qu'Apple.

It will be remembered that as a result of the investigation into the affairs of the Marine Department, conducted by Messrs. Courtenay, Fysche and Bazin, and the subsequent disclosure before Mr. Justice Cassels, many dismissals were made both in the inside and outside branches of the Department of Marine. The commission of that day reported that owing to the short time at their disposal they were unable to investigate the Departments of the Interior and of Militia, intimating that if the enquiry would be pursued in all the departments evidence of graft might be disclosed equally flagrant as that brought out in the Marine investigation. Notwithstanding this finding, the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier declined to permit the searching-out process to be continued, although the Opposition time and again pressed for it. As a matter of fact, the Opposition committed itself before the country to a complete investigation of the departments of Government, and more especially into the large spending departments.

CHINA'S REPUBLIC

The indications are that China will begin business after the revolution as a Republic. If it turns out that the Chinese people can really work the machinery as a Republic, which depends upon an alert and enlightened public spirit, they have been woefully slandered by all their critics. A more magnificent vindication of a whole race could hardly be imagined; or a more startling notice to the rest of the world that China must henceforth be treated as an adult nation and a modern power. We do not say this by way of contrasting the Republican form of Government with that of a real limited monarchy such as we enjoy in the British Empire. Ours would be quite as difficult to work as a Republic, and would be fully as conclusive a proof of the possession of the power of self-government. But there is a natural feeling that a monarchy which should seem to be transformed from a despotism to a democratic government in a year, would be in great danger of not travelling the whole distance.

A Republic can, of course, be a cloak for a military despotism or a limited oligarchy. But it is a "cloak" that seldom seems to wear long. Its forms encourage individual action, and the people are always tempted to substitute real for sham power. However, we shall see what happens. We have always been told that the Chinese lack a sense of national unity. That alone would make a real Republic an impossibility, and would leave the government of the Empire in the hands of a "junta." But this may prove to be another libel. Certainly the hard fighting done by the revolutionists indicates a virile patriotism and a deep seated passion for liberty.

If China becomes a united and self-confident power, the attitude of the rest of the world toward it must change at once. We cannot expect to enjoy extra territorial rights within within the boundaries of a nation which believes in itself, is self-governing, and is quite capable of becoming formidable on sea and land. Much will depend in that case upon the promptitude with which the outside world recognizes the change. Revolutionary France would probably never have set out to conquer Europe if Europe had not begun by trying to dictate to the Revolutionists. A nation in revolt is an exceedingly dangerous body to meddle with, especially when it is a large nation and capable of enormous development as a fighting force.

THROWING A LIGHT ON CHRISTMAS

In these days of combines, mergers and what are termed avaracious monopolies, it is a cheerful thing to find that a city institution and public service corporations does a graceful and kindly act, as nice as unexpected. Not only these, but as sensible and timely.

In an advertisement printed in the Toronto papers the Toronto Electric Light company says:

Appreciating the danger incurred by the use of lighted candles on Christmas trees in church festivals at this holiday season, and with the object of illustrating the safety and beauty of the modern methods of electrical Christmas tree decorations, we make the following offer:

To any church having a Christmas festival between December 21-31, using electric service, we will loan without charge a complete electrical Christmas tree lighting outfit, consisting of various colored minature electric lights, for any tree, however large.

The only limitation to this offer is that owing to the demand for these sets by sale to our consumers for home use, the number of churches supplied cannot exceed twenty, the first twenty applying for this service after the publication of this announcement, Thursday, December 21st, 1911.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A petition, signed by over 2,000 ratepayers has been presented to the city council of Ottawa, asking that a plebiscite be taken on license reduction. At present there are 55 hotel and 20 shop licenses in the city, the annual fee being $700 per year.

Ottawa is proud of the fact that there are more women than men in the city and claims that the burg has always been famous for the beauty of its women. And any speculations as to what will happen to Ottawa when woman suffrage becomes an accomplished fact, and the women of Ottawa have three thousand five hundred more votes than the men, is in the nature of crossing a stream a great many miles before the stream is reached.

Until further notice, the United States has withdrawn the privilege of free entry on wood pulp and print paper, from Canada. President Taft and his advisers are now in doubt whether congress in enacting Canadian reciprocity law actually intended to have these provisions go into effect, should the reciprocity measure be defeated at the Canadian elections. It was proposed at the time that this measure of free trade should become operative independent of the fate of the reciprocity pact, as a whole. Some interesting legal battles may be looked for, as the newspapers, who were largely benefited, will resist the suppression of the clause of the act.

An Automatic Bartender.

Two young Grimsby inventors have patented an ingenious contrivance for use in hotels, which, it is claimed, will do away with bartenders. The machine, which is dial-faced, has a list of refreshments printed round it, and, it is explained, all the thirsty individual needs to do is to move a pointer to the required beverage, press a button, and the drink is electrically ejected to the serving counter.

SMITH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL MEETING

Members of the Municipal Council of the township of Smith met in the council chamber, Peterboro, on Friday, Dec. 15th at 10 o'clock.

All the members were present with Reeve Graham in the chair. Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. McKee, that Mr. Geo. Fairbairn be allowed to address the council.

Mr. Fairbairn stated that on the 28th of Aug. last, he had three lambs killed by dogs and he requested that the council pay him two-thirds of their value. The Reeve explained that when by-law, No. 680, levying a tax on dogs, was passed, a clause was inserted that no money was to be paid for sheep worried by dogs, but that the money so collected was to form part of the general fund. Instructions were given that the clerk forward a copy of the by-law to Mr. Fairbairn.

Tenders were received from Messrs Hunter Sedgwick, Lewis and Fowler making an offer for the privilege of taking the wood cut on the highways by the Seymour Electric Company. Mr. Hunter was granted the permission, his being the highest tender.

Mr. J. J. Bickle and others asked that steps be taken by the council to repair or replace the fence surrounding the cemetery, situated on the north half of Lot, No. 21, in the 5th Concession. He stated that if the council would buy the wire that he and the people of the neighborhood would furnish posts and hang the wire free of charge.

Moved by Mr. Jobe seconded by Mr. McKee, that the council act on Mr. Brickle's suggestion and that Mr. Bickle be commissioned to purchase the wire and also a small gate, and that the amount be paid when the bill was presented. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Jobe seconded by Mr. Davis, that a by-law authorizing the execution of a release to the Dominion Government, for damages done by high water, in respect to certain highways and road ends in the township of Smith be read a first time. Carried.

THE REVIEW

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

"And now, for the first time, I could see that he was not only possessed by a deep-stirring anger, but that he had been in a white-lipped fury during the whole of our conference. He went on:

" 'You are Felix Page's nephew. I would rather see my daughter in her coffin—yes, a thousand times rather—than allied with a man who has a drop of that hound's blood in his veins. That, Mr. Maillot, is my final word.'

"These amazing words, spoken in a voice which trembled with passion, left me speechless. But presently I rose and bowed stiffly, utterly dumfounded by the intensity of his hate for my uncle, but nevertheless keenly incensed and mortified at the injustice he was doing me.

"What had I in common with Felix Page that I should meekly bow my head before the wrath of his enemies? Nothing whatever but that bond of kinship, to which neither of the persons most interested attached the slightest importance. Mr. Page had ignored my very existence—not that I had ever looked to him for anything, because I hadn't; but during all my struggles—through school, college, my efforts at establishing a practice—he never by so much as a word or sign acknowledged that he was aware that there lived anywhere on the face of the earth such a person as Royal Maillot. He had quarrelled with my mother shortly after my father's death—when I was only a kid—because she would not take charge of his household on conditions which would have been intolerable; and then he washed his hands of his sister and her child, I fancy.

" 'Mr. Fluette,' said I at last, 'since your objections are not worthy of a man of your intelligence and ideals, I choose to think, therefore, that you don't sincerely entertain them; they are grossly unjust to Belle and me alike.' But he wouldn't let me go on.

" 'Young man,' said he, in another wrathful outburst, 'I certainly admire your cheek—advising me—in my own house, too—as to my treatment of my own family!'

"For a second or two I returned his infuriated look; and then, resolved not to stand there bandying words nor to be led into a quarrel with him, I said:

" 'I'm sorry, Mr. Fluette—more than I can express—that you feel towards me as you do. Nobody could be more ignorant than I am concerning the nature of your feud with Felix Page—unless it is that you are visiting upon me the consequences of his opposition to you in the Board of Trade.'

"He turned this supposition with a scornful gesture. So I continued:

" 'I am glad to know it is not that; I could n't conceive of you doing anything so outrageously unjust. Could anything be more unfair,' I asked him, 'than to make me share all the animosities that Felix Page has engendered? Why, he is scarcely better than a stranger to me; my profound ignorance of his affairs is the best testimony that I can offer in my behalf.' "

He paused a moment and tried to drive the distressed look from Miss Belle's face with a cheering smile. He failed to do so, however, and immediately proceeded with his recital.

"Well, I failed utterly to move him; but you will be more than merely interested in what presently followed. Said he:

" 'Admitting all that you say, you have brought forward nothing that is to the point; the one overshadowing unalterable fact remains that you are Felix Page's nephew. Prove the contrary to be true—satisfy me that you are free of that detestable blood taint—and you remove the last of my objections to you as a son-in-law.'

"He fell to pacing the floor again, and then presently he stopped and eyed me with a curious expression; I knew that he was turning something over in his mind. When he spoke, his words surprised and puzzled me not a little.

" 'If you are so bent upon having Belle, he said, 'there's just one way you may go about getting her.'

"Considering what he had already said, it is no wonder that I did n't know what to say to this. I waited, and his next words betrayed the real cause—at least, I took it to be the real cause—of his bitterness and ill will. There was a sneer in every word.

" 'Bring me the Paternoster ruby,' he said, 'and if, in the meantime, she hasn't acquired some of the intelligence with which I have always credited her, why, you may take Belle.'

"After I got over being stupefied at the amazing effrontery of the thing—if accepted seriously—I began to do some pretty tall thinking, and I thought rapidly, too.

" 'Is that a bargain?' I said at length.

"I spoke quite calmly and seriously, and he favored me with a surprised stare. But he snapped out a curt reply.

" 'It is," he said. 'And I don't give a rap how you get it, either. I wish you success.'

"Was I cast-down and disheartened? Swift—good Lord!—words can't define my feelings. My disposition is sanguine, but when the blue devils once do get hold of me—well, I'm all in. I believe I suffer more in the dumps than any other living mortal.

"But somehow or other, that mad proposal stuck by me; it followed me persistently into the depths of my misery and colored all my hopeless cogitations—if only I could get my hands upon that bit of crimson glass! Great Scott, Swift! I believe, had I known where it was and could have gotten at it, I would have stolen it. Yes, sir, sardonically as it was advanced, the proposal to obtain the Paternoster ruby was not to be banished from my mind, and in a day or two I found myself weighing the chances of success.

"Well, the results in favor of accomplishing an undertaking so foolhardy were, even when contemplated in the most favorable light, exactly nil. And then there flashed into my mind a number of questions which—and I trust you'll believe me when I assert it—had never come to me before: Who was my uncle's heir? To whom, when he died, would the ruby go? Who, or what, was to benefit by all that vast wealth he was so laboriously piling up?

"Now I had—and still have, for that matter—good reasons for believing that I was the only living relative, and of course knew that if he were to die intestate the whole of his property would pass to me simply by operation of law.

"But suppose he had made a will—was it likely that I had been entirely ignored? The drawing of a will is a solemn matter to the party most concerned, and at such a time the tie of blood is apt to urge its claims in a still small voice—a mere whisper, maybe, but astonishingly pertinacious. Therefore, was Mr. Page so indifferent to his only living kin—had all the common feelings of humanity so far evaporated from his heart—that he would remain deaf to that feeble plea?

"The end of this line of thought was a resolution to call upon my uncle, bare my heart to him, and then appeal to him on the strength of our relationship and his loneliness, to aid me. Without presuming that I entertained any expectations from him, still, if he meant to remember me at all, I intended to urge my present necessities as outweighing every desire and hope of the future.

"Hopeless? Crazy? Of course it was! But I never would have been satisfied until I made the effort. . . Belle, I want to smoke."

He paused, and producing a cigarette, lighted it. But as it was plain that he had not finished, his hearers were far too absorbed in his surprising recital to break in upon the silence. Miss Fluette had followed his every word with a light of love and sympathy shining in her hazel eyes, which was undoubtedly exerting an encouraging influence over the narrator; but Miss Cooper, I observed—covertly watching me, as if she would fathom my thoughts and read the effect which the story was producing there.

And right here let me say that at the moment I would have been hard put to it if suddenly called upon to define that effect.

First of all, Maillot had shown that he was keenly sensible of the seriousness of his position, and in looking forward to the incredible story he would have to tell, had realized that its entire trend would mean self-incrimination. As he himself might have phrased it, he was supplying me not only with a motive for the crime, but, from the time of his conversation with Mr. Fluette forward, with evidence which cumulatively inculpated himself.

So far, I had felt like one listening to a confession; as if all that I had already harkened to was but a preamble to the tragedy which was yet to follow. I may go still further: the thought occurred to me that he might be paving the way for justification of a deed of blood. Convinced that the responsibility for Page's death lay between himself and Burke, it would appear that he was adopting the only means of getting out of a bad hole.

Still I knew in my heart that the denouement of his recital had at best been only hinted at. Had he been under arrest, it would have been my duty to warn him that whatever he might say could be used against him as evidence. Yet I was bound to listen, to encourage him to talk, if he would; but I could not help considering the effect this story would produce upon the minds of a jury. I caught a wistful look in the blue eyes; and then I told Maillot something of what was in my own mind.

"I know it, Swift," he at once returned. "But I believe my only hope lies in placing myself unreservedly in your hands. I'm going to trust myself to your—'

A queer little sound from Miss Fluette—between a gasp and a sob—checked him. She got abruptly to her feet, and fixed such a look of aversion upon me, that I hope I may never again be the object of its like. It is decidedly unpleasant not to be in the good graces of so handsome a girl. The color ebbed quickly from her cheeks, her eyes widened and her lips trembled.

DIAMOND DICK IS NO MORE

He Was Injured by Train at Railway Crossing

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Dec. 22.—Word was received here to-day of the death last night in Kansas City, Kansas, of George R. McLelland, better known as "Diamond Dick," famous in dime novel lore, from injuries received from being run down by a train while driving over a railroad crossing.

McLelland was a native of Ogdensburg, and his parents still reside there. He was a crack shot with the rifle, his favorite trick being the shooting of an apple from a man's head. He ran away from home at the age of sixteen, and in 1872 joined with "Buffalo Bill," "Wild Bill" and "Texas Jack," in the show business. He is said to have been the first doctor is Oklahoma, and when the Spanish war broke out he organized a regiment of old Indian braves and offered his and their services to the country.

"Diamond Dick" gains his sobriquet because of the large number of diamonds he wore. His body will be brought to Ogdensburg for burial.

What's in a Name?

The late king of Siam had for a full name Phra Bat Somdeth Phra Paraminor Maha Chulalongkorn Phra Chu la Chum Klo Chow Yu Hua, and this does not include his titles. A wag in Bombay saw it in the paper when the ruler was visiting that city and was being received by the British officials and passed it over to a young Irish subaltern with the challenge that he pronounce it. The young fellow looked at it a moment and then handed it back. He said he was not long enough winded, but he was sure he could play it on the garrison club piano if the instrument were a couple of octaves longer. The king's uncle, however, who was also a prince high priest, had for one name alone the following collection of letters: Pawaratsawuriyalongkaun. Any one who can get through this and not flat one of the notes has lived a long time where he can look out of the window and see the gilded peak of a temple shimmering in the equatorial sun.—Christian Herald.

Starve a Cold.

Nature, as a rule, takes the appetite away when one is coming down with a cold or other infectious disease, and nature is wise. Don't coax Mary to eat when she has a cold. Don't allow the neighbors to tempt Johnny with calf's foot jelly or other dainties. When suffering from a cold the digestive organs are in no condition to care for food. The digestive juices are altered or entirely absent. One or two days' comparative fast will often assist in averting a severe siege of cold. A more convenient and enjoyable form of fasting would be to subsist for one or two days upon fruit or fruit juices perhaps, with the addition of a little toast. An exclusive fruit diet has all the practical advantages of complete fasting, while it satisfies the appetite and supplies sugar from which the liver can manufacture glycogen to sustain the white blood corpuscles in their continuous warfare against microbes.—William S. Sadler in Designer.

Giving Him Carte Blanche.

A few years ago John Kendrick Bangs, the humorist, told a number of his Broadway literary confreres that he felt particularly elated over an order he had just received from Henry W. Savage, the theatrical producer, for the libretto of a musical comedy. The play was produced a few months later. During the long period of rehearsals so much of Bangs' material was eliminated and so much other material inserted in its stead that when the curtain went up on the first night not more than half a dozen of the original lines remained.

About a week later a friend, meeting Bangs, asked him if he was writing any more plays for Savage.

"Yes," replied Bangs. "Only an hour ago I sent him 500 blank sheets of paper and told him to go as far as he liked."—Irvin Cobb in New York Tribune.

Anthony Trollope's First Earnings.

A literary man recalls Anthony Trollope's little gloat over the first fruits of his pen. "I send you a copy of 'The Warden,'" he wrote to Lord Houghton in 1866, "which Mr. Longman assures me is the last of the first edition. There were, I think, only 750 printed, and they have been over ten years in hand. But I regard the book with affection, as I made £9 2s. 6d. by the first year's sales, having previously written and published for ten years without any such golden result. Since then I have improved even upon that." Trollope, of course, "improved upon that" in no uncertain fashion.—Westminster Gazette.

It Was Real.

"My, this must have been exciting!" says Mrs. Bilmers, who is reading the paper. "A twenty foot boa constrictor escaped from the zoo yesterday and was captured after it had climbed halfway up a telegraph pole."

"And I swore off when I saw it as I went downtown!" growled Mr. Bilmers disgustedly.

"What are you muttering?" she asked.

"Nothing. I just said it must have been a ticklish job."—Chicago Post.

As Good as Lost.

"You're sure you can spare this fiver, are you, Shadbolt?"

"Dinguss, if I had not been perfectly sure that I can get along without it I never would have lent it to you."—Chicago Tribune.

Skeptical.

Teacher—Now, Johnny, what is the shape of the earth? Small Johnny—I dunno. Teacher—Why, I told you yesterday it was round. Small Johnny—Yes, I know, but I don't believe everything I hear.—Chicago News.

Not So Brave.

"He was certainly brave to crawl under the bed and engage in a life and death struggle with that burglar."

"When he crawled under the bed he thought the burglar was in the basement."—Houston Post.

"Yes," replied the weary wayfarer. "I've just done a month."

INSUFFICIENT ATTENTION TO PROPER USE OF OUR SPEECH

Poetry an Aid to Refinement of Speech—Dr. Peterson at Canadian Club.

The Canadian Club banquet last evening in the Oriental Hotel was without doubt the most successful so far this year. This was principally due to the presence of Principal Peterson of McGill University, a scholar and educationist of great intellectual attainments. The address given by the distinguished scholar was a genuine literary treat, and his subject, "Our English Speech," was most comprehensively and interestingly treated.

The banquet which preceded the address, was of the usual high-class and enjoyable character. The assembly of the leading professional and business men of the city was very large, denoting an increased interest in the meetings of the Canadian Club. At the table at the head of the banquet hall were seated the guest and speaker of the evening, Dr. Peterson, with Mayor Morrow at his right and the chairman, T. F. Matthews, to his left.

The banqueters sat down to the delicious spread provided, shortly after eight o'clock, and the address commenced about nine.

Chairman T. F. Matthews in a very neat and appropriate address, welcomed Principal Peterson to the gathering on behalf of the Club. Previous to the introduction of the speaker, however, G. C. Wainwright, read a brief message of greeting to the local Canadian Club, from the message of congratulation from the club in Vancouver.

Principal Peterson is a speaker who possesses the happy faculty of placing his audience in excellent humor at the very commencement. In opening up, he stated that he esteemed it a great privilege to be brought into contact with the people of Peterborough. The subject on which he was to speak was, he remarked, one that was very dear to his heart.

"I had some qualms of conscience when asked to speak on, my subject namely, "Our English Speech," said Dr. Peterson, on the ground that it might seem like setting myself up as being slightly superior to others. Neither have I chosen it as my subject because Armand Lavergne, addressed the gathering in Quebec on the French language. It would of course, have been preferable for our common citizenship if Providence had willed that we should speak one language throughout the Dominion. "Mr. Lavergne made a very powerful plea," continued Dr. Peterson, "but I desire to present a plea in support of the English language.

"How to keep our English language free from contaminating influences was a very difficult problem,' We are at present suffering from a neglect of the proper use of our speech," said the speaker.

POETRY AS AN AID.

"Poetry," said the speaker, "is one of the greatest aids in the proper use of words. The lofty tone of poetry, the excellent and refined thought that characterizes our English poetry all tend to the elevation of the mind and morals. We can aim high at instilling lessons in morals and in moral virtues by means of the best English poetry.

Education throughout Canada, thought the speaker, was suffering from a neglect of the English language. Arithmetic was often overtaught because it was easy to teach, and probably because on the science of (dollars) was founded the study of of arithmetic. Language study was known by all to be one of the best factors for education. It induced nice discrimination, and literary appreciation to a marked degree.

Is not a noble thought expressed in beautiful language, and is not the story of a noble and self-sacrificing life portrayed by the best literature.

Dr Peterson was very much averse to the practice of having school-children worry over the intricacies of the study of government matters, ballot voting, taxation problems, etc., to the detriment of the study of language and how to speak correctly.

AMERICANISMS.

He referred to many peculiarities in language with which we are brought into contact, in the course of everyday life, also to many Americanisms that were creeping into our English language. Many of the latter can be traced back to obsolete English usage.

New conditions were constantly arising which call for new methods of expression.

Dr. Peterson humorously referred to the wholesale use of the word "fix." In any thing that requires repair, the word was almost invariably used. On a bill board one day he saw the words "ladies fixings" used, and their meaning was an enigma to him.

"Far be from me to discover what these fixings were," jokingly added the speaker.

"Then look at some of the horrible things you see in newspapers sometimes, and senseless expressions used. The confusion and wrong use of adjective and adverb is becoming quite too common. Continuous study is necessary to keep the English language pure

Many mistakes in English arise from the wrong structure placed on the meaning of words, an example being quoted by the speaker, where a newspaper article read that a learned judge "acquiesced to the counsel." Many words are used wrongly that indicate sheer ignorance on the part of the speakers.

"The use of poetry, I must again emphasize," said Dr. Peterson, "the highest, best and most refined English peotry consists in what is natural and simple. Poetry rises above the ordinary run of conversation, and the mind of the man who loves the rythmic lilt of poetry is not liable to stoop to low utterance of speech of any kind. It furnishes also a ready method for the inculcating of moral virtue and good thoughts. The speaker made a strong plea for the revival of the old time recitation methods. It was perhaps, he said, due to the inability of most people to properly read poetry, that its neglect ensued.

Principal Peterson read a clipping from a newspaper, descriptive of a fight that occurred during a hockey game, using it as an example of what abuse language can be put to, and also making a plea for teachers to install if possible a love for clean athletics in the hearts and minds of their pupils.

He also recited a couple of descriptive passages of beautiful verse, by two of America's best poets, he being warmly applauded at the conclusion.

T. F. Matthews on behalf of the Canadian Club very neatly and concisely conveyed to Dr. Peterson its appreciation of his excellent address, and the gathering dispersed with the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

IS IT NECESSARY TO HAVE A BY-LAW PASSED

In dealing with the power by-law now before the ratepayers of Peterborough, there is one feature that should appeal to fairminded men as most extraordinary.

If the passing of the by-law will not tie the city up to some scheme, the details of which they do not know at the time they are asked to vote upon it, why should the Hydro-electric Commission insist that a by-law be passed at all?

If, as the members of the City Council declare, they are merely asking for permission to negotiate with the Hydro-Electric Commission in order to see what can be done in the matter, does it not appear strange that they require a by-law passed by the ratepayers before they can find out even the vaguest details as to the nature of the contract, or the extent to which the property of the city will be mortgaged?

The City Council of Peterborough has not, as yet, asked the Seymour Power Co. for a proposition. Had they done so, it would not have been necessary to have the ratepayers pass a by-law granting them permissing to draft a contract. They might have negotiated with the Seymour Power Co. for an indefinite length of time, and then, when the terms of the contract were agreed upon, subject to the vote of the ratepayers, the necessary by-law would have been submitted.

Again, for instance, when some years ago, the city of Peterborough entered into negotiations with the Peterborough Waterworks, Co. for the purchase of the plant of that company, was it necessary to have a by-law passed instructing the Mayor and Council to do so? It was not. They first negotiated and then went before the ratepayers with a definite proposition.

And why, then, should it be necessary to pass a by-law merely asking the City Council to enter into negotiations with the Hydro-Electric Commission for a supply of power, which, by the way, is not yet needed?

The fact of the matter is, there is a great deal more behind the by-law than the Council is prepared to admit. The fact of the matter is, that the passing of this innocent looking by-law, will give to the City Council of Peterborough authority to enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission that may plunge the City of Peterborough into half a million dollars of expenditure without the ratepayers of the city necessarily having an opportunity of passing further upon it.

Would it not strike the electors of Peterborough that there is something out of the ordinary in being called upon to vote permission for the City Council to negotiate with the Hydro Electric Commission? Why should it be necessary to have a by-law passed until after the City Council has negotiated, and until they have come forward with their proposition for submission to the people? If the electors of Peterborough are foolish enough to vote, granting authority to ten or eleven men to tie up the City to a scheme that will perhaps involve it in an expenditure of half a million dollars, they will most certainly regret it later on.

Let the City Council first get the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's proposition and submit it to the people for endorsation. It is outrageous to expect ratepayers to vote on a by-law that may cost a half million dollars, before they are aware of the nature or the terms of the contract.

The by-law appears to be simple enough, but a carefully worded act of the legislature provides that such a by-law is sufficiently broad to enable a City Council to tie itself up to a proposition that may bankrupt the municipality.

Ratepayers should remember that their taxes are now high enough, and light in Peterborough is about as cheap as any town in Canada.

Sudden Death of Isinglass a Loss to Horsemen

The New York Daily Mail says: Insinglass, one of the "horses of the old century," the produce of a mare retrieved from the shafts, winner of the Two Thousand, Derby and St Leger, and of the record sum of £57,185 in stakes, dropped dead at Cheveley Park, Newmarket, yesterday

This is a McCalmot estate, and it was Isinglass who established the personality of the late Colonel McCalmont as a matter of public concern. It seemed a pity that the record of this great horse should be tarnished by one defeat, which prevented the colonel from copying the example of the late Duke of Westminster, with regard to Ormonde, so generally reckoned the "horse of the century." His grace presented a plate to the Jockey Club inscribed with the deeds of Ormonde and the words: "This horse was never beaten. Romance and brillance were eqrally mixed in the case of Isinglass. His dam, a mare called Deadlock, came to be looked on as worthless, and was actually sold by the late Lord Alington to Captain Machell for £19. After a while the captain ridded himself of her, but when a youngster, which she left behind, called Gervas, turned out useful, he made strenuous efforts to find her again. One day he recognized her in the shafts of a farmer's cart, and in a diplomatic manner without explaining his reasons, or showing more than a casual interest in the creature he swapped a cart foal for her—at least, that is the common version of her recovery. Later she was sold for £500 to Colonel McCalmont, who bred Isinglass from her to Isona.

Another story has it that this gentleman himself saw Deadlock, took a fancy to her, and purchased her for the absurd price of £20, but the Machell version is more generally accepted as the true one. In either case the transaction was a wonderful exampl. of luck and judgment

"TRIPLE CROWN" AND £10,000's

Isinglass, who was a very handsome though lazy horse, quickly showed the mettle he was made of. In 1892 he won, among other races, the New Stakes as Ascot and the middle Park Plate at Newmarket, and in 1893 secured the envied "Triple Crown," by winning the Two Thousand, the Derby and St. Leger, in addition to the Newmarket Stakes. In each of these races as in the middle Park Plate the previous year, the second horse was Sir (then Mr.)Charles Rose's Ravensbury, and it is interesting to recall that the latter gentleman's ill-luck in competing against Colonel Mc Colmont on the turf subsequently repeated itself in electoral contests in the Newmarket division. Ravensbury's habit of running second earned for him the soubriquet of "Yellow Jack II." The original Yellow Jack the property of the notorious Mrs. Padwick finished second for the Two Thousand Derby, Cheter Cup, Ascot Derby, Goodwood Cup and other important races in the "fifties."

The career of Isinglass continued to be remarkable. He won in 1894 the rich Princess of Wales's Stakes at Newmarket from a field of horses whose joint value was estimated at the aggregate of 75,000 guineas, and his brilliant duel with the Derby winner of 1894—Lord Rosebery's Ladas—in the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown is still not forgotten. He was supposed—outside the stable—not to be quite up to concert pitch, and a member of the party after the race repeated this idea to Captain Machell, who was the manager of Colonel McCalmont's horse. "Ah," said the captain, "you see we can keep a secret at Bedford Lodge." Isinglass also won the Jockey Club Stakes, thus securing three "ten thoousand pounders," in the same year and the following season he won the Ascot Gold Cup That was his last appearance. His one defeat was sustained at a three-year-old in the now defunct Lancashire Plate at Manchester when essaying to give 10lb to Raeburn, who had been withheld from the St. Leger in order to be kept fresh for this mammoth stake. Nothing would make running for Isinglass, and he detested having to make his own, a state of things to which his own people always attributed his defeat.

His success at the stud, though very considerable, yet did not match his brilliant career on the turf. His only classic winners are the Oaks pair Cherry Lass and our Lassie, with power to add to their number in Lord Falmouth's Belleisle, the champion of her sex in 1911, if not of her age, Altogether the stock of Isinglass in thirteen seasons won £148,253.

MUCH MARRIED PUGILIST

Ne wYork, Dec. 22—Kid McCoy has married again. This time is the eighth.

Mrs. Valentine Hein is the latest, according to despatches from Nice, France where the "happy couple" now are in a villa on that pleasant hillside Monte Carlo a comfortable drive beyond.

Kid McCoy's real name is Norman Selby. Under that name they were married in an undermined place in France. The father of Mrs. Hein left the hotel Ansonia either to meet the couple or to exercise what is called the "kibosh" Evidently he was too late. Friends of Mrs. Hein to-day declared tha tthe ceremony already had been performed.

W. S. Valentine, the father, had objection on the ground of the pugilist's numerous previous matrimonial experiments.

Mrs. Hein, now Mrs. Selby, is a blue eyed blonde. Back of her attachment to the "Kid" is what is called romance. She married Hein in 1902. They separated in 1909. There came an evening at Rector's when Mrs. Hein, in the presence of her husband, bowed to the pugilist as if she had known him before. Hein left the table. On returning the "Kid" was there in his place. He was "looking at my wife," he testified in court later, "while the band was playing "Love Me With Your Eyes."

Mrs. Hein got her freedom. His previous wife Selby had won while at a farm at Saratoga, where run-down people are wound up. His other wives have been, Mrs. Edward C. Ellis, nee Lillian Earle; Indinola Arnold Mrs. Julia Crasselman (three times divorced an dthree times remarried to him); Lottie Pichler and Charlotte Smith lishment of the Queen Mary Hospital, then the Public Library building and the Smith street bridge. Next he traced the origin of the hydro-electric proposition. Some years ago the city endeavored to obtain power from Burleigh Falls, but the cost was found to be too high. It was dropped, and negotiations were under way for securing it from the Otonabee Power Company, but the company refused to sell. Then the council had a report made on the Dickson dam at Lakefield, but here again the cost was found to be too exorbitant.

The hydro-electric proposition then came up. The council went to Ottawa in reference to it, and got power rights on Dams No. 4 and 8. Now a by-law was to be submitted to the people on the matter, to find out if the ratepayers were back of the council.

CHEAP POWER EVERY TIME.

"The council is not going to enter into an agreement with the hydro-electric. if they can secure power cheaper from the Seymour Power Co., said Mr. Bradburn decidedly. "If we can get it cheaper let us get it," is the way I feel about the matter.

My broad platform in this contest will be "progress," said Mr. Bradburn. If we get the lighting system as offered to the city it would magnificently illuminate the streets and be a splendid advertisement for Peterborough.

Another important matter would be the appointment of a permanent assessment, to secure equalization of the city's assessment. To get new industries and manufacturies to Peterborough would be part of his work if elected to the mayoralty chair.

"I want you ratepayers to vote for me," said Mr. Bradburn, "and you depend upon it that if I am elected I will look after your interests as much as I would my own, seeing that both are locked up in Peterborough."

Mr Bradburn concluded amid great applause.

J. J. HARTLEY'S ADDRESS.

J. J. Hartley, the new comer in the field, was given a good reception. He confined his remarks principally to the question of why the city's taxes were becoming burdensome.

He did not consider himself unversed in municipal matters, bringing forward for proof his experience in the council, and on the Board of Education.

"What Mr. Bradburn has to say mey be all right, and I presume it city's taxes are getting to be some-is," he said, "but I feel that the what burdensome."

"How would you stop it, Mr. Hartley," inquired a gentleman present.

"Well you would have to give me a chance," replied the candidate.

Mr. Hartley wanted to know the reason for this increased assessment.

Mr. Bradburn promptly informed Mr. Hartley, as a ratepayer, that it was due to the schools, and that in the years gone by the school accommodation had been deficient, and other assessment had been deficient for what was required.

CANADIAN WINS SEAT.

Capt. F. C. Campbell Is Elected to British Commons For Ayrshire.

London, Dec. 22.—The Government has lost another set in the House of Commons owing to the result of the bye-election for North Ayrshire in Scotland. A. M. Anderson, K.C., the Liberal member returned at the last election, had to seek re-election upon his appointment as Solicitor-General for Scotland, and was defeated by Capt. D. F. Campbell, the Conservative candidate, by a majority of 271 votes.

At the last election Mr. Anderson won the seat by a majority of 238 votes.

Capt. Duncan Frederick Campbell is a Canadian, and was born in Toronto, residing on George street until 11 years ago. He was educated at Trinity University. Shortly after his graduation, he left for England, where he received a military education in a private military school.

He received his commission in the Lancashire Fusiliers shortly before the outbreak of the Boer war, and served with distinction throughout the South African campaign, receiving his D.S.O. after the war.

Coming of old Scotch stock, he was anxious to serve in a Scottish regiment, and at his own request was transferred some years ago to the Black Watch. About eight years ago he returned to Canada and married Miss Reilly of Hamilton.

Capt. Campbell's father was at one time a law partner of Sir William Mulock. His mother was a daughter of the late Barlow Cumberland. D. Lorne Campbell of the Toronto Stock Exchange, is a nephew.

First American Letter Box.

A little more than a half century ago the letter box was unknown. The inventor was Joseph William Briggs, nephew of a former governor of Massachusetts, who, as head clerk in the Cleveland postoffice, studied the needs of patrons and after correspondence with Postmaster General Dennison upon the subject took a train for Washington, bearing a pasteboard model of the letter box under his arm. The postmaster general saw the merits of the plan and appointed Mr. Briggs as special agent to establish the letter box and letter carrier system. The first letter box was attached by clamps to a lamppost that stood in front of a Cleveland drug store, and not a year had passed before fifty-two different cities had adopted the system. —National Magazine.

Where Miners Lose Their Nerve.

Men accustomed to working in mines cannot stand great heights. It is almost an invariable rule that a miner will get dizzy and uneasy if you take him to a high place, such as a monument or the top of a house, and will try to get back to earth as soon as possible. And yet he can stand underground on the edge of a 500 foot shaft, look down into the black abyss and never feel a tremor. He can climb up the face of a shaft, knowing that there is a straight drop of a thousand feet under him, and feel perfectly at home.—Popular Magazine.

Scanty Ammunition.

Colonel Stark's regiment just prior to the battle of Bunker Hill was quartered at Milford, some four miles distant, and was destitute of ammunition. About 10 o'clock on the morning he received orders to march, however, each man received a gill cupful of powder, fifteen balls and one flint As the muskets were of varying caliber it was necessary to reduce the size of the balls for many of them.—Magazine of American History.

About the Size of It.

"Why is it," queried the youth, "that so many people fail to mind their own business?"

"There may be one of two reasons, or both," answered the home grown philosopher. "They may have no mind or no business."—Philadelphia Press.

The Forbidden.

A sailor had just shown a lady over the ship. In thanking him she said:

"I am so sorry to see by the rules that tips are forbidden on your ship."

"Bless you, ma'am," replied the sailor, "so were apples in the Garden of Eden."—London Telegraph.

"If I buy you a seat in the Stock Exchange will you agree to go to work?"

"I ain't crazy for work, dad. Make it a seat in the senate."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Catch of 10,000 Fish.

The Marquis of Bute, finding that his attempts to stock Loch Fad, in the island of Bute, with trout were impracticable owing to the great number of pike in the waters, arranged that the loch, which is more than two miles long, should be blasted with gelignite from end to end, 300 mines being required. The work has been carried out, and nearly 10,000 stunned fish were brought to the surface and netted, and many more were killed outright and sank to the bottom. Further blasting will take place soon.

THE GOOD OLD SUN

W. LYMAN HUME, Esq., M.D., says:

I took my last policy in the "Sun Life" five years ago. You may think how agreeably surprised I was to receive your letter of the 28th ult., informing me that my share of the profits earned by my Policy during the last five years amounted to $205.80 IN CASH; or if I preferred they would give me $46.65 a year for for the next five years, to be used as an annual reduction of my yearly premium; or better still they would increase my policy by $311.00, making it worth $5,311 instead of $5,000, upon which I would continue to pay the old premium. This is the option I have chosen.

Suppose that instead of insuring I had placed the amount of my premium $277.75, in the Bank each year, and had allowed the interest to be compounded for five years at three per cent., the interest allowed by all safe, conservative Banks. What would be the results? To-day I should receive $130.11 as the accumulated interest from the Bank, instead of $205.80 from the "Sun Life," a difference of $75.70; but in addition to this the Company has carried the risk on my life for $5,000, which they might have been called at any time to pay.

This is in marked contrast with the so-called Fraternal Societies. I have a policy of $1,000 in one of the best of them; I was notified the other day that my policy would be reduced one-half, or my premium doubled. The "Sun" increases my policy, or reduces my premium; the Fraternal Society reduces my policy or increases my premium; it should not be a difficult matter to choose which is the better system of the two.

The "Good Old Sun," may it never set except to rise again with increased effulgence!

Every person in Peterboro is acquainted with the subject of the above photograph. Take the Salvation Army Temple band away from Peterboro and the loss would at once be discovered. The citizens are proud of this organization, and while Bandmaster Peryer is to be congratulated at being its leader, individually the members are due considerable praise. They are all workers and practical workers. Everyone who knows anything about music, understands that hard work and consistent practice go hand in hand. The members of this band not only give their time at practices and the various services at the Temple, but are heard in the park during the summer months and on the streets of the city. Everybody likes to hear the Salvation Army band. And not only do they give their time but the dollar goes too. Each member buys his uniform and assists in promoting the efficiency of the band of which they are all proud.

Commencing Saturday night, Christmas serenading will commence. What will be more inspiring and uplifting than the music of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and other Christmas music. Every citizen can help along a good cause by donations, be they large or small. The band looks for a liberal co-operation and as in other years, will no doubt receive what is justly theirs.

Serenading will continue during the following week and on New Years.

REV. DR. SYMONDS FAVORS UNION OF THREE CHURCHES

Gains Numerous and Losses Small in Church Union.

Rev. Dr. Symonds writes the following letter to the Montreal Star, on the question of church union—

Sir—Although an Anglican clergyman, may I venture to address a few words at this Christmas season, to my brethren of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregationalist churches on the pressing topic of church union? Those who know me, will, I am sure acquit me of any possible intention of looking at this subject from a sectarian or from any other point of view than that of the promotion of the cause of Christ.

The certain gains to that cause, arising from unity, appear to me to be numerous and far-reaching, the possible losses small and unimportant.

First, may I say a word or two as to the material gains of unity? The editor of McLean's Magazine recently published an article deprecating the appeal for funds to extend foreign missions, while our own clergy at home were so inadequately paid. That this is the case there can be no doubt; but whether this is due, as is sometimes alleged to the parsimony of the people, seems to me highly doubtful. There are many small villages in which four and sometimes five or six congregations are to be found, each with its own minister and its own church to support, and many incidental expenses to meet. Four ministers at an average of $700, or with incidentals, say, $800, cost that little community $3,200 per annum. Is not this, together with the erection and support of church edifices and parsonages, a very good amount of money to raise?

Suppose now, these churches were to unite. One church and one minister, with an assistant, will amply suffice to supply the religious needs of all: an adequate salary can be paid to the clergy, a beautiful church edifice can be built and supported, whilst the offerings to missions, both home and foreign, can be doubled or even trebled.

There are those who object to this line of argument in favor of church union on the ground that it is materialistic. But material concerns occupy a large share of the attention of all churches. Anxieties about the "loaves and fishes" are no small burden borne by churches in both town and country. Church union would materially diminish these. I have heard it scornfully remarked that the church is not a great railroad corporation. True. But the church need lose nothing and might gain much by being managed in as businesslike and enterprising a fashion as a great railway with the same concentration of purpose upon its main end, and the same sacrifice or inordinate and unessential things to the supreme objects.

CHRISTMAS TREE

The Children's Aid Society are making their annual appeal to the citizens, for donations to the Christmas tree, which will be held at the Shelter, on the afternoon of Christmas Day, for the seven children now in their charge. Gifts of toys, games, clothing, candies and fruit may be left at the newspaper offices, where they will be forwarded, but the better way is to have the article or articles sent direct to the Shelter.

THE BUSINESS COLLEGE AT HOME

Students and Their Friends Given Good Time

The "At Home" at the Peterborough Business College last night for the students and friends of the college proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The hall of learning took on a gala attire for the occasion.

Principal Logan performed the duties of chairman efficiently and called the following numbers which, with the "promenades" coming later, constituted a very pleasing program:

Chairman's address—Mr. Logan.
Selection by the orchestra.
Instrumental duet—Misses McKee.
Vocal solo—Miss S. Sherwin.
Recitation—Miss K. Vincent.
Mandolin and piano selection—Miss M. O'Toole and Miss G. Paterson.
Violin solo—Mr. Haggart.
Selection by the orchestra.
Reading—Miss E. Mulligan.
Vocal solo—Mr. J. Rahelly.
Instrumental—Miss G. Paterson.

An orchestra consisting of Miss Smith, pianist, Messrs. Haggart and Miller, violinist and cornet soloist, supplied excellent music for the eight promenades. Refreshments were served when the music ceased, Coleman Bros. catering.

The gathering broke up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and all went home feeling that they had spent an enjoyable evening.

FIREMEN DINED BY FIRE CHIEF

Christmas Spread at the Hall was Greatly Enjoyed

A good square meal, without the frills, which encourage the digestive organs to retaliate with painful vengeance was that given to the firemen and a number of their friends, by Fire Chief Howard, at the hall last evening.

It was no place for one not in good health and judging from the rapid manner in which the good things disappeared, not one of the gathering which numbered about forty, was inclined to be the least dyspeptic.

The prize bird of the fire hall barnyard had ceased to be earlier in the day, and it was cooked to the King's taste. There were murphies in plenty, done in proper Irish style, celery of the choicest, mother's brand of bread and butter, pickles, etc., with oranges and nuts as desert and a Havana as finale.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford very acceptable occupied the first chair and said grace.

Firemen Wilson and Ward are good firemen and as waiters without equal. They held their jobs down to perfection.

The main sleeping apartments were used for the occasion, and decorations were much in evidence. The affair was arranged by the chief and his thoughtfulness and kindness were thoroughly appreciated.

DON'T FORGET THE XMAS CALENDARS

Proceeds Will Assist the Local Health Association

"To do all in our power to win health and to keep it, is as much one's duty, as to be honest" thus runs one of the mottoes on the party calendars, for sale in aid of the Peterborough Health Association. To help others to win health. That is the object of this organization, and the duty also falls on every healthy citizen of this growing city to lend his or her assistance. Money is required before the Health Association can do much in combatting tuberculosis in Peterborough. Then in making your Christmas purchases this week, don't forget the pretty calendars, and when sending out your parcels be sure and have them well stamped with the association's stamps. The stamps are only a cent a piece, so everyone can do something if it only to buy one of these. Everyone who buys a single stamp or a package of 10 cents or 25 cents worth mayfeel that he is making it possible to do something to help the needy consumptive. It is a fight worth while when it is considered that within a decade a decrease of nearly forty per cent has taken place in this province alone in the death rate from tuberculosis. Buy the stamps at the drug store, at the bank or from the children. Be sure and get them, remembering the object.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

GIFTS FOR THE POOR AND NEEDY

All Saints' Sunday School Held Annual Entertainment

The annual entertainment and Christmas tree in connection with All Saints Sunday school was held last night in the parish hall with a large attendance. Tea was served from 6.30 o'clock in the basement and at eight o'clock, the program of dialogues, readings and other numbers was commenced with the superintendent Mr. John Edgar as chairman.

Included in the program was the presentation of the Fairy's Crowning by eleven girls, Miss Ruby Cranfield as the Fairy Queen. Those taking part were dressed in white and the costumes with stars and wings made a pretty effect. Their work was splendidly received and after the conclusion of the piece, the fairies returned and repeated one of the choruses. To Miss Lillian Rush is due much praise for her work in training the young people.

This year no prizes or presentations were made, but the children brought offerings to the Christmas tree, for distribution among the poor. These gifts included, toques, mitts, wearing apparel and toys and games. This Christmas cheer has been forwarded to Rev. Canon H. C. Dixon, of Holy Trinity church, Toronto, who will use the articles in his noble work among the poor of Toronto. This move is an innovation at All Saints, and the officials are greatly pleased with the response made.

All the Hockey Players Should Fall in Line

The hockey players are asked to turn out to-night to the Y.M.C.A. class between 7.30 and 8.30 o'clock. There will be no class on Monday, Christmas Day, but training will be resumed on the following Wednesday.

The executive of the hockey club made a good move when arrangements were made for training classes at the Y.M.C.A. as the teams would not otherwise have been in shape to take the ice New Year's week, when the Juniors meet Cobourg, and the Intermediates play Lindsay.

Rain is promised in the probabilities and there is no chance of ice till the latter part of next week at the earliest. The rink management say say that with suitable weather conditions, ice making operations will commence next Monday night.

PERSIA CLIMBS DOWN; DECIDES TO ACCEPT THE ULTIMATUM

Apology Will Be Made For Insult to to M. Petroff and W. Morgan Shuster, the American Financial Minister, Will Be Dismissed — Russian Citizens Said to Have Been In Danger at Tabriz.

London, Eng., Dec. 23.—(Can. Press.)—Persia yesterday yielded to the demands of the Russian ultimatum, which demanded that the Persian Foreign Minister apologize for an insult to M. Petroff, the Russian vice-consul at Teheran, on the occasion of the seizure of the property of a brother of the ex-Shah, is also called for the dismissal from office of W. Morgan Shuster, an American, who held the post of treasurer-general.

The Persian charge d'affaires at St. Petersburg called at the Russian Foreign Office late yesterday to announce officially his Government's decision to abide by the terms of the ultimatum. Up to a late hour last night, however, no public announcement had been made at Teheran of the recession of Persia from the defiant stand she originally took against the demands of the Czar's Ministers, even in the face of threatened aggression. The delay in making public the fact that she had yielded to the Russian demands probably was through fear of the consequences of public resentment.

Early yesterday official notices were posted on the walls of the city in prominent places ordering the people to abstain from political meetings of any kind without having previously obtained police sanction.

Mr. Shuster is still without formal notice of his dismissal. He is resolute in declaring that he would have nothing to do with the negotiations and would only recognize the right of the national council to dispense with his services.

The exact form of Persia's reply to Russia is not yet known, but from the latest news received from Teheran, it would seem that the Cabinet has overridden the wishes of the commission which the National Council appointed to deal with the matter.

Russians In Danger.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 23.—The fighting between the Russians and the Persians, which was reported from Tabriz Thursday, lasted in the streets of the city throughout the day. The old citidel was bombarded.

The Russian consul-general has sent to headquarters a request for reinforcements in view of the danger to Russian subjects and Russian property in the city.

The Russians Cossacks at Resht, which is 16 miles northwest of Enzell, on the Caspian Sea, drove the Persians out of their position after considerable fighting. It was found that the Persians were armed with Russian rifles.

According to the despatches received here, both at Tabriz and Resht, the fighting was opened by an attack on the Russians from a Persian ambuscade.

London Approves.

London, Dec. 24.—The London morning newspapers generally consider that Persia in acquiescing in the Russian ultimatum acted wisely and averted thereby Russian occupation of Teheran.

The Times in an editorial congratulates the Persian Cabinet. It says the Cabinet needed no little courage to follow so unpopular, if sensible, a course.

Disagree on Reply.

Teheran, Dec. 23.—The commission appointed by the National Council to deal with the acceptance of the Russian ultimatum held a long session last night, but it is reported that its members were unable to agree on the wording of the Cabinet's draft of a reply to Russia.

It is stated in Russian official circles that while the Russian Government is sincerely desirous for an early withdrawal of its troops in Persia, it will be unable to pledge an evacuation immediately. Persia complies with the terms of the ultimatum. Speculation is rife whether the cabinet will act without sanction. On its failure to do so the commission would assume dictatorial power.

Actor Lorimer a Suicide.

New York, Dec. 23.—Wright Lorimer, the well-known actor, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling gas at his home, 124 West 65th street.

Lorimer was 38 years of age and began his stage career in Chicago several years ago.

He was best known in the production of "The Shepherd King," which he wrote with Arnold Reeves.

Lorimer filled two engagements in Toronto in "The Shepherd King," a Biblical play, in which he scored a great success there.

Kaiser Forbids Travel.

London, Dec. 23.—The Kaiser, acting in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the German army, has forbidden all his officers to visit England without permission from the military authorities. At present German officers must obtain the consent of the authorities to travel abroad, but they have not been required to state their foreign destination.

The Kaiser's new decree is intended to prevent German officers from undertaking at their own risk espionage on British territory. Hitherto this has been a common practice among the ambitious young military men who desired to gain distinction by bringing home useful information about England's defences.

GOES BACK TO ASYLUM

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Dec. 23—The claim of Harold Prince Donn, a Jewish tailor in the "Ward" to a sixty million dollars estate in Russia, is not taken very seriously by authorities here, who have packed him back to the Insane Asylum in New York, from whence he came.

Ex-Mayor of Belleville Hurt.

Belleville, Dec. 23.—A. McFee, ex-mayor of this city sustained painful injuries by being knocked down and run over by a team of horses driven by a man whose identity is unknown, owing to the fact that he drove rapidly away. Mr. McFee had his hip fractured and a finger of the right hand broken. An effort is being made to ascertain the name of the person in charge of the vehicle.

Earthquake In Mexico.

Mexico City, Dec. 23.—An earthquake of moderate intensity occurred here at 6.15 yesterday. The shock lasted about one minute.

No loss of life or damage to property is reported.

TOLD DETECTIVE NEWHALL'S FORTUNE

Two Fakers Are Arrested and Remanded to Jail for Christmas.

Detective Newhall assisted by P.C. Kidd, effectually put the "kibosh" on the operations of two fake fortune tellers and spiritualists yesterday afternoon, when they exposed the couple, with the result that the two, were arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble at police court to-day They were found guilty of conducting an illegal establishment, at 349 Simcoe street, and judgment was reserved by His Worship until the day after Christmas, "so that you may have a comfortable Christmas dinner on the hill" remarked the Magistrate.

The two men blew into Peterboro last Monday, after reaping a profitable harvest out of their fake trade which they have plied in a number of towns and cities, such as Owen Sound, Collingwood, Orillia, Lindsay and Meaford.

The smooth words attracted a large number of the gullible class, who parted with their 50 cts. for a hand reading, etc., $1.00 for part of their life history and $2.00 for a trance reading.

Detective Newhall got wise to their presence and methods. Accompanied by P.C. Kidd, he went to the house, leaving the officer outside. They worked the usual game on the sleuth, who led them on, to discover how they operated. Then calling P.C. Kidd in, he bundled the couple into a room, read a warrant he held for their arrest and the couple were escorted to police head-quarters.

In this city they had raked in $33 and in some places their accounts showed earnings as high as $64.

The two gave their names as Blanchard and Costello.

"I did not know I was breaking the law" said Blanchard, a striking looking fellow, when placed in the box. "I have been in this business ever since I could walk. I toured the States with my mother, who was with the Fays lately.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

By Rev. F. J. Sawers, - - - St. Luke's Rectory

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will toward men." This the angelic song that thrilled the hearts of the shepherds on that first Christmas day. This also the message for we as we come once more to Christmastide.

It is a time of happy home-comings, and joyful family gatherings, a time when discords cease, and old feuds are forgotten, a time when kindliness and unselfishness reign supreme. Why? "For unto us is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." Let not the multitude of secular occupations and anxieties shut out the religious significance of Christmastide. The proper balance is prescribed in the angelic chorus, "Glory to God in the highest," first, then "peace, good-will toward men." The honor of God, the kindly remembrance of men, both elements mark the proper observance of Christmas, and as Tiny Tim observed in the "Christmas carol," "God bless us, every one."

TRUST YOUR COUNCIL!
TRUST THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC!

LET EACH RATEPAYER CONSIDER A FEW PLAIN FACTS IN THIS POWER MATTER:

Are you satisfied with charges for Power and Light as they are? If satisfied nothing more need be said.

If not satisfied what are you going to do about it: Anything?

Can you do anything at all without taking some risk? Will you sit with your hands tied, afraid to move? What holds you?

Is there any other means for relief except through the help of the Hydro-Electric Commission? None that anyone can suggest.

If Power and Light charges can be lessened it is only by and through the Commission; no other door is open, or likely to be pryed open, for you.

It tells us to submit this by-law and get consent of the people. It sees little use in getting to action with a Council that is not backed up by the People. That is a sensible position to take. It is just and reasonable. "Submit," it says, "a by-law and then we will see what we can do for you." We can't find out otherwise.

It will tell you what the minimum charge will be — as truly as experience can tell — of power laid down at the city limit. The engineers can tell you the cost of distribution.

You are not dealing with a corporation desirous of getting the best of the City, of making the best bargain for themselves. You deal with an institution brought about to help the people as the people want to be helped.

The ratepayers of Peterborough will be wanting in good judgment if they turn this by-law down.

Don't do it! Any offer you may hope to receive from a competitor will depend on your vote on Monday, January 1st.

If you vote "No" it means that you haven't confidence in yourselves, nor in your Council, nor in the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Remember! Here is what Hon. Mr. Beck says:

"It is quite absurd to say that the Commission or the Municipality would undertake the expenditure of money without coming back to the people. In the case of Peterborough there will be a lot of information required before the Council or Commission would be justified in making a large expenditure. The Council would be required to supply a sufficient amount to buy or construct a distributing system. The expenditure on account of the Government would be a very large one. The Municipalities undoubtedly will require to go back to the people to secure authority to raise the money for distributing purposes."

Give the by-law a lift!

Be Sure and Hear Mr. Beck at the Grand Opera House on Thursday Evening Next President Estrada Dead.

Guayaquil, Dec. 23.—Emilio Estrada, President of the Republic of Ecuador, died here last midnight.

President Estrada was elected to office on Jan. 11, 1911, and was inaugurated on Sept. 1.

President Estrada became ill in September and was sent to Quito. While there a plot to assassinate him was foiled, and a number of the would-be assassins captured. The attitude of Quito proved dangerous, and President Estrada returned here the latter part of last month.

Underbid Cement Company.

Winnipeg, Dec. 23.—In spite of the high duty on cement an American firm, the Lehigh Cement Co., underbid the Canada Cement Co. for the city of Winnipeg's 25,000-barrel order for spring delivery. The successful bid was 71,43 cents per cwt., including bags, against the 72.65 cents of the Canada company, and represents a saving of four cents per barrel over the price paid this year by the city.

Collegians Broke Quarantine.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Dr. J. E. Laberge, head of the contagious diseases department, reported yesterday to the Board of Control that a college had permitted 300 pupils to leave for their Christmas holidays when they were supposed to stay in college till Dec. 29, owing to five pupils being quarantined on account of scarlet fever.

The Board of Control will enquire into the matter.

Win For "Pinafore" Captain.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—The vagrancy and non-support charge which had been laid against Geo. J. McFarland, one of the principal singers in the "Pinafore" company, which appeared at the Princess a week ago, was thrown out of court yesterday by Judge Bazin, in the police court.

WHAT ADAM BECK HAS DONE IN OTHER MUNICIPALITIES

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The experience that has been obtained by municipalities procuring electric power through the Ontario-Electric Power Commission shows that this is a satisfactory way for a municipality to obtain power.

The Managing Engineer of the Toronto Civic System says in a letter: "In a general way, it may be said that the advent of the Toronto Hydro-Electric system has reduced the price of power in Toronto 30 to 40 per cent already, and has greatly stimulated the use of electricity." The Telegram has estimated that the saving amounts to $555,000.00 per annum.

The secretary-treasurer of the Woodstock Water and Light System says: "Regarding your enquery of the 8th inst., we beg to say that the introduction of Niagara power into our city has reduced the cost of power to users 35 to 50 per cent, and has also resulted in a slight reduction in the cost of light which we expect will be further reduced very shortly."

The city clerk of Hamilton says that the system in Hamilton is in its infancy, "but one effect it had was the reduction of street lighting price when it was first suggested to take Hydro-Electric power. The price of street lighting was reduced from $82.50 to $47.50 per lamp per annum."

The General Superintendent of the London system says: "The effect of the introduction of Hydro-Electric power has been the cutting in two of residence lighting rates from 9 cents to 4 1-2 cents net, also no meter rent is charged as against 25 cents per month previously. The power rates have been reduced to such an extent that a yearly horse power can be purchased on the 10 hour basis as low as $21.60 per h. p. As a consequence while the old company had a minimum of about 2700 consumers connected, the city of London has connected in about 9 months' operation 3,080 consumers, with 4,400 contracts signed. There is no doubt, however, that at the end of the present year 5000 consumers will be reaping the advantage of municipal ownership as regards cheap power. In consequence of cheap power there is an increased demand, and this again cheapens power."

The secretary of the Preston Light and Water Commission writes: "The introduction of Hydro-Electric power in our town has cheapened the lighting rates considerably. In many cases the bills of the larger consumers have been cut in two, and bills have been reduced in almost every instance."

The Town Clerk of Galt, says—"We took over the street lighting on the 1st of April last and the private lighting on the first of June. Since the last mentioned date monthly statements have been furnished by the committee having the lighting in charge and which go to show that the average price per kilowatt has been seven cents as against twelve cents charged by the private company. From these prices a discount of 10 per cent is allowed for prompt payment."

The secretary of the Light and Heat Commission of Stratford writes—"Our Commission have just issued a statement for the eleven months of this year (or to 30th. Nov. 1911) which shows that we have reduced the rates for light and power supplied to our customers by an average of more than 25 per cent. from March 1st, 1911, at which time the new rates came into effect."

The secretary of the Board of Light and Heat Commissioners of Guelph, writes — "The Hydro-Electric Power Commission so far have done more than they promised, and the service since last March has been excellent. The effect it has had on the rates so far as we are concerned is that they were reduced at the beginning of this year 10 p.c., and we expect to make a further reduction at the beginning of next year about 20 p.c.; this is for lighting. The street lighting has been re-arranged and instead of having 100 old out of date open arc lamps we have at the present time 100 80 c.p. Tungsten lamps installed, and everybody seems to be well pleased. The cost to the city will be approximately ten or eleven dollars per lamp per annum, all night and every night service. The power you may judge the satisfaction it is giving when a year ago we had only about 50 h.p., to-day we have 2000 h.p. in motors installed and over 1000 h.p. actual business per hour (10 hour.)"

The City Treasurer of Ottawa has furnished reports of the Ottawa Municipal Electric Commission. These show that the operation of the city's plant with power supplied by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission resulted in a reduction at once of 50 per cent. in the price of light, ($15.00 per h.p. per year in the price of power and $20.00 per lamp in street lighting The net profit in the operation of the plant, after paying interest and sinking fund, which was transferred to capital account for depreciation and extensions, improvements, etc., amounted in three years, 1908, 1909, and 1910 to $65,153.94.

The Ontario Commission commenced operations with fourteen municipalities as its customers and a demand for 26,000 horse power. Now it has 34 such customers and a sale of 38000 horse power. On January 1st. twenty-six municipalities will vote on by-laws, authorizing their councils to make contracts. The system has been so successful that municipalities are moving in all parts of the province to take advantage of it.

The ratepayers have nothing to lose and may gain much by voting in favour of obtaining power from the Commission.

Yours truly,
W. G. Morrow Mayor,
James Edgar.

LOCAL POULTRY BREEDER WON MANY PRIZES

Harry Lush Took 63 Prizes With 67 Birds — Had Best Bird at the Show.

Mr. Harry Lush, the local poultry breeder, returned with his birds last night from Cannington, where he had splendid luck at the Poultry Show, which was held there this week. With sixty-seven birds he won sixty-four prizes, including the special prize for the best bird in the show which he won with a spangled hamburg cock, also eight other special prizes.

Mr Lush says the Cannington show was a grand success. At the dress poultry show which was held on Thursday in conjunction with the other show, there were fifteen tons of chickens sold. The turkeys brought as high as 20c. per lb., the geese 13c. and the prize butter 28c. per lb.

Mr. Lush also won many prizes at Guelph. Mr Fred Dummitt will attend the Orillia show next week.

YUAN SHI KAI REFUSES TO AGREE TO A CHINESE REPUBLIC

Considers That It Would Be Disloyal to the Emperor If He Were to Consent to Abdication, and Would Resign First—Empress Dowager May Be Removed and an Agreement Reached With the Rebel Provinces.

Pekin, Dec. 23.—Yuan Shi Kai, the Premier, evidently still remains steadfast in his decision not to accept a republican form of Government for China as the price of peace within the empire. Members of the Premier's entourage reiterated yesterday that Yuan never will advise the abdication of the Emperor and thereby become a traitor. They say that if the formation of a republic is unavoidable, he will resign his office as Premier.

Though none of the members of the foreign legations will venture a prediction on the outcome of the situation, there is a feeling that an agreement is possible between Yuan and a number of the rebel provinces, perhaps not immediately, but after several armistices. Yuan, it is thought, may offer the last concession possible, namely, the retirement of the Empress Dowager and the appointment of a Chinese regency to effect peace. The Premier has steadily been replacing officials and army officers throughout the northern provinces, with trusted men, loyal to himself.

He believes he could regain and retain many of the rebel provinces if money were obtainable. A quartette of bankers is willing to support him, but up to the present time the legations have disagreed regarding a loan. The British legation desires the monarchy continued, but is receiving serious protests from business interests in the south, which dread a boycott of their goods. The American legation and also that of Japan advocate supporting Yuan Shi Kai financially.

Will Protect Property.

Harbin, Manchuria, Dec. 23.—Gen. Horvath, the Russian commander here has expressed a willingness, acting with the railway guards to protect the property of all foreigners in Northern Manchuria. Conditions in the country, however, are normal and no foreigners except Russians have asked for protection.

The representative of large British interests at Kinchow and Aigun and also of railways in Central China, has decided to leave the country for an indefinite period and is now on his way to Europe. He says complete chaos reigns in the Chinese Empire.

Smashed Window, Stole Turkey.

Brockville, Dec. 23.—A daring act was perpetrated by William and Daniel Brown, two young men with police records, in deliberately smashing a large window in a butcher shop on Brockville's leading thoroughfare and lugging off a fat turkey. The police first arrested Dan, who implicated his brother, and the pair, when arraigned, pleaded guilty and were remanded.

A. J. Delaney, the proprietor of a moving picture show, was fined $50 and costs in the police court for allowing the children under fifteen years of age to enter the theatre without a guardian. This is the first conviction in Brockville under the new statute, passed by the Legislature.

British Steamer Seized.

Alexandria, Egypt, Dec. 23.—The Italian cruiser Puglia yesterday seized the British steamer Menzaleh of the Khedival Mail Steamship & Dock Graving Co., with $150,000 in gold coin on board, destined for the payment of the Turkish troops at the port of Hodeida, in the Turkish Province of Yemen on the Red Sea.

The Menzaleh left Suez on Monday for Aden, and was to call at Port Soudan, Suakim and Hodeida. She is a vessel of 1,080 tons.

A flotilla of Italian cruisers is keeping a sharp lookout for vessels touching at Turkish ports on the Arabian coast of the Red Sea.

Knighthood Probable.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—According to information received in Ottawa yesterday through the English mail, Premier Borden will be Sir Robert Borden after the distribution of New Year honors. The conferring of the knighthood upon the Prime Minister thus early in his administrative career, will be a recognition of his fight for the British connection and the unity of the Empire in the recent elections.

The honor in this case must, of course, come from the King without any recommendation from Ottawa.

CHRISTMAS IN LONDON

Special to the Review.

London, Dec. 23 — A melancholy Christmas is in store for London. It is estimated that half a million men are unemployed and thousands of families face eviction for failure to pay their rent. The Salvation Army and church army will feed sixty thousand each on Christmas Day, and the big newspapers have arranged for the distribuiton of food and clothing to the thousands of unfortunates.

Horse Distemper

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares "Nerviline" Is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

Nerviline CURES QUICKLY

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs, and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 50c, trial size 25c, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

WE ARE FORGING AHEAD

The speeches at the Commercial Travellers' banquet were all optimistic. Our statesmen agree that that Canada is forging ahead at a remarkable rate; and that we stand at the threshold of a commercial development which will yet amaze the world. Sir Wilfrid wants us to capture the trade of the outside nations; and Mr. Foster puts emphasis on the value of our own interprovincial trade. Both are undoubtedly right. Canada will soon be big enough and aboundingly prosperous enough to do both. We are no longer on the defensive. We cannot for the future be satisfied with keeping out the "poachers" and "holding our own." The "poachers" we must still keep at bay. Our "preserves" are rich, and the American Trusts are hungry and envious. But we must go afield and compete with the producers of other countries wherever there is a fair chance of success.

The great thing for us to always remember is that Canada is to-day the most promising country on earth. The nations of the Old World are so wedged in by each other that they cannot display the elasticity which is easy and natural in this hemisphere. Australia has a fine island to develop; but it is distant from the centres of trade and emigration, and it faces problems from which we are free. The South American Republics are doing admirably; but they have had difficulties of government to overcome, and have hardly yet found their feet. The United States—big, wealthy and prosperous—has "shot its bolt." It has done splendidly; but its century was the nineteenth. The twentieth is the century of Canada.

We cannot be too hopeful. We cannot be too bold in building for the future. There is nothing too good nor too big for us in the way of prosperity. History is trimming its Christmas Tree for us just now; and we should get into position to reach even the top-most branches.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

An Eccentric Bishop.

Bishop Wilson of Calcutta had as housekeeper a venerable lady who remembered the duel between Sir Philip Francis and Warren Hastings on Aug. 17, 1780. On entering the cathedral on a Sunday morning, fully robed, lawn sleeves and all, and passing the pew where the old lady sat he would pause and give her the "kiss of peace" before all the congregation, and this although he had met her at breakfast.

His sermons, too, were racy. Preaching against dishonesty, especially in horseflesh, as one of the great English failings in India, he went on, "Nor are we, servants of the altar, free from yielding to this temptation." Pointing to the occupant of the reading desk below him: "There is my dear and venerable brother, the archdeacon, down there. He is an instance of it. He once sold me a horse. It was unsound. 'I was a stranger, and he took me in.'"

Scientist Who Couldn't Light a Fire.

Lord Kelvin, like Lord Morley, once amused a Scottish audience with a display of ignorance. At a lecture in Edinburgh, with Lord Kelvin in the chair, the Duke of Argyll was taken suddenly ill. "When the aged peer was carried down to one of the anterooms," said a local paper, "one of the first things to be thought of was the lighting of a fire, and this task was tackled by the duke's host, Lord Kelvin. But instead of placing some paper in the grate and some wood on that in the orthodox manner he amazed the onlookers by desperate efforts to kindle a handful of sticks at a gas burner. Ordinary mortals may be pardoned for taking some satisfaction in the fact that even so great a philosopher as Lord Kelvin did not know how to light a fire."

Rocky Road to a Title.

"Does Marie expect to marry the count?"

"Not immediately. There are three questions to be settled first."

"What are they?"

"He must prove that he is a count."

"Well, that would settle it, wouldn't it?"

"No. He must also prove that he isn't married."

"Well!"

"Then he must prove that he wants to marry Marie."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

UNION BANK MOVES ITS HEAD OFFICE

Past Year Best in Banks History

The 47th annual report of the Union Bank of Canada held in the office of the bank in Quebec on December the 18th, revealed a most satisfactory condition of affairs. The net profits for the year, after making the usual deductions for bad and doubtful debts, etc., amounted to $662,437 as compared with $451,620 for the previous year. The earnings were at the rate of 14 p.c. on the banks average paid up capital. The premium on new stock issued during the year amounted to $457,000 while the balance at credit of account November 30th, 1910 amounted to $60,000. This made a total of $1,119,963 available for distribution. Of this quarterly dividends at the rate of 8 p.c. absorbed $61,000 the sum of $200,000 was transferred to the rest account as well as $457,000 transferred to the same account from premium on new stock, making a total transferred to the rest account of $357,000. The sum of $100,000 was written off bank promises account. Officers' pension fund received $10,000 while the balance of profits carried forward amounted to $71,975.

That the bank is making rapid progress is shown by a comparison with the figures of the previous year. The vote circulation has increased by nearly $1,300,000 total deposits by over $7,800,000 paid up capital by $914,000 and the rest account by nearly $600,000. The total assets of the bank now stand at $58,434,000 as compared with $46,555,000 for the previous year.

During the year the bank took two or three forward steps. Early in the year it absorbed the United Empire Bank of Toronto, thereby increasing its assets and the number of its branches. Later in the year it established an office in London England.

It has also decided to move its head office from Quebec to Winnipeg in order to take fuller advantage of the western business. The bank has 156 branches west of the great lakes, and 76 in Ontario out of its 242 branches so that its decision to locate the head office in Winnipeg is a natural one.

Altogether the showing made by the bank calls for the warmest congratulations to the President, Directors and General Manager.

SARNIA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1910.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors but derived no benefit whatever.

I have now taken 'Fruit-a-tives' for some months and find that they are the only remedy that does me good.

I have recommended 'Fruit-a-tives' to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly" PAUL J. JONES

SANTA CLAUS AS AN AIRMAN

Is Coming to Salvation Army Temple in Aeroplane

The annual children's concert and "Santa Claus" will be held in the S.A. Temple, Simcoe street on Christmas night, when a splendid program of drills, recitations, dialogues and singing will be given. The principal item, of course, will be "Santa Claus" who is right up to date this season and will arrive in an aeroplane of novel design and local construction. Nothing like this machine has ever been seen before, but Santa says he has a sure thing, and will arrive right on the platform in good time, and will have a generous supply of nice presents for the Sunday school children, and a bag of fruit and candy for everybody presenting a ticket of admission, costing ten cents.

A feature of the Sunday afternoon service will be the dedication of a baby to The Lord, while all the Sunday services will be of an interesting character.

Royal," she said brokenly, but with an effort at self-control, "does this—this man mean that you are suspected of—of your uncle's murder?" And all her feelings were compressed into the emphasis of that last word.

"Belle!" came in gentle chiding from Miss Cooper, "Don't! Can't you see that Royal is trusting to Mr. Swift?" Then she too rose; she passed round to her cousin's side of the table, drew a chair close up to her and sat down. She took Miss Fluette's hand into her own, and sought to draw her back into her seat, just as Maillot spoke up with a confidence and assurance for which I could not help but admire him.

"Suspect me!" he cried amazedly, dashing the remnant of his cigarette into the fire. 'Oh, figs! Of course he doesn't, Belle; but—look here: there are plenty who will. I want to make it plain that, in a way wholly unintentional on my part, I have got myself mixed up in a pretty bad mess, and then I want to make sure of Mr. Swift's coöperation in my efforts to extricate myself.

"My dear Belle,"—a gentle note crept into his voice,—"please consider the circumstances under which I came here last night; think of the tragedy which followed so swiftly; consider the story I have to tell, and then ask yourself, Who is going to believe it? God help us both, dear girl, but this thing has got to be brought out and aired in public!"

The fine brown eyes searched my face.

"Do you believe that Royal Maillot is guilty of this monstrous crime?" she asked me point-blank.

Before I had time to frame a reply, she once more sprang impetuously from her chair, her face flushed and her eyes sparkling with anger.

"Answer me, sir, do you believe that?"

I replied, then, calmly, if non-committally:

"As Mr. aMillot has said, I am of a disposition to help him out of a tight place, and I trust that his friends will not put unnecessary obstacles in the way of working to that end."

She said no more. Poor Belle Fluette! She was to have my sympathy more than once during the days that were to follow. Miss Cooper looked at me a little apprehensively, but I read confidence in her eyes.

"Let Mr. Maillot proceed," I now said. "It is not fair to him to fail at this stage to hear all that he has to say, providing he really desires to continue. I want to ask one question, though, before you proceed."

"Well?"

I glanced meaningly at Miss Fluette, "Considering all the circumstances, can you confide in me with propriety—just now?"

"To be sure," he replied, promptly and earnestly; "as well now as any time. You may readily imagine that to sit here and unfold affairs so intimately personal is a matter of expediency and not of choice.'

He had missed my point altogether; I wanted to spare the girl. But it wasn't for me to warn him of the complications which were likely to arise from his disclosures.

"I can well believe that," said I. "Go on."

CHAPTER VII.

How the Errand Ended

"Don't you know, Swift," Maillot resumed, after a meditative pause, "that it's a mighty easy matter to misjudge a man? Certain reports concerning a person become current, for example, and before we know it—perhaps without giving the matter a thought—we gradually grow to accept them as accurately descriptive of his personality.

"I have wondered more than once during the past week whether we haven't an entirely erroneous conception of every prominent man whom we don't know intimately. 'By your actions be ye judged'—if we were, most of us would be condemned out of hand.

"No, sir; it's not by a man's actions that he may be accurately appraised, but the motives that lie behind those actions; and those motives are exceedingly difficult to define. The incentive that impels us to a given act may be all right, the intention to perfom it the best in the world, and then the act itself may be all wrong. Who's to blame then? Who more than any other can set himself up to censure our conduct, or lay down a code of ethics and morals for his neighbor to follow? I am assuming that you have heard a good deal about my uncle, and I know the reports concerning him are anything but flattering."

This speech fell in so harmoniously with my own train of reasoning, that I gave the young man's words the closest attention. Assuming that he was in fact guilty, as I had already tentatively theorized, then would not his present utterances appear very like a plea in vindication of his deed?—or, at least, as an apology? If he were guilty, he was supplying me the support of a sound argument.

His analysis of motives, at any rate, made me exceedingly regardful of every shifting light and shade of his really remarkable narrative. I remained keenly alert not to miss a phase of it, but carefully to ponder and weigh every one.

However, that narrative must not be retarded.

"Before I came here last night," he took it up once more, "I thought I had imagined every possible combination of emotions with which my uncle would receive my brazen ober; but his amazement when he heard me was as nothing to mine at the way in which he took it.

"First of all, in a gruff, glum sort of way, the old gentleman seemed really glad to see me; but he was in a hurry to warn me that I had better get my errand over quickly, as he was contemplating catching a nine-thirty train for Duluth—for what purpose he didn't say. As the evening wore on, however, and after I had once or twice hinted that I could wait till a more opportune time to make known my business, he impatiently commanded me to proceed; whereupon I naturally concluded that he had, since my coming, given over the projected trip.

"That fellow Burke was in the hall when I entered; and while there was nothing in his manner that I could have picked out as hostile, still I felt vaguely that he resented my intrusion. But why should he? Blamed if I know. As my uncle and I entered the library, Burke had the nerve to butt in with a reference to some papers and a reminder that the Duluth train left at nine-thirty. Maybe you think the old gentleman didn't turn him down cold—didn't bother Burke in the least, though, or interrupt the cool, unwavering inspection that he continued to bestow upon me. The fellow was fairly burning up with curiosity to find out what my business was.

"Well, after Mr. Page and I got in here, he put it to me bluntly: Did I want money? If so, how much and what for? Now wasn't that an encouraging beginning in view of what I was after? Nevertheless I was resolved to do or die; to be heard to the end, or else kicked out of the house forthwith. That last is what I had coming to me, all right—it's what I was looking for.

"I began by saying that I simply wanted him to listen to me for a few minutes—to hear me till I got through—and then he would know well enough what I was after. I could see that my manner, if not my words, had aroused his curiosity; thus emboldened, I plunged right in. I told him of my love for Belle."

The two of them then and there verified this all-absorbing fact by another interchange of ardent glances. Heaven knows, neither of them was in the least self-conscious or at all shy over the matter. Miss Belle seemed to glory in it; to accept his unspoken professions of devotion with a joyous sort of triumph which crowned her haughty beauty with the shining mein of a conqueror.

I thought of Mr. Fluette, financier, speculator, man of affairs that he was, and concluded that I did not at all envy him his self-imposed task of keeping asunder these two lovers. I wondered, too, in the event he could be brought to appreciate the depth and sincerity of their attachment, whether his opposition would still remain obdurate. If so,, the future must be dark and stormy—if not tragic—for him. Here was a woman, if I read aright, capable of great sacrifices; she was ready to rush headlong into them, too, if need be.

Ah, well! When did a parent and a lover ever see things from the same Maillot did not pause long. point of view?

"When I first mentioned her name,—for as I had to do so, I did it boldly,—his interest quickened, and I was positive that his attention became more respectful. He seemed to think quite suddenly that what I had to say might be of some importance after all.

"Mr. Page was not given to betraying his mind and emotions; indeed, I believe he was usually credited with possessing an abundance of the former to the exclusion of the latter. Nevertheless I knew that he was interested, for it was at this stage that he irritably silenced my references to the nine-thirty train.

"Swift, I don't know whether I can make you see it in the way I do. It is all so marvellous and strange; the canvas is so big, and I can't handle my colors very well. During the course of my narrative he would smile now and then, or even chuckle, as though hugely delighted over some aspect of the subject which did not appear to me as being at all funny; but the instant I paused, he would promptly command me to proceed.

"Candidly, his attitude was very mystifying; but since he was not only harkening to me, but doing so with marked, if peculiar, attention, I made the best of an extremely disagreeable task, and pleaded my cause with all the ardor of which I was capable."

I here caught Miss Cooper indulging in a furtive little smile.

"When I concluded by bluntly asking him for the ruby, his face was a study." Maillot drew a long breath, and shook his head over the recollection.

"I wouldn't again undergo the ordeal of the succeeding minutes for a whole bushel-basketful of rubies, every one as large and priceless as the blessed stone I was after. It was a question whether I'd have to defend myself from a sudden assault, or be treated as a dangerous lunatic. And all the time he sat there twiddling his thumbs, apparently oblivious of my presence.

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

FIVE ARRESTED.

Partly Dismembered Body Found In Apartment In Boston.

Boston, Dec. 23.—Five persons were taken into custody after the discovery by the police yesterday of the partly dismembered body of Miss Mary Boldus, aged 22 years, of Manchester, N.H., in the apartment of Mrs. Jennie A. Shattuck, in the Forest Hill section of Jamaica Plains. The discovery of the body followed the receipt of word from New Hampshire City authorities that they had been informed by a Manchester physician that a woman lay dead in that house. Medical Examiner Leary, after performing a superficial autopsy, announced that death was due to an illegal operation.

Within a few hours of the finding of the body Mrs. Shattuck and Miss Hattie M. Hazlett of Cambridge were taken into custody at the Forest Hill apartment, and Dr. J. D. Ferguson of Manchester and a clerk in his office, Miss O'Neill, were detained by the New Hampshire police at the request of the Boston officers.

Last evening the police of Fitchburg arrested Anna W. Reed, aged 50, and booked her on the charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Boldus. She gave her occupation as dressmaker and lodging-house keeper in Boston.

A lamp dropped at a school entertainment near Vineland, and burning oil was thrown over the audience. The efforts of some gentlemen in the hall prevented a panic, and they put the fire out.

At two o'clock yesterday afternoon fire started in J. J. English's store in Hastings, Ont., and a brisk blaze resulted. The stock was badly damaged by fire and smoke. Loss probably on building and stock is $12,000.

An appointment of much importance to the diocese of Pembroke was announced officially by His Lordship Bishop Lorraine, who has named Rev. P. T. Ryan, parish priest of Renfrew, as vicar-general of the diocese.

Wants to Retaliate.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 23.—A legislative proposal to provide for tariff war schedules applicable to the United States at the expiration of the Russo-American commerce and navigation treaty of 1832 has been introduced in the Douma by ex-President Guchkoff and other signers representing the Octobrist and Nationalist parties, which control the majority of the Douma.

The bill proposes to raise existing Russian duties by 100 per cent. and also to impose a duty of 100 per cent. on articles which are admitted free under the present Russian tariff. Besides these impositions the bill proposes also to levy double the gross weight tax established by the law of June 21, 1901, on merchandise arriving by sea and to levy a double tonnage tax. Should the present American tonnage tax be raised to the disfavor of Russian vessels then the Russian tonnage tax will be correspondingly increased.

It is said that the schedules are to be applicable to all countries which do not grant to Russia the most favored nation treatment in commerce and navigation.

Accuse Prelate of Conspiracy.

Lisbon, Dec. 23.—The Government has decided to prosecute Mgr. Anthony Mendes Bello, patriarch of Lisbon, on a charge of conspiring against the republic. It is considered certain that if the prelate is convicted he will be sentenced to the maximum of six years' imprisonment and ten years' deportation to Africa.

Mgr. Bello frequently has been considered a likely appointee to the cardinalate, and just prior to the last consistory when Pope Pius created nineteen new members of the sacred college, the identity of one of them was kept secret. In best informed quarters in Rome, however, it was believed that Mgr. Bello was the recipient, and that his name was withheld from the public only because of the strained relations between Portugal and the church.

Promoter Murdered?

Leamington, Dec. 23.—John Passman, the Kingsville promoter, is still unaccounted for. The missing man is a son-in-law of W. D. Nickerson of Leamington, and left home a week ago last Wednesday to visit friends and relatives of Detroit. Mr. Nickerson and daughter were recalled to Windsor yesterday on the supposition that the unidentified man who was just recently buried in Windsor might possibly be Passman, but they learned otherwise.

He had between $50 and $60 on his person when he left, wore a blue serge suit and stiff hat.

Foul play is feared. His young wife is overcome with grief.

Sir Charles Failing.

London, Dec. 23.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The improvement in Sir Charles Tupper's condition is not continuing. Yesterday he is reported to be failing in strength.

Cir Charles suffered a severe attack of bronchitis on Sunday, Dec. 10, but contrary to expectations made excellent progress towards recovery. A despatch of the 19th stated the family was very hopeful.

Matthew Teefy, postmaster, at Richmond Hill, for 60 years, is dead, aged 90 years.

DISCUSSION ON HYDRO-ELECTRIC BY-LAW BY REPRESENTATIVE CITIZENS

Opinions in Favor and Against the By-law Given at Board of Trade Meeting

The Board of Trade meeting last night proved to be of much more interest than some held in the past. The principal business was a discussion on the much discussed Hydro-Electric Power By-law to be submitted to the people on the day of Municipal Elections, Monday, January 1, 1910.

The question to be answered is: Are you in favor of a supply of power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario?

This by-law was discussed by such men as the new Provincial member, Mr. E. A. Peck, Mayor Morrow, W. H. Bradburn, Ald. Brown, V. Eastwood, F. D. Kerr, G. N. Gordon, R. R. Hall, Wm. Langford, sr., J. C. Shook, Dr. Morrison, W. H. Denham, M. Carton, J. B. McWilliams, B. F. Ackerman, W. R. Morris and F. H. Dobbin.

THE WHY OF IT.

Mayor Morrow, at the invitation of President Eastwood, lead off. His Worship explained that the by-law was being submitted to the people at the request of the Commission, who wished to know whether the people were behind the council in the scheme or not. It was the same as submitted in other cities. Then with its passage the Commission would estimate on the cost of development and distribution, and then would follow if the council seen fit, the submission of a money by-law to the people.

CAN AND WILL.

Ald. Bradburn, as the next speaker, told of past, but unsuccessful attempts to get cheap power for the city and of the dealings with the Commission, the result being the present by-law. "It doesn't necessarily mean that we must enter into an agreement with them," said the Mayoralty candidate. "If they cannot give us cheap or cheaper power than the companies, then we dont want it, but I believe they can and will."

In reply to W. R. Morris, who asked in regard to the power given the council in regard to the money by-law, which, he held, should be made plain, Mr. Bradburn answered that while the passage of the present by-law did give the council the right to enter an agreement with the Commission, "was not the Council elected to represent the people?" And are they going to enter into an agreement with the Commission to pay more for power than they can buy for here?" "I say no," said the speaker. No council would do that.

Ald. Brown—"We have given our signatures that we will not enter into an agreement with the Commission without first getting the sanction from the people."

ONE OF OPINION.

G. N. Gordon, a new aldermanic candidate for the Centre ward, held that the by-law was simply one of opinion as to obtaining power and getting estimates.

"We would know if we could get cheaper prices than Peterborough has now," he said. It was the only way out of the difficulty in which the city found itself. If it were not for the Commission, he held, there would be no chance to meet a competitor. No danger could result by the submission of the by-law for an opinion.

THE MONEY BY-LAW.

The view Dr. Morrison took was that it didn't make any difference what was done so long as the city could get cheap power. So far as the by-law being binding, everybody knew that a money by-law must be submitted in a certain way, and not as a referendum, as the present case was.

"This by-law was dictated by the Hon. Mr. Beck," said W. H. Denham. It is the one he insists upon; there is no limit. He will not stand for a limit as to the cost."

NO LIMIT ALLOWED.

If the by-law passed, he held, the action of the council was binding. If the cost be $30, the city might say we won't pay for it, but they would. That was the danger. Mr. Beck would not allow a limit.

"He is asking the city to sign a cheque and let him fill it out," remarked the speaker.

Mr. Denham said he believed in in cheap power for the city, but advised against signing a blank cheque.

That the by-law gave the council power to enter into an agreement with the Commission without consulting the people was Mr. Denham's view of the matter.

BURLEIGH FALLS.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams went into the past and told of how at one time the city could have secured Burleigh Falls for $3,000. He was, he said, one of the first to suggest this power for the city, but the proposition had been turned down. The men who should have stood up then did not do so. He still held that the Burleigh Falls power was the best for the city.

THE QUESTION.

F. D. Kerr wanted information on the question, "Do the council have to enter into a binding contract in the event of the first by-law passing. He held that until the question was answered over the signature of the city solicitor, he would have to stand by the statute, which gave the council the power of attorney to enter into an agreement as they saw fit. "The question is," said Mr. Kerr, "does the council have to come back to us with another by-law?"

J. C. Shook asked that in the event of the by-law passing, did it preclude the council from negotiating with any other party beside the commission? Mayor Morrow answered that the council would have power to enter into any other agreement.

With a reference to Mr. Kerr's remarks Mr. F. H. Dobbin asked: "If the first by-law was passed, the Commission instructed to make estimates and the money by-law defeated, did the whole thing end there, or was the city bound to take the power no matter what be the cost?"

Mr. Bradburn contended that the council was not going to enter into an agreement until they knew what the cost was going to be. The Commission, he said, represented the people, and it was not going to hold the city up. The people would make a mistake by not placing confidence in the incoming council and pass the by-law to find out what can be secured in the line of power.

Mr. Denham came back with the statement that the Commission would not guarantee to give power at anything but cost. Whatever that was the city would have to pay. He pointed out that Toronto was being asked for an additional $2,000,000. "If the commission can make a mistake in Toronto they can make it here," he said.

Mayor Morrow said that he understood the $2,000,000 was for an extension of the system.

Dr. Morrison remarked that "he had every confidence in the government, the council and the Commission.

GUESS WHO.

Mr Langford, sr., held that the city's "friends" had power interests. He made a passing reference to a man who had been seemingly working for the city some time ago, but was working up the scheme of a power company.

Mr. R. R. Hall prefaced his remarks by admitting that he had slight interests in the Seymour Power Company. His argument was along the line of Mr. Kerr's. "Wouldn't it be better for the Commission to get the estimate first?" He held that the city would be bound to make good to the Commission for the work undertaken.

BECK SUCCEEDED.

M. Carton remarked that Mr. Beck had not only aimed to give cheap power, but he had succeeded. The Commission did not seek to get any "crook" on the city.

FOR THE PEOPLE.

"We have got to do something and have got to risk something," said Mr. E. A. Peck. There was now no other course. The by-law—the rule—of the Commission, meant that it was no use dealing with a council unless that the people showed they were behind. That was reasonable and sensible. The estimate given was the maximum amount, and while it was true the estimate might not be exactly correct, the Commission has not yet failed in any estimate they had made. He was sure the people would trust the council.

"You are not dealing with a company desirous of making as good a bargain as possible. The Commission is trying to benefit the people; it would not persuade the people to go into any contract not to their advantage. Mr Peck urged all to turn out and hear Mr. Beck next Thursday night at the Grand Opera House.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman said he was satisfied to trust the matter with the council. He was satisfied, he said, that the Commission was not coming to Peterborough to try and do the city.

Before the meeting closed Secretary Quartermaine took up a collection of $10 for the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto.

EDDIE GILMORE IN THE COW AND THE MOON IS IMMENSE

The Big and Spectacular Scenic Effects Are Another Feature—Performance to-night,

The merry musical comedy "The Cow and the Moon," presented at the Grand last night, was one of the brightest and most laughable seen here this season. A good house greeted the performance, and the production as announced is on a par with its companion play, the "Cat and the Fiddle," that has twice been brought to Peterborough.

From the rise of the curtain upon the first of the three acts, there was not a sober moment for the crowd.

Ed. Gilmore in the role of "Happy" a child of fortune, carried off the honors as the careless ever-ready tramp. The peculiar quality and wide scope of the humor which he dispensed with inimitable skill kept the crowd continuously bubbling over. In addition, there was a noticeable snap and alacrity prevailing throughout the entire performance, which was carried easily along, with surprises and innovations being dished out every moment.

The girls are exceedingly trained, and dance and sing exceptionally well. The musical numbers were of a high order, many of them being extremely tuneful.

The haughty Hottentots and "They All Looked Alike to Mabel" were something original and new and were very well received.

The settings were very rich and effective, some beautiful and striking ideas being introduced. At the conclusion of the first act, a minature railway engine steaming along was particularly clever.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC BY-LAW

ENCOURAGES MR. GORDON

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—G. N. Gordon, who is nominated for alderman, to fill the vacancy created by Alderman Bradburn's resignation, is a first class man for that position. The City Council needs a lawyer and needs a good keen aggressive man to watch the city's interests.

Mr. Gordon states that he is in favor of taking up with the Hydro Electric commission the question of power in Peterborough and he offers this suggestion. If the town of Campbellford can offer power at $15 a horse power, the city of Peterboro should be able to sell it at $14 a horse power and for domestic purposes electric power prices should be cut in two. He is in favor of getting power when we can get it cheapest and he seems to have the power question well in hand as he says he has an engineer's statement to prove his facts.

Mr. Gordon further outlines a platform by which every milkman in the city will have an examination made of the milk sold at least once in two weeks, by the Medical Health Officer and an analysis made showing the quantities of butter fat contained in each milkman's supply.

These figures with the names of the milkmen will be published every two weeks and the public will then know what they are getting.

Mr. Gordon is a man who has sound judgment and has the courage of his convictions. His reputation for honesty and ability is well known and we unhesitatingly say that G. N. Gordon should be elected to fill the place vacated by ex-Alderman Bradburn.

POWER POLICY.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I am glad to notice my recent enquiry has started people thinking, and to-night, we have two contradictory answers in our evening papers. The council sent a letter pledging themselves to a certain course—in which I believe they are honest, strictly so, and are only moved by a desire to serve the city's best interests, but what effect has their pledge on future councils. How many of them will be there next year—or the year after, or later years—or suppose the matter comes up next year and is dealt with as they suggest, and is defeated, how about future Councils? Is that the end of it?

Now "Enquirer" in same issue quotes the law, "Clause 11 of Hydro-Electric Laws," and instead of requiring resubmission to the people, it explicitly states that "such contract, with any city council, shall be"—not may or will—but "shall be legal, valid and binding." Read the clause in yesterday's papers for yourselves.

Now I ask why did not the council include the proviso, that there should be nothing binding until after the question was again submitted, instead of giving personal pledges? We are all human and liable to err, and it occurs to me that the council were somewhat lax here.

Why can we not have the law on this matter made plain? We do not want to know what the present council will do. They will do what they say—but we want to know what future councils cannot do.

Why should a meritorious proposition, as this appears to be, be subjected to a suspicion of sinister motives, when it could be made perfectly plain?

Why do the commission want the preliminary vote?—it is said, in order to submit estimates and prepare contracts, etc., but if there is nothing in this by-law, if it is as innocent as it appears, why not have these estimates made and contracts prepared before the second proposed by-law is submitted? If there is nothing ulterior and binding, as section 11 above referred to appears to show, is it not entirely superfluous.

I would suggest that the council obtain their estimates and have the contract made public and then submit it to the people, for their approval, and it has merit, we will support it. Failing this or an absolute guarantee that the said section 11, is not binding as it states, the ratepayers would be very unwise to support it.

I am not as you intimate, opposed to the Hydro-Electric, but I want full Hydro-Electric light on this by-law, so that it may be entirely free of all ambiguity or sinister appearance.

RATEPAYER.

Peterboro, December 22, 1911.

AND IF THEY SEE FIT!

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—The manifesto issued by the Mayor and City Council on the Power question is not candid.

This Power by-law is being submitted as a money by-law. The question asked is "Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario a supply of Electric Power?" If the ratepayers answer yes, then the City Council under the Power Commission Amendment Act of 1909 is authorized to enter into any contract with the Commission that the Council sees fit "without submitting a by-law approving of same for the assent of the electors," and when executed such contract is "legal, valid and binding" upon the city.

The next step the commission takes is to go ahead and acquire dams, develop them, instal electric machinery, purchase such existing power plants as they see fit and pay such price for them as they may see fit and under the contract set forth in the Power Commission Act, the city of Peterborough will be legally liable to pay for every cent of expenditure that the Commission may occur.

Once the electors vote "yes" upon this question the Hydro-Electric advances the money upon the credit of the town under the Power Commission Act without consulting the ratepayers and without submitting any further by-law for the approval of the ratepayers.

The manifesto of the Mayor and City Council creates a false impression when it says the "City Council cannot borrow money for this purpose without again submitting the matter to the ratepayers." This is a mere quibble. The Commission advances the money upon the general credit of the city, and the city must pay its debts and perform its contracts the same as any other corporation, even if it is a $500,000 scheme.

It is inconceivable why the City Council have submitted this by-law

O'Keefe's PILSENER LAGER

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

Is Far Better Than The Government Regulation Requires

The Canadian Government regulation, regarding the brewing of lager, is probably the most exacting in the world.

It calls for a brew of Hops, Malt and Water only. The American Government places no such restrictions on her brewers.

O'Keefe's "Pilsener" not only complies with the Canadian Government regulations—but is brewed of the very finest Hops and Malt, and pure filtered Water.

if they do not intend to act upon it. The City Council promises in their manifesto that they are not going to act upon this by-law; then why should the electors vote for it as a solemn money by-law? In any event before the Council ask the ratepayers to vote upon a money by-law they should take the ratepayers into their confidence and show the people that the city can develop electric power and light and sell it at a cheaper price than is now being paid. The ratepayers want to be shown that their power and light will be cheaper.

Yours truly,

MONEY BY-LAW VOTER.

A GOOD POINT.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—The advertisement headed, "Is it necessary to have a by-law submitted," appearing in yesterday's paper is the strongest argument I have yet seen in favor of passing the by-law. It is evidently published on behalf of the Seymour Power Company, and if it is worth this company's while to go to this expense and take all the trouble they are going to defeat the by-law, does it not show conclusively that they are charging us more for power, light, etc., we will have to pay if we get it through the Hydro-Electric Commission. They of course, have a perfect right to do all they can to defeat a by-law that will reduce the cost of power and light to the citizens of Peterborough, and put an end to the monopoly they now enjoy; but are the ratepayers, who will benefit by the reduction in rates, if power is obatined from the Hydro-Electric Commission be so simple as to assist the Company in maintaining their monopoly and consequent high rates, by voting against the by-law.

Yours truly,

"d"

ONLY ONE INTEREST TO SERVE.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The opponents of Municipal electric power have tried to raise a bugaboo on the point that afavorable vote on the Hydro-Electric question on January 1st will give the Council authority to enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario next year or some succeeding year.

I say this is a bugaboo, and for two reasons, either one of which is in itself sufficient.

If a favorable vote is recorded on the question whether the ratepayers wish the City to procure power from the Hydro-Electric Commission, the Commission will proceed with the necessary steps to prepare estimates and submit the terms of a contract. If these are considered of advantage to the City, a by-law must be submitted to the electors and receive their approval before money can be borrowed by the City for the distribution system and other plant it will require. The vote on January 1st will not give authority to the Council to borrow money on debentures or for a term of years; a By-law for that purpose would have to be submitted later.

That of itself is sufficient. But what are these opponents of Municipal power afraid of? To whose interest would it be to make an improvident bargain? The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has no interest to serve other than the interests of the people. It would not be of any advantage to the Commission or any member of it to have the City make a contract with it that would be disadvantageous to the ratepayers. The Commission and the Council have in this matter, only one interest to serve, that of the ratepayers.

If it were a company that the City proposed to deal with, the matter would be different. The company would desire to make gain by dealing with the City and would endeavor to make a bargain that would give them the largest profit obtainable. Not so with the Commission. They gain nothing; they make no profit for the Commission or any other person. They offer their services to the City, with all their power, experience and capable engineers, to enable the City to procure power and equip a distribution system. If they cannot help the City to its advantage, then neither the Commission or any council would have any possible reason for going on.

The personal and corporate interests are all on the other side. It is to their interests to keep the City and the citizens from procuring their own power and light, and while others may be made timorous by bugaboos they are the ones who set them up to try to frighten the people from taking a step that will aid themselves.

Peterborough should have its own power and light; and the ratepayers should endorse the request to the Hydro-Electric Commission to give its capable and powerful assistance.

Yours truly,

Wm. Langford.

NOT OFFICIAL NOMINEE OF THE TEMPERANCE PARTY

Mr. Hartley's Position With City Temperance League

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir—A press report of yesterday's nominations states that Mr. J. J. Hartley is the official nominee of the City Temperance League.

While the League has no official candidate in the field, they most heartily approve his nomination.

Believing Mr. Hartley's election would be in the best interests of the moral issues of the city, we urge temperance people to work and vote accordingly.

The above correction is made in justice to the citizens and deputations who have urged Mr. Hartley to accept the nomination, and whose object is the same as ours in regard to temperance and moral issues.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM,
Sec. City Temp. League.

The Review did not state in its report of the nominations that Mr. Hartley was the official nominee of the League.

WATER RATES ARE REDUCED

Mr. Matthews Tells What the Water Commissioners Have Done

The following is Mr. T. F. Matthews' address at the nomination proceedings in the Council Chamber yesterday morning—

Peterboro, Dec. 22, 1911.

Mr. Chairman—I wish to thank the mover and seconder of my nomination as Water Commissioner for 1912, and in doing so to take this opportunity of making a fe wremarks.

First of all, I desire to express the regret of the commissioners owing to the death of our late superintendent, Mr. W Henderson. Those of us who knew him best were aware of his sterling character, of his fidelity to the work of the city entrusted to him, and of his ability on such work to satisfactory completion.

It may not be out of place to mention that I have served the city for ten years, having been first elected in 1902. During that time, I with the other Commissioners have endeavored to progressively manage the Water Works department for the city and in any work we have undertaken, have endeavored to look forward to and plan for a greater Peterboro.

The following comparisons may be interesting.

	1902	1911	Increase	%
Mileage of St. Mains	17.61	36 47	18.86	107.0
Number of Hydrants	129	246	117	90.8
Number of Services	1070	3222	2152	201.0
Net Revenue	22957.58	43300.41 (Estimated)	20342 83	88.6
Debenture Debt	237000.00	462,000.00	———	———

During the ten years, water rates to the consumers have been reduced more than 33 1-3, as compared with the rates charged by the Water Company. The hydrant rental to the city has been reduced from $35 per hydrant per year, to $27.50, or 21 1-2 p.c.

In addition to supplying water at a reduced price, the Water Commissioners have paid to the city Trust Commissioners $65,445.90 as sinking fund, to be used in retiring debentures during 1911 was $18197.70, and to the sinking fund $9370.23.

The cost of the new dam, pumping machinery and connections, including land purchased, amounts to $139,158.43 In addition, we have spent on a wing wall on the east side of the river about $50,000.00. (I cannot give you the exact amount, as final settlement with Mr. Conroy, contractor, has not been made.

I believe the city has reason to be proud of its water works system. The advice of our late engineer, together with other eminent engineers has been followed and we have now a pumping plant that will answer for many years.

The actions of the Commissioners in building a new dam, and their statements respecting the vailable power, are now vindicated, as the Canadian General Electric, are about to generate more than 1200 h.p. in addition to the power required for the water works system. In a few weeks, it is expected that all work will be completed, when we will be pleased to invite the Mayor, Council and citizens generally, to look over their property.

KILLED ON BRIDGE.

Miss Josie E. Gibson Is Hit by Train at Cainsville.

Brantford, Dec. 23.—A shocking accident occurred at Cainsville, three miles from Brantford, last night, when Miss Josie E. Gibson, 19 years old, was killed by jumping from the G.T.R. bridge to the T. H. & B. tracks twenty-five feet below, when a train approached. Her companion, Miss Lena Irving, also jumped and received fractures to her hip, nose and jaw, and internal injuries which are thought to be fatal.

In company with a number of other young ladies they were on their way to an entertainment at the Cainsville Baptist Mission, and to save time, took a short cut across the railway bridge. When they were on the bridge they heard the Buffalo and Goderich passenger train approaching. The other girls ran quickly to the end of the bridge, but the Gibson and Irving girls were caught midway. Both were later found unconscious. Miss Gibson's head struck a rail and she died in a few hours. She was the daughter of Principal Gibson of Waterford public school. Miss Irving's home is in Forestville.

The entire party consisted of seven young ladies and Rev. C. H. Emerson and others had a very narrow escape. The girls were all boarders at the Y.W.C.A. in Brantford.

The public have no right on railway bridges, but, nevertheless, they do use them, and often of necessity. Every railway bridge should have a board walk alongside the track, and if it is a long one, a "refuge" in the centre. There is one rule, however, that everyone should know, and follow if they got caught on a railway bridge, and that is to lie down on the edge of the bridge ties next the rail with the head in the direction the engine is traveling. Then there is little danger, except noise.

Noted Painting Slashed.

Washington, Dec. 23—A vandal bent on destruction Thursday night cut a strip of canvas 30 inches long and three inches wide from the frame of "The Battle of Lake Erie," one of the largest and most valuable paintings that hangs in the Senate wing of the United States capitol. The painting was defaced near the left hand corner, thereby marring the water scene.

The mutilation of "The Battle of Lake Erie," which shows Commodore Perry transferring his flag at the crucial moment in the fight in Put-in-Bay, is regarded as the worst act of vandalism in the history of the Capitol. The strip was found close by upon the floor, and experts say that it can be repaired.

Feared Explosion.

Philadelphia, Dec. 23.—The transatlantic line steamer East Point, which was reported to have met with disaster at sea, arrived here yesterday about five days overdue, with a story of a stormy time at sea. The big freighter left London Dec. 2 and soon after steaming out of the English Channel, met with a succession of storms.

To add to the anxiety of the crew there were 400 cases of gunpowder in the miscellaneous cargo and the sailors feared that the terrific pitching of the ship would set off the explosive and blow the steamer to pieces. The vessel weathered the storms well, and came into port little the worse for her rough experience.

Scott May Be at South Pole.

New York, Dec. 23.—A London cable says: "It is quite possible that Capt. Scott may be at the South Pole today if the weather has been favorable," says Sir Ernest Shackleton, who headed the British Antarctic expedition of 1907-9.

"To my mind the British or Norwegian party that arrived at the foot of Beardmore Glacier with the largest amount of stores is the party that will first reach the Pole. Scott had the advantage in number of men and greater experience in Antarctic exploration.

"The expedition should be back at Steward's Island, south New Zealand, about the beginning of March."

Emperor Recovering Nicely.

Vienna, Dec. 23.—Emperor Francis Joseph is making the most favorable progress in his recovery from his recent slight indisposition. According to the latest reports from the palace His Majesty is in excellent spirits. His cough is much better, his appetite is good and his general appearance is healthy. He walked yesterday for half an hour in the great gallery of the palace and to-day he is to go out into the open air if the weather should prove fine.

The physician, who is in attendance, Dr. Kerzl, visited the emperor only once yesterday during the forenoon and was satisfied with his condition.

Robbed Tomb of Actress.

Paris, Dec. 23.—An extraordinary sensation was caused in Paris yesterday by the announcement that the tomb of the celebrated Parisian actress, Madame Lucie Lantelme, in the cemetery of Pere Lachaise, was broken into Thursday night and valuable jewels wrenched from her body and carried off. The gems included a pearl necklace alone valued at $80,000.

One of the robbers was apparently wounded while forcing the metal casket in which the beautiful actress's remains are laid, for a trail of blood was left in the vicinity of the tomb and along the pathways leading to the gates of the cemetery.

U. S. Naval Changes.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The organization of the navigation bureau of the Navy Department, projected by Secretary Meyer and initiated by the appointment of Commander Philip Andrews, as chief of that bureau, has been followed by the detail of Commander J. R. W. Blakely, now executive officer of the Cruiser Washington, to relieve Commander H. A. Wiley, in charge of the enlisted service branch. Commander Wiley goes to the Asiatic station with Admiral Nicholson, the new commander-in-chief.

G. H. BALFOUR,
General Manager.

During the past year twenty-four branches and agencies of the Bank have been opened in the following provinces: New Brunswick, 1; Quebec, 2; Ontario, 9; Saskatchewan, 5; Alberta, 2; British Columbia, 4; England, 1.

Two branches in Alberta and one branch in Ontario, which proved unproductive, have been closed. The total number of branches is now 242.

During the year the capital of the Bank has been increased from $4,000,000 to $4,914,120. The premium arising from the disposal of new stock has been credited to the Rest Account.

The customary inspections of the head office and of all branches and agencies of the Bank have been made.

Quebec, December 18, 1911.

JOHN SHARPLES,
President.

Before moving the adoption of the report, the President addressed the Meeting, giving the Shareholders further particulars as to the increase of paid up capital by $914,120. Increase in number of Shareholders by 415, making a total of over 2,675. Mentioning specially the absorption of the United Empire Bank of Canada on April 1, which added twenty branches in the richest portion of Ontario, where this Bank was previously unrepresented. He also spoke in regard to the proposed removal of the head office from Quebec to Winnipeg, as recommended by the Directors, after considering the matter for two years, and which was to be voted on by the Shareholders later. Mr. Sharples, commenting on the hearty support which he had at all times received from the Board of Directors and the Executive Officers of the Bank, stated that the condition of his health would not permit of his continuing to discharge the important duties of President of the Bank after its removal to Winnipeg.

Another important event had been the opening of a branch in London, England, which was undertaken after the most careful consideration of the Board, and the personal visit to London by the General Manager and the Assistant General Manager. Mr. F. W. Ashe, formerly Eastern Superintendent, was appointed manager of this branch, and the results to date have exceeded expectations.

It was then moved by the Hon. John Sharples, and seconded by Mr. William Price, that the Report of the Directors, now read, be adopted and printed for distribution among the Shareholders. Carried.

The General Manager addressed the meeting, referring particularly to the figures as shown by the Balance Sheet, and giving additional details as to the policy of the Bank in various matters of interest to the Shareholders, mentioning in particular the opening of twenty-four additional branches during the year, making a total of 242, as follows:—

New Brunswick	7
Nova Scotia	1
Ontario	76
Quebec	7
Manitoba	39
Saskatchewan	67
Alberta	33
British Columbia	11
London, England	1

Mr. Balfour expressed his regret at the decision of the Hon. John Sharples to retire from his duties as President at a future date, and said that he was voicing the feeling of the Directors, Shareholders and Officials in expressing the hope that he would long be spared to exert that keen interest in the Institution which he has displayed during the past seventeen years as Director, Vice-President, and President of the Bank.

After the adoption of the Report, Mr. R. T. Riley, in a short address, stated that it was the wish of the Directors that when Mr. Sharples finds it necessary to retire from the Presidency of the Bank that he be tendered the position of Honorary President. He also spoke specially in reference to the Western Division, in which there are now 155 Branches with a staff of 755.

Mr. Samuel Barker, M.P., of Hamilton, also addressed the meeting, congratulating the Shareholders on the Report presented to the meeting, thanking the President and Directors, the General Manager and other Officers of the Bank for their efforts on its behalf, and expressing his approval of the proposed removal of the Head Office to Winnipeg.

At the request of the President, the Secretary then read the draft bill, now before the House of Commons, for the purpose of amending the Bank's charter, and moving the Head Office of the Bank from Quebec to Winnipeg.

It was then moved by Mr. William Price, seconded by Col. J. F. Turnbull, and unanimously resolved that the action of the Directors in applying for the foregoing amendment to the Bank's charter be and hereby is approved.

Moved by Mr. R. T. Riley, seconded by Mr. E. E. A. DuVernet: "That the Meeting now proceed to the election of Directors for the ensuing year, and that the ballot box for the receipt of votes be kept open until a quarter past four o'clock, or until five minutes have elapsed without a vote being offered, during which time proceedings be suspended. Carried.

The Scrutineers appointed at the Meeting reported the following gentlemen duly elected as Directors for the ensuing year: Hon. John Sharples, Messrs. Wm. Price, E. J. Hale, Wm. Shaw, George H. Thomson, R. T. Riley, E. L. Drewry, W. R. Allan, F. E. Kenaston, John Galt, M. Bull, Samuel Barker, M.P.; E. E. A. DuVernet, K.C.; George P. Reid, and Stephen Haas.

At a subsequent Meeting of the newly-elected Board the Hon. John Sharples was elected President, and Mr. Wm. Price, Vice-President.

BRADBURN FOR MAYOR

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated for the office of Mayor of the City of Peterborough, I solicit your votes and your influence to elect me to that position.

As an owner of property and a heavy tax payer, I am deeply interested in the welfare of the city, and if elected will endeavor to keep the expenditure down to the lowest point consistent with good service.

I will advocate a policy of progress. We have a good city, and its advancement should continue. I will give of my own time to assist in securing manufacturing industries.

For this purpose and to secure light and power for the citizens at the lowest cost, I believe we should if practicable, have electric energy owned and controlled by the city and should accept the assistance of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to procure it.

The inconvenience caused by there not being a bridge over the river south of Hunter street is so considerable that a bridge should be placed at or near Sherbrooke and Maria streets, and by having a new bridge built at Hunter street by the city, the Government and the Street Railway, and the present Hunter street bridge moved further south to Sherbrooke street, a saving can be made and the extension of the Street Railway to the East Ward secured. It should be accomplished in that way.

In street work, steps should be taken to improve our streets along permanent lines, as the traffic on many is so heavy that the maintenance of ordinary roadways on them is expensive.

The appointment of a permanent assessor should receive consideration, as with an assessor giving his whole time to the work a more equitable assessment should be secured.

Anything that will advance the interests of the city and the ratepayers will receive my best attention, and having been in the Council during the past five years, and in touch with the business, I believe I can give you good as well as faithful service.

As it will be impossible for me to see all the ratepayers personally before polling day, I respectfully ask for their support and influence in favor of my candidature.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. BRADBURN

CANNOT BOOST THE PRICE EVEN IF THEY TRIED

There are various arguments advanced as to the reason why the city should involve itself in an expenditure of upwards of $500,000 for the purpose of entering into a scheme of power development. One ratepayer, for instance, displayed his ignorance of the facts in connection with the question where he remarked that it might be good policy for the city to own a plant of its own in case the Electric Power Company attempted to "boost" up the price of light and power in Peterborough.

Ratepayers should bear in mind the fact that precaution was taken to prevent such an occurrence as this, when a year or so ago they granted to the Peterborough Light and Power Company a thirty-year franchise. According to the terms of the franchise the Peterborough Light and Power Company cannot charge any higher rates for light or power for thirty years than they are charging at the present time and to-day's rates cannot be said to be excessive.

It is further provided in the Company's franchise that the Company's rates are subject, every five years, to revision by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada. The interests of the city are thoroughly safeguarded. The Company can charge no higher rates than they are now charging, and if the city, at the end of five years' time, think that they should be paying a lower rate, they have the Railway Commission at their back to force a reduction. They have a chance to have the rates still further reduced every five years.

There is also the additional fact that the City Council of Peterborough has not, as yet, made any application to the Seymour Power Company for a block of power which they might — which, in fact, they can — secure at a most attractive figure.

Under these circumstances does it not seem most extraordinary that the ratepayers are asked to vote upon a by-law that will grant to the City Council authority to burden the municipality with an expenditure that may run quite easily into half a million dollars?

Once again, it may be stated by the members of the present Town Council, that they will come back to the people for approval of any contract which they may enter into. It must be borne in mind, however, that they are not required to do so. The passing of this simple looking little by-law would enable the Town Council of Peterborough to tie up the city to a proposition that might involve the municipality in an expenditure of half a million dollars.

The present debenture debt of Peterborough is nearly a million and a half dollars. The taxes are high enough as any ratepayer must realize. An addition to our debenture debt of $500,000 would mean a material increase in our tax rate, with no guarantee that our light and power would be cheaper.

If the city were not protected by a clause in the Peterborough Light and Power Company's franchise, fixing the maximum rate for light; if the rates to be charged for light and power were not subject to regulation by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada; if the City of Peterborough had applied to the Seymour Power Company for a block of power and had been refused a reasonable price; if it were not a fact that there is already developed in and around Peterborough fully 3,500 h.p. more than is now being used, there might be some slight excuse for the City Council considering a proposition for the establishment of a municipal plant.

In view of the existing circumstances, any attempt on the part of the City Council to further increase the debenture debt of Peterborough is unwise and unsound business.

The ratepayers of Peterborough should block any proposition of this kind by voting against the power by-law on Thursday next. A vote against the power by-law is a vote against higher taxes.

SANTA CLAUS WAS LIBERAL AT PARK STREET CHURCH

Children of the Shelter Were Entertained—Chair for Superintendent Moore, Bible for Mr. Theobald and a Toilet Set for the Pastor

The Park Street Baptist church held its annual Christmas tree last night. It was a large success and the children of the Shelter were entertained in royal style. The program was of a very high standard, and reflected great credit on all concerned. Mr. Gibbs very kindly conveyed the children to the church. Mr. Cochrane and others also attended. The chair was taken by Mr. Moore, the faithful and energetic superintendent.

Numerous presents were on the tree while a real live Santa Claus enlivened the proceedings. Mr. Theobald received a handsome Bible from the Men's Bible Class, of whom he is president.

Mr. Moore was remembered by his teachers and officers by being presented with a handsome chair.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, received an address and a handsome gentleman's toilet set, from the deacons and men of the Helping Hand Bible class. All made suitable replies.

After the children of the shelter had enjoyed themselves, and received their Santa Claus gifts from the school, Mr. Cochrane thanked the school, and the Park street children replied by inviting the children of the shelter to be forever their guests on Christmas time. This was carried unanimously.

The meeting then closed by the singing of "Praise God From Whom all Blessings Flow."

CHRISTMAS EVE TRAGEDY AT TORONTO TWO ARE KILLED AND MANY INJURED

Two More Are Not Expected to Live and Several Others Are Seriously Injured as the Result of a Christmas Eve Accident When Car Going at 50 Miles an Hour Dashes Around Curve and Topples Over.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Two persons were killed and many injured in a street car wreck here on Christmas eve. A loaded King street car, westbound, dashed past the barns and striking a switch ran sharply around a curve where it turned over, crushing many in the wreckage.

The list of casualties is as follows:

Dead.

Mrs. Jessie Deacon, 13 Elmer avenue; killed almost instantly. Chest terribly crushed.

Mrs. Williams, 7 Fenwick avenue; base of skull fractured. Died at 8.30 p.m. in General Hospital.

Wounded.

Arthur Blow, 76 Victor avenue; severe scalp injury.

William Cassan, 321 King street west; shoulder bone broken.

William Owen, 33 Greenwood avenue; severe head injuries.

Mrs. Brayne, Alexandra Industrial School for Girls.

Mrs. Patterson, Alexandra Industrial School for Girls; severe shock.

Mrs. Wetherly; arms and shoulders badly hurt.

Mrs. McMillan; fractured shoulders.

Several others were taken home after having their wounds dressed.

With the exception of Robert Hall and Arthur Blow, who both have fractures at the base of the skull, all are doing very well, and have good chances of recovery. These two are in a very grave condition, and are not expected to live.

The car was several minutes late and was crowded, even men, women and children were standing on the back platform. The motorman turned on all the power after he passed the switch at the new Don bridge and let his car go at full speed past the car barns, where he should have stopped. After his arrest he said that he tried to stop, but that the brakes were out of order, and he lost control of the car just after leaving the bridge.

Mrs. Jessie Deacon, 23 Elmer avenue, who died a few minutes after the accident happened, was thrown through a window near the front of the car and crushed beneath the heavy framework. The others in the body of the car were thrown into a mass, and those on the rear platform were scattered in the mud, some twenty feet from the car. Mrs. Hillis Williams of 7 Fenwick avenue, died of a fractured skull an hour after being taken to the General Hospital.

It is estimated by street railway officials that the car was traveling at nearly fifty miles an hour.

Ten or twelve people were standing in front of the car barns, which are situated in the black running east from St. Lawrence street, and they bore out the statement that the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

It was the worst street car accident Toronto has known since Thanksgiving Day in 1904, when a car with about thirty people broke through the railway gates at Queen East and De Grassi street level crossing and was struck by a train. Four people were killed and many others injured.

With the memory of Sunday night's tragedy still fresh in their minds, thirty-five passengers in King street car No. 1,508, westbound at the King street barns, close to the scene of the accident, were given a severe fright at 10.45 last night when that car, to allow the car behind to run ahead, switched into the sheds, and in so doing bumped the side of the brick entry, partially demolishing the rear vestibule and severely shaking the car and its occupants. There was a scene of confusion and it was a fortunate thing that a panic did not develop.

LOCAL MAN MISSED IT

Mr. W. Bearss, of the National Hotel, who returned to the city last night, after spending Christmas in Toronto, is congratulating himself to-day that he acquiesced to the whims of his companion, who objected to boarding the ill-fated King street car at the Woodbine on Sunday evening, it being already crowded. They decided to await a later car.

Mr. Bearss, speaking to a Review representative to-day, said that being on a later car, he only saw the wreck at a distance of about three blocks. The car he was on was taken along another line to avoid the congestion, which was inevitable after the accident.

CHINESE REBELS INSIST THAT REPUBLIC BE GRANTED

Conference at Shanghai Seems to Have Come to the Conclusion That a Republican Government In China Is Inevitable and Unless Emperor's Advisors Concede This Peace Negotions Will Break Up.

Tokio, Dec. 26.—A conference of members of the Japanese Cabinet at which many of the elder statesmen, including Prince Katsura, the ex-Premier, were invited to assist, was held here Sunday. The strictest secrecy has been maintained regarding the discussions at the conference, but it is generally believed that the latest developments of the situation in China were taken into serious consideration. It is understood that the conference reached the conclusion that the adoption of a republican form of government by China was apparently inevitable.

Information from a reliable source has reached here that the revolutionaries in China continue to insist firmly on a republic, and that the peace negotiations now proceeding at Shanghai will result in a rupture unless the imperial authorities in Pekin should yield to their demands in this respect.

Most of the powers are apparently reconciled to the inevitable tendency of the prevailing situation. Neither Japan nor Great Britain has any intention whatever of intervening in any way in China, much less of imposing any form of government on that country.

The general feeling here is that the only alternative for the present situation is for the representatives of the Imperial Government in Pekin to yield.

Major-Gen. Shiba, who was in command of the Japanese troops in Pekin at the time of the Boxer uprising in 1900 left Shimonoseki, the fortified naval city in the southwest of Hondo, Japan, for Tokio, in response to an official summons received by him from headquarters.

Rebel Leaders Confer.

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, one of the leading promoters of the revolution, who may be named as president of the proposed republic, boarded a launch soon after his arrival here yesterday morning and was escorted down the river by two warships. After landing he proceeded by automobile to the residence of Wu Ting Fang, the foreign secretary in the revolutionary provisional Cabinet, to discuss the situation.

So far as is known, no reply has yet been received from Yuan Shi Kai, the Imperial Premier, with regard to the establishment of a republic, as insisted upon by the revolutionaries.

May Oust Premier.

London, Dec. 26.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that the revolutionaries are incensed at the imperialists for the capture of Taiyuanfu, in Shansi Province, and have protested to Tang Shao Yi, the representative of Yuan Shi Kai, at the peace conference, against the continued breaches of the armistice. They have demanded an indemnity, the withdrawal of the troops and the punishment of the officers upon whom the responsibility rests.

The revolutionary leaders insist that unless Yuan Shi Kai replies at once to the demands of the conference they will elect Dr. Sun Yat Sen president along with the Cabinet which has already been formed.

Tang Shao Yi explained that the imperialists had occupied Taiyuanful only after the revolutionists had deserted the town. He forwarded the demands, however, to Pekin.

Rebel Leaders Confident.

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen is quartered in a large modern residence in the French concession. He said yesterday that he preferred to make no statement until he had reviewed the entire situation. His conference with Wu Ting Fang and other leaders shows that he is evidently commanding the greatest respect and attention.

Dr. Sun said that the entire movement was united, and there would be no serious differences. It is quite evident that the revolutionaries are preparing for the constructive work of government, and are not counting on Yuan Shi Kai. They are even disregarding Pekin, which they confidently assert they can take at leisure.

It has been definitely decided that Nanking shall be the future capital. Even after the abdication of the Emperor and the reorganization of the new Government, the leaders assert positively, Pekin will not be considered.

In the minds of the revolutionists the movement has been highly successful. One of the high officers said yesterday: "Fourteen provinces have declared for a republic. We control 12 divisions of the army; two more are coming. We hold the entire navy. Two provinces remain imperial and two are neutral. There is no government in Pekin. Yuan Shi Kai is its only representative, except the infant Emperor.

"The sooner the powers recognize the real situation, instead of clinging to harmful and intangible sentiment, the sooner will order be secured in China. Hesitation to recognize the republican cause will certainly prolong the stagnation of trade and will be responsible for much bloodshed, should fighting begin again."

WHY THEY DO NOT MAKE OFFERS AND PUSH SALES?

The Seymour Power Company, which is pushing its interests in the effort to stem the Hydro Electric Commission proposition says the city has never asked the Company for a quotation for electrical energy for power and light.

Perhaps the city has not. Perhaps the city feels in some way what the answer would be.

The Seymour Power Company knows that the factories of the country would be packed full of goods if the management lacked the sand to put men out to seek sales and make offers. Those alert to do business are ever the first to bid for it.

Has the city had a bid from the Seymour Power Company. Not any.!

And why?

The Company is entitled to large credit for its enterprise, in building and equipping the magnificent power houses in the district. The work has been well done. It is a testimonial to good business sense, sagacity and to confidence in the future.

But what concerns Peterborough is the value--and consequent cost--of power ten years hence. This puzzles the Seymour Power Company, also.

If the company knew what to charge, based on conditions ten years from now, they would mighty soon say so. It is to be computed by running cost and opportunity. If all the opportunity is gone from Peterborough--well then. Why not corrall a slice of opportunity just now? The city needs to discount that opportunity and the time to do it is at once. Be mighty sure of that. A few spikes firmly driven in will hold fast.

Here is a truesim. In business, outside of the manufacturer, no customer knows what a thing will cost or its selling price unless some one tells him.

Peterborough will never get a reasonably sure statement of what electric energy is worth until the Hydro Electric tells it the facts.

That is what the Seymour Power Company is waiting for. For its competitor to show its line, name its price, exhibit its discounts and on these statements base an offer. It is a real good business line to take--but is dilatory, and it may be dangerous.

The Hydro Electric proposition will give the city power and light at cost. It will cost any company, any organization what it will cost the Hydro-Electric. But in hooking on to the Hydro-Electric we cut out the middleman. The middleman is the fellow who is adding so much to the cost of living, in all food products.

There is not the slightest doubt but that the Seymour Power Company wish to make this city an offer, but a better offer may be made after the people have voted "YES" than if they answered with a reluctant "No".

Certainly the city should say "Yes", to the Hydro Electric proposition. "Yes" if it wishes to have the assistance of the Hydro-Electric Commission. "Yes" if it wishes to make a decent arrangement for power with the powers that be.

And remember this, in power and light as in nearly everything else--everything is comparative. If you have not seen the best it is quite easy to be content with something else. We'll never know the best until we try the Hydro Electric Commission cable to pull us out of a standstill.

HOPELESS FIGHT FOR ITALIANS

Turks Are Reinforced by Two Thousand Arab Warriors

Special to the Review.

Dehibiat, Tunis, Dec. 26—Two thousand Arab warriors have just joined the Turkish and Arab army at Tripoli. They brought large food supplies and had a forty day march across the Libian desert. The Shieks have forbidden the cultivation of the land during the war thus forcing Italy to transport all supplies. Unprejudiced correspondents with the Turkish army believe that Italy faces a long and hopeless struggle.

No Drunks

It certainly speaks well for the sobriety and good-behavior of the people of Peterborough, that on the holiday yesterday not a solitary case of drunkenness or disorderly conduct was reported to the Chief of Police or any of his men. The law enforcing the closing of all bars from Saturday night, and over the holiday, was productive of good results.

Condemned Hold Jollification.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Seventy-seven murderers, with 600 other prisoners, partook of Christmas dinner and exchanged yuletide greetings at the Cook County jail yesterday. In many respects the holiday was the most unusual in the tragedy-laden history of the institution.

Ewald Shiblawski, one of the four murderers sentenced to hang Feb. 16 next, delivered a terse temperance lecture to a group of prisoners. He said:

"We had too much whisky in us when we did it. But for that Guelzow (a truck farmer whom they murdered) would be with his wife and children to-day. I wish I could bring him back."

Thomas Jennings, a negro sentenced to hang for the murder of Clarence Hiller, in the suburbs of Washington Heights, has turned preacher and yesterday had 15 negro prisoners praying on their knees. He also led a song service with the enthusiasm of a revivalist.

Mrs. Louise Vermilya, charged with several poisonings, said she had spent a cheerful Christmas in company with Mrs. Jane Quinn, who is charged with shooting her husband, John Quinn.

Riley Not Downcast.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 26.—Twelve hundred letters of Christmas greeting and sympathy came yesterday to Jas. Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, who has been ill for several months.

"I can't answer them," said Mr. Riley, with a rueful glance at his right arm, of which he has lost the use. "I can't hold a pencil, I wish I could. But I am not so downcast as many of my friends seem to think. How could I be when I have so many well-wishers, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, whom I have never even seen. This is a merry Christmas for me, and I hope for all my unknown friends."

Some of the letters are in verse. One admirer advised that the poet learn to write with his left hand. "It is possible; I shall try this," said Mr. Riley, "but I fear it will be a tedious task."

Car Ferry Instead of Tunnel.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Dec. 26.—Nominations take place for the Prince Edward Island general elections on Thursday of this week. The construction of a tunnel across the straits has long been a chief factor in the island's politics. A feature of the present campaign is that the Conservatives are now professing satisfaction with the proposal that instead of this a car ferry be established. The Charlottetown Guardian, which has hitherto been independent, is advocating the car ferry scheme.

Burned by Christmas Tree.

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 26.—Playing Santa Claus in flannel attire and tousled hempen hair, George H. Sawyer, aged 14, went too close to the lighted candles on the Christmas tree in his home in Cliftondale yesterday, and suffered burns which are expected to prove fatal. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Sawyer, were burned severely in an attempt to beat out the flames and save the life of their boy.

Russia and Japan Friendly.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—The first dinner of the new Russo-Japanese Society recently formed here, was held Saturday night at the Japanese embassy. Baron Ichero Motono, Japanese ambassador at St. Petersburg, and M. Kokovsow, the Russian Premier, exchanged toasts, both referring to the value of Russo-Japanese friendship.

Santa at the Mercer.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Santa Claus in full regalia, with the regulation whiskers and girth, visited the Mercer Reformatory at Christmas dinner. The Christmas saint came in the person of Dr. King, surgeon of the institution, who distributed bon-bons to inmates and staff. His arrival was a great surprise, it being his first visit. It was the signal for great mirth and jollity. The afternoon was merrily spent listening to various offerings at an impromptu concert, gotten up by the inmates.

"Marvellous Griffith" Passes.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 26.—Arthur F. Griffith of Milford, Ind., a lightning calculator, who has bewildered vaudeville audiences throughout the country for a number of years by his mathematical wizardry, was found dead of apoplexy in his bed at a local hotel yesterday.

Griffith, who was known professionally as "The Marvellous Griffith," was to have gone to Bridgeport, Conn., to fulfill an engagement yesterday. He was 31 years old.

ONE BRAKEMAN KILLED; FOUR RAILWAYMEN INJURED

Bad Wreck at Belleville When Double-header took Wrong Track.

Belleville, Dec. 24.—A shocking accident, by which one man was killed and four others severely injured, occurred in the east end of the Grand Trunk yard here about 10.30 last night.

A double-header freight from the east, whether by an open switch or a broken switch, left the main line and struck a yard engine standing on a switch.

W. S Simons, brakeman on the freight, late of Stirling, Scotland, was on top of the car, and was instantly killed between cars while trying to descend the ladder. J. Lord, engineer of the head engine of the freight was slightly injured, and J. Wills, his fireman had an arm and rib broken. Wesley Post, engineer on the second engine, had both legs broken, one of which was amputated at the hospital, and there are very slight hopes for his recovery. J. Bone, fireman with Post, had several ribs broken. The injured men are in the hospital, and all except Post are doing well. Dr. Farley, Coroner, was summoned, and will hold an inquest to-morrow forenoon on the body of Simons, whose wife is in Scotland. Both engines of the freight are practically destroyed. The yard engine was also badly damaged.

Inquiring Into G.T.R. Wreck.

Belleville, Dec. 26.—Yesterday morning a coroner's jury was selected to enquire into the facts regarding the accident on the G.T.R. here on Saturday night, whereby one life was sacrificed, another man fatally injured, and three others more or less injured. The taking of evidence was adjourned until Wednesday afternoon. The jury viewed the body of the brakeman, W. S. Symons, who was killed.

Crossing Chemong Lake

Crossing Chemong Lake

With his team, stage and six passengers, Dan Whetung, of Chemong Indian Village, crossed Chemong Lake this morning. The trip was made on Saturday, but the horses were taken across singly.

Farmer's Heavy Loss.

Brockville, Dec. 26.—John N. Truesdell, a farmer, residing near Rockfield, in Escott Township, sustained a serious loss when his barns and contents were destroyed by fire. When the fire was discovered it had made rapid headway and nothing could be done to save the buildings. Some pieces of machinery were got out, but the buildings were consumed, together with their contents and 21 head of cattle, 13 sheep and the entire season's crop. Mr. Truesdell carried some insurance, but his direct loss is about $2,500.

G.T.R. SECURES COAL MINES

Valuable Railway Fuel Areas Are Secured In Ohio.

Pittsburg, Dec. 26.—The Grand Trunk Railway Co. of Canada has just closed a deal whereby it obtains the holdings of the Rail and River Coal Co., with main offices here. The mines are located in Belmont County, Ohio. The deal includes 31,000 acres of coal lands and six producing mines, which have an output of 750,000 tons annually. The Grand Trunk Railroad contemplates operating the mines and using the output on its lines. The price approximates $3,000,000.

Many obstacles had to be overcome before the transaction could be completed. The closing of the deal was hastened by the proposed merger of 48 rival mining companies in Belmont and Jefferson Counties, Ohio. M. Liseman & Co. of New York have underwritten the stock for the merger, which represent $30,000,000 in capital, to be subscribed by London and Amsterdam capitalists. All the stock will be controlled by European interests.

It is said that Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland, Ohio, has agreed to dispose of his large holdings to the new syndicate. The capacity of the mines which it is proposed to consolidate is 13,000,000 tons annually.

The coal lands purchased by the G.T.R. are all in the No. 8 Pittsburg seam, which has been shipped heavily to the lakes the past few years. It makes excellent fuel for railroad purposes and is superior to any other grade of coal on the market.

Not Fully Confirmed.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 26.—Officials of two big Columbus coal companies, who are among the largest operators in the Belmont County coal fields, yesterday denied any connection with the sale of coal land in the Belmont County field for the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada.

It was stated here, however, that the Grand Trunk had absorbed the Rail & River Coal Co. of Pittsburg.

The Rail & River Co. was capitalized at $2,500,000, with $2,500,000 in bonds outstanding. The Grand Trunk is understood to have paid $3,000,000 for the stock and guaranteed the bonds.

According to Pittsburg operators, the Grand Trunk purchase is the first step toward a consolidation that will represent an investment of $30,000,000 in Belmont County coal property, and control an annual output of 13,000,000 tons.

The three harbor commissioners at Three Rivers, Que., have been removed.

FIVE HUNDRED PERSIANS BARBAROUSLY SLAUGHTERED

Russian Troops In Vicinity of Resht Are Said to Have Engaged In a Barbarous Slaughter of Inoffensive Natives—They Have Been Advised Not to Resist, But Massacre Continues—Russians Abandon Bank.

London, Dec. 26.—A massacre has been going on in Resht since Saturday, according to official Persian telegrams received in London yesterday. These state that on Sunday 500 Persians were killed by the Russians, many of them being women and children. The people, it is said, have been exhorted not to fight, and not to give the slightest provocation, but the massacre still continues.

Resht is the capital of the Province of Ghilan, and has 40,000 inhabitants. The Government house has been bombarded, and many Government officials and police have been killed. Private houses have been demolished.

According to other despatches the Russians killed four unarmed Mohammedans in the Armenian quarter of Tabriz, during the fighting in that city.

"The people of Persia," says the despatch, "are stupefied at the attitude of the Russians, especially as these outrages have followed immediately on the acceptance by Persian of the second Russian ultimatum, and when Persia has shown every desire and disposition to conciliate Russia and establish friendly relations."

Resented Shuster's Dismissal.

Teheran, Dec. 26.—The Cabinet yesterday notified W. Morgan Shuster, treasurer-general of Persia, of his dismissal from that office. This follows the decision of the National Council and the Ministry to submit to the demands contained in the Russian ultimatum. The Cabinet intimated to Mr. Shuster that they would communicate to him later their plans concerning the turning over of his accounts to his successor.

An indignation meeting was held after the announcement of Mr. Shuster's dismissal was made, to protest against the so-called coup d'etat, but the crowds were dispersed by the police without disorder. Further demonstrations are expected. All the opposition newspapers have been suppressed, and martial law has been proclaimed.

The Russian consul, who has assumed the government of Resht, reports the town quiet at the present time, but looks for further outbreaks.

It is reported from Shiraz, capital of the province of Fars, that Persians fired on a body of Indian troops who were proceeding to meet the British consul, one of the Indian soldiers being killed. There has been considerable trouble at Shiraz, on account of the boycott instituted against the Indian troops by the Mollahs.

Russians Abandon Bank.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—Advices received here yesterday from Tabriz, in Persia, say that the Russian troops have been forced to abandon the Russo-Persian Bank, which is situated in the principal bazaar, and which they have hitherto been protecting. There is a sum of about $150,000 in specie lying in the bank, which is now entirely without a guard.

Fighting Not Over.

Julfa, Persia, Dec. 26.—According to information received here fighting continues in the streets of Tabriz between the Russian guard and the Persian constitutionalists. The Russian reinforcements, consisting of a regiment of rifles and a sotnia of Cossacks with a mountain battery, which left here on Dec. 23 for that city, arrived there yesterday, having encountered very little opposition from the Persians.

Sixth Year as Reeve

Reeve Joseph Hickson, of Manvers township, Durham county, has been re-elected by acclamation. This will be the sixth year Mr. Hickson has been at the head of the municipal affairs of Manvers, and he served as councillor for some time before being first elected to the higher office.

There will be an election in Manvers among the councillors, however.

PROBABILITIES

Easterly winds; rain or sleet tonight. Wednesday, north-west winds, becoming colder; snow flurries.

Steamer Ashore; Many Lives Lost.

Bordeaux, France, Dec. 26.—The Uruguayan steamer Rafael, from Montevideo, has been wrecked off Coubre Point, on the west coast of France, at the mouth of the Gironde. The Rafael carried a crew of twenty-five men. Five bodies have already been washed ashore.

The coast continues in the grip of the storm, which has lasted for several days. A score of sailing vessels have been driven on the rocks, the crews being rescued with difficulty. All incoming vessels report damage; several of them have had men swept overboard by the heavy seas.

Miss Evelyn and Master Wyman Smith, the children of Rev. Everett Smith, M.D., of Pithapuram, India, are guests of Rev J. R. and Mrs. Webb, of 194 London street. Both were born in India, their parents are now on their way to the Orient to engage in their third term of service, under the Canadian Baptist Mission Board.

Premiers' Christmas Greetings.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—The first exchange of Christmas greetings between Premiers of the over-seas dominions took place on Saturday, between Hon R. L. Borden and Sir Joseph Ward. The following cable was received from the Premier of New Zealand: "Season's greetings to yourself and colleagues. Ward." Premier Borden promptly cabled back: "Thanks, and warm congratulations to yourself and colleagues. Borden."

Red Cross Founder Honored.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Miss Clare Barton, founder and first president of the American National Red Cross Society, was showered yesterday with greetings and good wishes upon the ninetieth anniversary of her birth. Although feeble from her illness early this year, Miss Barton was able to celebrate the day with her relatives and friends, who are spending Christmas with her home, "Red Cross," in Glen Echo, Md., a suburb of Washington.

Chicken Thieves Fired Barn.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 26.—Thieves who broke into Samuel Lavigne's barn Sunday night and stole several chickens and geese, set the place on fire and the building was totally destroyed. One horse and some poultry were burned. The place is in a dangerous fire zone, and for a time the wind was blowing a gale, the blaze looked serious.

BRINGING IN THE SHEAVES

Going back to first principals, in the matter of gaining a living, we come to the work on the farm. At all points, education is offered the farmer. He is the recipient of oceans of advice and instruction. But what the farmer needs is more practical demonstration on their own farms, if possible, than the theories laid down by experts.

In this connection a new movement is outlined in the paragraphs below—

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is arranging with the governments of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick for a series of farm specials to be run during next spring and summer in connection with the agricultural colleges of those provinces. The object is the education of the farmer, who will be shown the latest and best methods of land culture, dairying, stock-raising, fruit growing and, in fact, everything pertaining to the farm. These trains which will consist of several baggage cars, fully equipped by the different colleges and manned by experts, who will have special coaches in which to deliver lectures on agricultural topics, will stop at the principal points on the company's lines, and remain long enough to enable those attending the opportunity of gathering a great deal of valuable information regarding their calling. Besides the lectures, literature fully explaining everything pertaining to farm life will be freely distributed and every opportunity will be afforded farmers to gather a fund of useful knowledge. To secure a large attendance at their meetings which will be widely advertised, the C.P.R. will offer cheap transportation to farmers, and it is confidently expected their efforts on the part of the governments and the C.P.R. will excite greater interest in the productive capacity of farm lands and benefit the whole country materially.

DOING ITS FULL SHARE

Every department of the Bank of Ottawa's 37th annual report shows increases over the figures for 1910. The net profits for the year which has just closed amounts to $595,228, as compared with $542,000 for the previous year. The rest account now stands at $4,000,000 as compared with $3,900,000. The note circulation is now $3,743,000 as compared with $3,472,000 a year ago, while the total deposits are $34,864,000 as compared with $32,418,000, and the total assets $46,458,000, as compared with $43,654,000. The bank increased its current loans in Canada by over $3,000,000, and to-day these amount to $31,582,000, indicating that the bank is doing its full share in furthering the business activities of the country.

During the year the bank opened nine new branches and secured premises for additional branches in four other places. They also adopted the policy of having outside inspection and during the year had Price Waterhouse, the well-known firm of chartered accountants, examine the books and accounts of the bank. This policy of outside inspection will give the shareholders and additional feeling of confidence. The bank is in an exceptionally prosperous condition, and the President and General Manager are entitled to the congratulations of the shareholders.

CURE SICK HEADACHE

W.H. BRADBURN MAYOR ELECT.

By the election of W. H. Bradburn to the office of Mayor for 1912, the good service has been given in the Council for the past five years, has been recognized. Mr. J. J. Hartley had apparently been persuaded to allow himself to be nominated in opposition to Mr. Bradburn, but on further consideration recognized the inadvisability of opposing him and by withdrawing from the contest allowed Mr. Bradburn to be elected unopposed.

Mr Bradburn has served on important committees in the Council. He was chairman of the Property Committee and while at the head of that committee was instrumental in the establishment of the Public Library, an institution that is appreciated by the people. For two years he has been chairman of the Finance Committee, and the close attention he has given to the finances and the carefulness he has exercised in that position promises well for administration of the city's affairs under his guidance as head of the Council.

Being largely interested in real estate in the city and one of the heaviest taxpayers, Mr. Bradburn's interests are identified with those of the city, and his own interests as well as his public spirit will lead him to advocate and encourage a policy of progress, combined with economy. What the city requires is a progressive policy that will keep it to the front. It has been advancing and this growth brings forward new problems and calls for further services, and wisdom is required to so guide the municipal affairs that the impulse of advancement will not be checked, that the further services needed will be provided and at the same time that expenditure will be kept within judicious limits. Mr .Bradburn's business capacity and training and his experience in municipal affairs fit him for the position of leader in such a policy.

Mr. Bradburn's election by acclamation is a recognition of his fitness for the position and of his services while he has been a member of the Council, and is an evidence of the confidence the electors have in him, and the Review congratulates him upon the signal honor he has had conferred upon him by the electors of his native city.

HOTELMAN SHOT HIMSELF

Patrick Clancy Took His Life While Visiting Relatives

Toronto, Dec. 26—Patrick Clancy, whose home was at 771 Queen street east, committed suicide in Milwaukee on Saturday night. The unfortunate man shot himself while under some nervous excitement.

Mr. Clancy left for Milwaukee a week ago to spend Christmas with his brother and sister-in-law. He seemed in a highly nervous condition all day and went to his room at 8.30 in the evening. Half an hour later he abruptly went out, and immediately his niece, Miss Mae Clancy, heard a shot under the window. The unfortunate man was found dying, and, although Dr. T. W. O'Donnovan was immediately summoned, he only lived about fifteen minutes.

The deceased was a former proproprietor of the Maple Leaf Hotel, Riverdale, and was unmarried. He attended St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church. His brother, Mrs. M. J. Clancy, of the Hotel Cecil, left yesterday for Milwaukee, and will bring the remains to Toronto for interment.

AUTHOR ARRESTED.

Andrew McConnell Confesses to Shooting His Wife.

New York, Dec. 26.—Andrew McConnell, magazine writer and lecturer, was arrested at a reporter's desk in a morning newspaper office last night while, it is alleged, he was writing a confession of shooting and seriously wounding his divorced wife, Mrs. Marion D. McConnell.

Mrs. McConnell lies at her home in Orchard Grove, N.J., with a serious bullet wound in the head. The shooting is said to have occurred late Saturday night.

McConnell was operating a typewriter at a reporter's desk in The Times' office last night when a detective arrested him. The paper in the machine bore these words:

"I was forced to shoot the woman who was my wife. Absolute divorce was obtained last spring. Not one word was said regarding the divorce the night I shot her. She has tried to villify an innocent woman."

This was as far as had been written on the machine, but beside the typewriter the detective found a slip of paper upon which there was scrawly handwriting, which was hard to make out, as follows:

"Every person who has helped to build my work has been vilified by a woman who is either hopelessly insane or a designing fiend. When I made discovery in the electrical basis of life, which (three intelligible words) years later."

Detective Devoti declared that McConnell added to his alleged confession by declaring that he shot his wife because "She was always making me believe I was insane. She vilified me to different people and has run my character down."

Robbed Ten Cent Store.

New York, Dec. 26.—Graduates of the newer schools in burglary operated on a safe in a five and ten cent store, owned by S. S. Kresge, in Harlem, yesterday, and got away with nearly $4.000 in cash. The men entered by way of the sky light, drew electricity from a live wire to operate their drill and with nitro-glycerine easily blew off the safe door.

A roll of carpet was found which had been used to deaden the noise of the explosion, and beside the carpet was found kid gloves which the burglars had evidently used to avoid detection from finger prints, which have recently led to arrests and indictments of several alleged burglars.

Tribute to Farley.

Rome, Dec. 26.—Pontificial mass was celebrated yesterday by Cardinal Farley in his titular Church of Sancta Maria Sopra Minerva. Besides being a demonstration of piety, the ceremony was a great manifestation of respect and admiration for Cardinal Farley, who is commonly called here the "Venerable Archbishop of New York."

The church was packed with worshippers, the congregation comprising many noted personalities among the clergy and laity of Rome. The monks of the order of the Dominicans, who are in charge of the church, clad in their white robes, added picturesqueness to the scene.

A Fatal Christmas Box.

New York, Dec. 26.—One hundred women guests at the Virginian Hotel, for women only, were thrown into a panic early yesterday by the plight of Miss Argyle E. Lyons, the superintendent of the hotel, who rushed wildly about the halls with her nightclothes burning. Miss Lyons had risen early, enthusiastic over making a cup of coffee over a new alcohol lamp which she had received as a Christmas present. Her nightdress caught fire from the flames when she attempted to pour more alcohol into the lamp without blowing out the blaze.

It is believed that the young woman will die.

Crew Escaped From Dredge.

Savannah, Ga., Dec. 26.—Menaced by death from violent seas that pounded and wrenched his craft till she pitched and swung like a derelict, Captain F. J. Davis and his crew of eleven men abandoned a dredge in tow off the South Caroline coast Saturday noon.

In small boats the sailors made Daufuski Island, and yesterday Captain Davis reached Savannah, after traveling through miles of lonely swamp country. He engaged help and an expedition left here yesterday afternoon to rescue the hungry sailors stranded at Daufuski.

Civil Service Commission.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—The commission appointed last week to investigate the civil service will meet in Ottawa next Wednesday, according to present plans, as announced by Premier Borden. R. S. Lake is already here and will be joined by Mr. Ducharme of Montreal and A. B. Morine of Toronto.

Mr. Morine will be the chairman of the commission. The selection of counsel for the commission has not yet been considered, but will be taken up at once.

Reyes Has Been Captured.

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 26.—According to a private telegram received here bearing the signature of Gen. Geronimo Trevino, Mexican military commander, Gen. Reyes has been taken prisoner. Reyes, according to the telegram, surrendered after his forces had been defeated by federal troops near Linares yesterday.

Over the Pacific Stormy.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—Thirty-eight days from Tsingtan, China, the British bark Calcutta, arrived here Sunday, establishing a new record for the journey. Tempestuous weather was encountered and owls, falcons and hawks, driven off shore by the heavy gales, sought refuge in the rigging of the vessel.

Editorial Writer Dead.

Montreal, Dec. 26.—W. E. Hunt, editorial writer on The Montreal Witness, died yesterday at his residence on St. Urbain street, of typhoid fever.

Mr. Hunt was born in England, but came to Canada some twenty years ago, and had spent almost a score of years on the staff of The Witness.

Three men were killed when the powder works at Departure Bay, B.C. blew up.

LUNG TROUBLE

Mrs. Biny Brown, of Tenecape, N.S., Was Cured by Catarrhozone of Lung Trouble and Catarrh, After Hundreds of Other Remedies Failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold, or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler, the local symptoms, such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets, which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons, and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

Marshal Tureen and His Soup.

There is a quaint old shop in London which still bears the name of Samuel Birch, the first purveyor of turtle soup in the English capital. Amid all the changes of the city Birch's shop in Cornhill survives in the guise it wore when its owner was lord mayor of London in the memorable year of Waterloo. Samuel Birch achieved distinction in many fields. He was an orator and a patriot; he was colonel of the city militia and accepted with great good nature his nickname of Marshal Tureen; he was a man of letters, produced plays that held the stage and books that were readable, though now seldom read. One of his plays, "The Adopted Child," was popular long after its author had killed his last turtle. His daughter married Lamartine, and one of his sons, a fine classical scholar, begat a family of scholars. Yet Birch's claim to fame rests most upon the fact that he was the man who made turtle soup popular. City merchants, templars from the inns and dandies from the west end all flocked to Cornhill, the turtle house of all London.—Argonaut.

Reign of the Dandies.

In the matter of dress we have fallen upon a decline since the days when the Duke of Wellington was refused admission to Almack's because he was wearing trousers instead of breeches and silk stockings. Even Almack's, however, had to admit trousers within its closely guarded portals the following year. When Gladstone was "up" at Oxford the reign of the dandies was in full swing. When late in life he revisited the university to lecture to the undergraduates on Homer he was asked by G. W. E. Russell whether he noticed any difference between his audience and the men of his own time.

"Yes," he replied, "in their dress an enormous change. I am told that I had among my audience some of the most highly connected and richest men in the university, and there wasn't one whom I couldn't have dressed from top to toe for £5."—St. James' Gazette.

A "Fast" Train.

"Speaking of railroads," said the truthful man, "the ultimate word, in my experience, was a certain 'limited' on which I traveled last summer. At a point where we were making our greatest speed a man stood at the side of the track with a moving picture machine. I leaned out of the window and called to him, 'How are you getting on?'

"He stopped turning the crank and spoke with an expression of deep disgust.

"'It don't seem to be no use,' he said. 'Hold your head still, please. I want to get a time exposure.'"—Everybody's.

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

"I can see the old gentleman now. He was sitting there where Miss Cooper is, his chin on his breast, and from time to time he would take me in with a look from beneath his gathered brows, which, for sheer, downright hyperborean iciness, had a Dakota blizzard backed away down to the equator and stewing in its own perspiration. I was afraid to say anything more, and at the same time I was wild with impatience to get some inkling of what was going on behind his impassive crust.

"And, Swift, you never could guess how that silence was broken. He suddenly tossed his head back, and burst out with a great guffaw of laughter. I jumped clear out of my chair.

"'What a nephew!' he cried, while I stood staring at him in dumb astonishment. 'Good Lord, what I've missed by not knowing you all these years! A chip off of the old block!' He abruptly squared round on me, and paid me a compliment very similar to one I had heard a few nights before.

"'See here, my boy,' said he, admiringly, 'for pure and unlimited cheek, you're in a class by yourself. Why, the very audacity of your impudence is not without its attraction! Here you come into my house and ask me to stand and deliver a fortune, with all the light and airy assurance of a bill-collector. And the best of it is that you are dead in earnest, too—oh, Lord!' And he went off into another gale of laughter.

"I here timidly mentioned the fact that I had never in my life been more dead in earnest.

"'Earnest!' he barked at me. 'D'ye suppose I can't tell when a man means what he says? Humph!

"'But, see here, my lad, it's a pity we weren't drawn together years ago,' he broke off to snap at me. 'Sit down! I'm not going to bite—if I am a "hound."'

"Well! I dropped back into my chair, where I sat blinking, a good deal bewildered, realizing only dimly that I had not been thrown bodily from the house, and, after a while, that he was not even angry.

"On the contrary, he seemed to be in the best of spirits. Presently he began to put me through a cross-examination, which I can recommend as a model for any one to follow who wants to elicit the minutæ of detail of another fellow's life.

"Before he finished, he had dragged out everything that had ever occurred to me with which anybody bearing the name of Fluette was even remotely associated—a complete history of Belle's and my acquaintance, everything I knew or had ever heard about Mrs. Fluette, all about Genevieve, and every word that I could remember that had ever passed between Mr. Fluette and myself.

"He took me through my talk with Mr. Fluette last Wednesday night I don't know how many times—anyhow, until he must have had it pretty well photographed upon his mind. For some mysterious reason, he seemed to relish the epithet by which Mr. Fluette had referred to him. I'll bet I repeated that part of our conversation a score of times; and every time I uttered the word 'hound' Mr. Page chuckled.

"But by and by I came to observe that each mention of either Belle or Mrs. Fluette was received with a courtesy and respect for which I could not account. I was at last moved to ask him whether he was acquainted with them; but he testily shook his head, and bade me with some asperity not to ask questions. He dropped into a brown study pretty soon, so I shut up.

"When he spoke again his words effectively banished all speculation from my mind; in fact, they left me speechless. Of a sudden he looked at me with a sly smile.

"'My boy,' he said, almost in a whisper, 'the ruby's yours.'"

Thereupon, Maillot declared, Mr. Page inquired whether he had ever seen the ruby; to which the young man replied in the negative. The fire on the hearth had by this time sunk to a glowing bed of coals, and, save for the dim ruddy glow, the illumination was afforded by means of a single candle—just sufficient to make of the commodious library a place of ghostly shadows, and failing to relieve its farther reaches from utter gloom and darkness.

"It's a bonny bit of glass," the old gentleman had said next. "It's as compact a package, I daresay, as one can crowd a fortune into. I'll get it." With a brusque injunction to his nephew to remain where he was, he took the candle and disappeared behind the curtains of the alcove, which, as the reader will remember, concealed the passageway extending thence, through the conservatory, and into the bedroom.

Maillot could not say how long his uncle was gone; he was still too full of awe and wonder to note the passage of time; but by and by Mr. Page returned, bearing the lighted candle in one hand and a small, worn, leather box in the other.

The first he placed upon the table immediately, and then, after resuming his chair, laid the little leather box in front of himself. He sat absently tapping it with his fingers, and from time to time regarding his nephew with the same secret, indecipherable smile which the young man had already observed and wondered at.

And now we approach the most startling, the most mystifying, stage of this amazing conference.

"Before giving you this ruby," said Mr. Page, after a while, "I'm going to bind you to a few conditions—for your own protection," he had hastily added, with a grin, when the young man's face suddenly lengthened at this unexpected contingency. "You'll agree fast enough after you've heard me. If you don't, you don't get the Paternoster Ruby"—and with a peculiar little laugh—most people would agree to anything for that, my lad."

Maillot's interest was now centered upon the conditions; and they at once became a part of the fairy tale of which he was the beggar transformed into-a-prince hero—so much were they of a nature to add to his elation, rather than provoke objections.

Therefore he promptly acquiesced in their terms, binding himself upon his honor as a gentleman to fulfil them to the letter.

"Take this little box to Fluette," were the words with which his uncle charged him; "show him the contents, but"—and here Maillot said the old gentleman probed him through and through with a look—"on no account allow the ruby to go out of your possession—not even for the briefest instant. Whatever else he may be, Alfred Fluette is no fool. Once he gets his fingers on this ruby, there's no telling what he'll try to put over on you. Of course he has no idea that you took him at his word, but I reckon he'll have to believe the evidence of his own senses."

Mr. Page had here rubbed his hands together in secret delight, and Maillot said that his eyes sparkled as he proceeded.

"Then you can make him come to terms. We'll see which he wants to keep the worst—his daughter, or the ruby he's sweat blood to get. . . . Won't let his daughter marry a man that has a drop of this 'hound's' blood in his veins, hey?" Page had snarled. "Well, you just watch the old 'hound' close his jaws." Suddenly he became the masterful, domineering man that the world knew; he addressed Maillot in the curt, incisive tones which never failed to exact obedience.

"You tell him this, young man, exactly as I am telling it to you. Tell him you have performed your part of the bargain; tell him that the second Miss Belle is yours, the ruby shall be his; tell him he shall never get his hands on one tick of the clock before.

"He won't hesitate; I know Alfred Fluette. If you follow my instructions explicitly, the young lady will be Mrs. Royal Maillot by this time tomorrow night. If I'm not very much mistaken, he'll be the most astounded man in the world when you open the box. You want to do it, too—open it under his nose; dazzle his eyes—hypnotize him with its blood-red flame." He had been working himself slowly into a passion; now it ended in a violent outburst. "Make the old dog get down on his hunkers and beg, d'ye hear. Make him whine! Then close the box and put it in your pocket. . . . A 'hound,' am I?"

He sat silent for a while, then went on quite calmly, in his former concise manner.

"I'll give you a line over my signature—he has mighty good reasons for recognizing it on sight—so he can't dispute your right to bargain with him. Then—"

Maillot's eagerness and impatience were so intense that he had been unable to restrain himself when the old gentleman lapsed most vexatiously into a revery.

"Well?" Maillot had urged.

"Marry the girl. Then give Fluette the Paternoster ruby. Bring your wife to me—for after all is said and done, Royal, I'm a lonely old man. I'll see you started on a honeymoon that will make old Fluette open his eyes still wider. You never heard that I was stingy when I wanted to gratify a whim, did you? Well, it's my whim that this thing be done in the best style. I'll have to leave that part of it to you. You just go ahead and do the proper thing—and send me the bills. . . . Hound? Bah!

Mr. Page sat toying with the jewel-box many minutes before he expressed himself confident that Maillot would carry out his instructions to the letter; then, without warning, he pressed the spring and the lid flew open.

The gem lay between them like a splash of crimson flame.

CHAPTER VIII.

Maillot's Experience

"We must have made a Rembrandt-like picture"—to quote the young man again—"the two of us bending over this table by the light of a solitary candle. There was a wan reflection of the flame from the polished table-top, but elsewhere all was darkness and the shadows crowded in close. The most brilliant thing in the room was that wonderful jewel, glowing and scintillating like blood-red fire.

"It was considerably larger than the end of my thumb—as large as a big hickory-nut and, my uncle averred, flawless. Rubies of such size, and without a flaw are extremely rare, I believe; in fact, there are only one or two known to be in existence. The old gentleman declared that one of five carats was worth five times as much as a diamond of equal weight, and that the value increased proportionately with each additional carat.

"But I could only sit and stare at it and wonder, and now and then pinch myself to see whether I was in reality awake and not the victim of a fantastic Arabian Nights sort of dream."

After a while the conference between uncle and nephew ended. Mr. Page would not allow the young man to depart from the house at that hour of the night with the gem, pointing out (reasonably enough) that nobody but a fool would be abroad at such a time with five hundred thousand dollars on his person; though, in his anxiety to secure the ruby and be away before his uncle had an opportunity to change his mind, Maillot might have retorted that a fool would not have had it at all.

"There are men who have left no stone unturned to discover where I have kept this stone," Mr. Page had concluded, with a chuckle, "and they have by no means given it up yet." Then, with grim significance in view of the tragedy which so swiftly followed—"I'd have been murdered long ago, if it would have helped 'em to finding where I keep the stone hid." according to Maillot's description, and plainly showing the marks of age—was at last closed, and shortly the young man was shown to his room by Mr. Page.

Maillot declared that, ascribing the circumstance to reaction from the evening's powerful excitement, he almost immediately sank into a deep sleep.

Duke Is Bountiful.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—Christmas was spent quietly in the capital, the weather being against much outdoor enjoyment, being sloppy and mild. The churches were well attended.

At Rideau Hall H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught spent the season in old English style. Every employe was personally given the best wishes of the day by the Duke, who added something substantial to the handshake, the laborers got turkeys and wine, while others had money given to them, and higher officials stick pins with the Connaught monogram surmounted by the crest in precious stones.

His Royal Highness attended church twice during the day. Mr. R. L. Borden received many messages of goodwill by mail and wire, two being cables, one from Sir Joseph Ward and one from H. R. Fisher, Australian Premier.

Taken From Jail and Shot.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 26.—King Davis, a negro, aged 28 years, who last Saturday night shot and killed Frederick A. Schwab (white) at Fairfield, Anne Arundel County, was taken from the lock-up at Brooklyn, a suburb of Baltimore, at an early hour yesterday and shot to death by a small party of unknown men.

Davis, who was also known by the name of Johnson, was dragged to a spot about 200 yards from the station and shot through the lungs four times. His body was not discovered until several hours afterwards by a passer-by who notified the police. No all-night guard is kept at the station, and the police had no knowledge of the affair until the finding of the body was reported. Chief Irwin at once started an investigation. Up to last evening he said he had no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

Steamer Run Down.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 26.—Driven many miles off her course by a strong north-east gale and while trying to find her way, the barkentine Mabel Myers, from Searsport, Maine, to Richmond, Va., collided with the Royal Mail steamer Orotava, bound from New York to Havana, about 75 miles off Cape Hatteras early Saturday morning, according to advices received here. Neither vessel sustained serious damage, and after a few hours' delay, proceeded on their way.

The Orotava's passengers, who were asleep when the accident happened, were badly frightened, and they were quieted with some difficulty by the officers of the vessels. The Myers had her railing torn away for about twenty feet and several plates on the Orotava were slightly dented.

Col. Watterson expressed the belief that the long looked-for change of parties was at hand, but he has not declared his choice for the Democratic nomination.

Col. Watterson declared that in his opinion the Republicans could not elect either Roosevelt or Taft, and said the election of the former president, abrogating the third term tradition, would be a step toward absolutism.

MR. JAMES KENDREY WAS HONORED BY HIS EMPLOYES

Presented With Gold Headed Cane and Morris Chair.

A pleasing incident of the Christmas season, was the presentation to Mr. James Kendrey by the employees of the Auburn Mills of an address, a capacious and very comfortable Morris chair, and a very handsome gold headed cane.

Mr. Kendrey has been confined to the house during the last two weeks, and, while on the way to recovery, has not been able to reach the mill a thing that has not happened in many years.

Desiring to express their sympathy and to mark their recognition of the pleasant relations always existing between Mr. Kendrey and his employees, the latter arranged to have their expression of good will take tangible form. So the address was prepared, and the two handsome gifts sent to Mr. Kendrey without the formality of a deputation or committee accompanying.

Mr. Kendrey was impressed with this unlooked for action, on the part of the mill staff, and in a note, acknowledging the gifts and address, wrote of the pleasure it gave him and how much he appreciated what had been done, and hoped presently to make his acknowledgements in person.

Following is the address—

December 23rd., 1911.

Dear Mr. Kendrey—The magic of the East is descending like a veil upon us, shutting out the present, and the phantom of the past draws near smiling, wide-armed and crowned with living blossoms, adding one more year to its long years and seeking the promise of others. And we find ourselves at the hearth of the Yuletide, where the warmth and glow of the blazing log recall the kindly words and kinder deeds of one whom we would remember.

Over the stretch of years from childhood to womanhood and manhood you have followed, as seeking with untiring efforts to teach us to fill our days and years with honest purpose and faithful service, and your cooperation has won for you our strongest feelings of admiration and esteem.

To pick up, knot and tighten the severed threads—the inheritence of the loom—of our unfinished records, seeking, not shrinking, and retying them, warp and weft and continuing them in the pattern according to the design of the author and correcting the wrong beginnings. To find us with energetic instincts, good and bad, right and wrong, out of which are formed the acts which become habits, characters mature. To guide the machine which sometimes sews us in tangent patches on the crazy quilt of life, and to encourage us to stem the red mire of little difficulties and to come out into the sunshine, where honor is bright and the world awaits a happy conquest. And not only in our labors have you joined us but in the many pleasures which you have planned so bouteously and successfully.

Your forgetfulness of self in the performance of duty has taught us many lessons and the knowledge of your faithfulness will remain like a fragrant symbol of loyalty from the temples of memory.

Out of the cradle of our freshest thoughts, arises our appreciation of your many kindnesses and goodfellowships—its finest thoughts unspoken—and hope soon to be grateful with you for renewed strength to share your friendship with us."

The cane is a very handsome one, ornamented with a massive gold handle, chased and engraved with a suitable inscription. It was supplied to the committee by Schneider Bros. jewellers.; The chair, a very fine sample of library furniture, came from Mr. John Craig, Furniture dealer. The address, which was exceedingly well done, was prepared by Miss Ethel Miller, of the accounting staff of the mill office.

FINE OF $66 OR THREE MONTHS ON THE HILL

Fortune Tellers Received Stern Judgment in Police Court.

Costello and Blanchard, the fake fortune tellers, came up for sentence at police court this morning.

His Worship imposed a fine of, $66 in all. Blanchard had the necessary amount and handed it over. The alternative was three months in jail.

The Magistrate gave them a very scathing lecture. "You swindled people of the gullible kind, and it made you a common cheat, and the evidence very clearly proved you both guilty" he remarked at the conculsion.

DRUNK GOT HIS.

"Hoary-headed old fool," said Magistrate Dumble, addressing an old gray haired man who tottered forward, to answer to a charge of drunkenness on Saturday.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, he added further.

"I know I should, and I am, your Honor,' was the contribution from the guilty one.

"Well its $2, with ten days to pay it in,' was the judgment.

INDIAN FINED $5.75.

Edward Johnston, an Indian, charged with being drunk on Saturday, pleaded guilty.

"Are you a band Indian," asked the Magistrate.

"No," was the stoical reply. Edward appeared to be reluctant in answering questions as to his bringing up.

"I was born in Canada," was his indefinite answer to the question of where he was born.

"I have no home, I work in the shanties," he continued, when pressed.

When arrested by Detective Newhall on Saturday, the red-skin was pugnacious. The detective suffered irreparable damage to a $3 hat during the melee.

He told where he had secured his liquor and also the name of the bartender.

As he was not a reserve Indian, he did not come under the Indian Act, and received the regular fine with costs, namely $5.75.

SHOULD KNOW BETTER.

Two young men who are, two fond of liquor, one of the same being a black-lister, promised to sign pledges renouncing the habit forever, if his Worship would let them off at police court to-day.

Magistrate Dumble expressed his readiness to give them every chance to reform.

S. W. LOWRY DROPPED DEAD AT POCAHONTAS ALTA.

Lived Here Many Years and Conducted Weaving Establishment.

Telegrams were received in the city to-day telling of the death at Pocahontas, Alberta, of S. W. Lowry, who lived in this city for many years and conducted a weaving establishment. He dropped dead. The late Mr. Lowry left Peterborough two years ago, last August for the west on a harvesters' excursion. Up to last fall he worked as a carpenter for the C.P.R., out at the time of his death was employed in building operations, by Jasper Park Colliers. He was in the neighbornood of 49 years of age.

Mrs. A. F. Calder, of 387 George street is a sister. Another sister, Mrs. George Clemens, lives in Warsaw. There are two brothers, Messrs. W. H. Lowry, of Montreal, and Thos. Lowry, of Highland Grove. His niece, Miss Lila Calder, is employed at the Richmond studio.

It is not decided whether the remains will be brought east.

STOLE SUIT WHILE DRUNK

Two Youths Got Off With Fine of $16

At police court to-day two young men, one a well known local youth, and the other a Toronto lad, were jointly charged and found guilty of theft of a suit of ladies' garments from the front of Schwartz's ladies furnishing store, on Saturday.

Both were very badly intoxicated at the time, and G. N. Gordon, who appeared for the two, advanced that this fact should be taken into consideration by His Worship in the case, and also the fact that it was the first appearance in police sourt for either of them.

Detective Newhall made the arrest. They were assessed, however, $16.00 in all, to which was tacked a lengthy lecture delivered on the folly of their ways. His Worship pointed out what such an evil course, if followed, would eventually lead to

Harrisburg Lady Would Like to Learn Her Whereabouts

The letter given below was forwarded the chief a few days ago and although diligent inquiry was instituted, the whereabouts of the woman mentioned could not be located. The police authorities will be glad to receive any information relative to her:—

Harrisburg, Ont., P.O.,
Dec. 14, 1911.

Chief of Police,
Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Kindly oblige by ascertaining where Mrs. William Stewart, a widow lady, resides in your city. Her husband, when alive, was in the employ of the George Matthews Company. The lady has two boys. She is a small woman, dark complexion; probably gray now, as it is now some time since we last met. Then she was living on lower George street in a brick two-storey house.

I have been greatly worried over her whereabouts. You will do me a great kindness if it is in your power to locate her and send me her address as soon as possible. I remain,

Yours respectfully,

PETERBORO MAY BE MADE EASTERN TERMINAL OF THE NEW GEORGIAN BAY LINE

It is probable that this city may be chosen as the location for the terminals of the Eastern end of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new grain route from Georgian Bay to the main line. C.P.R. officials have the matter under consideration at Montreal and while no statement giving definite information is forthcoming, it is believed that this city has a good chance to obtain the terminals. At any rate Peterboro is the most sensible location for the terminals. They may possibly be built at Bethany, fourteen miles from here, where the new line joins the main Toronto-Montreal, but with a city of this size, easily reached it is not believed that the C.P.R. will build at Bethany.

If Peterboro does get the terminals it will mean that the C.P.R. will spend in this city during the coming year many thousands of dollars. There would have to be built a round house for locomotives, more sidings a couple of extra freight sheds and possibly several office buildings. It is understood that the C.P.R. intends to run grain passenger as well as grain trains between here and Port McNicholl (Victoria Harbor) which would necessitate extra staffs and extra facilities.

W. H. BRADBURN IS MAYOR OF THE CITY FOR NEXT YEAR

Mr. J. J. Hartley Did Not Sign Qualification Papers

Aldermanic Fight in Four Wards—The New Faces.

Qualification proceedings for the mayoralty and aldermanic candidates concluded at nine o'clock Saturday night, and the result is somewhat of surprise. Mr. J. J. Hartley failed to qualify and as a result Mr. W. H. Bradburn takes the Chief Magistrate's chair by acclamation. Another surprise was the withdrawal of Ald. Kerneghan, who was expected to run for a second term he having in the afternoon stated to the Review that he would again be a candidate in the North Ward.

Ex-ald Johnston only recently informed the Review that he would not consider his name to go before the electors in the event of Ald. Kerneghan being again in the field.

The new candidates are Ex-Ald. Johnston, W. G. Morrow, blacksmith, on Water street; Jas. Garside, plasterer, Ex-Ald. G. A. Gillespie, G. N. Gordon, Ex-Ald. Duffus, Wm. Langford, jr.; and H. C. Hill. This makes a fight in the South, Centre, West and North Wards, with the following candidates lined up:

SOUTH WARD—Ald. Buller and Jas. Garside.

CENTRE WARD—For regular term, Ex-Ald Geo. A. Gillespie and Ald. Metheral. For Ald. Bradburn's unexpired term, G. N. Gordon and W. G. Morrow.

WEST WARD—Joseph Duffus, Ald. Edgar and H. C. Hill.

NORTH WARD—W. J. Johnston and Wm. Langford, jr.

MEETING FOR THE POULTRY MEN

Making Ready for the Annua Show Next Month

The directors of the Peterborough Poultry Association, and all those having tickets, are asked to attend a meeting Wednesday night at eight o'clock in the store of the president, Mr. J. T. C. Lang. The society has arranged for a lecture on January 10 by Mrs. Wm. Dawson, of London, east, who is a

MR. J. J. HARTLEY WITHDRAWS FROM CONTEST

At a late hour on Saturday Mr. John J. Hartley, who had been announced as a candidate for Mayoralty honors, withdrew from the contest, leaving the field to Mr. W. H. Bradburn, and his election secure.

No doubt Mr. Hartley's reasons were sufficient to warrant the step. Had he stood in the field he would undoubtedly have polled a large vote, for of what use is a man's life in a community where he has earned respect and confidence if his fellow-of appreciation when he aspires to take part in public affairs.

But there is this point, and it no doubt had its weight with Mr. Hartley, that matters affecting the power interests of the city will be before the people, and will come to be handled by the City Council, and it would seem that those who are in touch with what is going on and have watched and worked are in a better position to handle such a matter than are those who step into the field, not having paid personal attention for some years to municipal matters.

THE FALL OF TROY

Everyone should see the magnificent pictures to be put on at the Princess Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 27-28. The first ever shown after many months of arduous labor, and the expenditure of $30,000. Its magnificence is beyond the wildest imagination. Its equal has never been beheld and will probably never be produced. 2d

G. N. GORDON FOR ALDERMAN

THE CENTRE WAR D

To the Electors of the Centre Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—As a candidate for Alderman for one of the two seats in the Centre Ward, I respectfully solicit your votes.

My platform is briefly this:

1. Obtain Hydro-Electric estimates and reports as to prices, terms, etc., of obtaining power for the City's manufacturers, and for house and store lighting.

2. Abate the nuisance caused by the G. T. R. using Bethune Street as a shunting yard, which injuriously affects hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of realty.

3. Obtain legislation allowing reduction of taxes on businesses and improvements, and increasing taxation of land values, thus making the holders of vacant land pay their share of taxes.

4. Have every milk vendor's milk inspected at least fortnightly, and a report with the milkman's name published showing the proportions of butter fat contained in each lot.

5. Consideration of the question of permanent improvement of highways.

6. Begin an aggressive campaign to obtain new industries, and inaugurate a strong publicity scheme.

There are two Aldermen to be elected for the Centre Ward: G. A. Gillespie is contesting one seat with J. R. Metherall, and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte Street, is contesting the other seat with me.

If elected, I will energetically support a progressive campaign for the City's advancement.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am,

Yours faithfully,

G. N. GORDON

JUST LIKE THE MAN WHO SIGNS A BLANK CHEQUE

The action of the City Council in asking the ratepayers of Peterborough to vote for a blind by-law was very well illustrated by one of the speakers at the Board of Trade meeting last week. He remarked that it was on the same principle as asking a business man to sign a blank cheque, leaving it to the person in whose favor the cheque was drawn, to fill in the amount.

Of course no one could expect any real business man to be guilty of such slack business methods. If he were, his business would last just about as long as a celluloid tom cat in a blast furnace.

And the ratepayers of Peterborough should not be guilty of such folly as giving to, not only the incoming City Council, but to succeeding city councils, unlimited authority in the matter of mortgaging the City to the extent of $500,000 or more.

This is not a question of cheap power—every person wants cheap power. It is simply and solely a matter of voting blanket authority, in this respect, to the City Councils of Peterborough for all time to come. The opponents of the by-law merely ask that the Hydro-Commission furnish the City Council and the ratepayers with an estimate of what the proposed scheme is going to cost, as well as the rate that the public may expect to pay for their light and power.

It is pretty generally known that the City Council did endeavor to obtain this information from the Hydro-Electric Commission, but they were refused it. They were told to go and pass the blind by-law—the by-law with a string to it.

And what is the by-law? The ballot, it is true, will look as harmless as a printed invitation to a kindergarten entertainment. However, it is more dangerous than it looks. It has a string to it. A glance at the Act dealing with the powers of the Hydro-Electric Commission reveals this beyond any question. The Act recites that upon the passing of a by-law of this description, the City Council, not this year's City Council alone, but any future City Councils, may enter into a contract for the purpose of developing electrical energy, no matter what the cost may be, and regardless of the fact that the vast majority of the ratepayers may be adverse to the terms of the contract.

In a letter to the press Mr. Langford declares this not to be the case. If Mr. Langford really thinks so, and he no doubt does, his source of information is unreliable. Even Mr. Bradburn, the newly elected Mayor, who is a supporter of the by-law, has admitted this to be the case.

But Mr. Bradburn says; "Trust the Council. They will do nothing that is not in the best interests of the people." The new Mayor's sublime confidence in the good judgment of the men who may constitute the City Councils of the City for the next 25 or 30 years is truly magnificent.

The one big question of the whole big question is as to why the people of Peterborough are asked to vote upon this by-law before the City Council has any information to offer them; and further, why when the City Council was determined to submit the by-law at the present stage of the proceedings, did they not set out therein that no contract involving the city in any expenditure on power development would be entered into by the City Council before it would be submitted to the people for approval.

Beyond any doubt the signing of a blank cheque by a business man would not be more hazardous than the passing of this by-law—this innocent looking blind by-law, which has a string attached to it as long as a comet's tail.—[ADVT.]

SUNDAY AT THE CITY CHURCHES

Special Services Brought Out Extra Large Congregations

Christmas Sunday of 1911 in Peterborough will be long remembered by the congregations of the many churches. Never before, it can be safely said, were the services so bright and so largely attended. The ministers of the city had brief messages of joy and glad tidings and the fact of the choir leaders having gone to considerabel pains to make the musical part of the services interesting, was largely in evidence. The special musical program was not confined to any one church but at all the congregations were treated to selections of a most pleasing character. People attended church last Sunday who were practical strangers so far as attendance and who can tell what the result may be.

CHIMES CHRISTMAS DAY

A pleasing celebration to the festivity of Christmas day, and Christmas eve as well, was the playing of the chimes, the first Christmas on which such an event has come about in Peterborough. It was quite in keeping with the stories of old country life and of Christmas observance that the chimes become a part of the observances of the occasion. The public are indebted to the gentlemen who gave gave up a part of the day to put the chimes in motion and add to the pleasure of the city generally.

Coal Results

¶ We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

Rosa Bonheur's Humble Lover.

When asked why she had never married Rosa Bonheur always answered: "Nobody ever fell in love with me. I have never been truly loved." More than one man, however, really worshiped her. But she inspired such deep respect that no man seems to have dared to reveal his feelings to her. There is a curious example of this fact, taken from the humble walks of life. On several occasions Rosa Bonheur had done service for a workingman who throughout his life spent his savings in buying engravings of her principal pictures and photographs of herself. His simple dwelling was a temple to her kindness. He described himself as "the earthworm in love with a star." The person here referred to—E. A. Bautray of Clermont-Ferrand—tells me that Rosa Bonheur once asked him why he was not married, and he replied by asking her the same question. Here was her answer: "Well, sir, it is not because I am an enemy of marriage, but I assure you that I have never had time to consider the subject."—"Reminiscences of Rosa Bonheur."

Paternalism In Groceries.

Paternalism with a vengeance is practiced in certain New York groceries. It is benevolent paternalism, though.

"Ma wants two pounds of sugar," said a child to a patriarch in the trade.

He consulted a calendar on the wall.

"I guess you'd better take only a pound today," he said, "and go kind of slow on that. The week is only half gone, but you have already eaten up three-fourths of your allowance. Tell your mother so."

The child promised to deliver the report on financial depression.

"That is the only way on earth to keep those people from running into debt," said the grocer. "The system is common in this neighborhood. I do it at the customers' request. Every pay day women with spendthrift husbands and an extravagant disposition of their own deposit enough money with the grocer and butcher to see the family through the week. They instruct us to let no one overdraw the amount, and except in cases where extra food is actually needed we stick to our end of the bargain."—New York Times.

Horrors of Bokhara.

The terrible deeds that once made Bokhara a byword are now prohibited by the Russian government. Prisoners are not permitted, for instance, to be dragged through the streets by galloping horses. Nor are they thrown from the top of the high tower called the Minar Katan. This was the usuall punishment meted out to evildoers in the old days. Watched by thousands of spectators, the poor wretches were flung from that giddy height on to the flagstones beneath.

Bokhara has many chambers of horrors, unwholesome for western eyes to see and the description of which would certainly be unfit for publication. Perhaps the most horrible of these is a pit where prisoners were tortured by vermin, which were so numerous and ravenous that in the absence of human prey they were fed on chunks of raw meat.—Wide World Magazine.

Disraeli and Goldwin Smith.

It may have been partly by suspicion of my possession of an unpleasant secret that Disraeli was moved to follow me across the Atlantic and try, as he did in "Lothair," to brand me as "a social sycophant." His knowledge of my social character was not great, for I had only once met him in society. His allusion to the "Oxford professor" who was going to the United States was as transparent as if he had used my name. Had I been in England, where my character was known, I should have let the attack pass, but I was in a strange country, where, made by a man of note, the attack was likely to tell. I therefore gave Disraeli the lie, and neither he nor any of his organs ever ventured to repeat the calumny.—Goldwin Smith in McClure's.

The Thimble.

About 200 years ago a London goldsmith called Trotting made and presented to the lady of his heart on her birthday anniversary a thimble of gold, beautifully ornamented and chased, accompanied by a note which introduced the little contraption as a "token of my humble esteem which shall protect those delicate, fair and industrious fingers from prick and scar of needle head." That was the origin of the thimble.

Fate of a Duchess.

We have had excellent morals drawn from the substantial waist of the Venus of Milo for the admonition of the fashionable woman. But what can we say about the Duchesse de Mazarin, who (G. Duval tells us in "Shadows of Old Paris") "died in 1775 from tight lacing, although she had posed for a statue of Venus?"

A Matter of Looks.

First Boarding House Keeper—I always keep my boarders longer than you do. Second Boarding House Keeper—Oh, I don't know! You keep them so thin that they look longer than they really are.—Boston Record.

He Got His.

Geraldine—You haven't been to see me since you asked father for my hand. Gerald—No; this is the first time I've been able to get about.—Human Life.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

Your Directors have pleasure in reporting that, as will be seen from the increased figures in the Balance Sheet, and in the Profit and Loss Statement, the Bank has shared substantially in the growth which has characterized the business of the country during the past year.

Branches have been opened since the last Annual Meeting at Eastview, Ottawa South, Ottawa East, Avonlea, Sask., Star City, Sask., Grenville, Que., Sudbury, Ont., Timmins, Ont., and St. James, Winnipeg, and it is the intention of the Directors to open additional offices in the near future in the Westerly and South-westerly parts of the City of Ottawa, and in Westboro.

Premises for the use of the Bank have been secured at Fourth Avenue, Ottawa, Fairmount Avenue, Montreal, Virden, Man., and Kinistino, Sask. Your Directors have also purchased the premises on Sparks Street immediately behind the present Head Office Building—for the purpose of enlarging the present Head Office building.

The usual inspections have been made of the Head Office and Branches, and your Directors have thought it advisable to anticipate the requirements of the proposed amendments to the Bank Act (a draft revision of which was made public some months ago), by having an independent audit made prior to this meeting, by a well-known and highly regarded firm of Chartered Accountants, whose certificate will be found appended to the General Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

The Directors desire to express their appreciation of the manner in which the Officers of the Bank have devoted themselves to the various duties assigned to them during the year.

GEORGE BRYSON,
Vice-President.

SCORE OF THE OPERA BALL TRANSMITTED OVER THE WIRES

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—An unprecedented telegraphic feat was performed between New York and Toronto yesterday, when the entire score of Marie Cahill's "The Opera Ball" was transmitted over the wires to replace the original music, which had been lost. A composer sat beside the operator in New York Conservatory, connecting the music into shape for transmission, giving the value and position of each note, while in Toronto another musician retranslated the telegraph copy into music. Miss Cahill and her company opened a week's engagement at the Royal Alexandra last night.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To The Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir—Will you be good enough to allow me the space to thank my friends for their kindness in nominating me on Friday last for the position of Mayor of Peterborough for 1912, and at the same time to express my appreciation to the many electors who volunteered and promised their support and influence. When first approached to contest the mayoralty I felt disposed to consent to the wishes of the deputations and felt that I might be able, if elected, to give the necessary time to the position, but on second consideration I felt that so much time would be required of me, and so much night work that I had better for this year, at least, give up the idea of contesting the position, and, as a consequence I did not qualify on Saturday evening. I, however, appreciate most heartily the honour done me, and at the same time I regret the circumstances that prevent my accepting the nomination.

Wishing all citizens the season's greetings, and many happy New Years, I am,

Yours truly,
J. J. HARTLEY.

PETERBORO SHOULD HAVE CHEAP POWER

Ald Buller sends to the Review the following communication, which speaks for itself:

To the Editor of the Review.

Peterborough, with the power in the city, should have electric power as cheap as any place in the Dominion.

This month a manufacturing company was written to from Peterborough regarding the location of their industry, and the reply was made that they had decided to locate in another city, and that "the deciding factor in locating has been the low cost of electric power, coupled with the shipping facilities." A further enquiry as to the cost there of electric power brought this reply:

"———Dec. 18th, 1911.

"Dear Sir,—

"We are in receipt of your favor of the 14th inst., and we may say that the regular price of City——and Power Company is $15.00 per h.p. per annum.

"Yours truly,
"The Canadian Brakeshoe Co.,
"Limited.
"P. McCULLOUGH,
"President."

The city should take advantage of the services and authority of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to obtain power that will be owned and controlled by the municipality for industrial purposes as well as for street and other lighting.

Yours truly,
W. BULLER

ENGLISHMEN HAD PLUM PUDDING

Good Time Provided by the St. George's Society

St George's Society gave a splendid banquet and concert in the S.O.E. hall last night, which was attended by over one hundred loyal sons of the mother country.

The gathering was a particularly festive affair, merriment and good fellowship being the noticeable features of the entertainment.

The banquet tables were loaded down with the best that could be secured in the way of palatable dainties, besides a generous supply of the more substantial kinds of nourishment, such as fowl, plum-pudding, etc. A splendid program followed the banquet.

A draw for a prize was conducted during an interval, it being won by Mr. J. John, the dummy prize of a doll going to Mr. A. Francis.

F. Dainton was an efficient chairman.

W. BULLER

METHERAL

FOR CENTRE WARD

TO THE RATEPAYERS,

Vote to re-elect Jos. R. Metheral as Alderman in Centre Ward.

I have been entrusted with your confidence for the past three years, and my record stands open before you. It may show no extraordinary ability, but an earnest endeavor to be straightforward and honest in all dealings. I have not been swayed by cliques or outside influences, but voted and worked at all times in the interest of the ratepayers in general and will continue to do so in the future if elected.

I would advise the ratepayers to vote in favor of the Hydro-Electric Commission by-law. I firmly believe that the Hydro-Electric Commission will give Peterborough power at rates considerably reduced from those at present in force, and I pledge myself that no contract for power either with the Hydro-Electric Commission or private corporation shall be agreed to by the City Council without a by-law to that effect being first submitted to the ratepayers.

Yours faithfully, Ladies and Gentlemen,

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

Looking for a progressive and prosperous year in Peterborough, and wishing all the compliments of the season.

SETTLEMENT LOOKED FOR IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS

Tang Shao Si Cables Reply to Message of Columbia University Chinese Students Expressing a Hopeful Opinion—Eighty Missionaries Reported Safe at Hankow—Proposal For Assembly Is Before Manchus.

New York, Dec. 27.—Settlement of the question of the future form of Government in China, now the subject of the peace conference between the revolutionaries and the Imperialists at Shanghai, is expected "within two or three days," according to a cablegram received here yesterday by the Columbia University Chinese Students' Club, from Tang Shao Si, the representative of Premier Yuan Shi Kai, at the conference.

The message is an answer to a long cablegram sent to Tang Shao Yi on Monday by the club in behalf of the Chinese students of the United States, which he was asked to deliver to the Premier, with a copy to Wu Ting Fang, chief of the revolutionists.

The students favored a republican form of government, giving several reasons therefore.

In reply the following cablegram was received:

"To the Chinese student body in the U.S., in care of Columbia University Chinese Student Club:

"Since I retired from public life I have long been indifferent to re-entering the official world. This time circumstances have compelled me, with my poor health, to come down to the south. I earnestly wish that the situation may be peacefully settled, and I wish to do my best to serve the people. I expect that a settlement will be reached within two or three days. Having received your cablegram despatched from afar, I take this opportunity to express my appreciation.

(Signed) "Tang Shao Yi."

Decide China's Fate.

Pekin, China, Dec. 27.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai has submitted to the more prominent Manchus here the proposal emanating from Shanghai for the meeting of a special national assembly in order to decide on the future form of government which shall be adopted for China.

This step taken by the Premier practically means that he asks the court to decide its own fate, because the members of such a national assembly would decide in favor of a republic.

If the Manchus agree to adopt the suggestion, their decision to do so will be promulgated as an edict, which in all probability will be made public in the course of the day.

Missionaries Safe.

Hankow, China, Dec. 27.—Eighty missionaries, a majority of whom are Scandinavian-Americans, have arrived here from the Lachow and Fancheng districts in the northwest of the Province of Hupeh. A few more still remain at Lachow awaiting the arrival of others from outlying stations. The missionaries were escorted from their station first by revolutionary troops and afterwards by Imperial Government troops. They report that the cities in the province are peaceful, but that the country is infested with robbers.

Consular reports from Chengtu, capital of the Province of Cze-Chuen, dated Dec. 5, say that complete anarchy prevails in the surrounding country. There has been much kidnapping and robbery and most of the people have buried their money.

The British consul at Ichang, in the Province of Hupeh, writing on Dec. 21, says that there is serious danger of an anti-foreign outbreak there.

PROBABILITIES

Thursday fresh westerly winds, fair and decidedly cold.

Late "Stunts"

Numerous small craft have been noticed on the Otonabee river during the past few days, although the occupants did not exhibit anything that looked like a parasol.

Detective Sam Newhall states that he noticed thousands of minnows in the water at the wharf yesterday and his intention to-day was to go a fishing with a crooked pin, just for the sake of novelty.

COUNT BONI HELD FAST

Vatican Declines to Grant Annulment of Marriage.

Rome, Dec. 27.—The Vatican has declined to grant to Count Boni de Castellane an annulment of his marriage with Anna Gould, who is now the Duchess of Talleyrand and Sagan. Countess de Castellane was granted a divorce from her husband and given the custody of their three children on Nov. 14, 1906. About a year ago Count Boni applied to the Vatican for annulment of the marriage.

For several months past the congregation of the council has had under advisement the process received from the Archbishopric of Paris concerning the case. When Mgr. Amette, Archbishop of Paris, came to Rome recently to receive the red hat, he gave to the Pope and Cardinal Gennari, prefect of the Congregation of the Council, all the details in his possession concerning the case and the situation of the parties involved.

Anna To Boni.

Rome, Dec. 27.—Count Boni de Castellane, the former husband of the present Duchess of Talleyrand and Sagan, whose maiden name was Anna Gould, being now in Rome in order to urge the granting by the Vatican of the annulment of his marriage, the Duchess of Talleyrand has expressed her desire to make public the following statement from Rome:

"I hope the count will succeed, as that would free me from all moral obligation to bring up the children in their father's religion.

(Signed) "Duchess Anna Talleyrand."

Canada's Open Ports.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—Foreign craft will continue to have free access to the coasting trade of Canada for another year at least. An order has been made by the Government, providing that vessels of not less than 1,500 tons from Italy, Germany, Austro-Hungary, and other European maritime countries, as well as Argentina and Japan shall be admitted to the coasting trade of the Dominion between Nova Scotia and Quebec on the same terms and conditions as Canadian vessels to the end of 1912.

Jim Hill the Ambitious.

Winnipeg, Dec. 27.—There is a rumor that the lake terminal of the Midland Railroad, under which name the J. J. Hill interests operate in Canada, will be between Port Arthur and Fort William. It is stated that already agents for Hill have secured options on property in that locality to the extent of hundreds of acres.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BRACE UP

The Hydro-Electric Commission has a message and a mission for Peterborough, and to the district as well. Are we deaf to that message and shall we ignore that mission?

Not by a jugful!

The Commission proposes to place us in the way of getting light and power at cost, to turn the energy of the water power site—which belongs to the people—into a tangible product, shorn of any charges for the middleman. The middleman will surely enhance to you the cost of light and power, just as surely as he does the cost of eggs and meat.

Let us restrain him—while there is time, and in the only way we can. And in a way sufficient.

Don't be frightened from the real point—reasonable cost power and light—by the bogey that Peterborough will have to pay for energy it cannot consume

The city pays over $9000.00 per year for municipal lighting now. Before the Hydro-Electric work is ready to supply current the city will be at revising its light contracts. Then the Hydro bred current will get in its work. More light for the same money—less money for the same light.

That is the end we are working for—as a municipality. We havn't worked zealously before, only in a half-hearted way. Now is the time to brace up.

Have we any sand? ...

Don't forget the big Power meeting on Thursday night.

BROCKVILLE'S MAIN HOTEL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Special to the Review.

Brockville, Dec. 27.—Fire this morning completely destroyed the Hotel Strathcona, the finest hotel of the town and also Mowat and Jackson's tailor establishment. The flames made rapid headway fanned as they were by the strong wind blowing. The fire was first discovered about five o'clock. About fifteen guests were at the hotel and all had time to escape with their belongings, except police magistrate Clarke, of Cardinal, who was taken out by the firemen in an unconscious condition. Proprietor Brown and his family saved only their personal clothing. The loss on the hotel and contents is about $75,000 with $35,000 insurance. Mowat and Jackson's loss is about $10,000, with insurance of one half.

COLD WEATHER IN ORANGE BELT

Smudging Operations to Protect the Crop From Frost.

Los Angeles, Dec. 27.—In many of the orange districts of Southern California Monday night's weather was the coldest registered in many years. In one section the mercury fell to 16 above zero, while in San Bernardino the thermometer registered 22 and in Riverside 20 degrees.

Persistent smudging probably has saved the growing crop from injury, but in some districts temperature is awaited with anxiety. What damage already has been done is not considered sufficient to bring the crop below the average.

There was a rise in temperature yesterday that encouraged growers to believe that the frost would not be severe.

Dined Together by Phone.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 27.—Although separated by 500 miles, Charles R. Anderson, a wealthy New York broker, and his wife enjoyed a Christmas dinner together by telephone. Mr. Anderson is at a Denver hotel and his wife in Salt Lake City, Utah. Telephones were placed at their respective dinner tables and waiters on extension telephones heard husband and wife order a menu together as if they had been sitting side by side. During the meal husband and wife kept up a constant conversation. Telephone charges brought the cost of the dinner up to $75.

Two Die In Cells.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Early yesterday morning the bodies of Lawrence Vale, 65 years old, who lived at Weston, and a middle-aged man, who is believed to be James Waterman, who formerly boarded at 302 Adelaide street west, were removed to the morgue by the police. Before their admission to St. Michael's Hospital both had been placed under arrest on charges of drunkenness.

Waterman was found lying in a doorway in Queen street, near McCaul, by Constable McLeod shortly before midnight, and sent in the patrol to the Agnes street station. Upon reaching there Sergt. McFarlane ordered his immediate removal to the hospital, where the man died about half an hour later.

After being discharged from the Court street station at 10 o'clock last night to enable him to get a car home, Lawrence Vale was re-arrested at 11.35 for being drunk at King and Sumach street. When he was brought to the station Sergt. Allison had him removed to the hospital. Vale died while being carried into the hospital. He was an exceptionally large man, weighing over 300 pounds, and kept a shoe repairing shop at Weston.

Inquests will be held to-day.

Big Lock-Out Inevitable.

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 27.—Nothing has happened to warrant the hope that the lock-out of 160,000 cotton workers in Lancashire can be averted. The lock-out is scheduled for today and officially both sides maintain an uncompromising attitude.

The weavers in the Helene mill at Accrington went on strike Dec. 20 because of the employment of non-union labor. Two days later the committee of the Lancashire Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Association decided to lock-out the workers in all the mills belonging to the federation, as a protest against the action of trade unionists in trying to get weavers to join their union.

Yesterday was a general holiday and few cotton men remained in Manchester. It was impossible to obtain the views of a majority, but among some there is a disposition to refer the dispute to the industrial council, of which Sir George Askwith, the noted strike settler, is president.

The Federation of Master Cotton Spinners will meet here to-day and, it is expected, in the event of a general shutdown of the weaving sheds, that they will propose the early closing of the spinning mills in Lancashire.

G.T.R. & C.P.R. AT LOGGERHEADS OVER FARES ON RAILROADS

Because C.P.R. Has Better Facilities For New York-Winnipeg Trip Charles M. Hays Starts a Movement to Divert the Traffic From New York Altogether — Western Roads Are Backing Him Up.

New York, Dec. 27.—Unless negotiations now being carried on in this city are successful, it is possible that passenger traffic for the Canadian West now coming to the port of New York will be diverted to other ports of the United States.

The Grand Trunk Railway System considers itself aggrieved because it cannot get the same terms for passengers to Winnipeg as are accorded to the Canadian Pacific, through the latter's connection with the New York Central's lines. Charles M. Hays is pushing the negotiations for his company and is said to have the backing of the various steamship companies arriving at this port.

The railroads west of Chicago are also favorable to the Grand Trunk view and other roads going out of New York are willing to co-operate, but the New York Central, which, so far, has, through its arrangements with the Canadian Pacific Railway, controlled this traffic, seems to be holding out against giving the Grand Trunk System any portion of this trade.

The Lehigh Valley connection of the Grand Trunk, with its 500 miles of double track leading out of New York City, could be utilized in carrying passengers to Chicago. Should the Trunk Line Association not meet the claims of the Grand Trunk, it is intimated that some of the steamship lines will land passengers at New London, Conn., where they will go west via Central Vermont direct over ...

If the bylaw carries, an additional forty bids will be given.

The County Council will supplement the city's expenditure by $15,000.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED

Woman Dies From Injuries Received at Boarding House.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Mystery surrounds the death of Elizabeth Follon, 11 Christopher street. The woman died in the General Hospital on Friday morning, twenty-four hours after having been removed there in a semi-conscious condition, by order of Dr. Robinson of College street, who was summoned to the house by Mrs. Stevenson of the General Hospital free surgery on Chestnut street. He found the woman suffering from injuries to the head. How long she had been in that condition and how she sustained the wound is baffling to the police, who fear that she has been the victim of foul play.

On Sunday evening, Dec. 17, around eight o'clock, about fifteen Italians gathered in the Christopher street house to enjoy the contents of a fifty-cent flask and have a merry time in general.

Elizabeth Follon was the only woman amongst the group, she being the mistress of the three-roomed house, two rooms of which she rents.

"Help! help! Andrew, help!" cried the woman about 8.30 o'clock.

Andrew Silvanio was sick in the front room and on hearing the woman scream, rushed to her assistance, but by the time he reached the room where the visitors were assembled, all was quiet and Andrew was forcibly hurled against the wall by some war-like gentleman.

Whether the woman sustained the injury to her head at that time or not is still a mystery. The post-mortem show that she had received a blow on, or struck her head against something.

There will possibly be an arrest made before the case is gone on with on Friday.

Berlin Men Injured.

Berlin, Dec. 27.—F. B. Hyatt, a life-long resident of this town, while coming out of The News Record office last night, slipped and fell, striking his head, rendering him unconscious. He was taken to the General Hospital and is in a serious condition.

Philip Gies, proprietor of the Peerless Leather Co., while overseeing some work yesterday was struck on the head with a piece of plank and became unconscious. He is improving, although not out of danger. His physician hopes for his recovery.

"Triangle" Case Goes to Jury.

New York, Dec. 27.—Taking of testimony in the trial of Isaac Harris and Max Blanck, proprietors of the Triangle Waist Co., charged with manslaughter in connection with the Asch building fire of last March, when 147 lives were lost, was completed yesterday, and the case will probably go to the jury late to-day after counsel have summed up.

Robert Wolfson, the firm's head cutter, swore yesterday that Harris had said to him after the fire: "Well, the dead must be buried, but the living must go on and live. Sure, the door was locked or they would have robbed me of my fortune."

Max Blanck was also questioned and like his partner, denied all the material charges brought against him by various witnesses during the trial, concerning issuing orders that doors should be locked to prevent theft and threatening to discharge employes, who testified at the trial against him.

Murdered Two Children.

Muskogee, Okla., Dec. 27.—Court enquiry into the conspiracy that resulted in the death of two negro children, who owned oil lands valued at $250,000, went forward rapidly yesterday. D. C. Allen, the negro accused of having killed the children, Herbert and Castella Sell, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

F. L. Martin and John Coombs, the latter a wealthy oil operator of Bartlesville, are accused of having had a part in the conspiracy against the children.

One white man has been convicted in the case. He is William Swin. It was charged he promised the negro Allen $2,000 to kill the Sell children.

The alleged conspiracy aimed at possession of the children's valuable oil lands.

Would-Be Mayor Illiterate.

W. Morgan Shuster Replies to National Assembly, Accepting His Dismissal But Demanding That His Successor Be Named Before He Hands Over Accounts—Another Attack on Indians Is Reported.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 27.—W. Morgan Shuster, the American treasurer-general of Persia, who has been dismissed from office by the Cabinet in compliance with the demands contained in the Russian ultimatum, yesterday sent his reply to the Cabinet, in which he stated his willingness to hand over his accounts when his successor was named. He added that his chief solicitude now was for the welfare of his fourteen American assistants, concerning whom nothing has yet been decided.

Meetings were held yesterday in the various mosques to protest against the action of the Government. The Minister of the Interior has issued an order that new elections shall be held as soon as possible.

Despatches from Tabriz report a temporary lull in the fighting. A telegram from Shiraz, Province of Fars, where a boycott has been instituted against the Indian troops, reports another attack on the Indians near Kaneroon, in which two Sowars were killed. The situation there is regarded as serious.

Russians Censor Despatches.

Washington, Dec. 27.—A cablegram received yesterday from American Minister Russell, at Teheran, dealt with plans being made to get Mr. Shuster and his family safely out of Persia.

The meagreness of the news that is coming to the outer world from the Persian capital has led to suspicion that a severe censorship is being exercised over the news despatches by the Russians, who control some of the telegraphic channels of communication.

Russians Deny Outrages.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The Russian consul-general at Tabriz has telegraphed yesterday to the Russian Foreign Office a vigorous denial of the charges of murder and outrage which have been launched against the Russian troops by the Persian authorities.

The consul-general says: "I protest against this infamous calumny on our troops, who have always treated the peaceable populace with humanity, notwithstanding the atrocities wrecked by the Persians on our wounded soldiers and the mutilation of our killed.

Troops For the Front.

Julfa, Persia, Dec. 27.—Another large force of Russian troops of all arms left here from their encampment in the vicinity of Ispahan for Tabriz yesterday.

The reinforcements consisted of three additional regiments of rifles, three squadrons of Cossacks and two mountain batteries, all at war strength.

Russians Lost One Hundred.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—A telegram from Tabriz says that the total loss of the Russians, killed and severely wounded in the recent fighting in that city, is about 100. Several bodies of Russian soldiers have been found partially burned.

The director of the Persian department of the Russian Foreign Office, in an interview yesterday, said that the Government was convinced that the Persian Government was not concerned in the anti-Russian outbreak at Tabriz or elsewhere. Those responsible were principally Armenians and criminals.

"Hands Up" at Tabriz.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The Russian consul at Tabriz in a despatch to the Foreign Office here, says that he has informed the governor that the disarmament of the populace is indispensible to the opening of negotiations. The governor has placarded the town in consequence of this, ordering the immediate surrender of all arms.

May Raise Duty on U. S. Cotton.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The proposal introduced in the Douma by ex-President Cuchkoff, providing for an increase in the duties imposed on American products imported into Russia, has stirred business circles. The national council of the Congresses of Industry and Commerce met here yesterday to discuss this important subject, while the central committee of the Octoberist party has been summoned to meet at Moscow.

M. Guchkoff explained yesterday that the proposed duty on American cotton signified a menace to the U. S. but that the measure will be subjected to serious consideration before it is adopted. The Douma has already voted to submit the proposal to the financial committee.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills. "For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Caution and Recklessness

The Montreal Star says:—Hon. Mr. Lemieux, in talking of Reciprocity the other night, made one very sage remark. H said that "the people had spoken and the people ruled." The sooner his party unite in coming to that sane and soundly democratic conclusion, the better will it be for them, for our responsible government, which depends upon the system of alternative parties, and for the nation which cannot afford to have any large section of its political leaders go fatally wrong. Mr. Lemieux also said that the defeat of Reciprocity was a triumph of fear over self-reliance. We had rather have written it, "caution over recklessness." When a nation of seven millions puts its fate in the keeping of a nation of ninety millions, which would profit greatly by absorbing the territory of the "silly seven," that is not "self-reliance"—that is suicide. Nor is the spirit which forbids such a step "fear"; it is the commonest of prudence.

A Modern Shipwreck.

In an account of the wreck of the sailing ship Carnarvon Bay on King Island, Australia, it is related that when the vessel struck the captain calmly took a cigar from his pocket, bit the end off and lit it before ordering the boats to be launched. Even this display of lack of fear did not entirely prevent some degree of panic among the men, however, and seven men pushed off in the port lifeboat, leaving twenty-two to scramble into the starboard boat. In spite of the captain's orders the men in the port boat refused to come alongside, and those in the starboard boat shouted that if they did not put off the masts would fall on them. Instead of hurrying to the boat the captain strolled to his cabin and collected his papers. After he had entered the boat he transferred five men to the port boat and made for Tasmania, 100 miles away. He and the mates steered in turn, while the men bailed with empty biscuit tins, and forty-eight hours later both boats reached land.—Chicago News.

was as exhausted," he amplified. "as if I had been all day digging ditches or shovelling coal. I could scarcely realize that my mission had succeeded; I feared the entire proceeding was only a stupendous, ghastly hoax, which my uncle had in mind, but to what end, or who the intended victim, I could not in the least conceive.

"And then came a crash that made me think the house had collapsed, and I knew I had been asleep. I was only dimly sensible that the noise, whatever its source, had been loud and decidedly out of place in this household at such an hour.

"I sprang from bed, and first thing banged against the door of a wardrobe, which had swung open. It nearly knocked my brains out, and hurt something awful. So I straightway forgot all about the noise, and after groping a while for matches, presently found one and lighted the candle. Then I filled the basin on the wash-stand and bathed my eye."

What followed was something more than corroborative of Burke's statement. After the secretary had rapped and Maillot thrown open the door, the latter was considerably surprised at Burke's very patent fright.

"The plain truth of the matter is that the fellow was in a condition of cowering terror," was Maillot's language, "and when I learned that he hadn't made the first move toward ascertaining the cause of the disturbance, why, I simply pushed him to one side and went to see about it myself.

"Burke disgusted me. He would neither approach the body nor allow me to get very far away from him; and when I broached the matter of going after help, he even went so far as to argue with me that there was no necessity for either of use leaving the house until daylight. The mere suggestion that he should wait here alone threw him into a blue funk; so I was finally obliged to tell him flatly, that if he didn't go, I would, and that he shouldn't follow me, either.

"Well, apparently he chose the lesser of two evils, and went to fetch the police."

I remembered Burke's reluctance to come down the front stairs, after I had sent Stodger to conduct him to me, together with my colleague's remark to the effect that "Burke didn't have much sand"; clearly, the secretary was a coward.

And now, too, I recalled the triumphant light in his pale eyes, while we were inspecting the concealed safe—the only time I had detected any expression in them—as if he had already anticipated the predicament Maillot would be in after relating his story of what had brought him to this house, and the occurrences of last night. How could he have had an inkling of all this?

However, at the time I didn't waste many minutes over an unprofitable mental catechism; there were other and more vital matters requiring immediate attention. I asked Maillot a good many questions, but elicited no further information germane to the tragedy. So I presently said:

"Have you any idea what your uncle did with the ruby after having shown it to you?"

"Well," he returned, with thoughtful deliberation, "there's the safe. I suppose, when he disappeared through the curtained alcove last night, he went at once to his bedroom, got the box from the safe, and when we saparated for the night—well, I don't know; I can't guess. When he left me in my room he was still carrying the box in his hand."

"You are positive of that?"

"Yes, positive; for after all that had happened between us, and knowing as I did what the box contained, I remember distinctly that I looked oftener at it than I did at him. The little leather box in his left hand is more vivid in my memory than any other detail of his appearance."

"But you can remember how he was dressed?"

"Oh, yes; just as we found him. After bidding me good-night, he certainly didn't go to bed as he announced he should; he couldn't even have started to undress."

I glanced in Miss Cooper's direction. Her blue eyes were regarding me with an expression of deep and interested attention, but they also yielded a faint light of some emotion which materially aided me to a decision. I can make my position clear only by briefly sketching what was going on in my own mind.

Why did I hesitate to decide between Maillot and Burke in charging one or the other of them with the perpetration of this crime?—for crime it was, beyond a shadow of a doubt. Well, there were several reasons, any of which was sufficient, to indicate what my attitude toward these two men should be.

In the first place, both had frankly and without the least hint of reserve respecting each other's attitude that I had been able to detect, told stories which they must have found beforehand would tend strongly to incriminate them; but notwithstanding this fact, they had given their accounts with a knowledge that if they maintained a strict silence, I must have remained unable to find this information otherwise. The hostility between the two—and I could not account for it—did not explain this willingness, because neither had made an open attempt to direct suspicion toward the other.

I make a possible exception here: Burke's enigmatic conduct while we were examining the hidden safe might be construed as innuendo deliberately planned. On the other hand, if he were innocent, and considering that the two had been alone, then he might honestly have believed Maillot to be guilty, but was reluctant to make a charge which he was unable to defend with tangible proof. The circumstance of their stories agreeing in all essentials verified my conclusion that both had told the truth; still it was possible that either of them might not have told all the truth.

Again, I was convinced by the manners of both that there was more behind the tragedy than had been made to appear, excepting by the haziest sort of allusion; a potential factor whose existence had been barely suggested, whose nature remained entirely obscure. On the surface it looked as if somebody had slain Felix Page and stolen the ruby. Simple enough. But was this all? I was sure not.

The point, though, that I wish to make is this: whatever the prime motive for the murder might have been, Maillot had not the slightest idea respecting it, nor did he even suspect that such a motive existed. He was still too dazed from the whirl of events of the past twenty-four hours to consider the matter in any other light than the way in which it most nearly affected himself.

As for Burke, I was pretty much in doubt. I felt that he knew something that he was keeping in reserve, but what it might be or how to get hold of him and force the information from him I did not at this stage know.

If anything at all about the puzzle was clear, it was that the two had not and were not working together. Individually, the evidence—such as it was—more strongly indicated Maillot. It was at this moment that I looked toward Miss Cooper and decided.

"Maillot," said I, tersely, "it's up to you and Burke to submit to a personal search."

He flushed hotly, but maintained his attitude of calm. I did not dare a glance in Miss Fluette's direction.

"Candidly," I added, "I don't think you have the ruby—for that matter, I don't think Burke has either. But such a proceeding is only fair to me, for if I turn you two chaps loose I'm taking all the chances. I ought to be bundling you both off to jail; I don't want to do that, you see, and I deserve some sort of—"

"Enough," Maillot cut in. "I believe you're a good fellow, Swift; I have no objection to you going over me with a microscope."

He rose at once, extended his arms above his head to facilitate my task, and even essayed a bit of banter at my hesitating to begin.

In truth it was hard enough to do; the presence of the two girls made the operation not only doubly disagreeable, but extremely embarrasing as well. Miss Fluette's cheeks were hot with indignation, her hazel eyes snapped. She made no comment—thank goodness!—but it was plain to be seen that she restrained herself only with the greatest efforts. I am pretty adept at "going through" a man; and while in the present instance it required but a few moments to satisfy myself that Maillot could not have the gem, I was all the while acutely sensible of a little foot tapping nervously beneath the table and an angry look searing my offending back.

"There!" I ejaculated at last, with an attempt at making light of the matter and at including Miss Cooper and Miss Fluette as recipients of my apology. "If you'll only lose sight of the man in the instrument, you'll forget the liberty, Maillot.

"You may go; but let me tell you"—I eyed them all seriously—"prepare for a grilling at the inquest. I would advise you to be frank, as you have been with me; the instant a jury feels that answers are being dragged from a witness they straightway receive a bad impression. I'm sure Miss Fluette would far rather put up with unwelcome publicity, than that you should suffer through any quixotic ideas of shielding her name."

He took it all as I intendedd the should, but never a sign of approval did I get from the two pretty girls. With my concluding words Miss Fluette thrust a hand under Maillot's arm and gave it an affectionate little squeeze.

Before the door closed, Miss Cooper's head bent and she glanced back at me across her shoulder. She was much the more beautiful of the two.

CHAPTER IX.
Tracks in the Snow

I knew that Royal Maillot appreciated his position as well as I did myself; and I felt perfectly secure in granting him his liberty. In truth, I had a certain policy in doing so. He might possible have slain his uncle; if so, however, the act had not been premeditated, but the result of a sudden uncontrollable outburst of passion, and he was not the sort of fellow who would run away from the consequences, however severe they might be. The effects of my friendliness and my willingness to take him at his word were plainly demonstrated by a gratitude which was the more convincing and trustworthy by reason of its not being outspoken. If he was keeping anything back, I was adopting the surest means of forcing his confidence.

And I meant, too, before I was through in this house of death, to send Alexander Burke about his business. My plans concerning that gentleman, however, included an espionage that would record every detail of his conduct for some days to come.

During the time I was with Maillot in the library, a number of Mr. Page's business associates had gathered at the house for the purpose of performing such offices as they could. Among these was Mr. Ulysses White—of White, Stonebreaker & White—Mr. Page's attorney. This gentleman informed me that he was quite certain the millionaire had never made any testamentary disposition of his property, in which event Maillot would inherit the whole estate. This was a contingency which the young man had already mentioned, and for a few minutes its reiteration made me grave.

After spending some unprofitable time with the assembled gentlemen—all men of affairs who were impatient to be off—I sought out Stodger, finding him engaged in conversation with the coroner's deputy, a talented and ambitious young physician of the name of Wentworth De Breen. Later on Dr. De Breen and I became warm personal friends, and I shall have much to say of him before concluding these "Reminiscences."

He and I went together to the landing to inspect the body, for there were one or two matters concerning which I was desirous of his opinion. Dr. De Breen was a blunt, abrupt young fellow, not given much to conversation upon topics outside his profession, and even then his remarks were invariably terse and much to the point.

He was very near-sighted, and while he persisted in wearing nose-glasses, it seemed impossible for him to obtain a pair that would remain on his nose for more than a minute at a time. They were saved from destruction by a black silk cord; and there was something in the way with which he would adjust them and fix his attention upon a person or thing, which made you feel that whatever escaped his scrutiny must be surpassingly minute. And such, indeed, was the fact.

Oddities of Cecil Rhodes.

He possessed few intimate friends, and not even to all of them did he disclose his hand. Mere acquaintances disliked his moody silences, varied with fits of rather boisterous fun. They considered him exclusive, morose, rough and overbearing. And it must be admitted that he was a good hater, violent when thwarted and at times blunt to the point of rudeness. It is difficult to be sufficiently unconventional to shock a mining camp, but he shocked it. In dress he was almost disreputable. He seldom took pains to ingratiate himself with any one, and a man who too openly scorns his fellows must expect to suffer social ostracism and to have his character traduced. It would be idle to deny that for a time there were unfavorable rumors in circulation regarding him or that he was in many circles unpopular. But, like Gallio, he "cared for none of those things."—Sir Levis Michell.

A Command In the Navy That Is Quickly Obeyed.

In the accounts of the collision between the gigantic White Star liner Olympic and H.M.S. Hawke, it was set out that as the cruiser came into harbor after the accident "her collision-mat was in position." The collision-mat is a kind of temporary covering for a gaping hole.

Collisions mostly occur, of course, in foggy weather. It is an eerie sensation to stand on the deck of a cruiser as she feels her way along in a fog.

All round can be heard the clang of bells and bleating of syrens from fog-bound craft—sounds which we in turn answer.

All at once the mist swirls away, according to its strange habit, and a clear expanse of lead-colored sea is visible on the starboard bow. The glimpse is only momentary, but it serves to show the outline of a great battleship bearing down upon us.

Instantly, on board us all is orderly confusion. The bugle sounds "Collision Quarters." Every man knows what to do, and how to do it; it has been done as a drill so many times.

The commander, armed with a megaphone, issues sharp orders in rapid succession—orders that are executed at the double.

Then various petty-officers step up to the commander in turn, and report: "Lower deck cleared, sir!" (which means that every officer and man not on duty in the engine room department is at his station on the upper deck); "A and B doors closed, sir!" which means that all the water-tight doors being fast shut, the ship is now divided up in a number of air and water tight compartments).

All this has taken, perhaps, some three minutes to carry out.

Meantime, our engines have been reversed, and so, we hope, have those of the approaching battleship. Suddenly she looms up out of the fog, right upon us, and, more quickly than it can be written, her bow is rending its way through the plating of our starboard side.

If her look-out had not seen us, and if her engines had not been reversed, she would have cut her way right through us. As it is, the ships hang together for a tense moment and then, under the influence of their reversed engines, gradually draw apart.

There is a rush to examine our damage, which is patent enough. A large hole reveals itself just abaft our starboard hawse-hole, through which the green water is pouring into us in a broad, gleaming stream. "Out collision mat!" comes the order—an order that every one of us clearly understands.

The collison mat itself is an enormous square contrivance, in appearance something between a gargantuan gymnasium mat and a huge ship's fender.

On each of its four sides two stout ropes are fitted. Two of them are passed under the ship's bottom—a feat requiring some considerable skill—and brought up on the other side, and, by manoeuvring with the four pairs, the mat is hauled into position over the gaping rent in our side; the rush of water itself forces it into the hole, and so the leak is stopped.

The pumps are then got going, and the flooded compartment is rapidly emptied.—London Answers.

THE GOOD OLD SUN

W. LYMAN HUME, Esq., M.D., says:

I took my last policy in the "Sun Life" five years ago. You may think how agreeably surprised I was to receive your letter of the 28th ult., informing me that my share of the profits earned by my Policy during the last five years amounted to $205.80 IN CASH; or if I preferred they would give me $46.65 a year for for the next five years, to be used as an annual reduction of my yearly premium; or better still they would increase my policy by $311.00, making it worth $5,311 instead of $5,000, upon which I would continue to pay the old premium. This is the option I have chosen.

Suppose that instead of insuring I had placed the amount of my premium $277.75, in the Bank each year, and had allowed the interest to be compounded for five years at three per cent., the interest allowed by all safe, conservative Banks. What would be the results? To-day I should receive $130.11 as the accumulated interest from the Bank, instead of $205.80 from the "Sun Life," a difference of $75.70; but in addition to this the Company has carried the risk on my life for $5,000, which they might have been called at any time to pay.

This is in marked contrast with the so-called Fraternal Societies. I have a policy of $1,000 in one of the best of them; I was notified the other day that my policy would be reduced one-half, or my premium doubled. The "Sun" increases my policy, or reduces my premium; the Fraternal Society reduces my policy or increases my premium; it should not be a difficult matter to choose which is the better system of the two.

The "Good Old Sun," may it never set except to rise again with increased effulgence!

THE CITY COUNCIL ARE QUIBBLING WITH RATEPAYERS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., in addressing the Board of Trade the other evening, gave the legal opinion that if the electors vote "yes" upon the Power By-law, that then the City Council would be authorized and empowered to enter into any contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission that they see fit, and to legally bind the town to pay for whatever the Council agreed to pay. That is to say, if the electors vote "Yes" upon this by-law the City Council can without any further authority from the ratepayers enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission that would obligate the city for at least a half a million dollars.

The City Council in their address to the electors say: "The City Council cannot borrow money for this purpose without again submitting the matter to the ratepayers."

That is a quibble that is only worthy of some goldbrick shark. The goldbrick shark says to the farmer. "Enter into this contract and sign this note; it is not a mortgage on your farm." The farmer takes him at his word. The note becomes due The farmer is sued upon his note and the sheriff puts a lien on his land.

The Council in adopting the latest goldbrick method says to the ratepayers, 'Vote for this by-law. The Council cannot borrow money for this purpose without again submitting the matter to the ratepayers," to raise money on debentures.

But the City Council can enter into a contract under the present by-law making the town liable for $500,000.00 or more. Suppose the ratepayers do not pay. The court and the Sheriff will find a way to place a lien upon the town that will be as good as any debentures without any further vote of the ratepayers.

The City Council are treating the ratepayers like a pack of children in this transaction. It is not necessary for the Council to quibble with the ratepayers. The fact that the City Council are quibbling with the ratepayers in this transaction is the best reason why they should not be given any such authority.

If they are quibbling innocently, then they are a pack of incompetents. If they are quibbling to intentionally mislead, then they are equally unworthy of confidence.

The City Council should treat the ratepayers with respect. Before asking the ratepayers to vote upon this by-law they should have submitted an estimate showing what it is going to cost the town, showing what they can sell light for, and show what surplus quantity of power they would have on hand to attract new industries.

And still more important, they should show how the loss on such surplus power is going to be made good. For instance, if the City Council Council have 2,000 surplus horse power on hand and unused, that will have cost the city at least $13.00 per horse power on 2000 horse power.

A school boy can calculate a loss of $26,000.00 a year. It takes a good many tax bills in this town to make up a loss of $26,000.00 a year.

It is a serious matter for the ratepayers to trust a quibbling council.

It has kept the City Council busy to keep the dust down on George street. They had better show the ratepayers that they have the ability to keep the mud off George street first before asking a free hand to enter into a contract involving nearly a half million dollars.

Yours truly.

POSTIES DID THEIR WORK WELL

Had Busy Time and Were Well Treated by Citizens

The valiant and arduous efforts of the post-office mail carriers during the Christmas rush, has been most highly spoken of, and so far no complaints of any description have been heard of non-delivery.

Each of the postmen were allowed $5 to engage a boy to help them in their delivery, but three of the staff found that such assistance was insufficient and were compelled to engage at their own expense horses and rigs with which they managed to get everything delivered in good shape.

The postmen were most hospitably treated on their rounds and received many varieties of Christmas cheer.

"If the wind had only blown the other way," was a most applicable saying about to-day's boisterous breeze. Probably the pedestrian thought so who lost his hat on George street to-day, and while giving chase up the middle of the road, was subjected to the merry ha! ha's of other passers-by. It was a case of "he who laughs last, laughs best," however. While one merry one was laughing at the first one's mishap a mighty gust lifted his own top-piece and carried it swiftly up street. The King's Daughters wish to thank all those who so kindly contributed and made it possible for them to send Christmas cheer into sixty-five homes during the past week, an increase of fifteen over any previous year. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To The Editor of The Review,

Sir—Do not the ratepayers see where the opposition to the Hydro-Electric power vote is coming from? Money is being expended in opposing the vote. Only the power monopoly interests would spend money for this purpose. The people, I hope, will not be influenced by the power interests to vote against the interests of the city and all in it who use light or power.

The monopoly can have clever articles written and published. They have plenty of money to do it with. The trust is one backed by millions and can pay for the best lawyers and other assistants to put up a fight for them.

But the question is so plain that no one should be misled.

In whose hands do the ratepayers think their power and light interests will be safer—in the hands of the power monopoly or of the people's Commission and Council? The power monopoly want to hold the whole market for themselves. They have gobbled the power sites and other companies for this purpose. If they can hold the market, they will compel the people to take light and power from them only, and reap handsome profits on their millions at the expense of the people.

The Hydro-Electric Commission is the people's Commission. It does not, and no member of it does, make or lose a cent whether the people take power from it or not. It exists only to serve the people.

By the power vote on New Year's Day, the ratepayers will say either that they will ask the aid of their own Commission, the Hydro-Electric, or that they will be content to remain in the hands of the power monopoly, which is spending money to hold them in its clutches.

Yours truly,
GEO. H. DUNCAN.

WITH A BIG MUZZLE SLAMMED TIGHT ACROSS HIS FACE

That is the position in which each ratepayer will find himself when the City Council attempts to make a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission, in the event of the power by-law having been carried on Monday next.

He will have nothing to say about it whatever. The City Council of next year, or in any future years, may, in their wisdom, burden the municipality with an additional debenture debt of half a million dollars for power development, with no guarantee that light and power will be any cheaper to the public than it is to-day, and although the vast majority of the ratepayers may not be in sympathy with the terms of the contract, they can do nothing to prevent its being carried out. It will be entirely out of their hands. They will be muzzled—muzzled by their own action in voting for the simple looking little blind by-law—the by-law with the string to it.

As some of the supporters of this by-law are stating that it will be necessary for the Council to come back to the ratepayers before any contract can be legally signed, it might be well to examine the Act and amendments thereto, under which the Hydro-Electric Commission operates.

It will be found that some few years ago it WAS NECESSARY for the City Council of any municipality, in dealing with the Hydro-Electric Commission, to first obtain certain information upon which a provisional contract would be framed. The Council would then submit the provisional contract to the ratepayers for approval or disapproval, as the case might be. This is known as the Act of 1907. Sections 12 and 13 thereof are as follows;

12. "Any municipal corporation may apply to the Commission for the transmission and supply to the corporation of electrical power or energy for the use of the corporation and the inhabitants of the municipality for lighting, heating and power purposes or for any or either of such purposes or for any of the purposes mentioned in section 14, and The Commission shall thereupon furnish to the corporation a statement of the maximum price per horse-power at which the electrical power or energy will be supplied at the point of development or of its delivery to The Commission and an estimate of the cost of constructing or providing a transmission line by means of which the amount of electrical power or energy required by the corporation is to be supplied and of maintaining the same, and may furnish to the corporation plans and specifications of the works, plant, machinery and appliances necessary for the distribution of such power or energy by the corporation and an estimate of the cost thereof, and such other information as The Commission may deem advisable. The Council may thereupon enter into a provisional contract with The Commission for the supply of electrical power or energy for the purposes mentioned in this Act.

13. (1) The provisional contract shall not be binding upon the corporation unless and until a by-law approving the same has been submitted to and has received the assent in accordance with the provisions of The Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, of the electors qualified to vote on by-laws for creating debts, and the estimates of The Commission or a summary thereof and a copy of the provisional contract shall be published with or form part of the by-law.

(2) After the provisional contract has received the assents of the electors and has been executed by the corporation and approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, The Commission may carry out and execute the same and shall have power and authority to do all acts necessary for that purpose."

No doubt Mr. Langford and others who are supporting the by-law are under the impression that it is these clauses under which the City Council is to-day working, Such, however, is not the case, and it is on this vital point that the advocates of cheap power and light break away from each other.

In 1909—just two years ago—an amendment to the Act of 1907 was put through the Legislature, and this is the string to which we refer as being attached to the by-law in question. By referring to section 2, of the Hydro-Electric Commission Act, chapter 19, 1909, we find this important amendment:—

"Where a municipal corporation not a party to the contract set forth in schedule A, as varied by this Act applies for a supply of power and a question has been heretofore or is hereafter submitted to the vote of the electors of the municipality pursuant to paragraph a of section 533 of the Consolidated Municipal Act 1903, and the amendments thereto, including the amendment made during the present session as to a supply of electric power from the Commission and the electors have voted in favor of a supply from the Commission, the Council of the Corporation of such municipality may authorize the entering into and such corporation may enter into a contract with the Commission in the form set forth in the said schedule or with such variations thereof as may be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, without submitting a by-law approving the same for the assent of the electors as provided by sub-section 1 of section 13 of The Power Commission Act, and when executed such contract shall be legal, valid and binding."

The ratepayer, or anyone else who declares that the City Council MUST come back to the people for the approval of any contract they may enter into, is stating what is not in accordance with the facts of the case. The fact of the matter is that the ratepayers are muzzled—bound hand and foot, and can have nothing further to say on the power question. This is not the way in which the towns in western Ontario were treated. They had some idea as to how much the undertaking was going to cost them. Their contracts were of a provisional nature, and did not become legal and binding until the consent of the ratepayers was received.

Surely the ratepayers of Peterborough are not going to have a big muzzle slammed tight across their face.—ADVT.

APPLICATIONS FOR WORK ARE MANY

"I have had more applications from laboring men for work lately than I have had during the past four years at this season of the year," said G. H. Howson, immigration officer to a Review representative to-day.

"The reason for it, is, I think," he added, "that no big construction work such as dams, bridges or buildings, are at present under way, as these usually furnish work of the laboring kind.

PLAYING RULES FOR O.H.A. HOCKEY

Loafing Offside Strictly Prohibited —Referee is Supreme

Secretary W. A. Hewitt, of the O. ..A., has issued his annual instructions to referees as follows:

A referee may be an amateur or a ...rofessional.

H... is to appoint the goal umpires ...nd may remove them at any time.

The referee decides when a goal ...all count. The goal umpire merely ...eports when the puck goes in the ...t from in front and below the top ... the net.

All games must be played to a fin...h except in two club groups where ...tal goals count.

Each player must have a certificate, ...d must answer to his name on the ... before play commences. Don't ne...lect this.

The referee shall have absolute con...rol of the game; his decision is final, ...d there can be no appeal.

Each club is to appoint a time...eeper, and the referee will appoint a ...enalty timekeeper. When timekeepers ...sagree the referee will decide.

The referee shall start play by drop...ng the puck between the sticks of ...wo players, one from each team, who ...ust keep their sticks on the ice. A ...ayer disobeying this rule should be ...led off.

The puck may be stopped with the ...and, but not carried or held by or ...nocked on by any part of the body.

LOAFING OFF-SIDE.

Loafing off-side should be strictly ...ohibited. A player must always be ... his side of the puck, and must ...ate back with the play as fast as ...ssible; otherwise he will be ruled ...f.

A player on the defending team is ...t off-side when he takes a pass or ...ays the puck as it bounds off his ...oal-keeper within a space of three ...et, out from the goal, and extending ... the side of the rink.

Charging from behind, tripping, col...ring, kicking, cross-checking, or ...shing is not allowed. Offending play...s will be ruled off.

When a defending player deliberate... commits a foul to prevent a score the referee is not to stop the play until that play has been completed.

Hockey sticks must be entirely of wood, with tape binding permissable, and not more than three inches wide at any part, and not more than 13 inches long at the blade. No player shall raise his stick above his shoulder.

The goal-keeper must not, during play, lie, sit or kneel upon the ice, he may stop the puck with his hands, but shall not hold or throw it. He may wear pads, but must not wear a garment such as would give him undue assistance in keeping goal.

FACED OFF.

When the puck goes off the ice behind the goal line, it is faced off five yards out, and on a line at right angles to the goal line. When it goes off the ice at the side it is to be faced three yards from the side. When it hits the referee play ceases, and the puck is faced where the accident occurs.

No goal shall be scored when the puck strikes the iron cross-bar at the top of the net and bounces over.

The home club shall furnish the goal umpires with small white flags, to be raised when a goal is scored.

There shall be no off-side interference or obstruction. The penalty is the same as for playing the puck when offside. Any player persisting is to be ruled off.

A player off-side may be put onside when one of his side skates in front of him either with the puck or having played it when behind him.

Goal nets are to be four feet high and five feet wide. This means four feet from the ice all the way across. See that the nets are in good shape before starting the match.

It is imperative that a dark distinguishing line be drawn on the ice between the centre of each goal post. Hold the home team responsible.

All matches are one hour, exclusive of stoppages, each team playing an equal time from end to end, with ten minutes rest at half-time.

CANADIAN LEAGUE BALL

Abbie Johnson is Here to Boost the Baseball Game

Canadian League baseball for Peterborough. That is the movement on foot at the present time, and Mr. Abbie Johnson dropped into the city to-day to talk on the proposition.

Mr. Johnson had charge of the Guelph team for the early part of the season of this year, and is confident that Peterborough would be a good stand for a team to figure in the Canadian League, which, by the way, caused some excitement and provided good baseball during the past summer. He will be here for several days, and hopes to meet as many of the local enthusiasts as possible.

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

PRESENTATION TO SMITH PEOPLE

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Campbell Honored by Their Friends

Saturday evening, Dec. 23rd, was the occasion of a very pleasant event at the home of Mr. A. H. Campbell, of Smith. A large number of friends and neighbors gathered to express the esteem and good will of the community to Mr and Mrs. Campbell and to make a presentation. The earlier portion of the evening was spent in music and friendly conversation and was much enjoyed. A very appreciative address was read by Mr. John Darling, and Mr. J. Herbert Darling made the presentation. The ladies who had provided light refreshments, served cake and coffee about eleven o'clock. After singing Auld Lang Syne the gathering dispersed.

The following is the address which was ably responded to by Mr. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Central Smith;

Dear Friends.—It is with pleasure mingled with regret, that we your friends and neighbors of Central Smith, gather at your home this evening to express to you our high esteem and to give you God-speed on your approaching removal from our neighborhood. During the nine years of your residence amongst us, we have been gratified with genuine satisfaction, both in our business and social relations. In the cheese and butter factory we have found you, Mr. Campbell an industrious, honorable man, capable in your work and painstaking in your efforts to make the business a success. In our many social gatherings we have enjoyed your company and assistance. In the latter we refer to Mrs. Campbell also who enjoys the confidence of us all.

As a token of our esteem, we ask you to accept this silver tea service and these gold coins, hoping you may often be reminded of the hospitality that awaits your future visits to the homes of your many friends in Smith.

As you enter upon your new enterprise at Harwood, may God's blessing rest upon your efforts and may the coming year be a happy and prosperous one.

Signed on behalf of this gathering.

Consumption May Yet be Wiped Out

A DECREASE OF NEARLY 40 PER CENT. IN DEATH-RATE

The following is a letter of appeal sent out to his fellow-citizens in all parts of Canada, by Mr. W. J. Gage, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Sanitarium Association. The letter tells its own story, and is surely timely at this Christmas Season:—

Toronto, December 21st, 1911.

Dear Friend,—

Each Christmas seems to call for an increasingly urgent appeal to the people of Canada to help those who are sick in our Consumptive Homes in Muskoka.

The trustees during the year have been piling up a large debt in caring for the 300 consumptives in our Homes in Muskoka and near Toronto. They have been looking forward to this Christmas time in the hope that generous people would gladly help to share the burden.

Since our work was started in 1896, wonderfully encouraging results have been shown in a decrease of nearly 40 per cent. in the death-rate from consumption.

Not only must the trustees provide a very large sum for maintenance of the sick ones, but provision for still further accommodation must be made.

A bright young girl came to our Muskoka Home, and when advised by the Physician-in-Chief that there was no room, with tears streaming down her cheeks, she said, in the presence of one of the trustees: "Where am I to go, what am I to do, doctor? My own friends do not want me—my sisters will not kiss me."

Will you help to answer this poor girl's question?

Christmas of all seasons is the time to remember the poor and suffering. It was the Christ way. May it become ours. May we have your help this Christmas season?

Yours sincerely,

W. J. Gage

TEN DON'TS FOR THE YOUNG MEN

Don't Call Father "The Old Gent" One of Them

Brockton, Mass. Dec. 27—The Rev. Dr. Albert Marion Hyde, of the Porter Congregational Church, whose suggestions for wives two weeks ago were widely discussed and replied to has given the following ten suggestions for young men, his subject being: "Ten Don'ts for Young Men."

"Do not speak of "the old gent' and 'the old woman'; fathers and mothers are a necessary evil in the present system of things. They have spoken respectfully of you when outsiders could not see anything on which they could hang even a small compliment.

"Do not give all your attention to the education of the brains on the outside of your head. Football hair and a letter on your jersey are not a sufficient training for life. The young fellow who is old-fashioned enough to go to school for study still has a place in the world.

"Do not invest your nickel in a glass of beer, then afterward criticize the other fellow who has invested his nickel in a savings bank. Beer cheques and savings bank cheques as investments are not in the same class.

"Do not put the money of your tailor and your washerwoman in $5 opera seats and $2 theatre tickets. They may prefer to spend their earnings in some other way.

"Do not measure your job entirely by the size of the pay envelope and the length of the vacation. Highway robbery is an ideal vocation measured in these ways.

"Do not try to get rich quick; smarter men than you, who have come to town without a cent, have tried it and lost all they had.

"Do not wrong a woman. Every woman is some mother's daughter. The white life you ask from your mother's daughter you have no right to take from the daughter of another.

"Do not defile your tongue with profane and vulgar speech, revealing your ignorance and showing the coarseness in your soul.

"Do not think you have sounded all the ocean of truth when you have let out all your little line. The ocean on whose shore Newton had gathered only a few pebbles can never be all in your tin cup.

"Do not be a stranger to the church of your father. The old pew looks lonesome without you. Your father went to his honor and his prosperity straight from the church door. The path is still there. You need the church and the church needs you."

BACHELORS' DANCE AT CONSERVATORY

The "Bachelors' Club" dance in the spacious and prettily decorated Conservatory of Music Hall, last evening was a most gratifying success, and provided rare pleasure to about two hundred who were present. The event was one of the most enjoyable of this year's social season, and everybody was delighted.

Franck's orchestra of Toronto was requisitioned to supply the music which they did in a most acceptable manner.

Refreshments were served and the jolly gathering dispersed early in the morning.

AN ACHING VOID
A CHRISTMAS STORY

By William Hamilton Osborne

IT was very dark and very silent in the room. Even the regular breathing of the slumberer upon the couch seemed interwoven with the stillness and part and parcel of it. Night's anaesthetic held its grip upon everything.

Suddenly this was changed, in one particular at least. The knob of the unlocked door to the right was turned, slowly, stealthily. There was a sharp, shrill creak, the door opened grumblingly perhaps an inch or so; another squeak, then wider, wider. Not wide enough this time to permit of entrance or of exit, but wide enough to permit of the stealthy insertion of a human hand into the darkness and the silence; a hand that gripped the door's edge and held it noiseless as it yielded to the opening force—wider, wider yet, until there was a foot of space to pass through. Then followed pause.

The Thing with the Hand, like the horseman at the railroad crossing, evidently felt it wise to stop, to look, to listen. He, too, heard nothing save the breathing of the sleeper on the bed. Yes—one other sound; the fiz-z-z of escaping steam from the radiator in the room. Satisfied with this scrutiny of eye and ear and mind the Man-Animal entered. For a midnight marauder he was a strange specimen, this Man-Animal. Judged by the standard of the men who move in shadows and lurk in dark corners, he was undersized, wofully undersized. He could have wriggled through the most conservative transom in the world; yet, small though he was, there rested upon him ever the pride of his great strength. Steadily the Man-Animal crossed the room; stealthily approached the bed. He stopped.

Somewhere within the house a clock was striking. It startled him at first—one—two—three—four, it chimed. He regained his composure on the instant, but with it came the determination that what he had to do he must do quickly. In two hours more it would be six. Swiftly he stepped to the bedside and glanced upon the sleeper. His eyes, well used now to the darkness, drank in the details.

The woman sleeping was young and very beautiful in the eyes of the Man-Animal. She slept upon her side—her right side, so that that organ called the stomach should not press upon the heart. One hand and arm were tucked away underneath the pillow. Two thick braids of hair, like rivers flowing gently side by side, strayed over the coverlet. The course of one had become slightly diverted and its end hung gracefully over the edge of the bed. The Man-Animal touched it softly with his hand and drew back, his fingers tingling.

The young woman slept on, with her mouth closed, breathing through her nose, just as the Man-Animal did himself. He drew a deep breath as he watched her. Some day he would marry her and he would do this just as soon as the law could be changed allowing a lady to have two husbands. He bent way over and started to kiss her on the lips, the cheek, the forehead. He changed his policy, as one invoking danger. He kissed her on the hand. She did not stir and he passed on, out of her room, into the next, adopting the same method of stealth, of caution.

The next room was as noisy as hers had been silent, but it never feazed the interloper. He knew well enough that the noise was Snores, due to the fact that Father, unlike Mother, would keep his mouth open and would lie on his left side and let his stummick press anywhere it darned please, and, of course, you can't tell things to the man that earns the Money. The Man-Animal, emboldened and encouraged by the Snores, proceeded on his way out of that room and into the hall and up the stairs. Everywhere he went the sound of steam escaping from the radiators followed him.

"Norah-dear-happy-cheer kep the fire up just for Me, I guess," he whispered to himself as he climbed the creaking steps.

Now, it must not be supposed that the Man-Animal in question was a chronic somnambulist, or in fact that he was a somnambulist at all; nor had he got the habit of midnight prowling. By no means. He was too much afraid of other Man-Animals, and of Things, neither animals nor men, who prowl about at night looking for little Boys, to indulge himself as a matter of course. But he knew and felt that there is just one night in the whole year when Fear is dispelled by the thought of Cheer, and when even Boys are safe in the darkness and the silence of their homes.

That one night is the Night Before.

On the Night Before, as is a well known fact, you don't think of anything at all except how early you are going to wake up, and if you do not wake up too early whether Mother or Father will catch you doing it. And if you can open doors like Frederic de Peyster Bockhoven, 3d, as the Man-Animal was universally known, Mother and Father were not apt to catch you at it. (You spell the Frederic without a k, because Mother said so; Father and Father's Father said that if a k was good enough for an Emperor of Germany it was good enough for them, but what they said and what German Emperors did didn't go with Mother. Mother knew enough to sleep with her mouth shut—and wouldn't let her stummick press down on her heart, and just as like as not she knew about k's, and so without a k.)

And so Frederic de Peyster Bockhoven, 3d, reached the top floor of the house and pushed open another door, without particular precaution, and went in. He fumbled for an instant at the wall. There was a click, and the room was flooded with light. It was a big room, embracing the whole top floor save only the little room of Norah-dear-happy-cheer.

This big room was the Geranium—Father's and Frederic's. Father had kicked a goal from the Field for Princeton in 1893 and had never gotten over it, so Mother said, hence Father's present interest in Atha-letics, and hence also the Geranium. And the little Man-Animal, blinking his eyes, glanced interestedly about the Geranium. He noted the usual and ordinary things first—the rowing machine in the corner, the flying rings or wings, as the Man-Animal knew them; and also the Harry's Uncle Bob. The blood ran a bit more quickly in his veins as he viewed the Harry's Uncle Bob. Of all the devices in that big room the Harry's Uncle Bob had always pleased him most—he could do Things on it.

Suddenly he stopped breathing. "Gee whiz!" he said. He had seen the Tree, and the Things about the Tree. There is no thrill like that thrill, and his little heart pumped the blood up into his face and forced the sparkle and the glisten into his eyes. And yet—and yet—he approached the centre of events with doubtful, halting footsteps.

"I wonder," he exclaimed, with hesitation, to himself, "I wonder if It's there."

HAND IN HAND AND SOUND ASLEEP.

There were a good many things there, grouped about the huge fir, with its glittering baubles and its candles ready for the lighting. There was the printing press, the moving picture machine, the boy's motorcycle (Special No. 1), the flying wedge (patented) for coasting, the lightweight boxing gloves, the football just like Father kicked the goal with so long ago, the plastic putty, the paints and plenty other playthings.

"But," exclaimed Frederick, "I can't find It."

For a full hour he searched without disturbing things. He heard the clock down stairs chime one, two, three, four, five, but still he searched, and searched in vain.

"It isn't there," he wailed at last. He toddled over to the door, switched off the light, and stood for an instant peering through the darkness toward the tree. "Why didn't I get It?" he complained. He crept down stairs. Half way down he smote the air of a sudden and then placed his clenched hands against his eyes.

"Why didn't he—why didn't Kriss Kringle, [it is well to state that this nomenclature in re the patron saint of children had been adopted in the household, probably to make up for the lack of K in other directions; besides, 'Santa Claus' isn't such an unctuous mouthful, after all]—why didn't Kriss bring It to me, anyway?" exclaimed the midnight marauder. Then he added, in disgust:—"The old fool!" An attitude, this, somewhat at variance with the traditions, somewhat incompatible with the possession of a boy's motorcycle Special No. 1 and a flying wedge, patented, for coasting, and all the other things, but it was an attitude about which, nevertheless, there was no uncertainty.

"The old fool!" he kept muttering as he passed back again through Father's room, having reference, be it understood, to the saint and not to Father, who never yet had been designated as a saint. The boy noted, however, that Father had stopped snoring and that he had changed his position so that the weight of his "stummick" had been shifted beneficially. Frederic, 3d, passed on. In his disappointment he felt that it would do him good to slam a door or two, but he abandoned the idea as ill advised. So he passed on through Mother's room, only making sounds with his mouth.

"Plup! Plup-p-p! Plup-p-p-p!" the audible pout of dignified displeasure. Once in his own room, he threw off his bathrobe and kicked off his crocheted slippers and crept into bed and crouched and cuddled there, a lump of disappointment.

"I want It," he mumbled, and, mumbling, fell asleep.

It was broad daylight when he woke—twenty minutes after eight, so Mother said. She was dressed and so was Father, and all ready for breakfast. And to think, that little Mopsy-Flopsy had only just waked up. My, how he stretched, and my, what a great big go-to-bed yawn that was! And did little Fritzie (this was Father's line of talk, this Fritzie business) know what day this was? Whereupon the behavior of little Fritzie became quite inexplicable.

"Naw!" ventured little Fritzie in response. "Don't want to know. Plup! Plup-p-p! Plup-p-p-p!"

Mother picked him up and kissed him, laying his indifference to a lack of realization. "Wait until Flopsy gets up stairs," she exclaimed, "and sees what Kriss brought him! All the shades are down and all the candles ready for lighting, and"——

"Plup-p-p-p!" pouted the beneficiary.

"Come on," said Father, "we won't dress the little beggar. We'll take him up just as he is. It's so warm all over the house and we'll plump him down in the midst of everything, and"——

The suggested campaign was followed out. The glory of the candle lights shone all about. But Flopsy-Fritzie-Frederic, 3d, only placed his arm against the wall and put his head against his arm and sobbed to his heart's content.

"It." That was the burden of his song. And Mother and Father looked each other in the eye and wondered, pondered.

"What is it that he wanted and we didn't get him—what can it be?" asked Mother of Father. And, appointing themselves an investigating committee of two, they applied a pocket handkerchief to the overflowing eyes and put their heads together with Flopsy's and cross-examined him on It.

"What is It, dear?" asked Mother.

Whereupon the witness, bursting into a fresh torrent of tears, tore himself from their embrace and selected a fresh patch of wall and glued himself to it as before.

"But tell us what It is"——

The victim slammed his elbows through the air—have you ever seen em do it, gentle reader?—and categorically answered the interrogatory.

"I don't know," he wailed.

And it was true. Every Flopsy, as is well known in all places where Flopsys flourish, always craves every Christmas some one Particular Piece of Property—stakes his life, his happiness upon it; spends six months anticipating it; becomes a howling idiot if he gets it and a raving maniac if he does not.

"Oh, if I only get that Automatic Electric Child's Trolley Car Outfit No. 4, with Fifteen Feet of Track and Three Semaphores, and the Bridge and the Tunnel, Car with Motor and Trailer, Complete $9.50 by Express"—that's the kind of irrational speech that all Flopsys indulge in, and you know it, to the eternal detriment of your depleted pocketbook.

But with Frederic, 3d, it had come to be different. Like a cow that loses her cud, he had nothing to chew on. He didn't know what it was he wanted. Only two months before the event Mother had placed in his hands several white clean sheets of paper and had told him to write down on them his several desires, so that Kriss might not plead lack of notice. And only three days ago Fritzie had handed in his report—blank sheets, unsullied, innocent as to penmanship, vertical or otherwise. So Father, who was a broker, and therefore could do all sorts of things that it took money to do, had followed out his usual procedure and had furnished everything for Fritzie's Christmas. It was about the sixth time he had adopted this safe method and heretofore it had been highly satisfactory. But now——

"Plup-p!" and the slamming of elbows through the air and the hugging of walls and the reddening of eyes, all, unfortunately, a disease without a cure. "I don't know what It is." That was all.

They dressed him. They fed him his breakfast. They toted him upstairs again. They played with him, or tried to—only they did all the playing; they left him alone, they wheedled him, punished him, fed him sweets, gave him a dose of calomel, felt his pulse, took his temperature—all to no avail.

"I want It." That was the burden of his song.

After a while the Guests began to arrive—Mother's Family and Father's Family, all grown-ups—for dinner. They were all worshippers at the shrine of Flopsy and all got down on their knees before him. Some, who had not sent in their offerings before, now to him. But the glow of anticipation was succeeded by grim despair. It was ever absent.

"Plup-p-p!"

It was after he had deliberately spilled the cranberry sauce on the table at dinner—spreading it out on the cloth evenly with his knife—and after he had kicked the table three times in succession from underneath (huge kicks, too, like the kick that made the goal in 1893) that Mother felt compelled to Banish him.

"This wouldn't have happened," said Father's Father, glaring at Mother's Mother, while Mother was engaged in consummating the process of outlawry, "if you'd left that k on the end of his name. Frederick," he said to Father, "give me one more gob of that chestnut dressing, if you please."

The outlaw, up in his own room, waited a decent length of time before commencing operations. He shut the door and went to the window and kicked on the wall. Outside, all about, was a dreary waste. The next house—Allinger's, the bank man's—seemed a mile away. Frederic, 3d, reasoned with himself to the effect that it was no good being a broker, or a bank man, or anything of that kind, because you had brought them, and Fritzie watched with growing interest as bundle after bundle was undone and passed to live way up on top of a hill, in a great big house, just mopin' around. He made up his mind that when he married Mother (if he ever did) he'd go into some business so's he and she could live in an alleyway somewhere, with fire escapes and things.

"'N who's this kid?" he asked himself.

"This kid" was an atom beating its way along the road against the wind, shivering, dancing along the road, blowing upon red knuckles, knocking superannuated shoes against each other. "This kid" seemed to have come out of Allinger's, the bank man's, and seemed to be coming into Bockhoven, the broker's. At any rate, he didn't pass on up the road. He disappeared somewhere. Frederic, 3d, forgot him for the instant and remembered only the Thing that he wanted and didn't get.

He pluped and he wept and he kicked some more, and suddenly, he remembered that he was all alone and that it was about time (as was his custom in outlawry) to console himself in company with Norah-dear-happy-cheer. He crept softly down the back way, conscious that they had reached the nut and fruit and port wine stage at the Christmas dinner, and made his way into the kitchen and threw himself upon Norah's neck. He didn't weep, though. He didn't have time. He merely stared at the kitchen table, for there, at the kitchen table, was "this kid," stuffing good things into his system to his heart's content. Frederic, 3d, watched him with interest.

"Does your stummick push up on your heart at night?" he asked "this kid." The kid politely filled his mouth with onion dressing before replying.

"My stummick," he asserted, all ignorant of the Truth that Mother advocated, "don't push nothin'. I only push my stummick."

At this declaration of independence Fritzie crept back to Norah-dear-happy-cheer with much interrogation in his eyes.

"Who is he, Norah?" he whispered, uncertainly.

Norah laughed. "O'ny my little bye," she laughed, eager and happy to detect the expression of keen jealousy that appeared on Fritzie's face.

"But," reasoned Fritzie, "where's your husband, then?"

"Aw," said Norah, airily, "I don't need no husband. What would I do with a husband, so long as I've got youse."

"Is he your little boy?"

"Sure."

Fritzie figured it all out: "I don't see why it isn't a good way, too," he said.

"Good way, what?" queried Norah.

"To get your little boy first and then you can take your time about picking out your husband, Norah, dear." And, leaving Norah dear to ponder this sociological problem, Fritzie appealed to the kid for the facts in the case.

"She's kiddin' you," opined the youthful stranger. "I ain't her boy. I been in three places lookin' f'r somethin' to eat—to push my stummick wit', just like you said. I ain't never seen her before. I was trun down all over, till I struck here. I ain't her boy. I wisht I was. She's mighty good to me, she is. My name," he continued in response to inquiry, licking his fingers the while, "is Pink."

"Cut me a piece of the skin, Norah dear," said Fritzie, who was feeling hungry by suggestion, and while he chewed upon it he continued the examination: "is your father a bank man? Is he Stocks and Bonds? Do you live in an alley?"

Whereupon it appeared in evidence that Pink's father was not in stocks or bonds, and Pink was blest if he knew where the old gent was, and Pink's mother was not, having shuffled off this mortal coil, and as for alleys, you know blame well, Bo, that there ain't no alleys in this burg—not till you gets to the Oranges an' Hoboken an' N' Yawk an' such. An', aw, say, I couldn't eat another t'ing, and', aw, you're awful good to me. Hell, that's enough; I tell you.

"I gotter go," said Pink.

"W-w-w-wait a minute," spluttered Fritzie, "I—I—I want to tell you somethin'." What was it he wanted to tell? What was the strange, ecstatic, beatific expression upon Fritzie's face? What did it mean? He stood there, struggling with his own thoughts, tingling with a new sensation.

"Say," he whispered hoarsely in the direction of Pink, "do you want to see a Christmas tree—my Christmas tree an' Things?"

Pink gave it as his opinion that he did.

While Norah was in the little butler's pantry Fritzie put his mouth close to Pink's ear.

"Come with me," he whispered, pulling that gentleman across the floor; "creep up these stairs and when you get to the next floor run like the devil for the Geranium. Come on."

Said programme accordingly was carried out. Port wine and chatter were still in evidence down stairs. Fritzie and Pink entered the Geranium and shut the door behind them softly.

"This," said Fritzie proudly, "is the Geranium."

"Get on to the tree," said Pink in awe struck tones.

Fritzie ignored the tree and the things. He pointed out the features of the landscape. "There's the flyin' wings," he said, "and this," he added, as he swung himself deftly upon it, "is the Harry's Uncle Bob."

"Quit your kiddin'," returned Pink; "that's a horizontal bar, Bo. I seen 'em at the Christine Assination in the Hall."

"Harry's Uncle Bob is what I said," assented Fritzie, "didn't I?" he added. Whereupon he turned and twisted on it to his heart's delight, and rose immediately in the estimation of the young kid, Pink.

"You're a reg'lar circus reformer," admitted Pink.

Pink approached the tree. "I gotter see the things," he said. He tasted the candy things and he touched the fragile things and he handled the toy things.

"Did you get everything you wanted, Bo?" he asked.

Fritzie's eyes grew large as this question sank in. His chin began to quiver and he prepared himself for the pang that had been shooting through his heart all day long, but the pang didn't arrive. His chin stopped quivering. The "Plup! Plup!" fell short of expression. Did he have everything he wanted? He had wanted—It. He had not known what It was. He had been miserable, but now a strange thing had happened. He didn't want It. There was nothing that he longed for. Like Pink's empty "stummick," Fritzie's unnamed, unknown, mysterious want had been filled—by what means or when or how he did not know. Like a thousand of brick the Christmas spirit descended upon him and he laughed aloud with sheer pleasure, cheer, holiday happiness.

"Pink," he returned, "I got a whole lot more'n I wanted. Look at 'em. You can ride my Special No. 1 if you know how. I'll teach you how," he added.

Downstairs Father, tossing his last cigar stump into its receptacle, suddenly bethought him of the outlaw upstairs. "Poor little beggar," he said to the guests about the table, "he's as quiet as a mouse. I'll go up and see how he's getting on."

He found that the outlaw had slipped his limits and was not in his room. Suspicious sounds from overhead sent Father up the third story stairs at a bound. Just outside the Geranium door he paused.

"He's having a devil of a fine time," he told himself.

Laugh upon laugh, screech upon screech of childish glee—due probably to Pink's amusing efforts to ride the Special No. 1—forced themselves through the door. "Sounds something like," thought Father.

He opened the door on a crack and peeked in.

"Well—what do you think of that?" he whispered to himself.

Twenty minutes later he strolled downstairs again and lounged across the end of the sofa.

"How's Flopsy?" queried Flopsy's Mother.

Father smiled. "All to the good," he answered, glancing out of the window; "he's fast asleep upon his little bed."

"On his right side?" queried Mother.

"I—I believe so," answered Father, "and," he hastened to add, "no pulse and no fever, so he's all O. K."

Of course, being a broker, this sort of prevarication came easy to Father. "Gee," thought Father to himself, "but Fritzie certainly did tip that other chap a Cut in the Solar Plexus with those Boxing Gloves, for sure!"

"Madge," he said to Mother, after the guests had all departed, Father's Father having taken just another nip of old port to brace him for the cold air before he went—"Madge," said Father, "I wish you'd come with me." They went, hand in hand, up the stairs, through the early dusk of the holiday afternoon, and they paused just outside the Geranium door. Father peeked in first. There was not a sound within; not a whisper, not the winking of an eyelid.

"Well," exclaimed Father, and he threw open wide the doors. "Look, Madge!" he exclaimed.

There, under the Harry's Uncle Bob, with their backs against the upright, slumped two diminutive forms—two Man-Animals—Pink and Fritzie, hand in hand and sound asleep.

"I told you he was asleep," said Father, gloating over the half truth, as he was wont to do when he bamboozled some lamb upon the Street. Mother took one look, moved nearer and took another look.

"Merciful heavens!" she almost shrieked. "Who, why, what?"

"I don't know," said Father, calmly, lighting another cigar; "maybe Norah knows."

Norah, being called, knew and told, and was berated by Mother and congratulated by Father.

"But," exclaimed Mother, lifting her skirts as she approached Pink, "he might have B.'s"—B.'s in this connection designating visible though infinitesimal bacilli of an external and highly undesirable character—"he might have B's."

Father blew a smoke ring. "I don't care," he said, belligerently swinging his leg as one who would kick a goal from the field, "I don't care if he's got B. B.'s"—a term used advisedly to classify another and much more visible and bloodthirsty species of bacilli, banished sometimes by benzine. Mother shivered with horror.

"Just sit down, Madge," said Father, "and watch 'em and think about 'em hard. I saw the little beggar," he added, significantly, "before he went to sleep."

Pink stretched his arms and yawned. He had been sleeping with his mouth closed—a point in his favor, surely. His waking was a noisy one. Then he became alarmed at the sight of Mother and Father. He shook Fritzie by the arm.

"Bo! Bo!" he yelled with chattering teeth, "they're after me!"

Bo—otherwise Flopsy, Fritzi, Frederic—opened his eyes and grunted and smiled and—broke into a laugh.

"Such fun!" he cried.

Mother opened her mouth wide—not to breathe through it, but to allow some expression of astonishment to escape her. Fritzie's face was changed, glorified. He was quivering with joy, excitement. He had become, as in the twinkling of an eye, Happiness Personified.

"Do you know what It was?" queried Father.

Mother shook her head. Father nodded. "It was another Man-Animal," he said; "we didn't understand. We kept the little beggar too much to ourselves."

"I—I"—— she faltered, for the discovery should have been hers, along with the pressure of the stomach on the heart; "I see it now. There were no children anywhere around—no companion for him."

"He has one now," said Father.

"Not—this," protested Mother, her lips forming the portentous letter B.

"Yes—this," responded Father, "for the time being at any rate. For this is—It. And Fritzie and I know it for the thing it is," he added. He laughed aloud, and the voices of the young Man-Animals joined with his. He swung his leg again, did Father, and looked into the air, as one who saw an oval soaring through a heartbreak of suspense—straight—through—the—goal. Score—Princeton, six; Yale, nought.

"You ought to have seen Pink get it in the solar plexus, Madge," he said.

"Sure," laughed Pink, aloud. He sobered. "You're awful good to me," he said.

L. O. L. CONERT.

On Christmas evening, L.O.L. No. 113, held the most successful concert ever held in Omemee. From 6.30 p.m. to the time of beginning the program, a stream of people found seats in the new Coronation Hall. Rev. D. H. Currie, who is a member of the order, was in the chair and on opening gave a very practical address on some of the aims of organization. Miss Bonnick, of Toronto, began with a piano solo, of high merit and appeared again later, on the program, in the same role. She plays with a delicacy of touch, sympathy and shading that ranks her among the highest performers on the piano. She was specially brilliant in her accompaniments for the other Toronto artists.

Mr. John A. Kelley, the ventriloquist, singer, reader and comedian, was funny all the time and his role showed so much variety that he pleased everyone of his listeners. He was unstinting in his work, appearing four times and replying to many encores. He was a warm favorite.

Miss Lila Parsons appeared in two splendid vocal numbers and her smooth, rich contralto voice was heard to advantage. Miss Stella Wilson gave two of her delightful soprano solos. She and Miss Lila Parsons were encored and responded in attractive renditions. Our local vocalists won many merited compliments as did Miss Parsons, who played their accompaniments in a finished and efficient manner.

Mr. Robert Wilson, humorist, of Toronto, began his repertoire of vocalism with the popular hit, "I'll see you again on the 12th of July"; he contributed four numbers to some of which he responded in single and double encores. The audience seemed to enjoy his work so much that Mr. Wilson was recalled before the footlights till his vocal and physical powers must have been well nigh exhausted.

Ex-reeve, Jos. T. Beatty and Grand Master W. Wilson, were on the platform and the former addressed the assemblage in a felicitous speech. After a couple of announcements by the chairman, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the local ladies for their talented assistance and to Rev. Currie for his masterly and efficient work as master of ceremonies. The concert closed about 11 p.m. by singing the National Anthem.

The proceeds amounted to about $160. L.O.L. No. 113 are to be congratulated on their signal success and the high class social function provided at this joyous season of the year.

JOHNSTON
FOR NORTH WARD

I am again a candidate for election to the City Council as one of the representatives of the North Ward.

I ask for your support and in return undertake to do my utmost to advance the interests of the city at large and of the ward fairly.

If the ratepayers feel that I deserve their confidence, I shall be very glad and grateful as there are some very important matters of great interest to the welfare of the city to come forward during the year. I assure them with my previous experience I can be of more than average use to the ratepayers.

Thanking you, ladies and gentlemen, with the compliments of the season.

Yours respectfully.
W. J. JOHNSTON

GILLESPIE
For Centre Ward

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been again urged by a large number of ratepayers interested in the welfare of the city, I have consented to accept the nomination for Alderman for 1912.

My previous record in the Council is known to you all. If again honored with your confidence I will endeavor to render such efficient service as will conduce to the best interests of the city irrespective of wards or boundaries.

As my business engagements will not permit me to personally interview the electors, I take this means of soliciting your votes and influence.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. A. GILLESPIE
December 23, 1911.

MORROW
For Centre Ward

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to the Council of the city.

I hope to receive a fair measure of support, such as is freely accorded a new man and new candidate.

If elected I will serve the city just as faithfully and as well as I can, never forgetting what is best for it and its people.

Time will not permit of a personal canvass, but I ask for support, ladies and gentlemen.

W. G. MORROW

LANGFORD, Jr.
FOR NORTH WARD

To the Ratepayers;

I ask your support for election to the Council of 1912. I am in favor of the Hydro-Electric By-law, but will support only such proposition as will give the city the lowest possible rates for power and light.

I will be watchful of the city's interests and endeavor to have its affairs administered economisally, consistent with progress of the city.

Yours very respectfully,
WILLIAM LANGFORD, Jr.

EDGAR
For West Ward

If my course and conduct in the Council as Alderman during the past year merits the approval of the ratepayers of the ward, which I endeavored to represent, I shall be very glad to have their support again.

I will, if elected, do my utmost to get for the city the most favorable rates for power and lighting, and which, I believe, can be had only from the Hydro-Electric Commission.

In other respects I will be careful and considerate of the best interests of the city.

JAS. EDGAR

METHERAL
FOR CENTRE WARD

TO THE RATEPAYERS:

Vote to re-elect Jos. R. Metheral as Alderman in Centre Ward.

I have been entrusted with your confidence for the past three years, and my record stands open before you. It may show no extraordinary ability, but an earnest endeavor to be straightforward and honest in all dealings. I have not been swayed by cliques or outside influences, but voted and worked at all times in the interest of the ratepayers in general and will continue to do so in the future if elected.

I would advise the ratepayers to vote in favor of the Hydro-Electric Commission by-law. I firmly believe that the Hydro-Electric Commission will give Peterborough power at rates considerably reduced from those at present in force, and I pledge myself that no contract for power either with the Hydro-Electric Commission or private corporation shall be agreed to by the City Council without a bylaw to that effect being first submitted to the ratepayers.

Yours faithfully, Ladies and Gentlemen,
JOS. R. METHERAL

GARSIDE
For South Ward

To the Rateyayers of No. 1 Ward:

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to Council of this city. I hope to receive your kind support, and shall try and make my services your gain. Equal rights to all and favors to none. Wishing you all a prosperous coming year, and that your lights may be still cheaper and brighter.

Yours faithfully,
James Garside

G. N. GORDON
FOR ALDERMAN
THE CENTRE WARD

To the Electors of the Centre Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—As a candidate for Alderman for one of the two seats in the Centre Ward, I respectfully solicit your votes.

My platform is briefly this:

1. Obtain Hydro-Electric estimates and reports as to prices, terms, etc., of obtaining power for the City's manufacturers, and for house and store lighting.

2. Abate the nuisance caused by the G. T. R. using Bethune Street as a shunting yard, which injuriously affects hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of realty.

3. Obtain legislation allowing reduction of taxes on businesses and improvements, and increasing taxation of land values, thus making the holders of vacant land pay their share of taxes.

4. Have every milk vendor's milk inspected at least fortnightly, and a report with the milkman's name published showing the proportions of butter fat contained in each lot.

5. Consideration of the question of permanent improvement of highways.

6. Begin an aggressive campaign to obtain new industries, and inaugurate a strong publicity scheme.

There are two Aldermen to be elected for the Centre Ward: G. A. Gillespie is contesting one seat with J. R. Metherall, and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte Street, is contesting the other seat with me.

If elected, I will energetically support a progressive campaign for the City's advancement.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am,

Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

VOTE FOR EX-ALDERMAN J. J. DUFFUS
IN THE WEST WARD

To the Ratepayers of the West Ward and Peterborough Citizens in general;

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having the honor of being duly nominated and urged by a large number of representative citizens to be a candidate in the West Ward, I have decided to again enter the Aldermanic field. As it will be impossible for me to interview each voter, I hereby most respectfully solicit your support and influence to assure my election.

If you so honor me I will pledge mself to do my utmost to assist in executing the city's business in a prudent and business like manner.

New industries, to my mind, is the one essential towards the future growth and success of our city, and I am in favor of every effort being put forth to obtain cheap power and light, and also to induce the Radial Railway Co. to make extensive extensions. I would like to see the centre of our city with a permanent roadway.

I am opposed to the policy of increasing a man's taxes every time he makes improvemnts and minor extensions, and would support a measure to eliminate this condition of affairs.

Wishing all a bright and prosperous New Year.

Yours very respectfully,
JOS. J. DUFFUS.

RUSSIANS ADOPT SEVERE METHODS

Bloodshed Continues in Disturbed Persian Towns

Independence of Country May Never be Restored.

London, Dec. 28.—The Russian Government has decided upon stern measures to suppress the disorders at Tabriz and other disturbed Persian towns. The dislocation of the telegraph lines makes it impossible to get a reliable narrative of the outbreaks. Yet it cannot be doubted that a situation of the gravest complexity has arisen.

As reports of Russian progress in Persia, and stories of the indiscriminate killing of natives in Tabriz and Resht, and of the destruction of Persia's Constitutional Government under Russian menaces, continue to reach England, the people are becoming increasingly disquieted at the British Government's attitude, which the Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, thinks is a matter of policy and compelled by the Anglo-Russian agreement.

Doubts have also been increased as to whether Persian independence will ever be restored to even the feeble status it had before this last assault by Russia. If Parliament were sitting there would undoubtedly be severe questioning of the Government on this subject, and an arraignment of the Foreign Office.

The Times is the only paper which stoutly supports the Government, and it expresses considerable uneasiness over Russia's intentions as hinted in the St. Petersburg reports. The Manchester Guardian, the ablest and most influential provincial Liberal paper, deplores the British course and questions whether the Government could not have taken some stand earlier, but fears that it is too late now. In short, the whole affair is repugnant to Liberal sentiment.

Troops on the Move.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—The latest reports from Tabriz announce that the telephone line to Julfa has been cut. Julfa is a small town in Transcaucasia, on the Aras River, something less than 100 miles from Tabriz. It was from this point that the Russian reinforcements were despatched to Tabriz several days ago.

About 200 Caucasian fidais, including a number of leaders, fled Tuesday night to Karadagh, with the intention, it is believed, of crossing the Russian frontier. A Russian guard has been placed over the Russian bank and the citadel, over which the Russian flag flies, is occupied by a Russian rifle regiment.

The Fifth Chasseurs, with an artillery detachment, has forced its way through to Baghichemal, a suburb of Tabriz, to join the Russian forces encamped there. There were several skirmishes along the road on the march from Julfa, and at sunset last night artillery and machine gun fire could be heard in the distance.

Will Punish Persians.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—A semi-official statement issued last evening says that the Russian Government, in view of "acts of foolhardy aggression committed against the Russian forces and institutions in Tabriz, Resht and Enzeli, sometimes followed by brutal torture of the wounded and base outrages against the dead," has decided that the severest punishment of the guilty is merited, and Russian commanders, in conjunction with Russian consuls, are instructed to adopt the most stringent measures.

Atrocities by Russians.

London, Dec. 28.—The Persian committee, composed of prominent Englishmen interested in Persian affairs, has received the following telegram from the provincial assembly at Tabriz, sent through the Persian Society of Constantinople:

"On Dec. 21, Russian troops attacked and seized the administration buildings. They trampled school children underfoot and killed and despoiled innocent men and women. They also looted the shops. The inhabitants after extraordinary forbearance began to defend themselves and forced the Russians to evacuate the Government offices.

"On Dec. 22, the Russians bombarded the city until sunset, consternation increasing hourly. On Dec. 23, in consequence of orders from the central Government to cease fighting, the inhabitants took no steps to defend themselves, but the Russians renewed the bombardment, firing from the environs of their consulate at women and other innocent persons. They wounded or made captives the wives and children of many respectable citizens and set fire to numerous buildings and mosques.

"The inhabitants still remained quiet on Dec. 25, but the ferocity of the Russians greatly increased. They killed many women and children, and a large number of buildings were burned by them. If to-morrow they do not desist from their savage attack, the inhabitants will be compelled to defend themselves.

"We beg you to communicate this telegram to the principal newspapers and influential centres of Europe."

Aeroplane Man Arrested.

New York, Dec. 28.—Harry Graves Carter, president of an aeroplane company, was arrested yesterday charged with misappropriating funds of the company. The complainants against Carter are A. A. Hart, vice-president; R. E. Bibbins, treasurer, and W. A. Carter, a director of the company. The latter is an uncle of Carter.

Specifically Carter is charged with misappropriating $1,000, $375 and $85. Carter denies the charge.

Hope to "Convert" Tenderloin.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 28.—Accompanied by police, a committee of women religious workers yesterday visited houses in the "red light" district here in an effort to persuade the inmates to take a fresh start in life.

Each woman was offered a respectable home and a position in which she can earn an honest living. A home, to be conducted as an ordinary boarding-house, its address to be kept secret, will be provided for those who accept the offer.

The effort is part of the men and religion forward movement. In addition to planning to care for the women, the organization has gathered the names of all the property owners who rent their places for immoral purposes and will ask that criminal proceedings be started against them.

GORDON FOR CENTRE WARD

Has a Progressive Platform—A Good Man for the Council

G. N. Gordon, who is a candidate for aldermanic honors in Central Ward, has a progressive platform and will make a splendid man for the council. His platform is one that should appeal to citizens generally. Mr. Gordon is the type of man that will do great service for the city. He is a keen business man and has an abundance of energy. He will, if elected, and his election is practically assured, at once bring up a number of important questions dealing with matters concerning the city's welfare. Cheap power and new industries are two of the planks of his platform.

BAD BLAZE AT GOLDEN CITY

Nearly Half the Town is Destroyed

Dynamite Saved a Part From Destruction

Special to the Review.

Cobalt, Ont., Dec. 28.—Only the liberal use of dynamite saved Golden City from total destruction by fire early this morning. Nearly half the town, however, was burned, the losses including Evans & Co., gents' furnishings; Carter & Wright, druggist; J. P. Crawford's law office; Strathcona Hotel, two saloons, Lyric Theatre, Lamb's fruit store and Lang's business block. Practically every building that escaped the conflagration last July was destroyed this morning. There is very little insurance on account of the high rates. The loss is not yet estimated.

BAD YEAR FOR COAL INDUSTRY

Washington, Dec. 28.—There has been an over-production of coal this year and a consequent struggle for trade, which depressed prices, is the opinion expressed yesterday by Edward W. Parker, coal statistician for the U. S. Geological Survey. Mr. Parker added that there had been few more unsatisfactory years in the history of the coal mining industry and that prices were depressed to such an extent that when the total returns for the year are footed up, the balance probably would be on the wrong side of the ledger, although the production of coal in the United States for the year is probably second only to the record year of 1910.

The total production of coal for the year is estimated at 490,000,000 tons, only 11,000,000 less than in 1910. Of this year's production, 400,000,000 tons was bituminous coal.

HOW THE CITY COUNCIL MAY FLIM FLAM THE RATEPAYERS

The real reason is out. The public has at last learned why it is that the City Council of Peterborough is submitting the blind by-law. The string had something to do with it after all; and the Hydro-Electric Commission holds the other end of the string.

We are to thank the Review for enlightening the public on the matter. The Review in supporting the by-law the other night said:—

"Peterborough will never get a reasonably sure statement of what electric energy is worth until the Hydro-Electric tells it the facts.

That is what the Seymour Power Company is waiting for. For its competitor to show its line, name its price, exhibit its discounts and on these statements base an offer. It is a real good business line to take, but is dilatory and it may be dangerous."

Let the ratepayer, as he reads the above, light his pipe once more, adjust himself in his most comfortable position and ponder over the above argument of the Review's. The sum and substance of the argument is, that the Seymour Power Company, who by the way, the City Council have never asked for prices on light and power, might offer light and power to the city at cheaper rates than the Hydro-Electric Commission. However, by passing the by-law, with the string to it, the other end of which is held by the Hydro-Electric Commission, the City Council can, and to all present appearances will, enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission.

We are now getting at the true position of affairs, and it can be seen that the opponents of the by-law—those who want it withdrawn until estimates are submitted by the Hydro-Electric Commission—are not asking anything unreasonable.

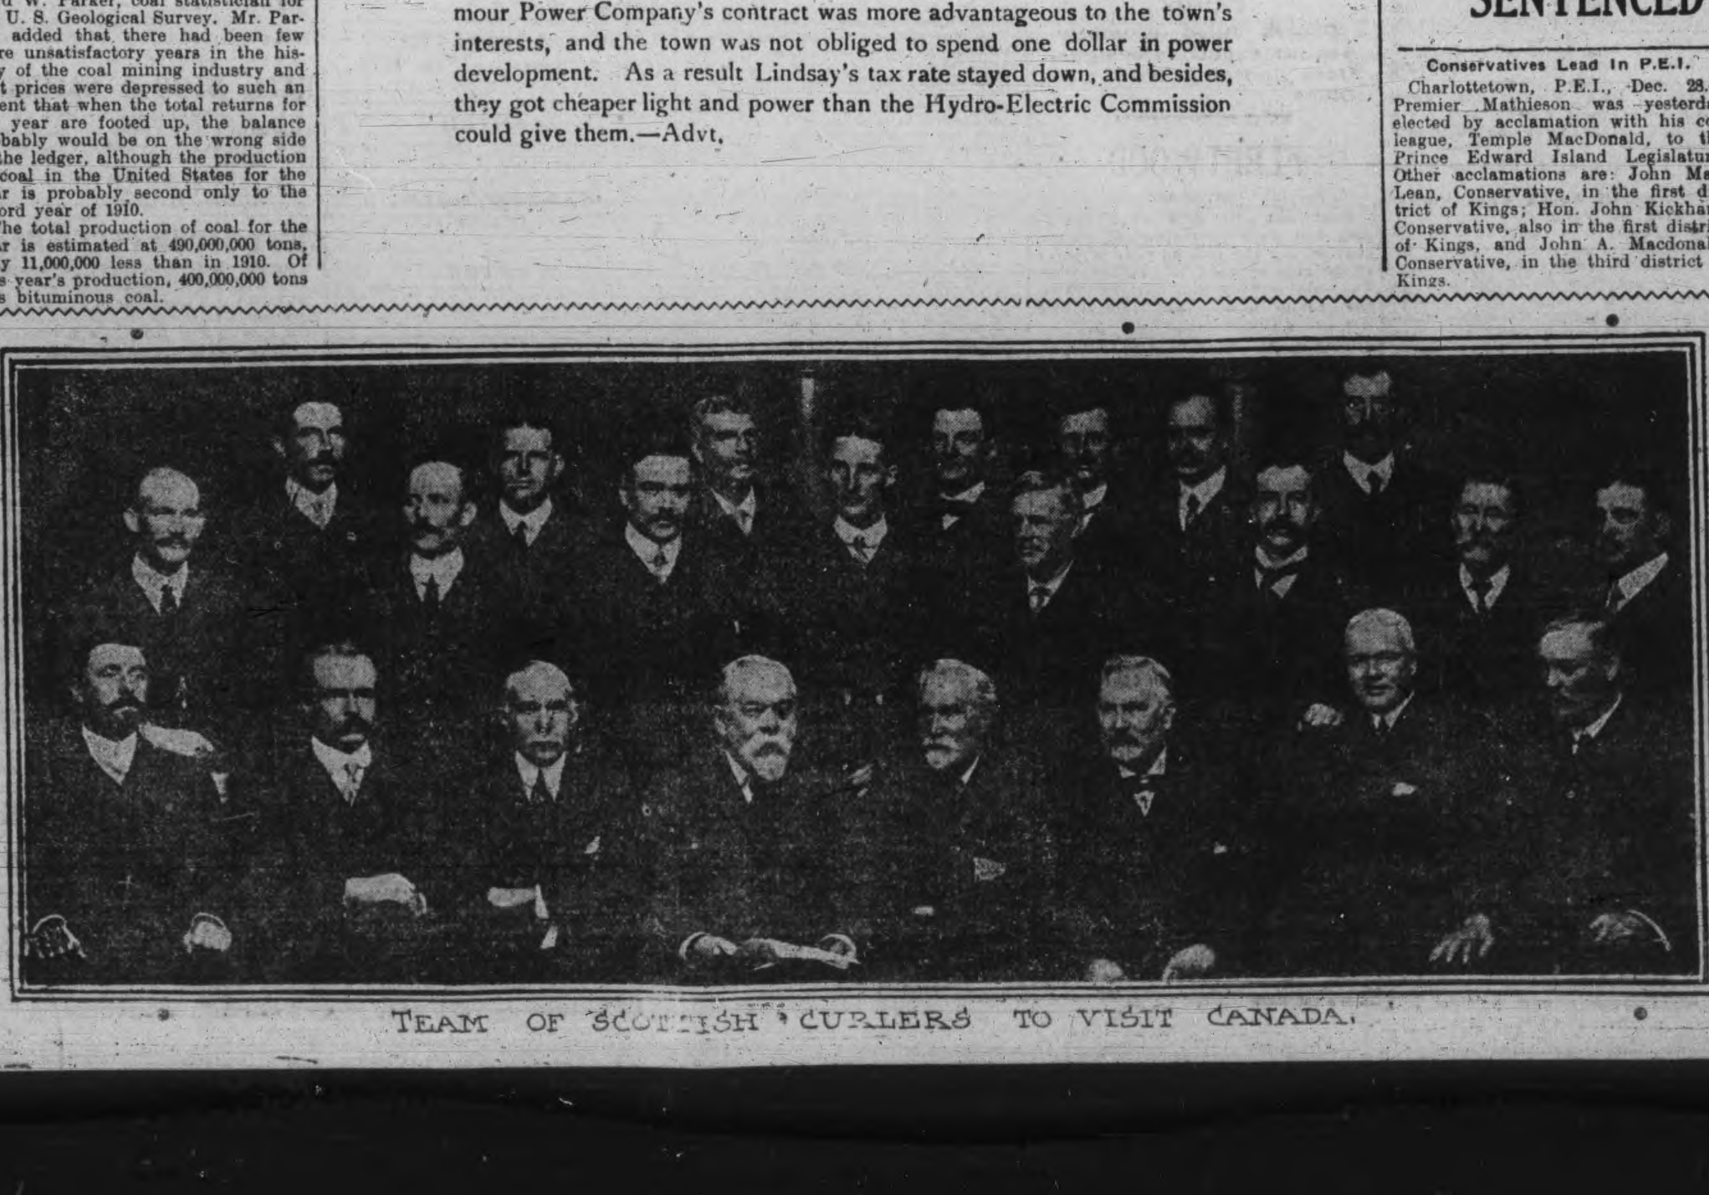
What could be fairer to the light and power consumers of the city, than to ask for prices from both the Hydro Electric Commission and the Seymour Power Company, and whichever offered the most advantageous terms accept it?

The people of Peterborough are not concerned as to who supplies the electrical energy for Peterborough, providing they are getting the best possible value for their money. If the city can secure light and power at cheaper rates from the Seymour Power Company, than they can from the Hydro-Electric Commission, why can the ratepayers of this city not have an opportunity of saying so? They cannot, if they pass this by-law.

And then apart from the rates, it must be born in mine that the city will have to mortgage itself to the extent of $500,000 or more, if it goes into the electric lighting business.

In Lindsay, the citizens rose up in arms. A blind by-law, with a string to it, was about to be submitted, just the same kind of blind by-law, with a string to it, as is now being submitted to the ratepayers of Peterborough. The people of Lindsay demanded of their Council that they compel the Hydro-Electric Commission to submit estimates. The Hydro-Electric Commission fenced and wriggled, but finally submitted figures, which were away above the prices quoted by the Seymour Power Company.

The result was that the blind by-law was withdrawn. The Seymour Power Company's contract was more advantageous to the town's interests, and the town was not obliged to spend one dollar in power development. As a result Lindsay's tax rate stayed down, and besides, they got cheaper light and power than the Hydro-Electric Commission could give them.—Advt.



TEAM OF SCOTTISH CURLERS TO VISIT CANADA.

LONG AND BITTER STRUGGLE FEARED

Can't Satisfy Teddy.

New York, Dec. 28.—Although President Taft is to be the guest of honor and Andrew Carnegie is down on the program as honorary president, the pending arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, for which Mr. Taft has labored and which Mr. Carnegie has endorsed, are not to be brought officially before the Citizens' Peace banquet, to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Saturday night next.

With this revised understanding Secretary Bloomer called on Col. Roosevelt again yesterday and again the colonel declined flatly to attend.

Found Miss Peter's Body.

Flint, Mich., Dec. 28.—The decomposed body of a young woman, later identified as that of Emma Peter of Toronto, Ont., missing since Nov. 4, was found in the Flint River here yesterday, at a point where wires had been stretched in the stream with the hope of catching Miss Peter's body.

The young woman came to Flint from Toronto, on Oct. 3. She at the time was suffering from nervous trouble, and her relatives believe this affected her mind. They believe she drowned herself while temporarily unbalanced.

Big Lockout Goes Into Effect in Lancashire.

Some 160,000 Weavers Are Reduced to Half Pay.

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 28.—The refusal of one man and two women to join a trades union, coupled with the decision of the Master Cotton Spinners to close their mills three days in the week, caused a complete stoppage of a great portion of the cotton mills in northeast Lancashire last evening. Efforts are already on foot to bring about a settlement, but as one woman, who left the union after twenty years, because she believes that the benefits are not commensurate with the payments, persists in her attitude, and the master spinners insist upon their right to maintain open shops, a long and bitter struggle is feared. There is danger, too, of the fight spreading to other industries.

The lock-out involves 160,000 weavers and nearly an equal number of spinners will be reduced to half pay. Unfortunately there are indications of probable complications through the introduction of a new issue on the troublesome question of wages. This move has been taken by the weavers, who declare that now a lock-out has been decided upon they intend to make an advance of five per cent. in wages a condition of any settlement. It is estimated that the weekly loss in wages to the weavers and allied workers, spinners and card room employes, will amount to $1,400,000. The weavers will receive roughly $325,000 lock-out pay from the union.

STILL ANOTHER RUSSIAN COUP

Mongolia and Turkestan Fall Into Her Clutches.

Will be Proclaimed Independent To-day.

Pekin, Dec. 28.—Mongolia, which almost equals China proper in size, will be proclaimed independent to-day, simultaneously with the cutting off from China of the vast dependency of Turkestan. Both will pass under Russian influence and will practically become Russian protectorates. Russia will at any time be able to annex them. A grand khan will be named as monarch of Mongolia.

The construction of the trans-Mongolian Railway, for which Russia has long sought permission from China, will now be a matter of time, Europe thereby coming nearer to Pekin by three or four days.

Russian influence will flank the Japanese sphere in Manchuria perilously, and a Japanese alliance for the sake of preserving Japanese interests may sooner or later be expected. Russian officers and officials, if not the Russian Government proper, have influenced this action in Mongolia.

Elect President To-day.

Shanghai, Dec. 28.—It is reported that the delegates of the eighteen provinces of China proper intend to meet at Nanking on Dec. 28 to elect Dr. Shun Yat Sen as president of the Provisional Government of the United Provinces.

CHOLERA OR THE PLAGUE

Fifty Persons Dead at Berlin of Strange Disease

Special to the Review.

Berlin, Dec. 28.—Fifty persons, mostly paupers, are now dead, and a hundred fresh cases have been reported of a strange epidemic, at first believed to be ptomaine poisoning. It is feared now that the outbreak is cholera or plague.

Commission Holds Meeting.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—After calling upon Premier Borden, the Minister of Public Works and the civil service commissioners, the members of the recently-appointed commission which will conduct an enquiry into all the Government departments, held their first meeting yesterday afternoon.

The three commissioners, Hon. A. B. Morine (chairman), R. S. Lake and G. N. Ducharme, discussed the question of securing quarters, and decided to meet to-day to consider the question of appointing counsel, secretary and other officers necessary to the proper carrying on of the work in hand.

It is quite probable that the quarters recently vacated by the railway board will be secured by the commissioners, who propose to get established in Ottawa and commence the work of hearing evidence early in January.

D. B. THOMAS APPEARS AGAIN; SENTENCED TO STATE PRISON

Conservatives Lead In P.E.I.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Dec. 28.—Premier Mathieson was yesterday elected by acclamation with his colleague, Temple MacDonald, to the Prince Edward Island Legislature. Other acclamations are: John MacLean, Conservative, in the first district of Kings; Hon. John Kickham, Conservative, also in the first district of Kings, and John A. Macdonald, Conservative, in the third district of Kings.

Man Who Worked Lindsay With Shoe Factory Game Makes His Exit.

Breckenridge, Minn., Dec. 28—D. B. Thomas, alias David B. Myers, alias David B. McCain, the fake "promoter" of a shoe factory in Lindsay, Canada, and who swindled Burrows & Shepherd of this place out of $11,000 besides forging a warranty deed, was sentenced on Thursday, Dec. 13th, to an intermediate sentence at hard labor at the State Prison at Stillwater.

Thomas pleaded not guilty to the charge against him, and offered no evidence in his defence in the trial.

The State had a number of strong witnesses. The jury was out only ten minutes.

David B. Myers, (as he called himself) represented himself to be from Freeport, Ill., arrived in Breckenridge, Minn., last June, and proceeded to make arrangements with Plaistad Bros, land agents, for the purchase of some land.

He then agreed to sell to Burrows & Shepehrd for $11,000.

Francis Gory, Paynesville, was the owner of the land, and Myers went to Fargo to meet him. He returned with the warrantee deed properly executed, but Burrows & Shepherd began to get suspicious, and on making enquireis, it was found that he was not known in Freeport, and also that Mr. Gory had not heard of him. Myers had forged Gory's name in the deed. The penalty for the offence is not more than twenty years in the staet prison.

The prisoner confessed to a string of operations covering two years, since his release from the state penitentiary of Indiana, where he served two years for fogery.

His right name is David B. McCain and he is twenty-eight years old. His home is in Marion, Ind., where he has a wife and three children. He has left his family and admits that he spends his money on fast women.

GET OUT AND VOTE

It is the duty of every ratepayer to cast his or her vote on Monday in the interests of a good and progressive civic administration. The voter who does not go to the polls and then regrets that his candidate was not elected is a poor type of citizen. Of course there are many cases where the ratepayer finds it impossible to vote on account of illness or being out of the city, but then there are many who let the slightest incident defer them going to the polls. These very people are in many cases those who grumble all year at the "poor council" we have etc. Now with no contest for the mayor's chair, interest is lessened to a certain extent in the elections, but the electors should not lose sight of the fact that the selection of a strong council is equally as important.

Get out and vote on Monday.

THE POWER QUESTION

Hon Adam Beck, who will be minister of power in the Whitney government will address the electors of Peterboro to night and will explain fully the position of the Hydro-Electrice Commission of Ontario. He will give an account of the success of the undertaking in other places and will tell just what the hydro-electric would do for Peterboro if installed. No citizen who is interested, and all ratepayers must be interested, should miss the opportunity of hearing the question of a progressive power policy for the city discussed. On Monday next the electors will have to vote on the question, as to whether the city is favorable to installing the hydro-electric system. This vote is in no way binding on the city, but the Commission want an expression of public opinion before submitting estimates. After hearing Hon. Adam Beck to night electors will be better able to size up the situation in its true light and vote according.

EDITORIAL NOTES

You had better start practicing at writing it 1912.

Notice the chap with "the smile that won't come off." Ten to one he's a coal merchant or a hockey fan.

More elections on Monday, then they will give people a breathing spell to think about business, we hope.

Have you figured out those New Year resolutions yet? It's fine to make them, but much nicer to break them.

A good New Year's resolution—read the Daily Review every evening, and keep in touch with local and outside affairs.

The weather man is on the job again and is putting one over on us just to let us know that he still has the real article of winter on hand.

Peterborough has a progressive civic head in Mayor Bradburn. See that your vote helps to elect progressive men for the Council.

The fellow who talks to his wife about the coffee his mother used to make will come home late at night and expect her to swallow the same old excuse her daddy used to spring.

They talk about re-opening the Kinrade murder case at Hamilton. About the only good this would do would be to make copy for the newspapers.

Do you notice the fancy line of neckties now being worn by some of our male population. Hubby can't refuse to wear the "beautiful rainbow" his wife presented him with, but what he says on the side would be unfit to print.

Another dynamite outrage has occurred. The printing press of the Daily Calumet, a South Chicago newspaper, was dynamited early on Sunday morning and $6,000 damage done. The paper has had no labor trouble and the management cannot account for the outrage. Stern measures should be taken by the authorities in such cases. A few life sentences, such as was meted out to the Welland Canal dynamiters in Canada would seem to be in order.

Killed Entire Family.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 28.—News reached this city yesterday afternoon that the entire family of T. J. Grant, consisting of himself, his wife and six children, have been murdered. Grant resides 12 miles from Benton, Ark.

The evidence tends to show, it is declared, that Grant killed his wife and children, and then took his own life. Details regarding the tragedy are few.

FLEETWOOD

Special Correspondence.

Fleetwood, Dec. 26th—Christmas is past and your correspondent hopes that during the coming year we may all be able to meet in another year. The snow is very thin but enough on the ground to keep one from calling it a green Christmas.

Miss A. M. Jones of Peterborough spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Mrs. Guy Tripp presented her husband with a Christmas box in the shape of a fine baby girl.

Mr. John McKinley, we are sorry to say has been bedfast for some time with rheumatism, but we hope to see him around in a few days.

The nomination of officers in the township of Manvers was held in the village of Bethany last Friday. Everything passed off very quietly, the old council giving a good account of their doings during the year. Reeve Hickson is to be opposed by Mr. Hooper, but we think Mr. Hickson will head the poll as usual. Jas. Armstrong is opposed by Robert Grey, with the latter slightly leading. Messrs McMaster, Sisson, Wm. Corbett, Andy McGill and J. L. Hart running for councillors. Something exciting is to be expected. The chances are Mr Hart will come out away ahead.

Wm Stephen is accused at Chatham of forgery and false pretences.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat was good at advanced prices, but the volume of business was curtailed considerably on account of the fact that the bulk of the orders were for January shipment, for which no ocean freight room is obtainable, but some sales were made for February-March. There was some enquiry for oats, with 19s 9d bid for No. 1 feed from Bristol.

There was an improved demand on spot for all lines of coarse grains and a fair trade was done. Oats were stronger at an advance of ½c. Early in the day sales of several cars of new No. 3 yellow corn were made at 71½c and 72c, but at the close 72½c to 73c was asked on account of the advance in Chicago. Demand for flour was better for local account, but the export trade is quiet. Bran and shorts were fairly active. Cheese is quiet. Demand for butter is good and prices have an upward tendency. Eggs, active and firm. Dressed hogs have advanced 25c per cwt.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 23 were 1100 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 1800 hogs and 400 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning amounted to 600 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 1250 hogs and 300 calves.

A feature of the trade was the stronger feeling in the market for cattle and prices since this day week show an advance of 10c to 15c per cwt., which was attributed to the small supply and the increased demand for good to choice stock, but there was no improvement in the market for common or inferior cattle, as the stock of such on hand is still far in excess of the requirements. A few choice steers sold as high as $6.50 per cwt., but the bulk of the trade was done in good cattle at $6 to $6.25.

The tone of the market for lambs was stronger and prices since this day week have advanced 15c to 25c per cwt., on account of the limited supply coming forward, for which the demand is good for local consumption, as consumers do not care for frozen stock as in former years. There was no change in the condition of the market for sheep, but the undertone is firm with a fair demand. The market for calves was quiet and as the stock offered was not very good, the top price paid was $10.

The market for hogs was rather irregular, some reporting easier than this day last week at a decline of 10c to 15c per cwt., and others stating that it was stronger and reported sales of selected lots as high as $7.35, while some packers said that they bought all they wanted at $6.90 to $7.10 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Export cattle, choice, $6.35 to $6.60 per cwt.; medium, $5 to $6.25; common, $3.50 to $4.50; canners, $2 to $3.25; choice cows, $5.50 to $5.75; medium, $4.75 to $5.25; bulls, $4.50 to $5.50; milkers, choice, each, $75; common and medium, each, $50 to $60; springers, $30 to $40. Sheep, ewes, $4 to $4.25; bucks and culls, $3.50 to $3.75; lambs, $6.25 to $6.50. Hogs, f.o.b., $6.90 to $7.25. Calves, $3 to $10.

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

He examined the crushed skull, silently and methodically, touching it here and there with fingers as light and refined as any woman's. Not a word did he utter until of a sudden he bent a scowling look of comprehension upon the iron candlestick. The only cranial wound or contusion was on the right temple.

"Who did this, Swift?" he asked.

"That's the problem, Doctor," was my reply. "There are two chaps, though, who are in a devil of a ticklish position. Since you're here now, it will probably be you who will conduct the inquest, and I'm a little curious to see how the evidence strikes you."

He nodded, and after deftly recovering his glasses, emptied the pockets. They yielded up nothing of the slightest consequence to either of us, and in a moment Dr. De Breen hesitated and frowned over the body's left hand.

He presently took it in his own hand, and scrutinized it intently, I watching him interestedly, for he had stumbled upon one of the very points concerning which I wanted his opinion. Next he turned quickly to the right hand. Both members were bruised and discolored in spots, and bore a number of abrasions.

Dr. De Breen now darted one of his quick, penetrating looks at me.

"Carrying something," he said concisely. "They couldn't break his grip—rapped him over the head."

"So that's what you make of those scratches and bruises, is it?"—for I wanted to be convinced.

"Sure. . . . What was it?"

"I think I know," was my reply: "an oblong, leather box, about four inches by three or three and a half."

"Humph!"—as he filled in the blanks of a removal permit—"not much to kill a man for."

"Ever hear of the Paternoster Ruby?" said I, casually.

Dr. De Breen turned to me with uplifted brows, and his glasses at once shot to the end of their tether. He blinked a moment.

"The devil!" he then muttered. "You don't say!"

From which I gathered that he had heard of it, and also that he had already drawn his own inference as to the contents of the leather box.

"I'll wait till after the inquest, Swift," he informed me at parting, with a very direct and authoritative manner; "but if this case turns up any promising features, I'm in; get that?"

I grinned cheerfully. "Very well, Doc."

And the last I saw of him, as he went away, he was still feeling aimlessly for the silken cord, the while his mind was intent upon something else. A queer, congenial chap was Wentworth De Breen, and as keen and fine-strung, despite his absentmindedness, as is said to be the bridge leading across to Mahomet's paradise. He had a whim for dabbling in such puzzles as my calling now and then brought me face to face with; and before I got through with Mr. Page and his ruby, this hobby of the doctor's was to supply me with an invaluable bit of evidence.

I carried the removal permit to Mr. Ulusses White, and then betook myself to a more thorough examination of the tragedy's surroundings.

First of all I went again to the untidy bedroom and the closet above the concealed safe.

A careful and methodical search brought very little to light which I thought might subsequently be of use to me. I examined the safe carefully with an idea of discovering a secret compartment; but there was none. The position of the safe itself, evidently, had been considered sufficiently private by the builders.

I paused for a moment beside an old-fashioned walnut table which stood close by the bed's head. Its top had been covered at some remote period with artificial leather, which was held around the edges by a strip or braid of similar material, the whole made secure by ornamental brass-headed tacks placed at intervals of two or three inches.

In the dust on the imitation leather cover was an oblong imprint which, the instant I perceived it, I was seized with a caprice to measure. Its dimensions proved to be just four by three and one-half inches.

Now, this mark in the dust was so manifestly fresh, and its size and shape so suggestive, that before I was well aware of the mental operation, my mind had already accounted for its presence there.

After Mr. Page had obtained the ruby from the safe last night, he had, for some reason, paused by this table before returning to Maillot in the library, and had laid the box thereon. Why? He had retained the candle, which he was at the time carrying, for there was no indication in the dust that he had temporarily relieved himself of that object. Had he turned aside to get something from the bed?—or maybe from the table?

The first mentioned, though unmade since it had last been slept in, was not disarranged in the way one would be obliged to disturb it in getting at the usual places of concealment, and it was hardly likely that Mr. Page would have taken the pains to obliterate any such indications.

As for the table, it had no drawer.

Pondering the matter, perhaps more than it warranted, I turned to the dresser. The only detail here worth a passing notice was a small pasteboard box containing a number of 38 calibre cartridges. Originally there had been fifty in the box. I counted them. Six were missing; just the number required to charge the cylinder of most revolvers of the same calibre. However, there was no revolver; nor did my entire examination of the apartment avail to bring one to light.

At last,—just as I was turning to leave the room—I received a shock which, for the time being, fairly paralyzed me.

As I have already recorded, the room in which I now was occupied that portion of the ground floor immediately behind the conservatory, and in the wing containing the library—that is, the eastern wing, as the house fronted south. Two large windows, small-paned and opening on hinges, afforded light and ventilation. It was through one of these that my surprise came.

On entering the room I had drawn aside one of the blinds, and had done so without more than the most casual glance outward, because I had already thoroughly inspected the premises contigous to the house.

But now, as I lifted my hand to draw the blind over the window again, I happened to look at the snow beneath the window. In a flash I froze, my outstretched hand remained suspended in mid-air.

When Burke, Maillot, and I had been in this room an hour or so earlier, the snow was then like an unsullied tablet upon which no character had been written; but since that time—during the very minutes I had been busy in this room, perhaps—it had received a record. Somebody with unusually small feet—small enough to be a woman's—had walked around from the front of the house to the window. After looking in—possibly at me intent upon my investigation—the mysterious prowler had departed again, but not as he had come. The retreating footsteps extended away at a right angle from the house, and at a short distance disappeared among some shrubbery.

A moment's reflection made me feel sure that only my presence in the room had forestalled a rather perilous undertaking. Why should anybody want to look in, simply, and why adopt such a compromising means of entering, if the temptation had not been extraordinarily powerful?

My hesitation was but momentary. I flung open the window, leaped out, and commenced running along the trail of the daring, unknown visitor. The visit had been so recent that I was spurred by a faint hope of overtaking the fellow.

I had not proceeded far before I heard a shout from the house. I glanced back without slacking, and saw Stodger staring at me in amazement from an up-stair window. Motioning to him to remain where he was, I continued to follow the footprints.

As soon as the bushes screened me from the house, I arrived at a point where the trail presented a new aspect: the distance between the impresses measurably widened, signifying that my unknown caller had broken into a run the instant the shrubbery concealed him fro mthe house. I quickened my pace.

The chase led me to a low stone wall marking the boundary of the premises, across some vacant lots, to the intersection of two streets, where the presence of a trolley line discouraged further pursuit.

On one of the corners, however, stood a grocery of the suburban variety; and when I arrived hatless and without an overcoat, the grocer came out, and eyed me curiously.

"Did you see anybody just ahead of me come this way?" I panted.

"Yep," returned the grocer. "Fellow came running across these lots not five minutes ago. Three other fellows waiting for him on the corner here."

"Three others!" I exclaimed. I hadn't the least idea what it all meant.

"Yep," said the grocer. "When he came there were four. The whole bunch caught a down car. Thep was Chinpmen."

I could not no more than vent my bewilderment in ejaculations.

"Chinamen!" I cried.

Mercury In Porcupine.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—"Discoveries of cinnabar, as mercury ore is called, have been made and several claims staked at Groundhog, on the Groundhog River, east of Cochrane," said Wm. Walsh, who has arrived from the mining country. "The stuff is said to be present in quantity, and a number of claims have been staked there. The find is the topic of conversation in Porcupine.

"As quicksilver is used to separate silver from its compounds, a market can be found for it right in the mining camp."

Wanted For Murder.

New York, Dec. 28.—At the instance of the British Consul, United States Commissioner Shields in this city yesterday issued an extradition warrant for James Lowrie, said to be known also as "Jimmy Johnson," who is wanted in Leeds, England, on a charge of killing Peter McBride Harvey last August.

Lowrie is said to be a race track man. He was arrested Tuesday at the home of a brother in Yonkers. He will be arraigned to-day.

FOR FAMILY USE

An Ideal Remedy for Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Weak Chest.

After having made a special study of the treatment of the throat and lungs for twenty years, Prof. D. Jackson states that in his opinion no preparation for general family use is so efficient, so healing, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone.

As his reasons for making this claim for Catarrhozone, Dr. Jackson says:

"Catarrhozone is free from opium.

"The patient can breathe its rich, balsamic fumes direct to the diseased spot.

"It is a remedy that treats and cures causes—prevents disease spreading.

"Reaches the innermost recesses of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

"Alleviates chest soreness.

"Stops coughing instantly.

"Prevents bronchial irritations.

"Relieves clogged nostrils.

"Cures sniffles and nasal catarrh.

"Prevents La Grippe.

"Has proven itself a cure for weak lungs, loss of voice, speakers' sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, coughs, colds, and winter ills."

Catarrhozone is unquestionably the world's greatest breathable cold, cough, and catarrh medicine, and being free from all drowsy drugs, entirely safe for children and old folks; it makes an ideal family remedy. Recommended by the medical profession and sold by all reliable dealers. Beware of imitations, get "Catarrhozone" only; large size lasts two months, and is guaranteed, price $1; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. By mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

Vatican Wants Triple Alliance.

Rome, Dec. 27.—An exchange of communications between the Vatican foreign office and the chancellors of European powers is proceeding at the present moment with the greatest activity. The subject of the communications is the war in Tripoli, but the question of the renewal in 1914 of the triple alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy is also being discussed.

Efforts are being made both by the Government in Constantinople and the Italian Foreign Office to find a possible basis for conclusion of peace between the two countries.

The negotiations between the triple alliance are of the most important character, as it is conceivable that they might even result in the withdrawal of Italy from the alliance and the consequent strengthening of the triple entente between Great Britain, France and Russia.

The Italian ambassador at Berlin is now in Rome, where he is giving a verbal report to the Foreign Minister, Marquis di San Giuliano, as to the disposition of Germany.

PROPRIETORS FREED.

Owners of Triangle Waist Company Are Exonerated.

New York, Dec. 28.—The state failed yesterday in its effort to fix the blame for the fire horror on March 25, 1911, in which 147 young women shirtwaist makers in a factory on the top floors of the Asch Building were burned or driven to jump to their deaths on the pavements, nine floors below.

A verdict of "not guilty" was brought in late yesterday afternoon in the case of Isaac Harris and Max Blanck, proprietors of the factory known as the Triangle Waist Co., who are the only persons indicted in connection with the holocaust.

Unusual precautions were taken to prevent repetition at the court-house yesterday of the demonstrations which have occurred in a long series of mass meetings, parades and in other ways against the defendants since the fire. Only a few persons were allowd in the court-room and the corridors and entrances were heavily guarded by extra policemen.

The jury came in at 4.35 p.m., after deliberating for an hour and forty-five minutes. The pronouncement of acquittal was first taken quietly by the defendants, but after an adjournment to an ante-room they gave way to their emotion in tears, when embraced by relatives and friends. As they passed out through a lane of policemen to the street a large crowd of men, women and children awaited them.

One hysterical man tried to press his way through the throng, crying in a high voice: "Not guilty, not guilty; Murder, murder, murder!"

He fell on the steps of the court-house in convulsions, gasping that he had lost a sister in the fire. An ambulance was summoned to take him to an hospital. By the time this excitement was over the defendants had darted into a subway entrance and got free of the hostile crowd.

Harris and Blanck were not charged in a wholesale manner with the deaths that occurred at the fire, but specifically with manslaughter in the case of Margaret Schwartz, a young girl who was found asphyxiated and burned near a door on the ninth floor. The main argument of both prosecution and defence was directed against this door, the state introducing over a hundred witnesses in an attempt to prove that it was locked and the defence refuting this contention by a mass of testimony.

Winnipeg's Power War.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—So keen is the rivalry between the municipal light and power system and the private company that the latter is publishing a page advertisement calling public attention to the weak spots in the former, and predicting the ultimate collapse of the principle of public ownership in Winnipeg. The private company devotes much space to the fact that the Manitoba Government, which took over the Bell Telephone system of the province two years ago, have found it necessary to make heavy advances in the price of telephones, and cites this as an evidence that the Winnipeg municipal plant will shortly be forced to advance rates.

However, the price of light and power has been lowered nearly sixty per cent. since the civic scheme began operation. Hundreds of customers are leaving the private company daily to take the civic service. The private company, however, adds that it will continue to meet all cuts in price.

Cold Weather Coming.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—A cold wave sweeping down from the northwest has reached the lake region.

Since Tuesday noon the temperature here has fallen from 41 to 22 degrees above zero. It was said at the Government weather bureau that the temperature probably would fall ten degrees more in this section before tonight.

Heavy snows are reported in Wisconsin and parts of Michigan. Effects of the storm may be felt in all parts of the central west, recording to the weather bureau.

Reports from northwestern states show the range to be from six above to 14 below zero.

Roosevelt Raises a Row.

New York, Dec. 27.—Close on the heels of one great peace meeting, which was broken up by a section of the audience opposed to the ratification of President Taft's proposed treaties with England and France, clouds of disagreement have spread about what is being planned as one of the greatest peace dinners the country has ever seen, here, next Saturday night.

It developed yesterday, according to a member of the committee in charge of the dinner, that former President Roosevelt had replied to a semi-official invitation to the function, at which President Taft will be the principal speaker, with a letter declaring that his sentiments were wholly at variance with those to be expressed at the affair, and censuring as "traitors" to their principles all who accepted invitations to the dinner without agreeing with its purposes.

John Temple Graves was selected yesterday as toastmaster of the dinner at which it is expected to seat 800 prominent persons, including a whole special train load of diplomats from Washington. A letter received from President Taft read: He agreed to be present and to make a thirty-minute speech, as well as to remain throughout the dinner, if it did not continue for more than three hours and a half.

Farmer Killed by Train.

Canfield, Dec. 27.—A fatal accident occurred at 11.45 o'clock, Monday night, about two miles west of Canfield, when Edgar Brown, a highly respected young farmer, was struck by a Grand Trunk eastbound train.

Mr. Brown, accompanied by his wife and lady friends, was returning from a Christmas entertainment at Canfield, when meeting the train the ladies stepped to one side, Mr. Brown to the other. He apparently changed his mind and attempted to recross the track and was struck, receiving such injuries that caused his death in an hour. Deceased leaves a young wife, but no family.

WOOD—KNIGHT NUPTIALS

Kingston, Dec. 28— On Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, the marriage was solemnized in Chalmers' church of Miss Mona Natalie Knight, second daughter of Prof. and Mrs. A. P. Knight to Herbert Spencer Wood, of Vancouver, B.C. Rev. Malcolm Macgillivray officiated, assisted by Rev. D. M. Gordon, principal of Queen's University. The church was profusely decorated, the pulpit platform being lovely with a mass of ferns, palms and white flowers.

The bridal procession, which was announced by the playing of Lohengrin's wedding march, entered the church promptly at the hour named, for the ceremony, and the stately bride, who was brought in by her father, Prof. A. P. Knight, looked a picture of grace and beauty, in her lovely gown of ivory satin, duchesse made on lines of beautiful simplicity more effective than any elaborate draperies. The court train, which was beautifully embroidered by hand, fell gracefully from the shoulders, and a pearl-studded panel, with same embroidery finished at the bottom, with silk fringe, was inset down the front. The short side panels were of white marquisette edged with white beads, finished, slightly high-waisted, with pleating of white satin. The bodice, was made surplice, one side being of handsome Carrock-Macross lace, and the other of insertion, beautifully embroidered in pearls, caught in at the waist, both front and back, with pearl ornaments. The shirred net yoke was dotted with pearls, and the kimona sleeves were also of Carrack Macross lace. The tulle veil was perfectly arranged over a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a beautiful shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The gift of the groom was a gold watch bracelet with platinum links.

The maid of honor, Miss Phyllis Knight, looked very charming in a gown of palest blue liberty satin, en traine, with over-skirt of same material, edged with silk fringe finished at waist with pleating of satin. The surplice bodice was trimmed with a fichu of blue chiffon. She wore black panne velvet hat with crown of blue tulle, and faced with blue satin, trimmed with wreath of tiny pink and blue roses.

Miss Marjorie Wilson, of Picton who was bridesmaid, wore a beautiful frock of pale pink liberty satin with square train. The over-skirt was finished with pink-knitted fringe. The surplice waist was trimmed with a fichu of handsome rose pointe lace. Her back picture hat with pink facings, and plush crown, was trimmed with black tulle bow, and black fringe. The maid of honor carried a shower bouquet of red roses, and the bridesmaid one of pink roses.

The little flower girls, Miss Phyllis Spencer, in white marquisette over pink, and Miss Phoebe Lewis, in white marquisette over blue, looked very sweet and dainty in their white beaver poke bonnets, trimmed with pink and blue rosettes. They carried a basket of marquisettes tied with pink and blue chiffon.

James Richardon, of Toronto was best man, and the ushers were Cyril Knight of Toronto, Edward Wood, of Peterboro, George Grover, of Toronto and Dr Edward Porter of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

During the signing of the register Miss Edith Linton of Truro, N.S., sang, "Oh Perfect Love."

The groom's gifts to the maid of honor and bridesmaid, were signet rings and to the little flower girls gold and pearl safety pins; to the best man and ushers, pearl scarf pins. The bride's gift to Mrs. J. R. C. Dobbs, who played the wedding march, was a lovely silver picture frame, with monogram of bride and groom, and to Miss Linton, a chain with drop ornament of corals.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests drove to the residence of the bride's parents, on Alice street, where a reception was held, and Mr. and Mrs. Wood received the good wishes and congratulations of their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wood left on the noon train for a trip to San Francisco, Cal., before they go to Vancouver, where they will reside.

The bride's handsome travelling suit which was of amethyst broadcloth, was elaborately trimmed with braid and fringe. The over-skirt which was edged with fringe, was worn over a drop skirt of amethyst velvet. With this was worn a blouse of amethyst chiffon over cloth of gold, with Oriental trimmings and white lace net yoke and sleeves. An amethyst velvet toque, with French roses, and flame colored bandeau, completed a most becoming costume.

Mrs. Knight, mother of the bride, wore a gown of irridescent dew drop net over purple moire antique. The surplice bodice was piped with pink satin, and the yoke and sleeves were of silk emboidered net. She wore a toque of purple velvet trimmed with feathers and touches of gold, and carried lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wood, of Peterboro, mother of the groom, was becomingly gowned in a grey broadcloth three-piece suit, trimmed with silk braid; black hat, with willow plumes, and carried violets.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, Miss Phoebe Lewis, and Master Jack Lewis, of Gananoque, Miss Marion Woodman, of Piedmont, Que., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson, Miss Marjorie Wilson of Picton; George Thompson, of Ayr; Garnett Greer, Peterboro; Herbert Couper, of Sydney, N.S., Miss Grace Hewson, Mr. and Mrs. George Monk, Mr. and Mrs. Jock Murray, George Grover, Mrs. Bayne Courthard, of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brennan, of Ottawa.

YOUNG MAN IS TO STAND TRIAL

Evidence in Serious Charge Was Heard This Afternoon

The circumstances surrounding the charge of seduction preferred against a Smith youth named Edward Fighe by a young girl of the same locality was heard at a sitting of the Children's Court this afternoon at the County Council chamber.

The young lady herself was placed in the witness stand and related the acts of the assault which was committed while the two were driving near Warsaw.

The girl was a domestic at the home of Mrs. Bolton, but became acquainted with the young man while visiting a neighbor with whom she was stopping.

The girl claimed she was only fourteen last September, hence the case coming under the jurisdiction of the Children's Aid Society, J. E. L. Goodwill being present for the Society.

The information in the case was laid by the girl's father and brother.

F. D. Kerr conducted the defense of the prisoner.

Magistrate Edmison committed the young man for trial.

Russians lost about 100 killed and wounded in the fighting around Tabriz, Persia.

"THE CHORUS LADY"

"The Chorus Lady" which comes to the Grand for 2 performances on New Year's Day, was one of the biggest successes of the season in New York where it ran for one solid year. The New York World criticizes as follows—

"The Chorus Lady," by James Forbes which was presented at the Wallack's Theatre last night, proved to be one of the best comedies of the season. Not only did the author provide four acts of keen enjoyment but he introduced a character entirely new to Broadway. In developing his play of love and intrigue off and on the stage, Mr. Forbes used material that was very novel and he clothed his characters with new raiment and drew them so true to life that they pleased the finer sensibilities. The first scene shows Patricia in the guise of a chorus girl out of a job. Some of the slang may miss fire with the general public, but there is enough to appeal to the lay mind to carry it. The second act represents the chorus room of a New York Theatre and proved to be one of brightness with its score of girls and the general trend of life behind the scenes. The third and fourth acts have just the required amount of strength and it was in these that the real dramatic action occurs and they held the audience in breathless uncertainty until a moment before the curtain fell. The play is a model of pure comedy.

General Bernardo Reyes, the would-be Mexican revolutionist, will likely be exiled.

The brethren gathered late in the afternoon, and installing Master, W. Bro. John Crane, performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony, assisted by brethren well skilled in duties and details.

At 7.30 o'clock, the brethren sat down to an excellent supper, served in perfect form and style by Bro. Thos. Hooper, caterer for the evening. The large refreshment hall was crowded, many visiting brethren from lodges in the district who had attended the installation, remaining to share in the ample hospitality. The installing Master, Rt. W. Bro. Crane, by virtue of his high office, was chairman, with Rt. W. Bro. F. Rush as vice chairman.

The regular lodge and patriotic toasts of the "King and the Craft" and "Canada" were duly honored by brief speech and patriotic chorus.

Rt. W. Bro. Crane proposed the toast of "The Grand Lodge of Canada" which found an able responder in Rt. W. Bro. Lt. Col. Ponton of Belleville, who in happy vein, spoke of his and the lodges relation to the Grand Lodge, and in a few sentences pointed out the extent and growth of Masonry, and the relative importance it held in point of numbers in Ontario and the other provinces of the Dominion. One lesson taught by and inculcated by Masonry was that it added to and made us realize our duty and our responsibility as men and as citizens. His address was interspersed with anecdote and story to the enjoyment of the meeting.

Rt. W. Bro. M. A. Morrison, in a few net sentences, praised, and justly so, the work done by the installing

RT. WOR. BRO. J. CRANE.
D. D. G. M., of Otonabee District No. 20, who installed the officers of the two Masonic Lodges last night.

master, his devotion to the craft, ever ready to either direct or assist. On behalf of the lodges he presented to Rt. W. Br. Crane, a magnificent Grand Lodge regalia, the beautiful gift being suitably acknowledged by the recipient. Rt. W. Bro. Col. Ponton took occasion to congratulate the lodges on having many excellent men in the brotherhood, and spoke particularly of the Grand Junior Warden Rt. W. Bro. Kenner.

Rt. W. Bro. Dr. Cameron proposed "The Newly Instituted Masters" W. Bros. F. D. Kerr, Corinthian Lodge, and W. Bro. A. Davidson, Peterboro Lodge, both of whom made happy responses.

Bro. Dr. Cameron proposed "The Visiting Brethren," and Bros. Rev. I. Couch and Bro. Rev. F. J. Sawers, spoke feelingly and with reference to the fraternal features of Masonry. Bro. Dr. Porter, of Boston, Mass., an old Peterboro boy also acknowledged the toast as a visiting member, and recalled the days when he as a youth lived in the city.

Rt. W. Bro. Kenner proposed the sentiment to "Our Absent Brother," and did so in an address replete with sentiment and reference to three who were far away, mentioning those most frequently in our thoughts and who had been identified with the life and work in each lodge. The toast was duly and heartily honored.

During the evening, Bro. W. Moore of Toronto gave many songs which were very much appreciated.

The program committee having charge of details of the evening, and to whom much credit is due, included Rt. W. Bro. Kenner, chairman; Rt. W. Bro. Walkey, W. Bro. Stocker and Bros. Goodwill, Higgins, Devey, Gillespie, Fowler and Waddell.

A FULL HOUSE AND FAIR DISCUSSION TO-NIGHT

The Opera House should be filled to-night. There is no matter that may come for discussion and consideration by the ratepayers more vital than that of Power and Light.

The man who uses power now, who hopes to use power further on, who uses electric light now, and the man who hopes to get it when the price squares itself with his wages or income should be there. Not boys—but men. It is no political meeting—but the straightest kind of business.

So come and pack the house.

Hon. Adam Beck will tell you what the Hydro-Electric Commission has done for the West, the circumstances under which it was accomplished, the results. What has been made good there can be made good here.

You will hear the exact status of affairs. You will be told of the procedure and routine that if followed will give you power and light at cost.

Hon. Mr. Beck does not need anyone to speak for him. He speaks himself. As Mr. Langford has earnestly, forcibly and practically said:—

"If it were a company that the City proposed to deal with, the matter would be different. The company would desire to make gain by dealing with the City and would endeavor to make a bargain that would give them the largest profit obtainable. Not so with the Commission. They gain nothing; they make no profit for the Commission or any other person. They offer their services to the City, with all their power, experience and capable engineers, to enable the City to procure power and equip a distribution system. If they cannot help the City to its advantage, then neither the Commission or any council would have any possible reason for going on.

The personal and corporate interests are all on the other side. It is to their interests to keep the City and the citizens from procuring their own power and light, and while others may be made timorous by bugaboos they are the ones who set them up to try to frighten the people from taking a step that will aid themselves.

To whose interest would it be to make an improvident bargain? The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has no interest to serve other than the interests of the people. It would not be of any advantage to the Commission or any member of it to have the City make a contract with it that would be disadvantageous to the ratepayers. The Commission and the Council have, in this matter, only one interest to serve, that of the Ratepayers."

Come to the Meeting. Bring your neighbour. It will well repay. You will get a grip of the thing you cannot get any other way.

MR. WM. CROFT PASSES AWAY

Was Seized With Cold Last Saturday—Was 88

After a short illness, and at the advanced age of 88 years, Mr. William Croft, one of Peterborough's best known citizens, passed away last night about 10.30 o'clock, at his residence, 259 Reid street. The late Mr. Croft enjoyed good health, up to last Saturday, when he was seized with a cold. Pneumonia set in and the end came peacefully last night. He was born in Yorkshire, Enland, and came to Canada in the year of 1830. His father, Richard Croft, also a native of England, settled in Cobourg in the same year, first on a rented farm, and afterwards purchased a farm in the same locality where he resided till his demise in 1830. His son lived at the homestead till of age and then came to Peterborough, and from that time made his home here. He married in 1850, Jane McMann, a native of Fermanah, Ireland, who with one son and one daughter survives.

The late Mr. Croft made many friends during his life in this city. He was a man, whose word once given, always stood. He was straightforward and a friend to all. In politics he was a staunch Conservative; in religion, a Presbyterian and an adherent of Knox Presbyterian church.

His son is Mr. W. H. Croft, of Toronto, his daughter, Mrs. Andrew McNeil, matron of Rockwood hospital, Kingston and one sister, Mrs. Donaldson, resides in Rochester, New York.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the late residence at two o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery and will be private. Friends are requested to omit flowers. Rev. H. J. Keith will conduct the service.

Funeral at Toronto

The funeral of the late Miss Winnifred Clarke, who died of pneumonia after a short illness of a week, took place in Toronto Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 20th, from the home of a friend, 87 Gloucaster street, to Mount Pleasant cemetery. Miss Clark was a sister of Mrs. Chas. S. McClelland, of Peterborough.

STORM CENTRE PETERBORO'

The Hamilton Herald says the fight for Hydro-electric power in Eastern Ontario depends very much on the outcome of the fight in Peterborough. The Herald says:

"In Eastern Ontario an electric power campaign is now in progress similar to the one which has been fought and decided in the west. Several eastern municipalities are voting on power by-laws, but the storm centre is Peterborough. There, a private development and distribution company is strongly entrenched, having commandof a splendid water power on the Otonabee river. Many of the citizens of Peterborough and near-by municipalities, however, desire the installation of municipal power plants operated by power supplied by the government commission, and the fight between the supporters of the public and the private power interests is waxing warm. Hon Adam Beck is in the thick of it, elucidating the principles and details of the Hydro-Electric system.

Much may depend upon the outcome of the fight in Peterborough next Monday. If the power by-law is defeated, the movement in favor of extending the Hydro-Electric system into eastern Ontario will be checked and may be permanently blocked. But if the by-law is carried, it is not improbable that the way will be clearedfor the acquirement by the H.-E. commission, acting as trustee for the eastern municipalities, of important waterpowers now held by private companies.

It would perhaps be in the interest of the municipalities in the Niagara power zone to have the eastern municipalities reject Hydro power and continue to be dependent upon private corporations for electric current. But the welfare of the province as a whole would not be advanced by such an outcome of the power fight in the east. The welfare of the whole province demands the breaking off private monopolies in the waterpowers of the province."

REV. CLARENCE RICHESON WELL TREATED IN PRISON

Received Many Gifts From Members of His Late Congregation

Boston, Dec. 26—With his cell in the Charles street jail banked with flowers, and brightened by gifts, the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson passed a Christmas that should have been pleasant in view of his week of pain and weakness. He had a turkey dinner, and at noon for the first time since his illness, he was allowed to sit up, and was fed by Harry H. Butts, the negro charged with murder, who has been stationed to guard Richeson.

According to Dr. Howard Lothrop of Beacon street, who visited Richeson yesterday morning and last evening, and allowed him to be propped up for his noonday meal, the accused minister ought to be able to stand trial on Jan. 15. "Richeson," he said "will get well."

The turkey dinner and other delicacies were sent to the clergyman by Franklin P. Nose and other parishioners of the Cambridge church where Richeson was formerly pastor. The miniter ate sparingly.

ENTERTAINED HER FRIENDS

A highly enjoyable social evening was held at the residence of Mr. J. J. Howden in Otonabee, last night, when Miss Florence Howden entertained about thirty-five young people to an informal and pleasurable dance.

Miss Howden was a most capable hostess, and all of her guests concurred in the opinion that the evening's enjoyment was all that could have been desired.

Dainty refreshments were served during intervals.

Miss Eva Heard supplied the music for the dancing in her usual accomplished manner.

LAKEFIELD IS INTERESTED IN LIQUOR CASE

Evidence in Charge Against A. J. Lawless Taken at Town Hall

Judgment Reserved for Eight Days by Magistrate Edmison

The hearing of the charge against Mr. A. J. Lawless of Lakefield, for a violation of the liquor law, was conducted at the Lakefield town hall, yesterday, before His Worship, County Magistrate Edmison.

That great interest is taken in the case was evidenced by the large crowd of spectators present. Mr. R. Ruddy, K.C., conducted the prosecution and Mr. Jas. Haverson, K.C., of Toronto, had charge of the defence.

The defence was that the liquor was held for a club and that no sale was made. Mr. Lawless conducted the Lakefield House and is without a liquor license. Judgment was reserved by His Worship for eight days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnott will reside in North Monaghan.

STORM CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE

C.P.R. Trains Were Late and Street Railway Had Hard Fight

The Street Car company operated the cars at great difficulty last night owing to the severe snow storm. The local C.P.R arrived a few minutes late, but later trains and those going through this morning were behind time. The 5.51 from the east did not make the station till shortly before 7 a.m. and the 5.25 was also late. The Winnipeg express encountered the heavy snow storm up near Lake Superior and had been held back eight hours before it made Ottawa last night. The G.T.R. trains fared better and the officials report no trouble.

The snow fall was not heavy, but the cyclone like wind was the chief factor in bringin to notice the fact that the elements had a goodly stock of amunition for distribution.

SPORT TALK

Abbie Johnson, who is boosting Canadian League ball for Peterborough, stated to-day that he was well pleased with the reception he was receiving here. He leaves, probably to-morrow, to confer with President Fitzgerald and Secretary Robinson, and arrangements will be made for the local end to be represented at the next League meeting.

Brock street rink will, it is expected, be flooded for the first time to-night, and with continuous cold weather hockey practices and skating will be in full swing within a few days.

The prospects of being treated to Canadian League ball next summer is pleasing to the many local followers of the diamond game.

The T.A.S. hockey team got off to a good start last night, the proceeds o the concert at the Lyceum being a handsome amount.

All members of the Mercantile Hockey League executive should be on hand at the meeting in the Y.M. C.A. to-night.

The Charlotte street curling rink was flooded this morning, and if the cold weather continues the rink will soon be in shape for curling.

Worried Over Crown Prince.

Berlin, Dec. 28—The possibility that Crown Prince Frederick William, who was prevented by a cold from coming to Berlin from Danzig to be present when the Crown Princess Cecilie gave birth to her fourth son on Dec. 19, and also at Christmas, will abandon Danzig as a residence during the winter, is being discussed in court circles.

The climate of Danzig, where the crown prince is serving in the army as colonel in command of the Death's Head Hussars, is, owing to its proximity to the Baltic Sea, rather raw and trying, and is said by his physicians to be unsuitable in winter for the heir to the throne.

Merger That Failed.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Albert H. Veeder, attorney for Swift & Co., the first witness called by the Government in the trial of the ten Chicago packers, testified yesterday that the defendants made two efforts to organize a merger in the summer of 1902 and that their efforts to finance the enterprise were unsuccessful in both instances.

Mr. Veeder testified that E. H. Harriman, James Stillman and other New York financiers were to have furnished the capital, and the amount they were to receive as compensation was $10,000,000.

PRAIRIE ARCHITECTURE.

Foreign Peoples of the West and Their Quaint Houses.

One of the most interesting things to the prairie tourist is the fact that in the west the influx of foreigners has resulted in the erection of a variety of strange habitations. Take, for instance, the country about Saskatoon, in Saskatchewan. There within a radius of forty or fifty miles you may find representatives of a score of peoples, nations and languages, says Emily P. Weaver in The Saturday Globe.

So close to Saskatoon that that city serves as their chief centre for business are several Mennonite settlements, where it is the prevailing fashion to build the houses and barns under one long roof. We visited one hamlet about a mile from Warman, where half a dozen Mennonite houses stand side by side, and, with one or two exceptions, the cow stable forms a kind of ante-chamber to the living-room of the establishment.

Outside some of the houses are nicely painted; others have paint only on the doors, the window-frames and the wooden shutters. For these trimmings a sky-blue tint is the favorite, contrasting sharply with the dull, weathered grey of the unpainted siding. Most of the houses have gay gardens beside them, along the fences of which quilts and pillows covered with bright-colored print were hung to air; and in the sunshine the little settlement, despite the dingy hue of some of its buildings, showed no lack of color.

Half way from Saskatoon to Prince Albert, near the villages of Rosthern and Hague, on the C.N.R., there is a large district settled almost entirely by people whose mother tongue is not English. Along the high bank of the Saskatchewan there is a settlement of French-Canadians, living, like their compatriots on the St. Lawrence, on deep, narrow farms, with the houses built sociably close together on the waterfront. I was not able to visit any of these houses, but I have little doubt that, being a conservative folk, they have transplanted to the west many of the domestic arrangements practiced by their forefathers in old France.

Not far away are Indian reserves, and scattered through the country are well-to-do German farmers, Mennonites and Doukhobors in their villages, and Hungarians and Galicians on their own farms. Some of the last-named people settled a few years ago on the outskirts of the village of Rosthern, living at first in dreadful little hovels built of poplar poles, filled in with sods. At the best of times the Galicians are not credited with being a clean people, and their tiny sod dwelling places, which were more like excavations than houses, were so insanitary that at last their occupants were obliged to remove, and they were destroyed.

According to all accounts, the Galicians, in the construction of these places, aimed only at making some kind of shelter and retaining within it as much heat as possible. Ventilation was never thought of, so there was only one door, and the window was not made to open. The consequences would have been more disastrous were it not for the fact that in fine weather grown-up people and children alike almost live out of doors, but during the bitter days of winter the air in these hovels gets so indescribably noisome that those unaccustomed to it cannot endure it.

The dwellings of the Doukhobors, of which there are many within easy reach of Saskatoon, are unlike any other houses I have ever seen. These houses are made, like those of the Galicians, of poles and clay; within are clay ovens of much the same description as that in the Mennonite house, and one man assured us that their houses are much warmer than ours. "Yours too thin," was his criticism, as he pointed out the thickness of the walls of his own abode.

Moreover, I think the outside of these houses is even more interesting than the inside. They have rude little carvings over doors and windows, and their queer overhanging mud roofs are covered with a straggling growth of lamb's quarter or some such weed, which makes the quaint village look like anything but a village.

Edmonton's Park Problem.

A prominent citizen writes to The Edmonton Journal asking Edmonton what she is going to do about it—meaning parks, playgrounds, driveways, and breathing spaces for new citizens. He remarks that Edmonton is years behind other municipalities in Canada in this regard.

Apart from its purely local significance to Edmontonians, the letter is of interest to every Canadian concerned in city building in the newer districts of the Dominion.

When pioneer settlers begin to stake out a town on the prairie, or beside the bush, and gaze across the acres of waste land about their hamlet, they don't naturally bother much with provisions for children's playgrounds and boulevard driveways.

Edmonton was a fur post twenty-five years ago. Now she is one of the big places of Canada, capital of a province.

This modern city wants parks. She needs them.

Had an effort been made years ago to set apart land for park purposes, Edmonton would have no park problems. The park land which she is dickering for now, she would have obtained much more cheaply.

For real estate values in a fur post are somewhat lower than in a metropolis.

A Borden Story.

Mr. Borden is a man of admirable self-control. On one occasion he could not get a hearing at a meeting. "If you do not want to listen to me," he said, during a momentary lull, "you are not compelled to do so. I will dictate what I have to say to the press representatives." With that he walked over to the assembled newspaper men and continued his remarks in an undertone. His quiet nonchalance had the desired effect, and the speech was delivered to a silent and attentive audience.

The reported mutiny in the navy yard at St. Petersburg was a drunken brawl.

Consumption May Yet be Wiped Out

A DECREASE OF NEARLY 40 PER CENT. IN DEATH-RATE

The following is a letter of appeal sent out to his fellow-citizens in all parts of Canada, by Mr. W. J. Gage, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Sanitarium Association. The letter tells its own story, and is surely timely at this Christmas Season:—

Toronto, December 21st, 1911.

Dear Friend,--

Each Christmas seems to call for an increasingly urgent appeal to the people of Canada to help those who are sick in our Consumptive Homes in Muskoka.

The trustees during the year have been piling up a large debt in caring for the 300 consumptives in our Homes in Muskoka and near Toronto. They have been looking forward to this Christmas time in the hope that generous people would gladly help to share the burden.

Since our work was started in 1896, wonderfully encouraging results have been shown in a decrease of nearly 40 per cent. in the death-rate from consumption.

Not only must the trustees provide a very large sum for maintenance of the sick ones, but provision for still further accommodation must be made.

A bright young girl came to our Muskoka Home, and when advised by the Physician-in-Chief that there was no room, with tears streaming down her cheeks, she said, in the presence of one of the trustees: "Where am I to go, what am I to do, doctor? My own friends do not want me--my sisters will not kiss me."

Will you help to answer this poor girl's question?

Christmas of all seasons is the time to remember the poor and suffering. It was the Christ way. May it become ours. May we have your help this Christmas season?

Yours sincerely,

W. J. Gage

Biscay's Death Toll.

Gibraltar, Dec. 28.—Still another vessel, the German steamer Chios, foundered with nearly all hands in the Bay of Biscay.

The Chios, belonging to the German Levant Line, was proceeding from Hamburg to Alexandria on Thursday last when she was caught in the hurricane and sank with all but two of her crew, the chief officer and one sailor, who were picked up by a passing vessel.

The Chios was built at Hamburg in 1891 and registered 2,590 tons net.

Miss Edmands In New York.

Boston, Dec. 28.—It became known here yesterday that Miss Violet Edmands, the Brookline heiress who was engaged to marry the Rev. V. T. The announcement that she is now doing settlement work in New York came from a close friend of the family.

Village Nearly Wiped Out.

Trenton, Dec. 28.—The village of Frankford, about eight miles north-east of Trenton, was almost wiped out by a terrible fire which broke out last evening and was still blazing this morning. The fire started about 8.30 in the Streetman Hotel block, on the Frankford main street. In a very few minutes this was destroyed, and the flames spread to the Bremen Hotel adjoining. The fire then crossed to the south side of the street, which is the residential section, and four or five houses were wiped out in a very short time. Catching the north part of the business section, Ross' blacksmith shop and harness store were cleaned out, and before long all the south side of the main street from the Streetman block to the Bell Telephone office was destroyed.

Calls were sent in turn to Trenton, Belleville and Picton for assistance, but none was forthcoming. Trenton was unable to respond because it has only one engine. Belleville and Picton had to turn down the stricken village because they have no late train service.

Nicholas Feter, a Greek waiter, was fined $200 or three months at Montreal for selling cocaine.

MR. HILL SHOULD EXPLAIN

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—I am informed that Mr. Hill the gentleman who now holds the offices of Water Commissioner and School Trustee is a candidate for Alderman for the west ward of the city.

We are all agreed that in the two offices which Mr. Hill now, and has in the past represented, he has done so with great credit to himself and to the advancement of the city, but why does he want a monopoly, or what is he reaching out so far?

The citizens of the city are satisfied that they can ill afford to loose any of the time Mr. Hill may have to spare in attending to the duties of the two offices he now holds; and although the attitude of Mr. Hill towards all matters that have come before him gives evidence of integrity and ability you no matter how faithful the old hen may be, if she undertakes to hatch more eggs than she can properly cover, in deviding her time with the setting, some of them will remain too long exposed and get chilled, resulting disastrously.

Yours respectively,
RATEPAYER

RUMOR DENIED.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I find that there is a rumor in circulation to the effect that I am the Seymour Power Company's candidate and that I am knocking the by-law now before the people. This is absolutely untrue. Neither the Seymour Company or any other company have had anything to do with my being a candidate nor have I been asked to pledge myself for or against the by-law.

I may also say that I have always supported and will continue to support every sound measure for securing cheap power and cheap light for the city of Peterborough, as well as a lower rate of taxation.

If the people carry this by-law, and I am one of the aldermen elected to next year's council, I will do as I have always done, deal with the power question and all other questions as in my judgment is in the best interests of the city.

Yours truly,
G. A. GILLESPIE.

ALD. MORGAN ON POWER QUESTION

What Rejection of Aid From the Commission Would Mean

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—If the ratepayers reject the aid of the Hydro-Electric Commission, they will be throwing away the last chance for municipal power. Even if Hydro-Electric power cost as much as it would to purchase it from the monopoly, it would still be much better to take it through the Commission. In buying it from the Seymour Power Co., the price would be fixed for a time, but who would tell what it would be in years to come? There is no coal in Ontario, electric power is what we must depend upon. And as the demand increased the monopoly would raise the price, and they could do as they liked. This consideration should cause a favorable vote on the question on January 1st.

Again, the cities which are taking or will take power from the Commission will in future have cheaper power, for their debentures dest for their distribution plant will be paid off and also the debt contracted for the transmission lines. Then they will be in a position to drop the price of power, but if Peterborough ties itself up with the monopoly, there will be no such situation here. We should get municipal power, and get it as quickly as possible so as to have the initial expense paid off at the same time as the other cities or they will have us at a great disadvantage.

Yours truly,
HARRY MORGAN.

"VOTER" FAVORS HYDRO-ELECTRIC

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—By all means let us have cheaper power and light from the Hydro-Electric Company. A rapidly increasing number of other live municipalities are making use of the Hydro-Electric Co. They have the Government behind them, who are anxious to give the people light and power at cost. In a word, they will make private power companys disgorge, cough up and hand back power that rightly belongs to the people and which these private power companys have gobbled up. Private companies will expend any amount of money, to do us out of heeap light and power. It will pay them to spend thousands to defeat the Hydro-Electric By-law on January 1st, as they would soon make it up by charging us high prices for light and power. These private power companies have a lot of smooth writers and speakers engaged in trying to persuade the people to leave themselves at the tender mercies of the private monopolist. This move for Hydro, cheap light and power is the most important "Industrially" that Peterborough has ever undertaken. Manufacturers will locate where they can have cheap power and light. If Peterborough does not secure cheaper power and light then it will have to give other inducements as well as exemption from taxes. Then power and light means lower taxes, cheaper living, new industries and plenty of work at better wages.

Every voter who is solicited for a vote by any candidate at the coming election should require a pledge from him to support the Hydro-Electric. The people's scheme for power at cost and he should not be allowed to evade the question by saying that he will see what it will cost. Let the private corporations and power grabbers get from between the people and their natural rights—there can be no dividends to capitalists, promoters fees, etc., in the costs of the Hydro-Electric scheme.

FOR NORTH WARD

To the Ratepayers;

I ask your support for election to the Council of 1912, I am in favor of the Hydro Electric By-law, but will support only such proposition as will give the city the lowest possible rates for power and light.

I will be watchful of the city's interests and endeavor to have its affairs administered economisally, consistent with progress of the city.

Yours very respectfully,
WILLIAM LANGFORD, Jr.

EDGAR

For West Ward

If my course and conduct in the Council as Alderman during the past year merits the approval of the ratepayers of the ward, which I endeavored to represent, I shall be very glad to have their support again.

I will, if elected, do my utmost to get for the city the most favorable rates for power and lighting, and which, I believe, can be had only from the Hydro-Electric Commission.

In other respects I will be careful and considerate of the best interests of the city.

JAS. EDGAR

METHERAL

FOR CENTRE WARD

TO THE RATEPAYERS:

Vote to re-elect Jos. R. Metheral as Alderman in Centre Ward.

I have been entrusted with your confidence for the past three years, and my record stands open before you. It may show no extraordinary ability, but an earnest endeavor to be straightforward and honest in all dealings. I have not been swayed by cliques or outside influences, but voted and worked at all times in the interest of the ratepayers in general and will continue to do so in the future if elected.

I would advise the ratepayers to vote in favor of the Hydro-Electric Commission by-law. I firmly believe that the Hydro-Electric Commission will give Peterborough power at rates considerably reduced from those at present in force, and I pledge myself that no contract for power either with the Hydro-Electric Commission or private corporation shall be agreed to by the City Council without a by-law to that effect being first submitted to the ratepayers.

Yours faithfully, Ladies and Gentlemen,
JOS. R. METHERAL

GARSIDE

For South Ward

To the Rateyayers of No. 1 Ward:

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to Council of this city. I hope to receive your kind support, and shall try and make my services your gain. Equal rights to all and favors to none. Wishing you all a prosperous coming year, and that your lights may be still cheaper and brighter.

Yours faithfully,
James Garside

G. N. GORDON

FOR ALDERMAN

THE CENTRE WARD

To the Electors of the Centre Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—As a candidate for Alderman for one of the two seats in the Centre Ward, I respectfully solicit your votes.

My platform is briefly this:

1. Obtain Hydro-Electric estimates and reports as to prices, terms, etc., of obtaining power for the City's manufacturers, and for house and store lighting.

2. Abate the nuisance caused by the G. T. R. using Bethune Street as a shunting yard, which injuriously affects hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of realty.

3. Obtain legislation allowing reduction of taxes on businesses and improvements, and increasing taxation of land values, thus making the holders of vacant land pay their share of taxes.

4. Have every milk vendor's milk inspected at least fortnightly, and a report with the milkman's name published showing the proportions of butter fat contained in each lot.

5. Consideration of the question of permanent improvement of highways.

6. Begin an aggressive campaign to obtain new industries, and inaugurate a strong publicity scheme.

There are two Aldermen to be elected for the Centre Ward: G. A. Gillespie is contesting one seat with J. R. Metherall, and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte Street, is contesting the other seat with me.

If elected, I will energetically support a progressive campaign for the City's advancement.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am,

Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

VOTE FOR EX-ALDERMAN J. J. DUFFUS IN THE WEST WARD

To the Ratepayers of the West Ward and Peterborough Citizens in general:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having the honor of being duly nominated and urged by a large number of representative citizens to be a candidate in the West Ward, I have decided to again enter the Aldermanic field. As it will be impossible for me to interview each voter, I hereby most respectfully solicit your support and influence to assure my election.

If you so honor me I will pledge mself to do my utmost to assist in executing the city's business in a prudent and business like manner.

New industries, to my mind, is the one essential towards the future growth and success of our city, and I am in favor of every effort being put forth to obtain cheap power and light, and also to induce the Radial Railway Co. to make extensive extensions. I would like to see the centre of our city with a permanent roadway.

I am opposed to the policy of increasing a man's taxes every time he makes improvements and minor extensions, and would support a measure to eliminate this condition of affairs.

Wishing all a bright and prosperous New Year.

Yours very respectfully,
JOS. J. DUFFUS.

JOHNSTON

FOR NORTH WARD

I am again a candidate for election to the City Council as one of the representatives of the North Ward.

I ask for your support and in return undertake to do my utmost to advance the interests of the city at large and of the ward fairly.

If the ratepayers feel that I deserve their confidence, I shall be very glad and grateful as there are some very important matters of great interest to the welfare of the city to come forward during the year. I assure them with my previous experience I can be of more than average use to the ratepayers.

Thanking you, ladies and gentlemen, with the compliments of the season.

Yours respectfully,

Scranton COAL

VOL. LXIII., No. 151. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

NO CONTRACT TILL MONEY BY-LAW IS SUBMITTED TO THE RATEPAYERS

No Binding Obligation in By-law to be Voted on Monday.

Power Interests Were Told They Would Get Dams or They Would Not Have Spent One Dollar.

If the city of London can take power from the development point at Niagara, 125 miles distant and give a rate of 4 1-2 cents to its citizens and show a surplus for the year of over $600, could not Peterboro, with a development point right at its door which means but little transmission, cut its present rate of 7 cents by half or better and also have a surplus?

This was only one of the arguments advanced by the Hon. Adam Beck, as he spoke to the large audience at the Grand Opera House last night on the question of Hydro-Electric power. The man who is known all over the province of Ontario for his achievements in the interests of the people of Ontario, as chairman of the Commission received the reception which was justly his. He had the ammunition and shot straight at the target to hit and his score was high, judging from the attentive hearing given him and the approval which his statement of solid facts, gained.

There may have existed a doubt in the minds of the representative audience before he spoke, but it is safe to say there was none after he concluded. Backed as he was by two governments, there was no reason to doubt but that the Commission which he represented could, and will give Peterboro what the city has been so long without and is badly in need of—cheap power.

Mayor-elect W. H. Bradburn with members of all official bodies, of the city on the stage with him, introduced the Hon. Adam Beck with a complimentary reference to him and his work, and in response the visitor congratulated the chairman on having gained that confidence of the people which had resulted in his election as Mayor by acclamation. He assumed he said, that that confidence meant that he would transact the affairs of the city, wisely and well, and would not do anything other than was in the interests of the city of Peterboro.

NOT A POLITICAL MISSION

The speaker explained that he was not present on a political mission; the question was not political in character. His purpose was to make electricity available for the people of Peterboro as the lowest possible cost make it at one of the common commodities to be used on the streets, in the factory, in the humble home of the workmen and in the rural life, to finance power that lies outside the municipalities, give it at cost other than the 4 per cent interest on the money advanced by the government. And he was present to answer questions. He referred to the fight of the Commission with corporate interest and how its success had not only resulted in great good to the people of Ontario but had been felt in the States to the south where the question was being taken up with a view of following if possible the policy of Ontario.

INDUSTRIAL SUPREMACY

The question he pointed out was not a question of cheap power, but rather should the people of Ontario own and control, this great natural resourse, remain the premier industrial supremacy, or let it pass into the hands of corporate interests. That was the question to be decided next Monday for this part of Ontario.

As an example of the spirit of enterprise, he cited the case of Winnipeg, which, with a population of 100,000 a few years ago decided to spend

CHINESE OFFICIALS REFUSE MONEY TO QUELL RISINGS

Wealthy Noblemen Plead Lack of Money When Asked for Funds.

Pekin, Dec. 29.—The assembly in the palace yesterday to discuss affairs connected with a settlement of the revolution, was productive of at least one dramatic incident. The Dawager Empress, the Premier, Yuan Shi Kai, and the princes of the Imperial clan were present and the debate waxed so warm that finally Yuan Shi Kai arose and offered his resignation. This, however, was refused.

Premier Yuan Shi Kai explained to the princes that he could continue the Government and retain the country north of the Yangtse only by having funds placed at his disposal. He asked the princes to empower him to secure money. He explained that $10,000,000 would meet the payments for the soldiers for five months, after which the south would become disunited and province after province would return to their allegiance to the throne.

But the princes were unmoved. They pleaded lack of money, although most of them are very wealthy. None has given any substantial amount to aid the Government with the exception of Prince Ching, who has handed over more than $100,000 for that purpose. The Dowager Empress wept, and Yuan Shi Kai showed signs of distress. Then he declared that he could not desert her and the child Emperor, and agreed to continue.

It is said that Yuan Shi Kai intends to make another attempt to obtain a loan of $10,000,000 from the "four nation" group, of which three of the countries signified their willingness to furnish a loan three weeks ago, England declining to participate.

Premier Takes Sick Leave.

Paris, Dec. 29.—A Pekin despatch to the Paris edition of The New York Herald, says:

Disgusted at the refusal of the Imperial clan to contribute to the war chest, Yuan Shi Kai last night took sick leave. It is believed that this presages his early retirement from the Premiership. He bitterly resents the bad faith of Wu Ting Fang and his party in proposing a national congress and now insisting upon a rump, not a representative congress. Yuan fears that a republic means the country's dissolution and believes that the only sane solution is to fight it out, but he is handicapped by lack of money.

Triumphant Revolutionaries.

Shanghai, Dec. 29.—An Imperial edict will not be accepted by the revolutionists, except in the most liberal form under which a republic can be established without delay, or unless it provides for the recognition of the provisional government, of which Dr. Sun Yat Sen will be elected president to-day at the regular convention of the Nanking conference.

The revolutionary leaders here laugh at the apparent struggle of Yuan Shi Kai, the Imperial Premier, to temporize with the situation, which, they declare, has completely passed out of his control.

Mongolia Not Wanted.

Pekin, Dec. 29.—In response to a direct request of the Russian Government, handed to the Chinese Foreign Office by the Russian charge d'affaires yesterday, that China should promptly resume control of Mongolia, the Chinese Government declared its inability to comply at the present moment. The only action the Government is able to take regarding Mongolia, the independence of which has been proclaimed, is the appointment of two commissioners, who have been ordered to proceed by way of the Trans-Siberian Raliway, to Urga, the chief city, to persuade the Mongol authorities, if possible to renew their allegiance to China. But in view of the present crisis it is probable that these commissioners will never leave Pekin.

For several years past the Chinese have been aggravating Russia and have been treating her contumaciously since the Japanese defeated her. China even began to organize modern troops and take other military measures along the Russian frontiers. Russia has often protested against this, and the Chinese Foreign Board has verbally agreed to the Russian demands, but has never fulfilled the promises. As late as October the Foreign Board's written reply evades Russia's demands.

Although the Russians express their desire that Mongolia shall continue as a buffer state, the attitude of the Mongolian princes, who assembled in Pekin yesterday, depends eentirely on circumstances. As they are not able to defend themselves, they will probably accept terms from the Pekin Government, whether monarchical or republican.

Will Join Revolution For $20.

London, Dec. 29.—A despatch to The Morning Post from Shanghai says, that the revolutionary leaders have been informed by Gen. Li Yuen Heng, the revolutionary commander at Wuchang, that 30,000 Imperialist troops at Hankow have offered to join the revolution for $20 apiece.

Smuggling Whisky.

Kingston, Dec. 29.—That parties are smuggling whisky across the border is the belief of authorities of the U. S., and they are working to catch the guilty party. Articles such as wool and furs are believed to be taken over the line without paying tolls.

CHINA'S FIRST PRESIDENT

DR. SUN YAT SEN
FROM THE SKETCH

The Chinese revolutionists have announced that a republican government has been formed, that Dr. Sun Yat Sen will be named President, and Nanking made the capital. Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been regarded in many quarters as the chief instigator of the present rebellion in China. He was a leader in the revolt of 1905, which failed, and he barely escaped from Canton with his life.

Former Peterborough Resident Takes Action Against Crocker Family.

New York, Dec. 29.—Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, and his sons, Richard Croker, jr., and Howard Croker, were made joint defendants in a civil action begun yesterday by John J. Breen, to recover $100,000. Breen was married to Miss Ethel J. Croker, daughter of the former Tammany leader, on April 28, 1910, and alleges that his wife's affections were alienated by Croker and his two sons. Breen declares, in his complaint, that he and his wife lived peaceably, happily and harmoniously together until the defendants influenced and induced his wife to leave him.

Breen was a teacher of horsemanship when he and Miss Croker were married by a justice of the peace in Hoboken, N.J. It was said at the time that the family of the bride were much displeased at the marriage.

Breen has since his marriage, been horse trainer for James R. Stratton, ex-M.P., of Peterboro, Ont.

APOLIGIZE TO CONSUL

Persian Authorities Promise to Punish His Assailants.

Teheran, Dec. 29.—The British Consul, W. A. Smart, who was wounded in an engagement between his Indian escort and 800 Kashgai tribesmen, is safe, having been brought from a caravanzary where he received medical atention, to Kazeroon. The Persian Foreign Minister yesterday called on the British Minister and expressed deep regret on behalf of the regent and Government for the incident. He informed the British Minister that measures had been taken to ensure Consul Smart's safe arrival at his post at Shiraz and exemplary punishment for the offenders.

The Persian Government is extremely apprehensive lest Great Britain consider the incident justification for a punitive expedition, which might lead to prolonged, possibly to permanent occupation of Southern Persia.

W. Morgan Shuster, the American who was dismissed from the office of treasurer-general by the Cabinet, is still awaiting notification of his successor's appointment. He has suggested the appointment of F. E. Cairns, who was his principal American assistant, to act in the interim.

The telegraph lines to Tabriz have been restored, and it is presumed that the fighting in that district has ceased, but all despatches so far received from Tabriz are several days old and indicate that the Russians were in a desperate plight on Sunday and were awaiting reinforcements. They effected a truce, which was held until Monday, when heavy reinforcements arrived and the Russians renewed their attacks.

Russia's Plans In Persia.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—The appointment of a Russian governor and chief of police for the city of Tabriz in Persia and the assumption by the Russians of the financial control of municipal affairs there, together with the institution of exclusively Russian courts of law is foreshadowed to-day in the semi-official Novoe Vremya.

Wholesale arrests and trials by court-martial of participants in the attacks on the Russian troops are to take place, while the constitutionalists are to be disarmed and stern measures taken for the re-establishment of order in the north.

PROMISE WILL BE REDEEMED

Hon. Mr. Borden Will Link Prince Edward With Mainland,

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The people of Prince Edward will at last have a car ferry service to the mainland. Such was the official announcement last night, and the efforts of the two Conservative members, Messrs. McLean and Nicholson during the last two months are at length crowned with success.

A long felt want of the people of Prince Edward Island has thus at last been satisfied by the present action of the present Government. The island province came into confederation under a distinct promise by the Dominion Government to maintain a connection all the year round between the island and the mainland. The Government of Sir John Macdonald implemented this pledge in good faith, but the Liberals under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier insisted that a tunnel should be built as the only effective method of carrying out the contract of confederation.

The Government has met the wishes of the baby province by arranging at once for the installation of a car service between the Prince Edward Island Railway and the Intercolonial Railway, and for this purpose the guage of the P. E. I. Railway will be increased from three feet six inches to four feet eight and a half inches, the standard gauge.

A semi-official announcement given out in the Premier's office says: "The proposal of the Government will involve the change of narrow gauge to standard gauge on the P. E. I. Railway. This improved service will do away with the three short hauls and it is confidently anticipated that it will result in great advantage to the people of the island, and especially to the farmers and other producers."

Rescued Schooner's Crew.

Barry, Wales, Dec. 29.—The Italian steamer Cavi arrived here yesterday with the crew of the British schooner Clara, which foundered off Sagras, Portugal. The schoner, which was on a voyage from Gibraltar for Harbor Grace, Nfld., was owned by J. McRae of St. John's. She registered 100 tons.

WHAT POWER COSTS OTHER MUNICIPALITIES

If anyone in Peterborough imagines that the Hydro-Electric Commission is furnishing power to manufacturers in Western Ontario cities at cheaper rates than manufacturers are paying in Peterborough, they are mistaken.

The following figures show the amount of power used and the rates charged the various municipalities—last August—in the Hydro-Electric district. These rates are the prices paid by the municipalities to the Commission and do not include the cost of distribution or maintenance of distributing systems.

TOWN OR CITY	COMMISSION NOW CHARGING PER H. P. PER YEAR
Toronto	$18 00
London	28 00
Guelph	25 00
Stratford	32 00
St. Thomas	32 00
Woodstock	26 00
Berlin	25 00
Hespeler	26 00
Preston	25 00
New Hamburg	32 00
Ingersoll	28 00
Dundas	17 00
Hamilton	17 92

These quotations are official and were supplied by the officials of the respective towns and cities.

The rate Peterborough manufacturers pay at their plants is only $20.00. The cost of transmission throughout the city would be $5.00 per h. p., so that this amount should be added to the prices quoted above. It can be seen, therefore, that Peterborough is obtaining power at reasonable rates without plunging the city into any debt.

Ratepayers of Peterborough should look before they leap.

The City of Toronto established a municipal electric light plant and told the ratepayers it would cost $2,500,000.00. They have spent already $2,750,000.00, and are asking the ratepayers to vote $2,200,000.00, and they state it will take a further sum of $1,000,000.00 to complete the scheme, making a total of $5,450,000.00 on an original estimate of $2,250,000.00—just about double the original amount.

The City of London established a municipal lighting system and asked the ratepayers for $235,000.00. They have spent up to date $354,585.03.

Is it wise for the ratepayers to vote in favor of a by-law such as is being put before the people on the first of January without knowing what the actual cost is going to be? Would it not be much better to turn down the present by-law and insist on the City Council allowing you to vote on a by-law attached to which is an estimate of the amount which you are going to add to the city debt?—[Advt.]

FORGER'S MURDEROUS ATTACK ON MATTAWA CHIEF OF POLICE

Ernest Monette, of Many Aliases Passed Worthless Cheques.

North Bay, Dec. 29.—Chief of Police McElroy of Mattawa was murderously assaulted by a prisoner, named Ernest Monette, alias Gagne, Page and LeClair, whom he arrested on a charge of forgery and obtaining money under false pretences. Monette came up behind the chief at the lock-up and struck him on the head with a club, knocking him unconscious.

Town Clerk McMeekin heard the noise, rushed in and was also attacked by the prisoner, who then made his escape to the woods surrounding the town. A posse was organized and Monette was recaptured. He was committed for trial, and brought before Judge Valin at North Bay, pleading guilty to forgery. He was remanded for sentence, pending the outcome of Chief McElroy's injuries, which are serious and may possibly result fatally.

Monette, under the name of Page, passed a check supposed to be signed by J. Lumbden, lumber dealer, for $70 in payment for a $10 suit of clothes, receiving $60 change in cash. At another store, under the name of Le Clair, he passed a similar check for $50, in payment for small purchases and was given change. The merchants victimized were Malcolm Vineberg and Alexander Matte.

The bank detected the forgery and Monette was captured before he had a chance to get away.

VOTE FOR POWER BY-LAW

Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, made it clear in his address at the Opera House last night, that the vote on Monday next on the power by-law was in no way binding on the city, and offered to give his pledge in writing that the Commission would enter into no contract with the city for power, until a money by-law is first submitted to the people.

This disposes of the main bone of contention to the present by-law, many people believing that to vote for the measure on Monday would be placing the city in the hands of the City Council and the Commission. The by-law to be voted on Monday simply gives the City Council power to negotiate with the Commission and come to some definite understanding and then again submit the matter in the form of a running by-law to the people.

Hon Mr. Beck dealt with the question of power in all its various phases in a most logical and convincing manner, which left no doubt in the minds of the representative gathering of citizens, that the hydro-electric system had been a success to a marked degree, wherever installed. He quoted figures from the larger places, where hydro-electric power is used, to show that it has greater reduced the cost of electric energy and that it had forced private corporations in many instances to reduce their rates by just about one half.

One of the strong points that the speaker brought out in his address was the fact that by developing and conserving the great water powers of the province, the power of private combines was curtailed to such a degree that they either had to meet the low rates for power, which the hydro-electric has brought about or practically go out of business. Private corporations might offer an excellent agreement, under exisiting circumstances for a number of years but there was nothing to prevent them from, at the end of that time, in again jumping their rates to a high figure.

This is an important point to voters on Monday. It is to the future you must look as well as to the present, as regards the cost of power.

Western Ontario cities have been able to make a surplus under the hydro-electric system and give the people cheap power, and it seems only reasonable to suppose that the same system would work out satisfactorily in Eastern Ontario, especially in Peterboro, with water power right at her door, while London, which has to transmit power 120 miles, has a surplus and is the cheapest lighted city on the continent.

Another important feature of the issue, is the fact that with the development of the hydro-electric system, which means power at reasonable prices, all classes of citizens will be able to use electricity for not only lighting but heating purposes. This means that when the hydro-electric is in force in all parts of the province, as it eventually will be, the consumption of coal will be very greatly reduced. And this is as it should be, the province as everyone well knows being dependant on a foreign county for its coal supply, which could be cut off at any time. Electrical energy at economical prices is the only way to deal with the problem.

That the hydro-electric Commission will use their powers of expropriation, in the Trent district, if necessary was made very clear by Hon. Mr. Beck and the outcome of the situation, if the by-law carries, is that the power corporations will likely capitulate to the Commission in some reasonable arrangement.

The hydro-electric is no longer a speculation or a problem. It is a decidedly successful undertaking that has forced corporations to reduce their rates in many places fully forty per cent.

All that the city will be asked to undertake, if an agreement is reached with the Commission, is to secure and maintain the distributing station for the power. The Commission would secure and handle all other parts of the system.

Get out on Monday and register your vote in favor of the by-law.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Cheap power will mean a great boon to the farmer and the workingman.

The hydro-electric brings electrical power within the reach of the masses

A ballot marked for Gordon in Centre Ward is a vote well placed.

Do you want cheap power. Your vote on Monday will answer this question.

The power corporations put up millions to fight the hydro-electric, but the Commission has put one over on them.

The hydro-electric by-law certainly stands high with many citizens, if the enthusiasm shown at the Beck meeting stands for anything.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Dec. 28.—There continues to be a good demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat and a fair amount of business is passing for both nearby and future shipment. Considerable ocean freight room has been engaged this week for May-June shipment. Cables were stronger, prices bid from the United Kingdom being 1½d higher and from the continent two marks. There was some demand on spot for tough wheat for feeding purposes and sales of several cars were made at 56c, ex-track, and feed wheat was offered at 70c.

A more active trade was done in oats and sales of some round lots were made owing to the increased demand from outside points. Cables on oats were stronger, with 20s bid from Bristol for extra No. 1 feed. Good trade continues to be done in flour for local demand, but the export demand is slack. Demand for cheese from over the cable is increasing. Butter is fairly active. Eggs firm under a good demand. A good many American eggs are coming forward. Provisions steady with a fair trade doing. Supplies of dressed poultry large and prices have broken 1c to 2c per pound.

"Or Japs," remarked the grocer. "Come to think of it, they must've been Japs; they didn't have no pigtails."

Well, there was nothing else for me to do but to turn round and go back the way I had come. The grocer could tell me no more, and I was completely stumped. Why four Chinese—or Japs—should be interested in my movements in the Page house I could not in the least imagine.

But one thing was certain. I had skirted the border of some secret, desperate enterprise. It challenged directly all my powers and capabilities. I was irritated, nettled, not at my inability to fathom the mystery at once, but at a species of mental numbness which preevnted me from even conjecturing a plausible theory to account for the strange episode.

I strode along in a deep, moody revery, unconsciously scanning each in turn of the absurdly small footprints. I vaulted the low wall into the Page premises, and before I had fairly recovered my balance, I pounced upon a folded sheet of paper which lay in the snow on one side of the trail.

I unfolded it. The sheet bore a roughly sketched floor plan of some house's interior. There was a wide hall ,a square stair-well, and three or four rooms. One of the rooms—the smallest—had been designated by a cross.

All at once I uttered a little cry. This was a second-floor plan of the very house I had been exploring. Although I had not been up-stairs yet, I had seen enough of the relative positions of the different rooms to recognize the one indicated by the cross.

It was the bath room.

CHAPTER X.

The Second Story

The reader will have observed, very likely, that up to the present I have made no mention of a close examination of the second story, nor, moreover, of having ascended the stairs above the balcony-like landing with its grewsome burden.

Such was indeed the case; and while my failure in this regard might argue neglect, or at least a strange lack of system, I can only point out that the entire sequence of events, from the moment of my arrival in the house, had been most unusual.

It is rare that so many divagations become inevitable. I was obliged to acquaint myself with the circumstances as they forced themselves upon me, and not as if I had been free to ferret them out in accordance with any customary course of procedure. All along I had been impatient to get up-stairs; but first one thing and then another had arisen, demanding immediate attention. We shall soon learn, however, how my search in the second story was rewarded. While the results may appear not very significant, they were nevertheless of vast importance in pointing a way to the riddle's answer.

For, mind, although I was reasonably sure that the ruby represented the motive for the murder, I had been given a number of reasons for believing that this motive involved a plot of infinitely farther-reaching than the determination of some common thief or housebreaker to secure the gem. If I wanted to fix resposibility for Mr. Page's cruel death, I would be obliged to lay bare the controlling cause in all its ramifications. Whether Maillot or Burke was the guilty man, it was at this stage of vital consequence that the State's Attorney be given light upon every factor in the tragedy; and as this was my business, it is not surprising that I was animated with an ambition to make a thorough job of the matter.

And furthermore, I was satisfied that the Paternoster ruby had not yet been removed from the house, wherever the murderer might be—a belief which I was very shortly to have strengthened by seemingly unimportant incidents. The trail in the snow was one of these confirmatory incidents, although I had no occasion yet to so regard it.

While it was my first duty, therefore, to discover the murderer, I saw no reason why I should not at the same time find the well-nigh priceless gem, inasmuch as I hoped that the latter would point definitely to the former.

The ruby had disappeared between eleven o'clock last night and the time of Stodger's arrival—shortly before three in the morning. One of the two men who had passed the night in the house might have secreted it. Their presence offered the most plausible explanation.

Was Maillot the one? His fantastic story was certainly a strain upon one's credulity, I must confess; yet, I had sat face to face with him, and I am not without skill—nor was I at the time—in penetrating a man's outward aspect and discerning the sincerity of his purpose. In justice to him, I can not emphasize too strongly how convincing had been every utterance of his, the which I have been at some pains to record. And then, I could not attribute the freshly oiled hinges nor the rifled safe to Maillot. Consequently the next step was to turn to Burke: when I did I was met only by a mental image of his inscrutable eyes; the baffling, impassive visage which showed no mark of age.

Well, Maillot did not have the ruby. And now, if a search of Burke's person and belongings resulted as the former search had, why, I must look to some hiding-place near at hand.

And this was a task after my own heart. I cast ahead in pleased anticipation to some delightful hours after nightfall in this dreary old mansion, when I would be alone and at liberty to pursue my quest with the least likelihood of being disturbed.

If the ruby were really here, I meant to remain pretty close to it until it came to light, or else have a dependable substitute take my place when it should become necessary for me to go abroad. It was this determination which led to the scar that will disfigure my face as long as I live.

The erstwhile secretary submitted without demur to an examination of his clothing, and without any change of expression that I could perceive. The pale eyes followed my movements with a blank, incurious stare (though Stodger maintains that they did not cease for an instant regarding him), and I was glad enough to see the fellow depart, after I had privately passed word to Stodger not to lose Burke until another man could relieve him.

The flight of stairs above the landing gave upon a hall which— excepting in the front, where there was a large diamond-paned window—entirely surrounded the stair-well, and was continued by a lateral passage connecting the gables or wings.

One leaning over the balustrade at the top looked down the ascending stairs, the balcony midway up, and a good portion of the spacious hall below. The lateral hall gave access to all the rooms on the second floor.

Arriving at the head of the stairs, I first gave my attention to the etagere. This piece of furniture was simply a pedestal of shelves, without sides, front, or back, so that to tilt it in any direction far out of the perpendicular would mean to spill its burden of old newspapers and periodicals.

Maybe it would have been convenient in a musicroom, but situated where it was it was certainly in the way of anybody using the stairs. If a person unfamiliar with the house should ascend the stairs in the dark, the instant he turned at the top he must almost inevitably collide with it—a circumstance which I was to have brought home to me a few nights later, with consequences which missed being fatal by only the slenderest margins. But after all, I concluded, if a stranger missed it only by a miracle it might have served a double purpose here; no one slept in the second story, ordinarily, and it would make a good burglar alarm, as well as a repository for the iron candlestick and the sea-shell match receptacle.

From the point where it now leaned against the balusters to the lateral corridor or hall, there were many little details to arrest and stimulate my curiosity. The carpet between these two points plainly showed signs of a recent struggle, and at the western vortex of the angle formed by the balustrade surrounding the stairwell, innumerable drops of congealed paraffin were scattered widely over the floor.

And the railing itself also held a record. Stout as were the uprights sustaining it, it had received the impact of a body sufficiently heavy to throw it askew. At this point on the railing there was a deep triangular dent, destined to assume a high place in solving the problem of Felix Page's murder.

When I stood directly in front of the bath room door, I could look down over the balustrade to the landing—the body had been removed to a more suitable place—and I could also see the front door and most of the first-floor hall.

A dozen or so feet west of the stairwell two floors opened upon the lateral passage. They were directly opposite each other; the front room having been the one occupied by Maillot the previous night, while the other was Burke's.

Now as I allowed my glance to rove along the dim-lighted hall, in the direction of the two bedchambers, it was at once arrested by some small—and at the distance, indistinguishable—object lying in the centre of the floor a few feet beyond the two doors. I went and picked it up.

It was the shabby leather jewel-case.

But now it bore many indications of extremely rough usage. It was not only open, but empty; the lid was bent, twisted out of shape, and hanging precariously by one damaged hinge. The leather was freshly torn and scratched, while the inner lining of faded satin had been slit in a number of places. I contrived after some manipulation to get the box into a semblance of its former shape, and then slipped it into a pocket of my coat.

Neither Maillot's room nor Burke's revealed anything of much consequence. In the former I noted the open wardrobe door, and, owing to its position relative to the bed, was obliged to admit the liklihood of Maillot's accident. In the other room, in a small leather satchel, were the papers by which Burke accounted for his presence. They were of no interest to me. I turned them over to Mr. White, who, with the other gentlemen, was just departing.

To be continued.

C.N.R. May Assume Control of Hamilton Utilities

Story Is Published To the Effect That Mackenzie and Mann Interests Are Planning a Wide Program of Expansion by Which Electric Lines Are to Become Feeders to the Steam Railway—Several Involved.

Hamilton, Dec. 29.—That the stock of the Dominion Power & Transmission Co. and its subsidiary companies, will be transferred to Mackenzie and Mann early in 1912, is the gist of a story published yesterday in The Spectator, the owner of which paper is Wm. Southam, who is also a large stockholder in the Dominion Power & Transmission Co.

The holdings of the local concern include the Hamilton Street Railway, the Cataract Power & Light Co., and four radial electric lines; the Brantford & Hamilton, Hamilton & Dundas, Hamilton, Grimsby & Beamsville, and the Hamilton, Burlington & Oakville railways.

The acquisition of these properties by the big Toronto firm is said to be a part of a general scheme, incidental to the expansion of the Canadian Northern Railway, to secure control of a large number of electrical lines as feeders to the steam road, and it is probable that other electric lines in this section of the province will be taken over by the Mackenzie & Mann interests in the near future.

It is expected that the deal now in progress will be concluded before the Canadian Northern plans for entering Hamilton are filed in January, and it is understood that the city's attitude, toward certain proposals which the prospective owners of the Hamilton Street Railway are prepared to make to the city in regard to extensions to the street railway system, will have a material bearing on the C.N.R. plans. The Canadian Northern route through the city, it is said, has already been secured and speculation in surrounding property by Toronto capitalists has become active. The charter of the Dominion Power & Transmission Co. gives it the right to an underground entrance to Toronto, and this feature is said to make the investment attractive to the Mackenzie & Mann interests.

C.N.R. Service To Orient.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—A San Francisco message purports to announce that Sir Donald Mann, at present in California, has stated definitely that the C.N.R. proposes to inaugurate in the near future a steamer service between Canada, Australia, and China, as well as a Western Canada grain service to Europe, via Vancouver and the Panama Canal, as soon as that undertaking is completed some three years hence.

Pastor Has Alibi.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 29.—A congregation in Quanah, Texas, was hearing Rev. Chas. M. Brewer preach a sermon on "Practical Christianity" at the time of the blowing up of the Government bridge at Fort Riley, Kansas, in which the pastor's name was implicated through a confession of Private Michael Quirk, according to a statement made here yesterday by Rev. Mr. Brewer. The Minister was passing through the city on the way from Olustee, Okla., his home, to Fort Riley, where, he says, he will investigate the conditions leading up to his arrest, and demand an explanation of Government officials.

Rev. Mr. Brewer's arrest followed a confession by Private Quirk, in which he said he had met the pastor, formerly chaplain at the fort, riding in an automobile with a woman, and that they had asked him to join them in blowing up the big bridge over the Kansas River.

Montreal D.R.O. on Trial.

Montreal, Dec. 29.—The trial of Albert Gingras, returning officer for the division of Maisonneuve, at the last federal election, on a charge of attempting to defraud the Dominion Government by falsifying election accounts continued yesterday afternoon before Judge Lanctot.

A number of deputy returning officers were called as witnesses for the prosecution, some of who denied signatures on accounts said to be theirs, while others declared that they had signed the accounts in blank, leaving Dr. Gingras to fill in the figures, and still others, looking over accounts for their polls, pleaded ignorance of charges for transport and police service presented to the Dominion Government.

Canon Ellegood's Successor.

Montreal, Dec. 29.—At the adjourned vestry meeting of the Church of St. James the Apostle, to choose a successor to the late rector, Canon Ellegood, the Rev. A. P. Shatford received a substantial majority of the votes of the congregation. Canon Sheeve of Sherbrooke was named as the alternative. The two names will now be submitted to the Lord Bishop of Montreal, and his choice announced at a vestry meeting next Thursday.

Before the balloting, it was pointed out that Rev. Almond Abbott of Hamilton, who was among the nominees, would probably not accept the rectorship, even if it were offered to him.

PITY THE POOR ACTOR!

Some Hardships of Life on the English Stage.

When one hears of So-and-So's brilliant theatrical success a good many longing eyes turn enviously towards the stage as an easy and somewhat romantic way of earning a livelihood, says a London magazine.

The glamor which hovers over the footlights has an attractive influence compared to which the moth and the candle, the magnet and the needle, might really be non-existent. This article concerns itself principally with that branch of the business, numbering roughly some six thousand actors and actresses, who never rise above the mediocre—practically nine-tenths of the total number who adopt the stage as a calling.

The struggling clerk—the mechanic, who finds it difficult to make both ends meet on from $6.50 to $10 a week, lives in an earthly paradise and is a modern Croesus compared to the average actor and actress of to-day. Undoubtedly, the great majority of theatrical companies touring the tank towns at the present time are, to put it mildly, mediocre. Moderate in the ability of the artists engaged; worse than moderate is the twaddle that is submitted to the public and by courtesy called a play, one is scarcely surprised that the financial "returns" at the end of each week is invariably bad, and as a result the "Ghost refuses to walk," i.e., salaries are not met. Worse even than this, the manager of the company finds he has not sufficient funds in hand to pay the traveling expenses of the crowd to the next town. The artistes have now to be contented with a few dollars each—just enough to clear them out of the town, whilst a request is forwarded to the local manager to advance a sufficient sum to cover the expenses of the journey. Having to choose between agreeing to this demand or closing his theatre for the week, it is invariably forthcoming, so that the following week is begun with a heavy mortgage on the week's receipts. The railway company, the printer, and every local item must be paid for the sake of the reputation of the management. Only the unfortunate actors and actresses have to bear the inconvenience and oftentimes misery of going short.

The usual number of people engaged in a touring dramatic company is from ten to fifteen. Average them all at $12.50 per week each—and this is a very generous average. Deduct from this fares to be paid by each artist to join the tour, and a fortnight's rehearsal without payment, not to mention a considerable outlay in wigs and wardrobe for the particular part played. Make these reductions, and the $12.50 is already considerably diminished. Then there are odd weeks out through the inability of the touring manager to book a suitable date; vacation of a few weeks between the finish of one tour and the starting of another, which brings the general number of working weeks in the year to about 35 out of 52. Reference to one of the leading theatrical papers and a perusal of the correspondence on this subject and "A minimum salary for actors," will verify every statement made here.

Actors and actresses usually speak of their calling as a profession. Why this is so is not easily understood, as most professions require educational attainments beyond the ordinary individual. A large number of them would derive considerable benefit from a course of continuation classes in such subjects as grammar, elocution, and a nodding acquaintance with the King's English. Given a good personal appearance, with the ability to "dress" a part well, and nothing else seems requisite to the touring theatrical manager of to-day beyond a big "sensation" scene.

By sheer pluck the more intelligent fight their way upwards, and with the aid of a good deal of assurance, succeed in reaching the average maximum salary of $10, or may be $15 for about thirty to thirty-five weeks in the year. Make the deductions aforementioned, and the salary resolves itself into the magnificent sum of about $5.50 a week less all the charm of home life.

Winter's Sunblind.

It will come as a surprise to the average householder to know that in the ordinary domestic grate four-fifths of the heat goes up the chimney. For four hundredweights of coal out of five he gets nothing for his money.

The city analyst of Manchester stated some time ago that out of every hundred tons of coal burnt in the factories of the Midlands, one ton remains in the air as soot. In every thousand pounds of coal there are, on the average, about eight pounds of sulphur, which escapes into the air and forms sulphuric acid gas. Soot is said to encourage the growth of cancer; the acids in the smoke injure the lungs and brain.

London loses, through her smoke-cloud, fifty per cent. of the winter sunlight, and the annual cost of the output of coal smoke from domestic chimneys in London is estimated to be about $120,000,000. Smoke, in spite of many opinions to the contrary, does not act as a disinfectant.—London Answers.

"The Pluckiest Man."

It was Field Marshal Sir George White who once referred to General Hunter as "the pluckiest man he had ever met." During the siege of Ladysmith Hunter was entrusted to take a force from the besieged city to silence a Boer gun which had been shelling Ladysmith disastrously. Stealthily, in the small hours, he and his men groped their way up the great hill. "Who goes there?" shouted a Boer sentry. "Half of old England, old chap," was the commanding officer's response, as he felled the speaker and rushed on to conquest. General Hunter admits that was the most thrilling experience of his career—so far.

HARD LUCK STORY TOLD

Young Couple With Small Child Apply for Help

The story of a case of real hard luck was unfolded this morning to Mr. Finch Miller, city relief officer, by a young English couple who from their story appear to be having a hard time of it.

The husband's name is Fountain, and last summer he took action against a farmer with whom he had been employed, to recover wages, that he claimed were due him for services. He was awarded a paltry sum. Since then various misfortunes have been experienced, chiefly the inaility of the husband to procure work. They have a child of tender years to provide for also.

The couple are very young, and as far as could be learned, the husband has no trade, and with a rigorous winter approaching, they have been compelled to apply to the city for relief.

"THE CHORUS LADY"

Notwithstanding the many comedies that have been produced in the past fifteen years, few have made any noteworthy success from a public patronage standpoint. Of the main successes, "The Chorus Lady" is the only comedy that has stood out the most prominent of all, not only in New York Chicago, Boston, but even in London, England, where so many American successes have not been received with favor. In that city "The Chorus Lady" had a run of over six months, and one of the main reasons for the favor it was received with, and the famous dressing room scene in the second act. "The Chorus Lady" will appear at the Grand on New Year's Day, for two performances, matinee and evening.

WEDDING BELLS

NICOL—CONNING

A quiet, but very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Matthew Nicol, King street, Norwood, on Wednesday, December 27th, at noon, when his third daughter, Mary Beatrice, was married to the Rev. W. Cairns Conning, Presbyterian minister at Dwight, Muskoka, son of Mr. Anthony Conning, and formerly of Kircudbright, Scotland.

The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and smilax, pink and white carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, entere dthe parlor, attired in alovely gown of duchesse satin, made princess, with sleeves and yoke of silver spangled net. She carried a bouquet of white heather, and lilly of the valley, the heather being sent from Edinburgh, Scotland, by a friend. She was unattended except by her niece, little Miss Margorie Miller, who held her bouquet. Rev. Mr. Cree officiated.

There were no invitations given, only the immediate relatives being present. Lohengrin's bridal march was played as a duet by Mrs. Miller, of South River, and Miss Jean Nicol, sisters of the bride. The hymn, "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," ws sung during the ceremony.

The numerous and costly presents which were sent testified to the high esteem in which the bride was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Conning left amid showers of confetti by the 3.56 p. m. train for Toronto, the bride wearing a suit of Oxford grey, with touque to match, and Persian lamb furs, the gift of the groom. They expect to reach Dwight by Friday evening, when a reception is to be tendered them by the congregation, of which Mr. Conning is pastor.

UNCLE SAM CAN CURE SICK BEES

Washington, Dec. 29.—How to doctor a sick bee can be ascertained by writing to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for its publication, entitled "The treatment of bee diseases." Many farmers have been losing their colonies of bees, the latest report showing a loss of 800,000 colonies on the farms of the country. This loss can be checked, the department declares, "provided the bee-keeper knows how to treat the disease." Knowledge of which can be ascertained.

He was highly respected and made many friends, who will extend their deepest sympathy to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cobb, and his bereaved wife an dfamily of two sons and one daughter. Mr. Jas. P. Cobb, of Lachine, Que.; Mr. Fraser Cobb and Miss Helen Cobb, of this city. Deceased was fifty-three years of age, and had been active in church work and will be much missed by all.

THE LATE MRS. LETITIA MEHARRY

Good Christian Woman Has Gone to Her Reward

Mrs. Letitia Meharry, widow of the late G. Norton Meharry, of Shawnee Mound, Indiana, died at her home on Friday noon, Dec. 15th, 1911. Peritonitis was the direct cause of her death, after an illness of two weeks.

She was a splendid Christian woman, loved by and endeared to every one who knew her, and she leaves behind her a well lived life, a character, the memory of which will be as lasting as if it were chiseled in stone.

Mrs. Letitia Meharry was a native of Canada, her birthplace, Cavan, near Peterborough. She was born March 21, 1835. She was educated in the schools of her native province and attended two ladies' seminaries in Peterborough, receiving an excellent education, which has since been supplemented by by wide reading. She was the daughter of Robt. Meharry and Letitia Blackstock Meharry, both natives of Ireland. The father came with his parents when only nine years old, being born in Cavan County, Ireland, January 16, 1810, and settled in Cavan, Ont., where he carved for himself an untarnished name in the forests of Durham County, and after a useful life of 69 years, departed to his heavenly home, the goal he was seeking.

Letitia Blackstock was the daughter of Rev. Moses Blackstock, born in Ireland in 1815, and came to Canada when three years old, settling also in Cavan. Her parents moved later to Lafayette, Indiana, where both died. Robert Meharry and Letitia Blackstock were married February 29th, 1832. Their home was blessed with twelve children, one died in infancy, the others with the exception of the late Mrs. Wm. Eyres and Hugh B., of Peterborough, and Letitia are still living.

Letitia was married to G. Norton Meharry, of Shawnee Mound, Indiana, Oct. 2 2nd, 1856. They were the parents of nine children, three died in infancy, the otheers Florence, Ed., E., Robert, Annie, Ira and Hode were with her when she went to sleep in Jesus. Besides her six children there were present her four daughters-in-law, seven children and her brother Jesse.

She was a wonderful woman. She never thought of herself, but for the comfort of others. When this community was in its infancy she cast her lot with it. She never pushed herself ahead, but was always crowded to the front. She took an active part in all church work. She was a Sabbath school teacher for more than fifty years. There is no one in this community but have been taught by her. There are none but have been benefited by having known her.

She lived to bless mankind. She was a mother to all. No young man came with in her notice bu twhat received a welcome handshake and a "God bless you my boy." She was a devoted Bible student, a charter member of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, and never out of some office in that society.

Her sickness was one that had no bodily pain, conscious to the last, and those who were with her will always remember her last hours, they were a beautiful close to so useful a life.

The funeral was from her late home to the Meharry cemetery. The services, conducted by the Revds. Hotch of Shawnee Mound, Ind., Jones of New Richmond, and Lugalls of New Town.

LENNOX IS JAILED

Man With Wife Who Married Peterboro Domestic Gets Fifteen Months.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—John Lennox was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment for bigamy, in police court yesterday. Lennox's desertion of his wife in Dundee was characterized by Crown Attorney Corley as one of the cruelest cases he had ever heard of. Both Lennox's wife and daughter are in poverty in Dundee and suffering from consumption and the daughter is dying. When the second wife of Lennox, who was present in court, with her baby in her arms, heard the sentence, she had to be escorted outside.

Lennox went to Toronto from Peterborough and his second wife, Miss Margaret Cummings, was brought from Scotland by a family in this city. The two, it was claimed, had been friends in Scotland and his first wife wrote to the Toronto police, with the result that Lennox was arrested.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of Helen Lawless took place from the residence of her father, Mr. James Lawless, University Avenue, this morning, to St. Mary's Cathedral, where requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Halligan. The deceased, who was 14 years of age, was visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Kenny, Peterborough, when she died. There was a large attendance at the funeral. The pallbearers were six of her school girl friends, who were attired in their first communion dresses and veils. The remains were accompanied to the city by Dr. and Mrs. Gallivan, Mr., Mrs. and Miss Kenny. Those who sent flowers were Mrs. Brennan, Peterborough; Dr. and Mrs. Gallivan, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lawless, Patrick and James Lawless, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lawlor, Mr. and Mrs. M. Walsh, M. Brison and W. Flannigan. Spiritual offerings were given by the Misses Givens, Jack and Ita Lamarch, Mary and Martin James, Miss A. McConville and W. Flanigan.—Kingston Standard.

Hon Col. Hughes will be banquetted by the officers of the Quebec garrison.

MISTAKEN FOR DEER

Probable Cause of Fatal Shooting of Kenneth Kingston

Ottawa, Dec. 29—That the late Kenneth J. Kingston, the young Ottawa surveyor, who was killed by a rifle shot in the back near Mistatim, Sask., over a week ago was mistaken for a deer, or some other animal and by a hunter is suspected by the North West Mounted Police.

"We have nothing further except that he was killed by a rifle shot, probably mistaken for a deer," stated the comptroller of the N.W.M.P. yesterday morning. He could not say why the western police suspected this.

The funeral of the unfortunate young man took place this morning from his father's residence, 241 Nicholas street to Beechwood cemetery.

Dr. McPherson received to-day from Ottawa, a letter from L. B. Kington, a brother of the deceased, who has of late been engaged with the Auburn Power Company. He writes that his brother was shot in the back just above the point of the right shoulder blade, and the bullet was not recovered. The wound was one as if made by a 44 lead bullet.

The body was brought east by Dr. Norman Wilson of Winnipeg, cousin of the deceased who was present at the inquest held in Mistatin, and the jury returned a verdict that he came to his death by a rifle shot fired by someone at present unknown. The Mounted Police are working on the case and hope to be able to throw further light on it before long.

SPRINGVILLE

Special Correspondence

Springville, Dec. 27—The Elmdale school concert held on Friday last was a great success. An attendance of about forty were present to see the able manner in which the children took their parts.

The teacher, Miss Clark, was presented with a Christmas rememberance of a dainty ring and bar pin, accompanied by the following address.

Dear Miss Clark — One year has passed since you came to us as our teacher and friend. We have indeed felt you to be the latter—a wise true friend, kind and considerate to one and all of us, regardless of our deserts as pupils.

In presenting you with this little testimonial, I assure you, on behalf of the whole school, that, as a patient teacher, a wise counselor, and an excelelnt instructor, you will ever be remembered by the pupils of Elmdale school with feelings of affection.

We wish you a very Merry Christmas and look forward with pleasure to you presiding in our midst, after the holiday season.

Signed on behalf of the school,
Murton Colon.
Della Bidgood

Candy was then passed and the entertainment was closed with heartiest greetings for the Christmas season.

NO CONTRACT TILL MONEY BY-LAW IS SUBMITTED

$4,000,000 to generate power. It was said they had no industries to use the power but the answer of the city was "we mean to bring the industries here."

Beginning with the first success of the Commission, the speaker told of how 14 municipalities in which all the same arguments used in Peterboro to-day were brought had given a vote of 75 per cent in favor of the by-law which was now before the city. Of this number, Hamilton and Brantford hesitated but the other twelve had assumed the entire responsibility of the amount.

BACK TO THE PEOPLE

All these municipalities were given an estimate, "and they had to go back to the people for the money thes same as your council will have to do before they can spend a dollar," remarked the speaker. The Commission would give its promise in writing that no contract would be made until the people were satisfied.

ALDERMEN PLEDGED.

The city of Hamilton later voted on a by-law calling for a contract with the Cataract company, but the people voted it down and took Hydro-Electric by-law and every alderman is pledged to support the by-law.

OTTAWA'S CHEAP POWER.

At Ottawa legislation was secured by which the Consumers' Electric Light Company was taken over by the city. At the time the charges were 15c. per kilowatt hour for house lighting, $65 per lamp for street lighting, but these prices were cut to 7 1-2 cents for house and $45 for street. In three years the city had a surplus of $71,000. In the three years there had not been one permit where the house was to be piped for gas. This case the speaker gave to show the advantage of one municipality not tied up by a monopoly.

GET WHAT WE WANT.

"And if you people want the Otonabee power plant and vote so on Monday you'll get it; if you want the Auburn Power Co. and vote so on Monday you'll get it," declared the Hon. Mr. Beck.

Port Arthur asked for Hydro-Electric and the power company at once promised to supply at 10 per cent. lower. The council submitted two by-laws, one for Hydro-Electric and the other for the company. The people carried the first named by a vote of 2 to 1, and had a surplus this year of between $3,000 and $4,000.

The commission now had thirty-one contracts and was submitting 32 by-laws next Monday. It was not a case of long speculation or an experiment. the commission gave the opportunity of judging the undertaking in the success of these municipalities now using the power. He estimated that in 3 or 4 years the saving to Toronto would be $1,000,000 per annum. Electricity was being made one of the common commodities.

WORKMEN AT LONDON.

In London they had a rate of 9 cents. The people assumed a liability of $1,-000,000. The rate was reduced to 4 1-2 cents and there was double the amount of lighting. They had 6000 users of electricity. The workmen paid from 25c. to 80c per month and some of them had an electric iron attachment in their homes included in this bill.

The speaker went on to show how Berlin, Woodstock and Guelph had benefitted by reductions in the cost of power. He also explained how the municipalities in dealing with the commission benefitted in purchasing their equipment, which was first purchased by the commission by large order.

THE EASTERN DISTRICT.

Passing on to power for Eastern Ontario, he explained how the commission to work as it had done in the west, had submitted to the municipalities the by-law to find whether or not they wanted it. He didn't blame the companies for attempting to block the scheme, but he didn't like the idea of the articles appearing in the press at the instigation of those who were afraid to sign their name. He told of how the government at Ottawa was interviewed and asked for dams 4 and 8, and they were given. "If you want No. 5 we'll get it for you," he said. The power interests who had been promised the dams by the late government said that the new government was not doing the right thing by them.

WERE PROMISED DAMS.

They said we were promised the dams or we would not have put one dollar in the undertaking. This was statement of the president of the company. The speaker said that he had approached by the "interests" who made several offers. Then he arranged with the Premier for an investigation into the situation for Peterborough and said the Hon. Adam Beck, the government is prepared to invest the money whether it be four or eight millions.

Peterborough should have as cheap a power as they had in Welland, or any other place. If London could give a rate of 4 1-2 cents, why should Peterborough pay 7 cents; why not have the rate 3 1-2 cents?

In reply to some of the letters regarding the proposition, the speaker declared that the by-law did not bind the city to any contract; there was no obligation to the Commission. If the Commission could not make a good bargain they did not want to deal with any municipality. As to making a definite proposition, he made three. The Commission would give Peterborough the Otonabee Power Company or the Auburn Power Company or take over the whole scheme, with Peterborough only to pay for the distribution. That the by-law was dangerous, he answered that it was not. No money bylaw could be made without the vote of the people. Why insist on the by-law then? For the simple reason of obtaining an opinion of the people.

About raising the taxes? Berlin had $20,000 profits to reduce the tax rate, and Peterborough, too, with the assistance of the Commission would have profits by which the tax rate would be reduced. If the people gave a strong expression in the vote on Monday the commission would investigate and report to the government. If it was a good investment the government would advance the money to buy out the whole of the electri ccompanies' projects. The municipalities would pay for the distribution and the Commission would do the rest. There were other dams to be built on the Trent route, and who was to be the owner? Was a monopoly to hold the upper hand, or was it the municipalities? That at the end of thirty years, the debentures would be paid up, and the city would own the power, was one of the concluding statements of the speaker.

A vote of thanks was tendered Hon. Adam Beck, on motion of Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., and Ald. Morgan, and the meeting concluded with cheers.

MAN MAY LIVE FOR YEARS AS ONE DEAD

South Norwalk, Conn., December 29 —To live for years as one dead is the peculiar fate which awaits George Cohen, of New York, according to the medical experts. Cohen was struck on the head by a trolley car five weeks ago, and since that time he has been unconscious in the Norwalk Hospital. Every resource of science has been tried to restore Cohen to consciousness, but all have failed, although the victim is physically strong and shows no indication of dissolution save by a natural death. It is thought he will live for years this way unless some unexpected cure is effected.

PROGRAM FOR NEW YEARS DAY AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Cordial Welcome Will Await Who Can Attend

New Years day the annual open house will be conducted along lines similar to that of last year. The building will be open for inspection from 9.00 a.m. to 10.00 p.m., and every man in the city is invited to pay the Association a visit, where he will be made welcome. The following program has been arranged for the day, and you can see for yourselfs that there will be something doing all the time.

From 10.00 to 11.30 a.m. the gymnasium and baths will be open to the boys of the city. Games will be played in the "gym," after which a good shower bath and swim in the tank, with the water nice and warm, like the river in mid-summer, in spite of the fact that it is cold ouut of doors. So boys, here is your chance to come and swim and do some of your old-time stunts off the springboard.

The afternoon program will consist of a hobby exhibit in the boys' department rooms, an exhibit of art in the reading room and parlors. An illustrated travel talk will also be given. Refreshments will served at the conclusion of the afternoon program.

The evening program will be conducted very largely in the gymnasium, where a varied program of gymnasium work will be put on. Time will be given the friends of the Association who cannot come earlier in the day to take in the art and hobby exhibits.

The bowling alleys and billiard table will also help to entertain the Association's many friends, who will visit the building New Year's day.

POSTAL REFORM.

A Movement to Abolish the Use of Postage Stamps.

Proposals have been made to postal authorities in Europe that postage stamps be done away with, wholly or in part. No one who knows what the mail traffic of a large commercial concern is will wonder at the dissatisfaction with the present system. The entire time of one clerk frequently is required and in some concerns several persons are occupied in placing the little oblongs of gummed paper on envelopes and packages.

An experiment already has been made in Bavaria of postmarking large consignments at the postoffice, the operation being carried out by machinery and no stamps being used. In this way an enormous expense for printing, cutting and pasting paper stamps has been avoided, and no affixing of stamps has been necessary. But it is suggested that this method is crude and that something yet more saving of time and labor might be devised.

A meter resembling a gas or water meter could be attached to each large commercial house, and the mailing matter could be passed through it. The registry of the amount would be automatic, and the postal authorities could read the meter once a month and collect the amount due them. Different meters could be had for first, second and third class matter.

Certainly some method as this seems far more consistent with the spirit of the age than our present laborious and time honored way of doing. We have, of course, provisions for avoiding the stamp nuisance for some matter, but probably they could be extended and bettered.—Chicago Tribune.

GERMAN ARMY STALE.

An English Critic Calls It Overtrained and Out of Date.

The London Times has been publishing a thoughtful series of expert articles on the German army maneuvers and remarkable conclusions are reached. The army is declared not to equal the repute wherein it is commonly held. The new German naval enthusiasm is damaging in its effect upon the army, and the popular navy is now attracting officers more than the army, whose development has been starved by sheer lack of funds. The nation, moreover, is declared to be becoming less military and more commercial than formerly. The corps officers are less simple in their life and tastes and less exclusively professional than of old. Commerce is beginning to attract the class that hitherto regarded only the army as a career for a gentleman.

The army appears to have trained itself stale. The ceaseless round of intensive drilling has reduced it to a machine, while individuality, freshness and initiative are crushed out. Secure in its self confidence the army thinks there can be no difficulty in carrying out military operations which the armies of other peoples have found impracticable. The cavalry is said to be equipped with out of date material and to have become slow and ineffective. The methods of firing in vogue appear so inferior that the army can make no pretensions to measure itself against the French army apart from numbers and confidence. Its high state of organization does not present signs of superiority over the best foreign models, and in some ways it does not rise above the level of the second rate.

Bricks That Float.

At the present time there is no particular demand for a brick that will float, but such a thing will be regarded as a curiosity the world around. This special brick is designed to be used as an insulation in the construction of cold storage plants, breweries and refrigeration plants and is meant to take the place of cork, flax, charcoal fiber and sawdust, all of which are imperfect insulating materials, the use of which is attended by foulness and rot, or are otherwise offensive. The brick in waterproofing is so burned that 45 per cent of its volume is confined air, with the result that one of these bricks being cast upon the waters will float along like a block of wood.—Scientific American.

New York City as a Land Owner.

The city of New York owns 943 parcels of land. Nearly all of this land was bought before 1850. In one case a parcel of land has increased in value over 9,500 per cent in sixty years. In many cases there have been increases of 2,000 to 5,000 per cent in the same period. There were ninety-five cases in which land had increased in value 500 per cent and over 300 pieces that have doubled in value since they were bought.—From Silent Partner.

A Unique Event In Touring.

A large dock is being built near Amsterdam for the Dutch East Indies, and it happens that a smaller dock and a ship are being built in England for the same destination. To save three separate towages it is proposed to put the ship in the small dock and to put the two in the large dock, which will be brought to England for the purpose. The unique three decker will be towed to the East Indies.—Shipping Gazette.

Japanese Drama Lengthy.

A short drama in Japan begins at 9 a. m. and lasts until 11 p. m. A drama of good length may require a week for its performance. People who go to the theater to pass away the time between dinner and supper should rejoice at the opportunity of also passing away the time between lunch and dinner. There would be something to be said for Japanese drama if it could be introduced in this country.—Detroit Free Press.

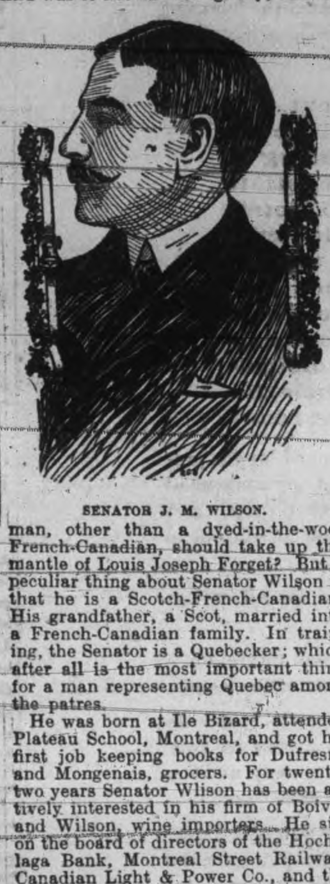
GETS FORGET'S TOGA

WILSON OF MONTREAL IS LAST LAURIER SENATOR.

Scottish-French-Canadian, Whose Name Is Not a Fair Presentation of His Nationality, Is a Widely-Known Wine Merchant and Was Brought Up In the Ancient Province—Is Only Fifty-Two.

One of the last acts of the Laurier Government was to fill the Senatorial vacancy caused by the death of Hon. L. J. Forget. When it was announced that a certain Montreal gentleman by the name of Wilson would wear the toga of the great Quebec financer, many people outside of the Province of Quebec looked twice at the name. Surely the new Senator from Quebec must be of Scotch or English descent. And was it not an incongruity, that a man, other than a dyed-in-the-wool French-Canadian, should take up the mantle of Louis Joseph Forget? But a peculiar thing about Senator Wilson is that he is a Scotch-French-Canadian. His grandfather, a Scot, married into a French-Canadian family. In training, the Senator is a Quebecker; which after all is the most important thing for a man representing Quebec among the patres.



SENATOR J. M. WILSON.

He was born at Ile Bizard, attended Plateau School, Montreal, and got his first job keeping books for Dufresne and Mongenais, grocers. For twenty-two years Senator Wilson has been actively interested in his firm of Boivin and Wilson, wine importers. He sits on the board of directors of the Hochelaga Bank, Montreal Street Railway, Canadian Light & Power Co., and the Prudential Trust Co. French thrift and Scotch shrewdness have combined in producing his financial talent and capacity for larger citizenship. Senator Wilson will be one of the youths of the Senate; he is only fifty-two years old.

A Sheriff's Bill.

Greatness is an expensive luxury, and a Lord Mayor of London who only spends £10,000 out of his private purse, in addition to his official £10,000 for his year of office, may consider himself lucky. The sheriffs, too, have an expensive time of it. A former sheriff's account, which has now been disclosed, shows a total of £4,077 6s. 11d., made up as follows:

Two carriages and four horses, £648 2s. 4d.; half-cost of sheriffs' breakfast, £86 14s. 4d.; quarter cost of banquet and expenditure, 9th November, 1892, £874 13s. 6d.; state servants, liveries, wages, etc., £440 5s. 5d.; robes, dresses, and chain, £526 18s. 7d.; charities, £256 4s.; Old Bailey expenses, £392 16s. 8d.; under-sheriff, £723 16s. 2d.; sundries, £127 12s. 11d.

The sheriffs provide a free table for His Majesty's judges whenever the Central Criminal Court sits at the Old Bailey.

Straight Talk In Court.

Judge Cluer, like his predecessor, Judge Bacon, has spoken out strongly against the perjury he has to listen to at the Whitechapel (Eng.) County Court. On one occasion Judge Bacon when examining the books of a creditor who had sent his son, who was also his bookkeeper, to represent him, he found that the figures in the account had been tampered with. Judge Bacon promptly gave judgment for the defendant.

Later in the day the father appeared and applied for a new trial. "Certainly not," said the judge. "My only regret is that I did not send the books to the Treasury." "But," said the plaintiff, "my son would not commit perjury for the world." "No," retorted the judge, "he did it for threepence-halfpenny. Go away."

Dear Tea.

The earliest mention of tea by an English-speaking writer is probably that contained in a letter from Wickham, an agent of the East India Co., written from Firando, Japan, on June 27, 1615, to Eaton, another agent of the company resident at Macao, asking for a pot of the "best sort of chaw." It was not till 1650 or thereabouts that the English began to use tea to any considerable extent—and with reason, the price of tea in England ranging from $30 to $50 per pound.

Awful Moment.

"That man eating lion glared at you just before you shot him?"

"Intently," replied the scientist. "He appeared as if he were looking me over for a pure food label."

Applied Science.

First Youth—Scientists say that trees contribute to the heat of the atmosphere.

Second Youth—That's so. A birch has warmed me many a time.

Epping Forest.

Epping Forest, which is preserved by the Corporation of London (Eng.) as a people's pleasure ground, comprises no fewer than 5,300 acres.

The United States Steel Corporation's Christmas bonus to employes totalled $1,450,000.

NAVAL SECRETS.

How Britain Guards the Important Facts Concerning Her Fleet.

The recent appointment of Mr. Winston Churchill to be head of the Admiralty recalls the fact that there is no more jealously-guarded department than that over which he now holds sway. The head of the navy is the most reticent man in the Cabinet—when question time comes round. Whenever an answer is given you may be quite sure that it doesn't give very much away.

All new ships are built with the greatest possible secrecy. To begin with, every man who is employed, in whatever capacity, on a new warship has to take an oath that he will never reveal anything he may learn. No outsider is allowed anywhere near the building yards. When the first Dreadnought was being built, for instance, the great vessel was guarded so jealously that no one, save those actually employed on her, were allowed within forty yards. To show how strictly this order was carried out, two post-captains of the navy, in uniform, were turned back by the police and private detectives on guard.

Each workman is detailed off to do his own particular share, and he is not allowed in any other department of the building-yards unless he carries a special pass for that purpose. Men who wander into other departments without this permission are dismissed instantaneously.

So closely are the new vessels watched that, as a general rule, the various workshops are guarded by special armored fire-proof doors. The keys of these doors are always in charge of high officials who are responsible for the opening and shutting of them. Whenever the doors are opened an entry is made in a book kept for the purpose, stating who opened the doors, why he opened them, and the time of doing so.

The actual plans of a new battleship are the most carefully guarded of all the Admiralty's secrets. They are kept in rooms which rival any strong-rooms of a bank. The draughtsmen never have the whole plans in their possession. Parts are given out at a time to different men, and every draughtsman is carefully watched in order that he can take no copy of the part of the plan in front of him. So well are the complete plans divided up that even if three or four men agreed to act together they would be unable to find out much about England's latest Dreadnought. Whenever any portion of the plans goes out of the strong-room its movements are as carefully watched and checked as those of the keys referred to above.

Even when a vessel is commissioned there are many secrets hidden from the bluejackets themselves. It is known, for example, that torpedoes carry on their heads a special apparatus capable of cutting through the stoutest steel nets ever made. But the bluejackets of the torpedo branch know nothing about this ingenious contrivance. The secret is locked in the captain's cabin, ready for use in time of war.

Visitors don't see much when they go on board one of His Majesty's battleships. The bluejacket who is showing you round is as affable as possible about the weather and other innocent subjects. But if he suspects you are trying to "pump" him, then all his genial manner disappears at once. When the German Emperor visited Gibraltar a few years ago the greatest precautions were quietly taken, in the politest possible way, to prevent members of the Kaiser's suite seeing too much. Sentries were placed at all sorts of odd corners on board all the men-of-war. Every part of the vessels was carefully guarded, and more than one German officers who had "wandered" below was politely shown the way up to deck again.

Guarding London's Treasures.

Would it be possible for a robbery like that committed at the Louvre, in Paris, some time ago, to take place in London? Apparently not, says London Answers.

London's art treasures are most jealously protected. The National Gallery, in addition to having a secret system of alarms, is patrolled day and night by twenty-two constables and twenty-five employes.

At the British Museum the millions of pounds' worth of treasures are protected by over two hundred assistants, including eight keepers of departments, fifty-three assistants, nine second-division clerks, twenty-two chief attendants, ninety-six attendants, five boy clerks, twenty-three boy attendants, forty-three commissionaires, and fifty-one laborers, while a number of detectives in various disguises keep an eagle eye on things in general.

Diplomatic Side Stepping.

"Last winter during a social function," says Mr. Kennard, the British diplomatic attache, "I overheard a remark on the part of a young clubman the tact of which indicates that the youth in question should immediately adopt diplomacy as his lifework.

"He had been asked by a widow to guess her age. He hesitated. 'You must have some idea about it,' she said with what was intended for an arch glance.

"'I have several ideas,' the young man admitted with a smile. 'The only trouble is that I hesitate whether to make you ten years younger on account of your looks or ten years older on account of your brains.'"

The Right Locality.

There is a tradition in Vancouver that all successful citizens come from Bruce county, Ontario, as so many Bruce Old Boys have "made good" in British Columbia.

One day a Vancouverite was asking a Chinaman about his former home, in the endeavor to find out what province of the Celestial Empire he hailed from. At last, the Oriental countenance brightened somewhat and assumed a knowing expression.

"Oh, yes!" he said. "Me comee far-off. Lived in Bluce!"

Firs and Pines.

Fir trees differ from pines only in the fact that the leaves grow singly and the scales of the cones are smooth, round and thin.

Company's Big Profits.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Objections by counsel for the defence to evidence, which the Government seeks to introduce regarding the operations of the Kenwood Company and the Aetna Trading Company halted the packers' trial yesterday, and caused Judge Carpenter to excuse the jury, pending the hearing of legal arguments

The Government contends that the Kenwood Company, which was organized by the packers in 1900, and continued in business until 1905, was one of the alleged pools used to market the packers bye-products. It is alleged that the Kenwood Company dealt in oleomargarine and the Aetna Trading Company in the same period, dealt in casings.

The Government intends to show that the Kenwood Company's profits were $4,000,000 in one year, despite the fact that it was only incorporated with a capital stock of $14,000. The profits of the Aetna Trading Company are also alleged to have been proportionately large, by counsel for the Government.

The locked-out cotton weavers in Lancashire now demand an increase in wages of five per cent. when taken back.

That some one tampered with a switch caused Saturday night's fatal collision in the Belleville railway yards was stated at the inquest.

VOTE FOR EX-ALDERMAN J. J. DUFFUS IN THE WEST WARD

To the Ratepayers of the West Ward and Peterborough Citizens in general;

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having the honor of being duly nominated and urged by a large number of representative citizens to be a candidate in the West Ward, I have decided to again enter the Aldermanic field. As it will be impossible for me to interview each voter, I hereby most respectfully solicit your support and influence to assure my election.

If you so honor me I will pledge mself to do my utmost to assist in executing the city's business in a prudent and business like manner.

New industries, to my mind, is the one essential towards the future growth and success of our city, and I am in favor of every effort being put forth to obtain cheap power and light, and also to induce the Radial Railway Co. to make extensive extensions. I would like to see the centre of our city with a permanent roadway.

I am opposed to the policy of increasing a man's taxes every time he makes improvements and minor extensions, and would support a measure to eliminate this condition of affairs.

Wishing all a bright and prosperous New Year.

Yours very respectfully,
JOS. J. DUFFUS.

To the Citizens OF THE WEST WARD

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

H. Cyril Hill

Aldermanic Candidate

EDGAR

For West Ward

If my course and conduct in the Council as Alderman during the past year merits the approval of the ratepayers of the ward, which I endeavored to represent, I shall be very glad to have their support again. I will, if elected, do my utmost to get for the city the most favorable rates for power and lighting, and which, I believe, can be had only from the Hydro-Electric Commission. In other respects I will be careful and considerate of the best interests of the city.

JAS. EDGAR

JOHNSTON FOR NORTH WARD

I am again a candidate for election to the City Council as one of the representatives of the North Ward.

I ask for your support and in return undertake to do my utmost to advance the interests of the city at large and of the ward fairly.

If the ratepayers feel that I deserve their confidence, I shall be very glad and grateful as there are some very important matters of great interest to the welfare of the city to come forward during the year. I assure them with my previous experience I can be of more than average use to the ratepayers.

Thanking you, ladies and gentlemen, with the compliments of the season.

Yours respectfully,
W. J. JOHNSTON

GILLESPIE For Centre Ward

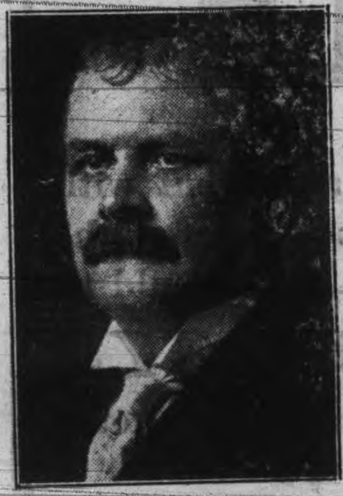
To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been again urged by a large number of ratepayers interested in the welfare of the city, I have consented to accept the nomination for Alderman for 1912.

My previous record in the Council is known to you all. If again honored with your confidence I will endeavor to render such efficient service as will conduce to the best interests of the city irrespective of wards or boundaries.

As my business engagements will not permit me to personally interview the electors, I take this means of soliciting your votes and influence.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. A. GILLESPIE
December 23, 1911.



MORROW For Centre Ward

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to the Council of the city.

I hope to receive a fair measure of support, such as is freely accorded a new man and new candidate.

If elected I will serve the city just as faithfully and as well as I can, never forgetting what is best for it and its people.

Time will not permit of a personal canvass, but I ask for support, ladies and gentlemen.

W. G. MORROW

BULLER

Vote for W. Buller the People's Candidate for Alderman for South Ward.

W. BULLER

METHERAL FOR CENTRE WARD

TO THE RATEPAYERS:

Vote to re-elect Jos. R. Metheral as Alderman in Centre Ward.

I have been entrusted with your confidence for the past three years, and my record stands open before you. It may show no extraordinary ability, but an earnest endeavor to be straightforward and honest in all dealings. I have not been swayed by cliques or outside influences, but voted and worked at all times in the interest of the ratepayers in general and will continue to do so in the future if elected.

I would advise the ratepayers to vote in favor of the Hydro-Electric Commission by-law. I firmly believe that the Hydro-Electric Commission will give Peterborough power at rates considerably reduced from those at present in force, and I pledge myself that no contract for power either with the Hydro-Electric Commission or private corporation shall be agreed to by the City Council without a by-law to that effect being first submitted to the ratepayers.

Yours faithfully, Ladies and Gentlemen,
JOS. R. METHERAL

LANGFORD, Jr. FOR NORTH WARD

To the Ratepayers;

I ask your support for election to the Council of 1912. I am in favor of the Hydro-Electric By-law, but will support only such proposition as will give the city the lowest possible rates for power and light.

I will be watchful of the city's interests and endeavor to have its affairs administered economisally, consistent with progress of the city.

Yours very respectfully,
WILLIAM LANGFORD, Jr.

GARSIDE For South Ward

To the Ratepayers of No. 1 Ward:

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to Council of this city. I hope to receive your kind support, and shall try and make my services your gain. Equal rights to all and favors to none. Wishing you all a prosperous coming year, and that your lights may be still cheaper and brighter.

Yours faithfully,
James Garside

G. N. GORDON FOR ALDERMAN THE CENTRE WARD

To the Electors of the Centre Ward:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—As a candidate for Alderman for one of the two seats in the Centre Ward, I respectfully solicit your votes.

My platform is briefly this:

1. Obtain Hydro-Electric estimates and reports as to prices, terms, etc., of obtaining power for the City's manufacturers, and for house and store lighting.

2. Abate the nuisance caused by the G. T. R. using Bethune Street as a shunting yard, which injuriously affects hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of realty.

3. Obtain legislation allowing reduction of taxes on businesses and improvements, and increasing taxation of land values, thus making the holders of vacant land pay their share of taxes.

4. Have every milk vendor's milk inspected at least fortnightly, and a report with the milkman's name published showing the proportions of butter fat contained in each lot.

5. Consideration of the question of permanent improvement of highways.

6. Begin an aggressive campaign to obtain new industries, and inaugurate a strong publicity scheme.

There are two Aldermen to be elected for the Centre Ward: G. A. Gillespie is contesting one seat with J. R. Metherall, and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte Street, is contesting the other seat with me.

If elected, I will energetically support a progressive campaign for the City's advancement.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am,

Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON

"THE GOVERNMENT WILL DO THE REST"

Last night's meeting settled all doubts as to where Peterborough should stand in this Power and Light discussion and action.

Hon. Adam Beck made it absolutely clear that the city will not be involved in any contract to take power unless the city first votes favorably to raise the money to pay for a distribution system.

Following his lucid, clear and convincing assertions he repeated the following message from the Premier of the Province to the people of Peterborough, and the Trent and Eastern District of the Province, as well :—

"If you vote for the By-law on Monday next, and are desirous of contracting for Hydro-Electric Power at cost, on the same lines as existing in Western Ontario, the Commission will negotiate with the bondholders of the present Electric Merger, and if investigation into values indicate the property to be a good investment, the Ontario Government is prepared to advance sufficient money with which to purchase the whole Trent district power interests, let it be four million or eight million dollars. All the municipalities would be asked to do is to finance their distribution only, the Government will do the rest."

It is clear what has happened. The power interests are alarmed at the progress of the Hydro Electric. Failing, owing to the change of government at Ottawa, to grasp the whole of the water power resources of the district, and dreading Hydro-Electric competition, the bondholders are willing to sell out to the government.

This [illegible] come about. They will be reimbursed for all outlay, fairly and [illegible]

The interests will loose nothing except the opportunity of the future, for a monopoly of power and light. That opportunity will now be that of the people.

Mr. Beck further said: "If you want the Otonabee Power Co. system to serve your needs you shall have it. If you want the Auburn system for your uses it will be got for you. Your share will be the distribution only and the sinking fund to place these powers in your hands, free at the end of 30 years.

Vote on Monday for Hydro-Power. The whole province is watching Peterborough. Don't think that because the Commission is working for power for the people it will do everything for you. You are in a partnership and must prove by your vote that you will be a willing, hearty, worthy partner. Don't flunk.

Remember your vote on Monday does not mean oppression, but equality. You will be a part of the biggest people-owned and benefitted proposition the world has ever seen.

FAMILY OF FIVE CHILDREN TO BE TAKEN TO SHELTER

Former Ward of Society Writes Her Thanks for Christmas Presents.

Five small children, two boys and three girls, the eldest of whom is twelve years of age, are to be taken over shortly as wards of the Children's Shelter, the parents not being in a position to look after them.

The father worked all summer steadily, but wasted his evenings in ritous living, considerable of which being used to buy booze, leaving none for the support of the family. The mother is seriously ill in the hospital, so that the children were entirely unprotected.

The placing of three children in the Shelter brings the number of inmates up to twelve, which is a little above the average.

The Children's Aid Society this Christmas, as is customary, distributed good cheer to deserving children who have been wards of the Shelter, but are now out at various homes.

A GRATEFUL CHILD.

That such kindness was appreciated is shown by the case of the little Montgomery girl, who came under the notice of the society some months ago, and who is now being boarded near Buckhorn. The little girl is thirteen, and although her education has been sadly neglected, she wrote a childish scrawl to the officials at the Shelter, saying how glad she was to receive her present, and stating that she would like to come back to the home, as it was such a nice place. The rough surroundings of the child's former abode, made the comfortale and home-like Shelter almost like a Paradise.

THE UNDERTAKER WON RACE; ADRION POINTER'S GOOD FORM

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Accidents in the 2.15 pace marred the excellent racing which was furnished yesterday at Dufferin Park, at the second day meet of the Toronto Driving Club. Only a small crowd of enthusiasts were on hand, but they were more than repaid.

The unfinished 2.20 trot from Christmas Day was won by Lesa Vale, Ald. Sam McBride's good trotter. This mare, along with Princess Eleanor, had two heats to her credit in the mud of Monday, but yesterday the track, while a little rough, had a good ice surface, and Lesa Vale made the others step so fast to the first quarter that she had them standing on their heads. Monarchial Lady was the only one to keep within sailing distance, but the judges thought that she ran more than she trotted, and she was sent back to last position, after finishing second.

Nine starters faced thee flag in the 2.30 pace, with The Undertaker ruling the favorite, and after losing the first heat to Pat McCarthy's A.L.P. (name changed from Big Pat), he went on and annexed the other three, although had McGirr tried a little sooner in the third heat Adrian Pointer would have won the heat. Adrian Pointer is not yet ready for a hard race, but yesterday in flashes showed a world of speed and he looks very much the best horse. This will be proven in the stakes down the line, for the horse that beats him will certainly do some travelling.

The Undertaker would have annexed the opening heat had Barrett not been too anxious to get to the front, and when he wanted to come on, he hadn't enough speed to beat A. L. P., who cut [illegible] him through the stretch. The judges put Jimmy Easson up behind Billy B. in the last heat, and drove the grey fellow the best race that he has shown here, but he couldn't catch the Undertaker.

Suicide In Sunday School.

Woodstock, Dec. 29.—Choosing as his death bed the platform in the Sunday school room of Dundas street Methodist Church, Joseph Rogers, a resident of this city, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by blowing his brains out with a 32-calibre revolver.

The body of the unfortunate man was found by an employe of a local firm, who went to lay some carpet in the Sunday school room. It was lying in a pool of blood, and the man's head was resting on his overcoat, which had been neatly folded before the shooting took place.

Rogers attended prayer meeting in the church the night before and it is thought that he remained in the building all night. The deceased is a married man, but has been living apart from his wife for some time.

MR W. H. HILL'S POSITION

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—A correspondent of the city papers has criticised me because, he says, I am a candidate for membership of the City Council while I am a Water Commissioner and a member of the Board of Education. The correspondent appears to have been misled by a similarity of names and occupation. The gentleman who is a candidate in the West Ward for the office of Alderman is Mr. W. C. Cyril Hill, and I am not a candidate at this election in any ward for any position except that of a member of the Board of Education and I have been re-elected by acclamation. The people of Peterborough have for a number of years, given me a seat on the Board of Education, and I have through their votes been a Water Commissioner since the waterworks system was taken over by the city, and I am grateful to them for these manifastations of their confidence, but I am not trying to trespass on their good nature by also asking for a seat in the City Council. As a member of the Board of Education I shall continue to serve the people on that Board to the best of my ability, but I have no desire at this time to enter the City Council and am not a candidate for a seat in that body.

Yours truly,

W. H. HILL.

Hydro-Electric is for Best Interests of City

"What do you think of the Hydro Electric scheme now" asked a Review representative of ex-Ald. Johnston this morning.

"Why just what I always thought" replied the North ward candidate. "Some people were in doubt as to what the passage of the by-law really meant, but Hon. Adam Beck explained it as I understood the by-law to mean that it was one only asking for an opinion and that no money would be spent, without the consent of the people.

"You believe it to be in the best interests of Peterboro."

"Most assuredly. We have our own water supply and why not our power. The Commission's purpose is to help us, and the city should certainly accept that assistance."

"What would be your policy as to pavements?"

"I would favor the paving of George street at the least. What is to be gained by an annual expenditure on the roadbeds, only to scrape off the money in the spring."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

NOT OUTS HELD THEIR DANCE

Young People Had Good Time at Conservatory Hall

The annual "Not Outs" dance was held in the Conservatory of Music Hall last evening, affording distinct pleasure to the very large number of the young people who attended. The "Not Outs" are mostly comprised of pupils and ex-pupils of Miss Ivy Coventry, the dancing instructress of the Conservatory staff, and the annual dance which is held in their honor is a social event always eagerly anticipated. Everything was well managed last evening with the result that a delightful evening of pleasure was whiled away.

It was estimated that the number present was one of the largest of this year's social season.

Refreshments were served at the middle of the dance program. The excellent music so liberally supplied by Miss Gladman was highly appreciated by all.

The dance broke up shortly after twelve.

SURVEYING THE SEVERN RIVER

Chief Engineer Grant is Busy at Orillia

Orillia, Dec. 29.—Mr. A. J. Grant, chief engineer of the Trent Valley canal, was in town making preparations for a survey of the Severn riveer with a view to preparing the plans and specifications for the contracts to be let in the spring. Mr. Grant was accompanied by Mr. Jose, one of the departmental engineers, who will have charge of the survey party. It is intended to employ about twenty men, so as to push the work through before the ice breaks up in the spring—if there should be any ice this winter. The work will begin at the Port Severn end. Mr. Grant left for there yesterday. He will also visit the Big Chute, and will return to Orillia tomorrow, and go out to the Ragged Rapids. It is at these three points, and between Washago and Severn Bridge, that the locks will be placed. Mr. Grant has instructions to have his plans ready to let a contract in the spring.

CHINESE FACTIONS REACH AGREEMENT

Leave Disputed Matters to Assembly to Decide.

No Foreign Loan to be Effected Until After Convention Meets.

Shanghai, Dec. 30.—The peace conference being held here between the representatives of the Pekin Government and the revolutionary party, at their meeting yesterday, agreed in the first place that the question of the form of government to be ultimately adopted for China should be discussed and decided by a national convention, whose decision should be binding on both parties.

In the second place, it was agreed that pending the decision of the national convention, the Manchu Government was neither to accept nor to attempt to obtain foreign loans.

In the third place, all Manchu troops in the Provinces of Shansi, Shenso, Hupeh, and Kiangsu shall evacuate their present positions and withdraw from them to a distance of 100 li (about 37 miles) within five days, beginning from Dec. 31.

The republican troops shall in the meantime neither advance nor occupy the places evacuated pending special arrangements to be reached by mutual agreement. The Manchu troops are not to advance nor to attack the positions at Shantung, already held by the republicans, nor shall the republican troops advance upon nor capture new places.

It is understood that the national convention to be called is to include those delegates at present in conference at Nanking, who have elected Dr. Sun Yat Sen president of the republic and others to be elected.

The Wiiy Tuan Fang.

Shanghai, Dec. 30.—Tang Shao Yi yesterday received a telegram from Pekin, saying that Tuan Fang, formerly director-general of the Hukwang Railroad and ex-viceroy of the Province of Chili, had arrived in the capital disguised as a coolie.

It was reported Dec. 18 that Tuan had been killed at Tsechow, Province of Shansi, by his own soldiers, under dramatic circumstances. The telegram received by Tang relates that Tuan says he bribed his soldiers to announce publicly that they had murdered him. Instead, they killed a pig and exhibited their bloody swords to the populace, vowing that the stains upon them had been made by Tuan's blood. Meanwhile, Tuan, clothed in rags, made his escape.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen and Wu Ting Fang, the Minister of Foreign Affairs in the revolutionary government, entertained at dinner last night. Dr. Sun declares himself ready to accept the presidency of the Republic of China if the national convention confirms his selection.

RUSSIANS TAKE TABRIZ

After Nine Days Siege Invaders Occupy the City.

Losses Have Been Heavy on Both Sides.

Tabriz, Persia, Dec. 30—A nine days' siege of this city by the Russian troops, and the dispersal of the combatants belonging to the Constitutional Progressive Party (or Fidais). A large number of casualties were sustained by both sides, the Russians alone losing from 100 to 200 men, while the losses of the Fidais were very severe, although the number cannot be ascertained.

No casualties were suffered by the resident foreign population, but many individuals suffered from a lack of provisions, while they were closely confined to their homes during the prolonged street fighting.

The atrocities which are reported to have been committed by the troops on both sides are entirely unfounded, the mortality among the native non-combatants being far from large.

The Russians alone were the object of the operations of the Persians, who displayed no resentment whatever against any other foreigners.

A collision between a patrol of the Russian guard and the Persian constitutionalists in the street during the night of Dec. 20 was the beginning of the disturbances. Two Persians were shot dead in this affair, after which the population showed great resentment, and fighting became general throughout the city on the following morning.

The principal engagement during the siege occurred in the neighborhood of the Russian consulate around the citadel known as "The Ark," and at the Russian camp at Baghi Shemel.

The Persians fired on the Russian camp with small mountain artillery from the top of "The Ark." The Russian soldiers in the camp replied by shelling "The Ark" with shrapnel and driving the Persians from their position. One of the shells struck the American flag flying at the consulate, which is situated near "The Ark," and the staff fell with a crash on the roof, but no further damage was done.

On the following day there was desperate fighting in the streets, the rifle and maxim fire being continuous. On the same day the Persians made a night attack on the Russian camp to which the Russians at first did not reply, awaiting the closer approach of the assailants. Finally the Russian troops opened fire, repulsing the Persians with heavy loss.

The Russian positions, both in the camp and at the Russian consulate, were at that time evidently in a precarious state. All communication between the camp and the Russian consulate was completely cut off for several days.

The first detachment of Russian reinforcements from Julta consisting of 800 men with four guns, arrived in the outskirts of the city on the night of Dec. 26. They had made a forced march of 48 hours from their camp at Julfa, eighty miles from Tabriz. On the following morning without establishing previous communication with the Russian camp or consulate they shelled various quarters of the city indiscriminately, doing, however, little damage, but impressing the Persians with the hopelessness of continuing their resistance. The citadel after being shelled from the cap was evacuated by the Persians on the following day and the Russians troops occupied it, raising the Russian flag over "The Ark."

GET SAME RESULTS WITHOUT GOING INTO DEBT

Ratepayers should remember that light and power is about as cheap in Peterborough as it is in any town or city in Ontario.

If we can get the same result without going into debt, why mortgage our city? Why mortgage your own property?

The Seymour Power Company will deliver power at as low rates, and lower, than the Hydro-Electric, and they ask no money and no guarantee.

The city need not pay a cent, and our power users get cheap power, supplied at their factories. The city gets all the power required for future industries without going into debt one dollar.

Under the Hydro-Electric we must pay for 75 per cent. of the power contracted for, whether we use it or not.

The tax-payer pays the bill if the power is not used.

There are about 4,000 h. p. unsold now ready for delivery in Peterborough. Who is loosing the interest on the money it took to develop this? The people who put their money in it; not the city.

There is no market for it here now. Do you know when it will be sold?

Certainly not till the demand is created. If somebody interested does not create a demand for it, it may be years before a market is found.

Are you going into a speculation? Are we going to develop more power, put your money into an uncertainty, when we can get outsiders to take the risk?

The Hydro-Electric estimate is that power for Peterborough will cost $17.55 per h. p. This estimate will, as in every other case, be exceeded from 40 to 100 per cent.

If we do develop power, where are we going to sell it? We may sell a portion of it—perhaps one-half. If we carry the By-law there is no provision in the law for its repeal. It stands.

If we can get a contract for a large block of power from the Seymour Power Company, or any other company, and make them hold it exclusively for Peterborough, then let us do so.

Other municipalities have gone thoroughly into the Seymour contracts, rates and franchises. They've got the best legal and technical advice available. They did nothing blindly. They went into the Hydro-Electric scheme. They got their rates. They employed experts to look into their scheme. And in every instance the Seymour Power Company won out, and their scheme was accepted by the municipalities almost unanimously. The highest number of votes polled against this Company in carrying all their by-laws, with the exception of one instance, was forty-seven votes. This is certainly a record, especially when you remember that the Hydro-Electric schemes were submitted and their experts were on the ground opposing the Seymour Power Company. There was no sentiment in these contests. Cold facts told. Low prices, cheap rates, liberal terms and fair treatment won the votes.

Mr. Beck agreed to give a pledge, in writing, that the City would not be asked to enter into any contract involving the Municipality in any financial obligation until a further By-law is submitted. Up until this afternoon he has not given this pledge in writing.

ACCEPTS THE PRESIDENCY

Sun Yat Sen Accepts Presidency of Republic Provisionally.

Shanghai, Dec. 30.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, after having received a definite report of his election to the presidency of the Republic of China by the delegates of the eighteen provinces in convention at Nanking spent the afternoon here yesterday in close conference with his advisors. There is reason to believe that the personnel of a cabinet will be announced almost immediately and that it will be representative of all sections holding the confidence of the people of China. Among those selected is Chen Chin Tao, who has accepted the portfolio of Minister of Finance. The president will select Gen. Li Yuen Heng as Minister of War.

After the selection of the cabinet the president's proclamation will be issued. This will outline the policy of the new government, offer terms to the Manchus for restoring order throughout the country, encouraging the re-opening of trade everywhere and guarantee the safety and protection of foreigners. Within a day or two President Sun will move to Nanking, from which place all official business will be transacted.

The Associated Press is assured that it is not the intention of the reform leaders to urge decentralization, but on the contrary that a strong central government ultimately will be formed. The present government is practically a military dictatorship and there is every evidence that Dr. Sun is the most competent man available to head it.

TURKS CAPTURE AN ITALIAN POSITION

HAPPY NEW YEAR

The Review wishes all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year. We trust that the year 1912 will prove one of advancement and prosperity for Peterboro and that all citizens will share to the fullest extent in this prosperity.

Attacked Fortified Camp and Routed the Defenders.

Fighting Lasted Twenty-Four Hours—Stores Captured.

Washington, Dec. 30.—A 24-hour battle, in which the Turkish troops defeated the Italian force, killing half of it in the rout, is described in an official message from Constantinople made public at the Turkish embassy last night. The message was transmitted to the Imperial Minister of War at Constantinople by the commander of the Turkish troops from Tobruk, Tripoli, under date of Dec. 22.

The report follows: "We have attacked the fortified posts of the enemy. Notwithstanding the fire from the warships and fort batteries, we entered the fort and the garrison has been annihilated. Ammunitions, provisions, war material and a quick-firing gun have been carried into our camp.

"In its forward march one of our wings cut off the retreat of the enemy, who fled toward the coast. During the retreat the enemy lost half their number. The battle lasted all day and night. Among the killed were three officers of the enemy. Our losses were seven killed and a few wounded.

"The Sheik H. Meri, with his five sons, came at the head of his tribe, is among the dead. The courage of our officers and soldiers is exemplary. Lieut. Nedjib Bey was the first to enter the fort. He destroyed the quick-firing guns and carried away one into our camp."

Drove Off Turks.

Derna, Tripoli, Dec. 26.—(Delayed)—An Italian force, under Gen. Delbuono, while protecting engineers at work repairing the aqueduct, was strongly engaged by a large force of Turks with heavy artillery. The Italians, though hard pressed, managed to hold off the enemy until the work was completed, and then retired on their redoubts with a loss of three killed and 77 wounded.

GLOBE ON THE HYDRO QUESTION

Says Toronto Owes Much to the Beck Power Project

Toronto, Dec. 30—The Globe has the following to say to-day on the hydro-electric question—

"The hydro-electric by-law, 'to provide for the issue of debentures to the amount of $2,200,000 for the cost of completing and equipping the plant to distribute electrical power in the city of Toronto,' is the most important issue to be presented to the civic electors on Monday. It is satisfactory to note that all indications point to a mammoth majority for the enactment. Toronto already owes much to the Beck power project. Its application in this city has resulted in a remarkable reduction in prices for electric lighting. It has provided competition where there was previously practical monopoly with most satisfactory material results to the consumer. Toronto cannot afford to stop half way. The city must reap the full benefit of its long and vigorous fight for cheap service. The passing of the present by-law will, according to the engineers, complete the civic distribution plant, enable it to serve every part of the city and furnish the additional equipment required to place the lighting service on both sides of all streets and thoroughfares Vote for the hydro-electric by-law.

FARMER DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID AND ENDS HIS LIFE

Tried the Razor on His Throat but Lost His Nerve

Mr. David Nicholl, a prosperous farmer who resided about half a mile north of the Cambray station, committed suicide this morning by drinking carbolic acid and paris green.

The deceased had previously intimated that he would attempt self-destruction, but little attention was paid to the threats as he was a man of sound reasoning at all times.

Last night the family retired to bed as usual, the dead man enjoying the company of his family, some of whom are of tender years, in a happy manner, though an apparent gloom seemed to overcast his countenance. To his children he said for the last time "good night." The household fell into a profound slumber, and while thus engaged the deceased arose at what time it is unknown, and committed the rash act.

The first knowledge of the sad event came to the family when his wife awakened at 6.30 o'clock, and discovered that her husband had quietly left their sleeping apartment. She hurriedly arose and on going down stairs, detected a strong odor of carbolic acid, following the odor the deadly drug emitted, she proceeded to the cellar, and there, on the cement floor she was horrified to find her husband with an empty bottle labeled carbolic acid beside him and a razor nearby.

It would appear the dead man determined to end his mortal career with the razor but lost heart, as only a slight wound was noticed on the dead man's throat, which was evidently done by the instrument found, it being besmeared with blood

The cause is attributed to the renting of the farm upon which he was in possesion to another party by the landlord; not that the latter did so on account of being desirous of getting rid of the deceased; but through Mr. Nicholl's own desire, and for which he afterwards expressed regret.

The dead man leaves a large family, who range in ages from eight years up to twenty-five. — Lindsay Warder.

FORMER LOCAL INSURANCE MAN SAID TO HAVE ELOPED

Was Discharged From Position Because of Irregular Methods.

A reported elopment is said to have occurred in Oshawa this week, news of the affair having reached the city to-day. The parties whose names are connected with the matter being a former local man named Charles Greene, who was an insurance agent of that town, and a woman living apart from her husband, whose name could not be ascertained. The man named Greene will be well remembred locally, having left Peterborough for Oshawa last spring, and while in this city was an active officer of Park street Baptist church. He is described as a man of about forty-seven or thereabouts, with a light moustache, clever and a good talker. He is also reported to have a wife and family residing in the old country, where his former home was located.

LOST HIS POSITION.

The insurance company of which he was an employe, were informed that he of late had been conducting his business in an irregular way, and had written up fake policies for a considerable amount. Upon investigation by the superintendent his irregular methods were laid bare and he was discharged from the employ of the company. At the time, he is said to have been paying marked attention to the lady, who left Oshawa without warning, and who has not since returned; the man Greene leaving the city at the same time. Neither have of since, except one current rumor that they had met in Toronto.

WAS CHOIR LEADER.

In Oshawa Greene was choir leader in one of the churches and maintained an appearance of general respectability.

Contata Chorus

At the request of a great many who heard the recent cantata, "The Other Wise Man," in the Murray street church, the chorus, "The King Fortold" will be given at the Sunday evening service, Dec. 31st, by the same young girls and Mr. Batley.

This piece was one of the most enjoyable of the two hours' entertainment, and will greatly add to the splendid music prepared by the choir for the last day of the year.

Miss Kathleen Lanceley, of Hamilton, Ont., will be the soloist at the morning service.

LIVER LAZINESS

Those Who Lack Energy and are Unsuccessful Should Read This Closely.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night and in the morning feel so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should soon be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicine and mixtures Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged up system. My spirits rose, I felt much better, the sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color, and ambition to work returned and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well-known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys, and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. "THE COON COMES DOWN"

The Examiner, which has really never quite known where it stood on the power question—being ready to jump one way or the other as the strings were pulled, has let us into a mighty secret. In an editorial yesterday it tells its readers that "This objection to the by-law on the part of the Examiner no doubt influenced Hon. Mr. Beck."

This refers to the question of whether or not the vote on Monday would in any way bind the city to take power from the Commission.

Now can anyone imagine Hon. Mr. Beck being influenced by anything that appeared in the columns of the Examiner, which paper was "on the fence" concerning the present by-law until it saw the trend of public opinion was strongly in favor of the hydro-electric scheme, and then "the coon came down."

Now the Review has told its readers right through the campaign that there was nothing binding in the present by-law, and this is borne out by the clear cut and definite statement of Hon. Mr. Beck.

The Examiner further gives itself a mighty pat on the back as the protector of the public interests in connection with the by-law. Our esteemed contemporary had to find a way to let itself down gently in connection with its attitude towards the by-law for some weeks past, and so assumes the role of "protector of public interests," and now proclaims that it is quite satisfied to have people vote for the by-law on Monday. Previous to this the Examiner was greatly worried for fear the vote on Monday should place Peterborough in the power of the "terrible hydro-electric people," but more worried, we think, at the prospect of having to support—no matter how good a proposition—a scheme backed by the Whitney government, and not the "interests."

PURE IMPUDENCE

Hon. Adam Beck pledged himself at the meeting in the Opera House on Thursday evening: That the Hydro-Electric Commission would enter into no contract with Peterborough for power until a money by-law had been submitted to the people, and offered to put this in writing if anyone demanded it. Now, out of all the representative gathering present not one person arose to suggest this action, accepting the word of one of the leading citizens of the province, in good faith, as it should be.

Hon. Mr. Beck further brought a message from Premier Whitney endorsing the action the Commission might take.

Yesterday's Examiner contains the following:

"At the same time, it would be well to make assurance sure; to take Mr. Beck at his word; to secure his pledge in an official and permanent form—in writing. He has publicly declared his willingness to do this, and as a matter of good business, his offer should be put in concrete and unmistakable form."

This is the height of impudence on the part of our contemporary. Does it suppose for one minute that a man of the standing of Hon. Mr. Beck would make a statement of this kind before a gathering of the leading ratepayers of Peterborough and then go back on it. It would be political suicide for him to do so, and then Hon. Mr. Beck is not that type of a man. His word is as good as his bond, and his every action since entering the Whitney Government has been fearless and honest on all questions.

A letter signed "Another Englishman," has been received at the Review office. If the writer will send along his name the communication will be published in these columns.

That the savings to the people on reduced rates in electric power, by the reason of the Hydro-Electric service will next year amount to $2,000,000 is the calculation of Hon. Mr. Beck. In five years this means the savings will equal the entire cost of transmission lines and plants.

THE TRENT RIVER POWER

Toronto Paper Discusses the Situation in This District

(Toronto Star)

The fight for the control of the electrical power development situation along the Trent Canal bids fair to reach an acute stage very shortly. On New Year's Day the city of Peterboro, which at present is served by the Electric Power Company, will vote on a by-law to go into the Ontario Government's Hydro-Electric scheme, and should the by-law carry the Ontario Government may take steps to acquire the property of the rival company, or it may just go into competition with it.

About a year ago the question of power from the Trent came to the front. Hon. Adam Beck was anxious to carry on the work of the Hydro-Electric Commission in that part of Ontario, but was prevented from doing so by the fact that the jurisdiction of the Dominion and Provincial Governments over the Trent River was not finally decided, and also because there was already on the ground a rival corporation, the Electric Power Company, made up of an amalgamation of a number of smaller companies which were already developing power at various points along the river.

COULD NOT GET LEASE

The Hydro-Electric Commission was anxious to get a lease of dams 4 and 8, but were not able to obtain it from the late Government.

Last night at Peterboro Hon. Adam Beck announced that if the consumers of electric power would come into the Hydro-Electric scheme the Ontario Government would undertake to finance the water power, development, and transmission lines on the same basis as they have undertaken to do in the district served by Niagara power. The new Dominion Government, had, he said, promised to lease to them dams No. 4 and 8 on the Trent Valley Canal, thus giving the Hydro-Electric a part of the source of supply.

There is a great difference between the Trent Valley scheme and that of Niagara in power development. Along the Trent there are no very big heads of water, and as a consequence the cost of development is considerably higher. For economic reasons, therefore, experts say that the only way in which cheap power can be produced is by having all the work under one company or commission. The question which now has to be settled is whether the Electric Power Company or the Hydro-Electric Commission shall exercise that management.

Election Laws Bad.

Auguste, Me., Dec. 30.—A special session of the Maine Legislature to consider the liquor laws, re-district the state for Congress and revise the election laws, was announced last night in a proclamation issued by Governor F. W. Plaisted. The session is to begin March 20.

In the proclamation Governor Plaisted refers to the difficulty encountered in tabulating the vote at the last state election on the question of repealing the constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor. The proclamation says: "Our laws relating to the conduct of elections, the making of returns to the governor and council, the tabulating of the such returns and the declaration of the result thereof, are uncertain in their meaning and inadequate in substance."

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

With a feeling of lively anticipation, I entered the bath room. I had forgotten that this room alone had been designated by a distinguishing mark on the chart which I had found while following the mysterious footprints. But I discovered nothing to justify my hopes. The place was monotonously like other bath rooms in which I had been. I gave it an exceptionally thorough overhauling, then went carefully over it once more—even resorting to my magnifying-glass from time to time—but all to no purpose; the room was discouragingly wanting in anything that might be regarded as a clew.

In the end I fell to musing over a bar of common laundry soap on the stationary wash-stand. It was impossible not to contrast this humble detergent—for it was of a bigness and coarse yellowness to suggest the largest possible quantity for the smallest price—with the dead man's wealth, and to wonder a little at such petty economies as were signified by it, by the paraffin candles, the absence of servants, and by some other details of the menage, which perhaps I have already mentioned.

I recalled, with a smile, that Burke had smelled of laundry soap, and that on the wash-stand in Maillot's room there had been no soap at all. Well, there are some queer ways of utilizing wealth; but I contend that, of all of them, to deny oneself the commonest comforts of existence is the queerest and the hardest to understand. A philosophy of living is involved utterly incomprehensible to me.

Passing through the bath room, I emerged upon the landing of the rear stairs. Across the lansing was another small room, which contained, besides a dust-mantled sewing-machine, nothing but some broken and worn-out furniture.

I followed the stairway to the bottom, and about half-way down found a bit of flattened paraffin about the size of my thumb nail.

After re-ascending these stairs I stood once more looking idly down over the balustrade, going over in my mind the parts of the puzzle which had been set for me to bring together into an intelligible and perfectly rounded whole, and wondering what I would succeed in making of it all. For a while I was aware of a strange lack of confidence in myself, of a feeling of uncertainty. Had I been negligent in not arresting both Maillot and Burke? It seemed the simplest and most dirct method of proceeding; it would be no difficult matter to fasten the crime on one or the other, or both of them; why should I go behind the few plain details which lay so invitingly before me?

Perhaps the intrusion of a pair of blue eyes into the midst of my cogitations had much to do with my irresolution. Somehow I was extremely desirous of winning their approval. The possibility that I might win more did not enter my thoughts, because, I reflected rather dismally, the owner of the blue eyes moved in a sphere in which I had neither part nor parcel.

Still, my determination to solve the mystery of Felix Page's death was inextricably interwoven with another determination to win one final friendly, commendatory look—perhaps a word or two, or even a warm handclasp—from Miss Genevieve Cooper.

How was I to do that? By fastening an odious crime upon her cousin's lover? I shrank from such an alternative. Heaven grant that so far I had not reasoned falsely.

It may seem a poor business thus to mix sentiment with one's humdrum daily affairs; but—well, and so it is. After mature reflection, I can think of but one entenuating plea: I was only twenty-six at the time.

Up to the present it had been difficult to ascribe to each circumstance its own proper value; but now they were beginning to shape themselves into some semblance of order, and for the first time a fairly complete concept presented itself to me.

The antecedent circumstances leading up to the crime, were largely conjectural, although they were pretty strongly suggested by the details of the struggle itself. I was thus enabled to supply the missing portions with more or less plausibility.

Here, then, is the way I reconstructed the night's occurrences in this house—the fatal sequence of events which began when Felix Page bade Maillot good-night, culminated in the older man's death, and ended with the flight of the murderer. You will perceive that the four "Chinese" had no place in it; I could find none for them.

After Mr. Page and Maillot separated, for some reason the former had not retired. I took it as being more than likely that he returned to the library, where presently he fell into a doze before the dying fire. But, no, first of all he went to the safe to dispose of the box containing the ruby; after that he returned to the library. While he nodded over the fire the thief stole to the safe, opened it with the combination, and took not only the ruby, but everything else the strong-box contained.

But cautious as the thief is, some disturbing noise penetrates to the sleeper's consciousness; in fancy we may see the old man—fox, pirate of the pit, as he had been called—starting broad awake, fearless, every faculty alert and strained to catch the betraying sounds.

In a moment he bestirs himself to ascertain what is afoot in his house at so unseemly an hour. Noiselessly he enters the hall from the library, in time to behold the marauder—by the latter's own candle flame, I was positive—ascending the front stairs.

And here the tragic episode departs from all precedent; at this stage it assumes its baffling aspects. If the thief had not been a member of the household—even but a temporary member—why should he have gone up the stairs instead of leaving the house by the nearest way? And again, why should Mr. Page have followed the thief so stealthily if he had not recognized him?

But the master of the house steals on up the stairs behind the other. At about the time he arrives at the head of the stairs the thief vanishes: else why did Mr. Page pause to light the candle in the iron candlestick which stood upon the etagere?

Fatal move, that! In some manner the etagere is knocked forward against the balustrade; the thief is alarmed; although some door must have closed behind him. And now the old gentleman is facing no longer a thief merely, but a man with murder in his heart.

Which door had it been: Maillot's, or Burke's, or yet some other door?

Once more we are given a strong indication that Felix Page knew the man, for he and the assassin in limine do not immediately close in combat. Not yet. Some words certainly pass. The taper in the heavy iron candlestick must burn long enough to account not only for the drops of paraffin scattered about over the floor, but those that ran like congealing tears down the side.

I could fancy the outraged and mystified old gentleman demanding an explanation, and before long exploding with wrath, the thief standing hopelessly convicted—caught "with the goods."

Suddenly the struggle is precipitated by the infuriated householder endeavoring to recover his property. We may safely assume that it was by no gentle means that he sought to do this, and at once the battle wages to and fro between the head of the stairs and the lateral passage, quite up to the bath room door. The thief is striving to retain the leather box, the other to wrest it from him.

It is pretty certain, too, that the old gentleman hastily put down the iron candlestick before he grasped the box—on the floor, somewhere near the western angle of the balustrade—and in the end, as the combat in one of its uncertain revolutions sweeps past it, the thief frees himself with a desperate effort, snatches it from the floor, and becomes an assassin in actu.

The dull impact of the blow, as the scene is blinded by sudden darkness; the crash of the body against the railing; the dominant jar when the body strikes upon the landing below—and the dark deed is accomplished.

What next follows?

Panic on the part of the murderer, we may be sure, as he stands one second in a stupor of horror at what he has done; then he must have flown—whither?

It is at this juncture that Alexander Burke steps into the hall, and beholds nothing in the light of his own candle. It is at this point that Royal Maillot springs from his bed, collides with the open wardrobe door, and straightway forgets the tumult in his own physical suffering, until Burke raps upon his door. And it is at this point that, unless there was some third person in the house, either one or the other of these two young men has deliberately lied. In turning them both loose I trusted to convict the guilty man by his own conduct. It will develop how far my course was justified.

The mute but vivid testimony would seem to lead, step by step and with irresistible logic, straight to the private secretary—had it not been for two circumstances which placed him once for all beyond the possibility of having been the person who struck the blow.

First, he would have been as a babe in Felix Page's powerful grasp; there would have been no struggle at all.

Second, the fellow was an arrant coward, and he would never have offered the least resistance unless convinced that he was in imminent peril of his life—which was improbable.

The rear stairway was associated with the thought of Burke's cowardice, for he had chosen that way to accompany Stodger: whose shoe-sole had left the flattened fragment of paraffin there?

For some time I had been alone in the house—save, of course, for the still, sheeted form. The place was as silent as any tomb. Then of a sudden a sound smote upon my ear that brought me in a flash to attention.

There is a certain fascination about a door slowly opening in a house which you suppose to be empty. Until you have found out the cause you ascribe it to anything from ghosts to Bengal tigers, and even then may be sure of a surprise. The invisible agency may turn out to be only the wind or a wandering cat. But it makes no difference what starts the door to swinging open; the bald fact of its doing so when by all known laws it should remain firmly shut, is per se potent enough, or hypnotic enough,—or whatever influence it is that exerts,—to root you at once to the spot until the Unseen declares itself. In truth, an opening door is pregnant with such infinite possibilities.

It was with some such sort of suspended animation that I stared down over the balustrade and waited, my look glued upon the front door. It swung inward with a slowness inexpressibly aggravating. And then I recoiled with a little cry.

Miss Genevieve Cooper was standing in the lower hall, pale and trembling, and darting quick nervous glances in every direction.

Coughs, Colds Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only. 50c and $1, at all dealers. 10

Fire Chief Refuses Present.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—The members of the fire department are keenly excited over the action that Chief Tremblay has taken, to put an end to a move that had been made to present him with a purse. Over thirteen hundred dollars had actually been subscribed by the firemen, when the facts of the case became known to the chief and the affair was promptly nipped in the bud. It was ordered that every cent subscribed must be given back.

Several weeks ago the members of the fire department decided that as Chief Tremblay had worked so earnestly for the good of the force the entire force ought to show its appreciation by making him a valuable present.

The move was so popular that very soon over a thousand dollars was subscribed.

Smuggled Razor Into Jail.

Brockville, Dec. 30.—James Cowan of Gananoque, after being liberated from the county jail here, where he served two months, was taken into custody again within a few hours. At the request of a prisoner named Doherty, serving eighteen months, Jailer McDougall handed over to Cowan from his belongings, a razor which was found later in the possession of Doherty. Cowan is charged with passing the instrument through the gate of the jail wall while the prisoners were being exercised in the yard.

The magistrate committed Cowan for trial. Doherty hails from Montreal and is considered a dangerous character.

Wife Prompted Murder.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 30.—Immediately after he had been sentenced to death for killing his friend Frank Bezek, last September, Frank Maley, between sobs, in criminal court here yesterday confessed that he had ambushed Bezek in a lonely road and shot him five times, at the instigation of Mrs. Bezek, who, he said, planned the crime and offered him $500 of her husband's saving for doing it.

It was necessary for deputy sheriffs to carry him back to his cell.

British Vice-Consul Dead.

Queenstown, Ireland, Dec. 30.—Thomas Broadwood, who was recently appointed British vice-consul at Chicago, died yesterday at the Queen's Hotel here. He was taken ill Thursday while he was on board the liner New York on the way to America and he disembarked here.

D. J. McRae Buried.

Cornwall, Dec. 30.—The funeral of the late D. J. McRae of Bridge End, who figured so prominently in the recent McRae case, took place at St. Margaret's Church, Glen Navis, Thursday. Mr. McRae was the father of Mrs. (Dr.) Magee, Ottawa, whose trouble with her Protestant husband led to the attempt of Magee to remove his child from the McRae homestead, which resulted in the fatal shooting of one of his party, William Shaw, and the consequent conviction and life sentence for manslaughter of Farquhar D. McRae, reeve of Lancaster Township, and brother of deceased

D. C. McRae was 73 years of age and leaves two sons and one daughter, was closely related to the Camerons, McDonalds, McLellans, McRaes and other Glengarry families.

The funeral was one of the largest ever held in the County of Glengarry. The service was attended by his lordship Bishop McDonnell of Alexandria, and six priests. Rev. Corbot McRae of this town was the celebrant of the requiem mass and the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. J. E. McRae of St. Andrew's.

Stirring Times For U. S.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Sweeping changes in the tariff will be proposed by the Democratic majority in the House as soon as it gets to work next month. The Republican administration have also big changes now in process of being framed up, based on reports from the so-called tariff commission. But the Democrats will not wait for the administration bills—they have the majority and they will go on their own lines. The leaders of the Democrats have decided on sweeping reductions in the direction of a revenue tariff as against a wing of that party, who want many of the main items in the present tariff placed on the free list. Within six weeks the whole United States will be in the greatest tariff ferment it has ever experienced.

On top of all this is the stirring movements now in evidence in either party over their respective presidential candidates. Woodrow Wilson, in all likelihood, against Lafolette, two modernites, as against the old-timers like Taft, or Roosevelt, or Harmon (a Democrat).

The most marvelous thing of the situation is the strength of progressive ideas. Any man in the limelight to-day is a revolutionary (say Taft as an example), compared to what he was eighteen months ago. Wilson is for referendum, for recall. The big interests are getting the shake-up of their lives.

Women's Votes Cheap.

Los Angeles, Dec. 30.—It cost the women of California 15.3 cents a vote to win their fight for equal suffrage at the recent state election, according to reports given out at the headquarters of the Southern California Political Equality League yesterday.

The men admit $2.30 a vote is cheap for campaigns conducted by them.

Reports submitted to the league show that $26,000 was spent in the California campaign. The report showed that no one connected with the women's campaign drew a salary of more than $75 a month.

Where the Shoe Pinches.

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 30.—The increase in the wholesale price of shoes, which will be inaugurated in March by the Brockton shoe manufacturers, will be put into effect at the same time by the Lynn association, and by most of the New England manufacturers. The matter will be taken up later before the conventional association in New York.

Lynn makers say that their advance in price will probably be from 5 to 7 per cent. Retailers will add enough to retail prices to protect themselves.

Sharp Fighting In Morocco.

Madrid, Dec. 30.—Corrected official advices arriving here from Melilla, Morocco, yesterday afternoon, show Spanish losses in the battle with the Riffian tribesmen in Morocco on Dec. 27 of seven officers and 61 soldiers killed and 18 officers and 210 soldiers wounded. The killed include a colonel and three captains.

The captain-general of Melilla reports that there is every indication that Spain will be confronted with a serious military proposition with the Moroccan tribesmen.

Rescued Forty Fishermen.

Prince Rupert, B.C., Dec. 30.—The halibut steamer Grant of Seattle went ashore off White Rock, Banks Island, and quickly sank, Tuesday night. Her crew of forty men took to the dories and were picked up by the Canadian fishing steamer Falcon from here. Owing to the rough weather, the Falcon did not report here until yesterday.

The Grant had 30,000 pounds of halibut on board at the time she sank.

Quebec To Teach English.

Quebec, Dec. 30.—The Congress of the French Catholic school inspectors of the Province of Quebec was brought to a close at noon yesterday. A resolution was adopted urging strongly that the teaching of English be encouraged in the primary schools throughout the province.

Another Empire Binder.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Efforts are being made to form a Canadian branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association, the foundations of which were laid during the visit of overseas Parliamentary delegations to England at the time of the coronation. The object is to provide some permanent machinery, to provide more ready exchange of information and to facilitate close understanding and more frequent intercourse between members of the various British Parliament.

Arrested Financier In Error.

London, Eng., Dec. 30.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that John Howard Ford, described as a financier, well known in American financial circles, who is under arrest here on a charge of abduction, was released yesterday morning from Bow street. The New York police, who gave Ford's name, description and even the number of his cabin, made a serious mistake.

Dynamite Exploded Near Dundas.

Hamilton, Dec. 30.—The explosion of a large quantity of dynamite in a quarry close to Dundas about 10.30 o'clock last night, gave rise to a rumor that six workmen had been killed, but the report proved to be without foundation. No one was injured, the men employed at the quarry being all in Dundas when the discharge occurred.

Her Grave Pre-empted.

Woburn, Mass., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Anna Myerson of Dorchester has brought suit for trespass against the trustees of the Boston Cemetery here because a grave which she had reserved for her own personal use, is occupied by the body of a man.

Women to Advise Mayor.

Santa Monica, Cal., Dec. 30.—Seven women have been selected by Mayor elect R. H. Dow to act in an advisory capacity during his term of office.

Russian peasants in one district are petitioning the priests to allow the use of horseflesh as food.

GORDON IN FAVOR OF HYDRO-ELECTRIC

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In certain quarters it has been said that I am not favorable to considering the Hydro-Electric power question by the council.

I beg to say that if I am elected a member of the council, I will support the Hydro-Electric policy.

Since the Hon. Adam Beck has given his undertaking on behalf of himself and the Ontario Government, the rate-payers should not fail to pass the Hydro-Electric By-law on Monday.

No liability will be incurred by the City Council without a by-law authorizing an agreement being voted by the rate-payers.

I strongly urge every ratepayer to vote favorably for the by-law on Monday as it is the only course open to get cheap power for the City of Peterborough and I pledge myself if elected not to enter into any agreement unless a by-law authorizing it has been favorably voted on by the ratepayers.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

MURRAY STREET HOME WAS ENTERED LAST NIGHT

Six Parlor Chairs Were Taken by Well Known Local Parties,

Armed with serenading instruments of torture, such as bazoos and drum, the employes of J. J. Turner & Sons, made their way to the home of Mr. Herbert Gerrish, on Murray street, last night and astounded that worthy with their liberality in Sousa like musical contributions and gifts of household furnishings. Six of the visitors each held a chair in a manner worthy of an Indian brave with a tomahawk and into the cosy and new-made home the revellers wended their way. There were sixteen in the party and Mr. Gerrish got the reception of his life.

The chairs were distributed in the objective point, the parlor, while Mr. James Ball read the following address;

Dear Herbert,—During the past few days you have changed your single life to married life so that a new era opens before you, in which you are assuming responsibilities as old as the world and began in the Garden of Eden.

We are gathered here to-night to celebrate the event and add our sincere wishes that your journey through life may be smooth and harmonious with good health and prosperity abundant.

As a token of the esteem in which you are held by yyour fellow workers we would ask you to accept these chairs as a token of good will and best wishes for your success and happiness.

Wishing you and Mrs. Gerrish a bright and happy New Year.

We are,
Sincerely yours,
The employes of J. J. Turner & Sons

The event also testified to the popularity which Mr. Gerrish enjoys amongst his fellow employes at Turners, where he has been engaged for the past five years. It was an evening enjoyed by all.

A Bright, Happy and Prosperous New Year to all

1911 is all but gone. 1912 is all but here. We stand on the threshold as a new year is being ushered in. To-day is a day of retrospection and optimism.

We examine critically the old year as it drags out slowly and reluctantly. To us it has been a year of phenomenal growth. Every department throughout this great store has shown a marked increase. Not only have sales been greater—more customers served, and average sales higher—but our "Store Service" has become nearer perfection than ever before.

The Buying end has been systematized to ensure securing the "New Things First" and selling them at prices within reach of all. Our salespeople are proficient to a marked degree and constantly at your service. Our own Delivery system enables us to deliver all parcels quickly and in perfect condition. The numerons Special Depts. throughout the store supply a long felt want and add to the comfort and convenience of the buying public.

The new year offers us a wealth of brilliant possibilities. The increased prestige attained in 1911 combined with our improved facilities for "Perfect Store Service." make us exceedingly enthusiastic and optimistic about the approaching year of 1912.

We predict it to be the "Banner Year" of this great commercial enterprise. New depts. will be inaugurated—other depts. will be enlarged to meet the various wants of the people. In every particular we are prepared to anticipate your demands and to supply them to your lasting satisfaction.

In asking a continuance of your liberal patronage we extend to you the Season's Greeting. "MAY YOU ENJOY ALL THE SUNSHINE AND HAPPINESS OF 1912 WITHOUT IT'S SHADOWS AND SORROWS."

WEDDING BELLS

BANKS—REID

A very pretty wedding took place at Christ's church, Bobcaygeon, on Thursday, December 28, at 11 a.m., when Miss Effie Reid of Toronto, and formerly of Bobcaygeon, was united in marriage to Mr. H. Banks, of Detroit, the ceremony being performed by the rector, Rev. F.L. Barber. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was gowned in white with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ross, was attired in cream silk, Mr. A. McIntyre, of Detroit, officiated as best man.

THE PEOPLE'S POWER OR THE MONOPOLY'S POWER!

Which Shall Own It?
Vote on Monday on the Question

The Hon. Adam Beck, in his address in the Opera House, made a number of things clear. Among them were:

That the vote on Monday would not commit the electors to a contract. If they by their votes ask for people's power, the people's Commission, appointed by the Government, will get the necessary information and then another vote will have to be taken to authorize the necessary expenditure.

The question now is: Do the people want that information?

Every municipality that has taken power through the Commission has reduced rates, and provided for paying for the plant out of the revenue and still has a surplus.

Light is furnished in London at 4½ cents, and it is 120 miles from the water power. In Peterborough 7 cents is charged. It should be less than in London.

If the power monopoly retains control of the water powers, it will control the supply of electricity and the price. If the people desire to own the water powers the Commission will get them for the people, and all the profits and benefits will belong to the people.

Do you want the power monopoly or the people to own the power in this district? If you say the people, then vote on Monday in favor of obtaining power.

In the cities which obtain power from the Commission, the price will go down steadily as more power is used — because it belongs to the people. Where the people do not own power, the price goes up as more is used and it becomes scarcer — because it belongs to a monopoly.

When the Hydro-Electric cities pay off the cost of their plants (which is being done out of revenue from the plants) the price of power in them will go down with a thud. Here, if the monopoly still controls the powers, the tendency of prices will be upwards. How then could Peterborough compete with those cities?

Do you want the monopoly to control the powers here? If you do, vote against obtaining power.

Do you want lower rates for light and power?

Do you want the people to own the water powers?

Do you want the benefits and profits of these great natural resources to go to the people?

Do you want rates that will be lower and that will be steadily reduced?

Do you want Peterborough to be in as good a position as any and better than most cities?

If you do, vote on Monday for obtaining power.

The vote on Monday WILL NOT authorize the Council to spend money. When amounts are ascertained, ANOTHER VOTE must be taken to obtain that authority.

The vote on Monday WILL SAY whether the ratepayers want the people or the power monopoly to own and control the water powers.

Vote in favor of obtaining power, and by doing so vote in the interest of the city, of yourself, of your children and of your children's children.

DO NOT NEGLECT TO VOTE ON MONDAY.

HARRY REX SHAKES HIMSELF; AYLMER ST. AS RACE COURSE

His Driver Thrown Out of Buggy and Injured.

Local Horsemen Have Trouble With Driving Park Officials.

Jack Donnley, driver of Harry Rex owned by William Leith of Millbrook was bruised and otherwise injured in a runaway accident this afternoon on Aylmer street.

He had a buggy and gig, and the shafts of the latter coming in contact with the horse, frightened him as he was being driven north on Aylmer street.

Donnley was thrown from the buggy at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets. He was assisted to the office of Dr. Gallivan, by Mr. Jos. Mills and others and his injuries were attended to.

The injured man was to leave for Millbrook to-day. He had brought Harry Rex here to work him out on the track at the Driving Park, but a hitch in the arrangements for the use of the track, prevented Donnley as well as other drivers from entering the property.

Local horsemen are up in arms against the officers and directors of the Driving Park, who, it appears, will not permit of the horses being worked out on the track.

TROUBLE WITH ICE AT LAKEFIELD

Much Water Released and Caused Heavy Flood

The power houses and waterworks this side of Lakefield had a little too much water yesterday owing to a flood from Lakefield, where anchor ice caused a lot of trouble.

Much of the troublesome ice had gathered at the dam, and in the effort to relieve the situation stop logs were taken out, thus allowing a heavy flood of water to come this way.

ENGINE EXPLODES

Fireman Was Blown Over Top of Several Cars.

Thamesville, Ont., Saturday, Dec. 30—Locomotive No. 1890, on a west bound Wabosh freight, exploded exactly opposite the Grand Trunk station here about 12.30 this morning. The explosion was terrific, awakening the whole town, and burning pieces in blocks from the track.

The train was in charge of conductor Cudmore, the engine one of the large Wabash Moguls, Engineer Cade, of Windsor, being the driver.

The whole body of the engine was blown several yards ahead, the lower part of the engine and turned completely upside down, parts of the car being found yards away.

Engineer Cade was found seriously scalded, principally about the head and arms, and is in a very serious condition. Medical assistance was obtained, and he was taken to St. Thomas' Hospital on Wabash, No. 4 the eastbound track not being blocked.

Fireman Cook was blown over the top of several cars, but escaped uninjured.

The local fire company was soon on the scene, and gave every assistance possible.

The exact cause of the explosion is not known.

Missionaries Depart.

Belleville, Dec. 30.—William Cochrane, who has been for nearly thirteen years bursar at the deaf and dumb institution here, has received notification that he has been transferred to the asylum at Cobourg, where he is to be bursar. He is to enter on his new duties on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Seven Anglican missionaries for the foreign field will hold a farewell service at St. James' Parish Hall on Jan. 9. They are: Miss Alice B. Hague, Kingston; Rev. A. J. Williams, Winnipeg; Rev. L. N. Ward, London, Ont.; Rev. W. H. Gale, Montreal; Miss Carrie B. Thomas, Dr. P. Helliwell and Rev. Wm. Trivett, Toronto.

Boy Drowned While Skating.

Hespeler, Dec. 30.—Irwin Limpert, eight-year-old son of Ald. John Limpert, while out skating on the dam along with other lads, got into the water and was drowned in about four feet of water. Eddie Lang tried to rescue Irwin when he heard his cry for help, but he failed when he also broke through the ice and was rescued by his companions and was taken to the home of Mrs. Cossage.

Charles Wilkins secured a canoe and pulled Irwin from the water. Dr. Lockhart was quickly on the scene and tried every means in his power to revive the lad, but life was gone.

Fatal Wreck.

Belleville, Dec. 29.—After deliberating for two hours, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict in reference to the accident on the G.T.R. here on Saturday night, whereby a brakeman, William S. Symons, lost his life and other employes were injured. The verdict was as follows: "That William S. Symons, brakeman, came to his death as the result of a collision on the east end of the G. T. R. here, and that no blame can be attached to the crews of the double-header train or the crew of the shunting engine. The cause of the accident was a misplaced switch, and in our opinion Switchman Mossman neglected his duty to ascertain the extent, but from the evidence submitted we do not feel that all responsibility should be placed on him, as the switch may have been tampered with by some person unknown."

Preference for Canadian Pulp.

Washington, Dec. 29.—American pulp and print manufacturers are bringing pressure to bear upon President Taft to induce him to refuse to yield to the demand of certain European Governments for the free admission of their pulp and print paper on terms of equality with the Canadian product. The disposition of the administration has been to let this matter be determined by the courts, but as this involves long delay, the diplomatic protestants are by no means satisfied and are adopting measures to show their resentment.

In view of the peculiar conditions under which Canadian pulp and paper got upon the free list in spite of the failure of the reciprocity measure some consideration is being given to the propriety of leaving to Congress the adjustment of the international difficulties that have arisen.

POTTER'S FIELD.

Where New York's Pauper Dead Rest in Forgotten Graves.

Three times each week a boat leaves an East river wharf for Hart's island bearing its load of the city's pauper dead. About 200,000 interments have been made in the city cemetery since its opening in 1869. For the first four years, or until July, 1874, when trench 1 was made, the number of bodies was known, but not the location of each body. Since then the records show where each of the dead was buried.

An entry in the death book, which is kept in the little office, is all that tells where the burial was made. A numbered incision made in the plain wood coffin furnished by the department of charities is the means whereby the authorities are able to locate a body.

It is of interest to recall the origin of the designation potter's field. The name comes from the New Testament, Matthew xxvii, where the suicide of Judas is recorded: "Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the priests and elders, saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed innocent blood. And they said: What is that to us? See thou to that. And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple and departed and went and hanged himself. And the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, It is not lawful to put them in the treasury, because it is the price of blood. And they took counsel and bought with them the potter's field to bury strangers in. Wherefore that field was called the field of blood unto this day."

Hart's island contains about 100 acres and is oval in shape. Not more than a quarter of the island has been used, and half a dozen generations will pass away before the great army of the city's pauper dead will cause any overcrowding.—New York Sun.

LEGISLATIVE BELLS.

There Are 739 of Them In the Capitol at Washington.

Whenever there is a roll call in the house of representatives or any other procedure requiring the attendance of members 500 electric bells start ringing simultaneously. They are operated from a switchboard or call box at the speaker's desk. Similarly in the senate 239 bells are operated. At the capitol these gongs are known as legislative bells.

Four hundred of the house bells are in the house office building and 100 in the house wing of the capitol. There is a bell in the room of every member, one in every committee room and several in the cloakrooms, corridors, lobbies and restaurants. In the senate office building there are 140 gongs and ninety-nine in the senate proper.

On the roll call in either house the signal is given as soon as the first name is called by the clerk. Senators and congressmen who are in their offices hurry to their respective chambers in order to answer to their names. Each house has a different system of signals, as follows:

The senate—One bell, yeas and nays; two bells, call of the senate; three bells, executive session; four bells, adjournment; five bells, doors open after executive session.

House—One bell, tellers; two bells, yeas and nays; three bells, call of the house; four bells, adjournment; five bells, recess.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Canal of Steel.

In connection with the Nile irrigation system at Wadi Kom Ombo there has been constructed a canal of steel 5,200 feet in length whereby water from the service reservoir is distributed to the earth canals. In section this metallic canal is U shaped, twenty feet broad and twelve feet deep. It is made up of seventeen sections, connected by expansion joints, and the riveted steel plates of which it consists are six millimeters in thickness. During the construction the engineers were troubled, among other things, by the unequal expansion of the metal. The expansion was greatest on the side where the sun happened to shine full upon the plates, and the inequality was often sufficient to displace the end of a section about to be joined as much as four inches to one side or the other.—Harper's.

To Detect Picture Thieves.

Herr Erndt, curator of Prince Leichtenstein's picture gallery in Vienna, has invented an apparatus in order to prevent the theft of pictures or other objects of value from public galleries, like that of the "Mona Lisa." The invention consists in an arrangement of delicate electric contacts in the wall behind the frame, so made that the least touch on the frame or any pressure, such an attempt to cut out the canvas, would cause to ring an electric bell in a central office or elsewhere. The bell is in connection with a board containing numbers such as is used in hotels, so that a glance at the board informs the warder of the number and position of the picture which has been touched.—Vienna Cor. London Standard.

Women Bull Fighters Barred.

The Spanish minister of the interior has issued an edict by which women are prohibited from taking any active part in bullfights. The following from the Animal's Friend, London, is the reason alleged: "Although the practice of participating in bullfights is not expressly forbidden by law to women, yet it is so antagonistic to the tender feminine nature that a woman toreador seems an almost intolerable spectacle. Therefore the authorities will no longer sanction any bullfight in which women are to appear in this character."

PHYSICIANS Failed to Cure Rheumatism

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure With "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago, and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

DRANK POISON IN WHISKEY

Philadelphia, Pa., December 30 — William Wilt was found dead in his home here, early yesterday from poison, which had been prepared by his brother, John, who said he intended to kill himself.

John Wilt felt so good over having passed an examination to become a registered plumber that he started to celebrate the event by drinking. Toward evening he became remorseful and on his way home purchased fifteen cents worth of whiskey and ten cents worth of carbolic acid. He mixed the liquids and when he got home took a swallow and went to his room. During the night his brother was found dead on the dining-room floor by their mother. John was found suffering from poison and he was rushed to a hospital, where, after he had partly recovered from the effets of the poison, he told what he had done.

It is the theory of the coroner that when William Wilt came home he saw the poisoned whiskey on the dining room table and took a drink, dying before he could leave the room.

Young Man Who Stole Watch Was Fined $20

The young man who pleaded guilty of the theft of a gold watch valued at about $5, from a youth named Jas. Worboy, was fined at police court this morning $20, which included costs.

"We can't allow these stealings to go on forever without any punishment," said the magistrate, when imposing the fine. The money was ordered to be paid forthwith or the prisoner would be forced to endure sixty days' confinement on the hill.

SAY BIG BRIBE WAS OFFERED

Quebec, December 30—A sensational report startled the city aldermen, when Mayor Drouin informed them that a sworn statement had been sent to him charging a contractor and a city employe with attempted bribery.

It is in connection with the tenders for a new water main that this accusation originated. The charge is that M Harry Gaudry, representative of the firm of Robert McLaren & Co Ltd., Scotland, has offered $10,000 to Mr. Jardine Forester, consulting engineer for the waterworks department, to make him accept his firm's tenders for cast iron pipes at a price of $33 a ton when the market price is $28 a ton for the same quality of pipes.

The affidavits containing this statement are signed by three other contractors, Miles Lonergan, Napoleon Dussault, and J. L. Lachance. Both Messrs Gaudry and Forester emphatically denied the accusation under oath and asked the City Council to investigate the whole affair, which demand was granted. The contract for the water main was to run up in the $300,000.

PRESENTATION AT FAIRVIEW

Miss Agnes Fitzgerald Given a Well Filled Purse

On the evening of Dec. 27th, the Fairview friends met at the home of Miss Agnes Fitzgerald, and presented her with a purse and a handsome sum of money. The evening was spent in games, guessing contests and a program consisting of music, readings, recitations and speeches. At the conclusion of the program Miss Olive Adams was called and read the address, the presentation being made by Mr. John Elliott.

Miss Agnes Fitzgerald;

Dear Friend,—As we have once more reached the Christmas season where friends are gathering together for social intercourse and when the land seems ringing with good cheer, we would extend to you our best wishes for a very happy New Year.

As we remember how willingly you have helped us as our organist during the past summer we are deeply thankful to you for this assistance. We know that many times this help was given at considerable inconvenience to yourself, so we cannot help realizing that you have endeavored to extend the spirit of "Peace on earth and good-will to men."

We ask you therefore to accept our Christmas gift not as remuneration but as a token of our appreciation and with our heartfelt thanks.

Signed on behalf of your Fairview friends:

Mr. John Elliott,
Miss Olive M. Adams.

Miss Fitzgerald, although taken completely by surprise, replied in a very suitable manner. Refreshments were then served.

H. H. Wright, as mayor, and the entire council of Aylmer have been elected by acclamation.

'VOTE FOR EX-ALDERMAN J. J. DUFFUS IN THE WEST WARD

To the Ratepayers of the West Ward and Peterborough Citizens in general;

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having the honor of being duly nominated and urged by a large number of representative citizens to be a candidate in the West Ward, I have decided to again enter the Aldermanic field. As it will be impossible for me to interview each voter, I hereby most respectfully solicit your support and influence to assure my election.

If you so honor me I will pledge mself to do my utmost to assist in executing the city's business in a prudent and business like manner.

New industries, to my mind, is the one essential towards the future growth and success of our city, and I am in favor of every effort being put forth to obtain cheap power and light, and also to induce the Radial Railway Co. to make extensive extensions. I would like to see the centre of our city with a permanent roadway.

I am opposed to the policy of increasing a man's taxes every time he makes improvemnts and minor extensions, and would support a measure to eliminate this condition of affairs.

Wishing all a bright and prosperous New Year.

Yours very respectfully.
JOS. J. DUFFUS.

To the Citizens OF THE WEST WARD

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

H. Cyril Hill

Aldermanic Candidate

EDGAR
For West Ward

If my course and conduct in the Council as Alderman during the past year merits the approval of the ratepayers of the ward, which I endeavored to represent, I shall be very glad to have their support again.

I will, if elected, do my utmost to get for the city the most favorable rates for power and lighting, and which, I believe, can be had only from the Hydro-Electric Commission. In other respects I will be careful and considerate of the best interests of the city.

JAS. EDGAR

That some one tampered with a switch caused Saturday night's fatal collision in the Belleville railway yards was stated at the inquest.

JOHNSTON
FOR NORTH WARD

I am again a candidate for election to the City Council as one of the representatives of the North Ward.

I ask for your support and in return undertake to do my utmost to advance the interests of the city at large and of the ward fairly.

If the ratepayers feel that I deserve their confidence, I shall be very glad and grateful as there are some very important matters of great interest to the welfare of the city to come forward during the year. I assure them with my previous experience I can be of more than average use to the ratepayers.

Thanking you, ladies and gentlemen, with the compliments of the season.

Yours respectfully,
W. J. JOHNSTON

GILLESPIE
For Centre Ward

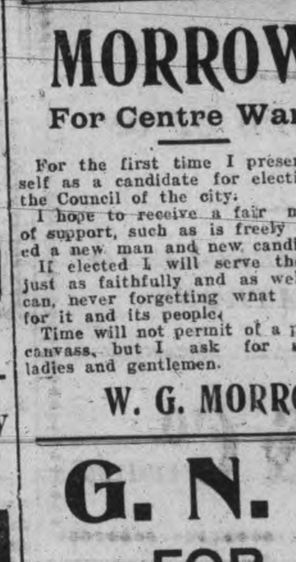
To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been again urged by a large number of ratepayers interested in the welfare of the city, I have consented to accept the nomination for Alderman for 1912.

My previous record in the Council is known to you all. If again honored with your confidence I will endeavor to render such efficient service as will conduce to the best interests of the city irrespective of wards or boundaries.

As my business engagements will not permit me to personally interview the electors, I take this means of soliciting your votes and influence.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. A. GILLESPIE
December 23, 1911.



MORROW
For Centre Ward

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to the Council of the city.

I hope to receive a fair measure of support, such as is freely accorded a new man and new candidate.

If elected I will serve the city just as faithfully and as well as I can, never forgetting what is best for it and its people.

Time will not permit of a personal canvass, but I ask for support, ladies and gentlemen.

W. G. MORROW

BULLER

Vote for W. Buller the People's Candidate for Alderman for South Ward.

W. BULLER

METHERAL
FOR CENTRE WARD

TO THE RATEPAYERS:

Vote to re-elect Jos. R. Metheral as Alderman in Centre Ward.

I have been entrusted with your confidence for the past three years, and my record stands open before you. It may show no extraordinary ability, but an earnest endeavor to be straightforward and honest in all dealings. I have not been swayed by cliques or outside influences, but voted and worked at all times in the interest of the ratepayers in general and will continue to do so in the future if elected.

I would advise the ratepayers to vote in favor of the Hydro-Electric Commission by-law. I firmly believe that the Hydro-Electric Commission will give Peterborough power at rates considerably reduced from those at present in force, and I pledge myself that no contract for power either with the Hydro-Electric Commission or private corporation shall be agreed to by the City Council without a bylaw to that effect being first submitted to the ratepayers.

Yours faithfully, Ladies and Gentlemen,
JOS. R. METHERAL

LANGFORD, Jr.
FOR NORTH WARD

To the Ratepayers:

I ask your support for election to the Council of 1912. I am in favor of the Hydro-Electric By-law, but will support only such proposition as will give the city the lowest possible rates for power and light.

I will be watchful of the city's interests and endeavor to have its affairs administered economisally, consistent with progress of the city.

Yours very respectfully,
WILLIAM LANGFORD, Jr.

GARSIDE
For South Ward

To the Rateyayers of No. 1 Ward:

For the first time I present myself as a candidate for election to Council of this city. I hope to receive your kind support, and shall try and make my services your gain. Equal rights to all and favors to none. Wishing you all a prosperous coming year, and that your lights may be still cheaper and brighter.

Yours faithfully,
James Garside

G. N. GORDON
FOR ALDERMAN
THE CENTRE WARD

To the Electors of the Centre Ward:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—As a candidate for Alderman for one of the two seats in the Centre Ward, I respectfully solicit your votes.

My platform is briefly this:

1. Obtain Hydro-Electric estimates and reports as to prices, terms, etc., of obtaining power for the City's manufacturers, and for house and store lighting.

2. Abate the nuisance caused by the G. T. R. using Bethune Street as a shunting yard, which injuriously affects hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of realty.

3. Obtain legislation allowing reduction of taxes on businesses and improvements, and increasing taxation of land values, thus making the holders of vacant land pay their share of taxes.

4. Have every milk vendor's milk inspected at least fortnightly, and a report with the milkman's name published showing the proportions of butter fat contained in each lot.

5. Consideration of the question of permanent improvement of highways.

6. Begin an aggressive campaign to obtain new industries, and inaugurate a strong publicity scheme.

There are two Aldermen to be elected for the Centre Ward: G. A. Gillespie is contesting one seat with J. R. Metherall, and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte Street, is contesting the other seat with me.

If elected, I will energetically support a progressive campaign for the City's advancement.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am,

Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON

OUR SINCERE

THANKS

Are extended to the people of Peterboro for the continued most gratifying success that has attended the Retiring Sale. We feel that this desirable result has been due to the recognized honesty of the Sale and the genuineness of the object. Since it started there has not been a dispute, or a parcel lost.

The reduction of the big stock has been large, but with such an immense quantity of goods to dispose of it will no doubt be some time yet before the stock will be in such shape that the ultimate object can be attained. For the present, the Sale will continue with all departments fully equipped for any demand, and our announcements will be seen in the papers regularly.

Wishing all our friends and patrons the Compliments of the Season and a Prosperous New Year.

POWER BY-LAW

Nothing to Lose and Much to be Gained

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—Having read the advertisements against this proposed by-law, and also having listened to the address of Hon. Adam Beck, I am satisfied, as one interested citizen, that there is nothing to lose and much probably to be gained, by passing by-law.

Mr. Beck clearly shewed that there is no financial risk involved for us, and that it was reasonable, before undertaking preliminary work on our behalf that the Commission should be assured of the interest and support of our people.

Surely we don't want to be at the mercy of a trust, which evidently sees that the government's proposed scheme by reducing the cost of electricity, will curo the private monopoly and help the whole body of the people.

If Peterboro allows this offer of the Commission to be turned down, our city is either unprogressive and deserves to take a back seat.

Yours in the public interest,

"CITIZEN."

POWER BY-LAW.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I notice the Power Company in their opposition to the Hydro-Electric By-law have in an advertisement quoted prices at which power is being sold to municipalities in Western Ontario, and while the figures may be absolutely correct, they only, like many other articles used by the power monopoly, convey a half truth, for the citizens are left to infer that the prices for power in Peterborough would be equally high, which is not the case, and which no one knows better than the author of the advertisement.

As every intelligent person knows and as has been pointed out by Hon. Mr. Beck, the higher cost is due to the long distances power has to be transmitted from Niagara and the very heavy expenditure for transmission lines and loss of power in transmission. In Peterborough with power at our doors this heavy expenditure in unnecessary and the loss of power in transmission would be eliminated. Mr. Beck has explained that we in Peterborough, while we are now paying $20 per H.P. should, from having the power right at our doors, be getting it for about $12.

Yours truly,

POWER USER.

HAS A STRONG PLATFORM

Ex. Ald. Duffus Will Work for Many Reforms if Elected Again to Council

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—On account of the urgent requests of a very large number of all classes of citizens, I again present myself as a candidate for alderman, and as such I desire to make known some of my views in regard to the future welfare of our city, the citizens in general, and particularly the West Ward.

Having been a member of the Board of Works, I feel that the outside portions of the different wards are to a certain extent neglected. For example, Sherbrooke street west is in need of repairs, and particularly in need of crossings. King street west, Thomas street, Bolivar street, William street and Pearl avenue, and in fact all that part of the city and vicinity formerly known as the Burnham property, which has been so well built up lately, is deserving of the council's early attention in the way of grading, crossings, sewer and water service and some extensions made.

Also the north-west portion of the ward in the vicintiy of Cedar, Elm, Douegal, Downie and Bonaccord streets requires grading and general improvement. Numerous portions of the other different wards are also in need of similar attention. AFTER these outside and other districts receive the attention due them, I would very much like to see a portion of George, Charlotte and Hunter streets with a permanent roadway, for the following reasons:

During the fall and spring and when wet weather prevails, owing to heavy traffic, these streets become filthy and are not in keeping with a progressive city. Furthermore, when the weather is dry, it is impossible to subdue the dust, and storekeepers cannot possibly keep their goods and premises as clean as they would desire, and I am of the opinion, that due to this, myriads of germs must inevitably find their way into the stores, and thence to the homes of the people. This nuisance can only be abated by the application of tons of tons of water, which, together with the traffic, cut up our streets and heave them in perpetual need of repair, and thus our money is wasted. Moreover, this portion of the city is frequented by ladies and their children, while the former are doing their necessary shopping, and they, as well as the hundreds of clerks and others employed in the stores, are subject to the inconvenience of mud in the wet weather, dust in the dry weather and germs at all times.

Owing to its proximity to the many popular summer resorts of this district, Peterborough is visited by thousands of strangers during the summer, and the absence of pavements on our roads is a poor advertisement, and creates an impression of a lack of progress, which is so conveniently intersected by both railways, and also so convenient to the Trent Canal.

I am strongly of the opinion that in order to make the necessary progress, we must inaugurate a different plan in order to obtain our share of new industries. Our city is admirably situated and cheap power must come our way. We possess more natural facilities than other cities and town in Canada, Our education system is second to none, and altogether, our city should appeal to strangers who are seeking a new home, either for the purpose of living retired, obtaining employment or a location for a new industry.

What we need is co-operation from all classes of people, the Board of Trade and the Council. With sufficient amount of the right kind of public spiritedness manifesting itself, each doing their part, our city will surely grow, and we may look forward for a greater Peterborough

If elected, I will do my utmost to put these views into effect.

Yours sincerely,

JOS. J. DUFFUS.

HALIBURTON IS VISITED BY FIRE

Temperance House Was Destroyed With Loss of $5,000

Haliburton, Dec. 30.—One of the most disastrous fires in the history of the village occurred here on Thursday, when the temperance boarding house, known as the Watt House, and owned by Mr. Nichols, was burned to the ground.

Through the heroic efforts of a number of men, the adjoining properties—Mr. W. Austoin's and Mr. D. Gorrie's large house and store, were saved. The flames drove the men back many times, scorching their eyes were almost blinded with cinders. However, they fought on doggedly, and finally triumphed.

Mr W. Austin's house was badly damaged, and Mr. Gorrie had the hangings in one window and the sill damaged. The Watt House was a total loss.

But for the fact that Mr. Gorrie's house and store was of brick and metal roofing, this fine building would undoubtedly have fallen a prey to the flames.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr Nichols, as he stands to lose $5,000, independent of insurance, $3,500.

Had Been Ailing for Only Two Days With Bronchitis

The death occurred this afternoon of Mrs. James Matchett, at her home 38 Murray street. Her death was very sudden and unexpected, and is a severe shock to her friends. Matchett, Miss Bessie Matchett, and Mrs. J. Sharpe all of this city; and also a sister and brother, Mrs. West, of this city, and Mr. D. P. Macfarlane of California. The deceased lady was 67 years of age and was born in Otonabee, where she lived until her marriage to Mr. Jas. Matchett. Since then she has resided here, and was a staunch and highly respected member of St. Paul church.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. Service at the house at two o'clock.

Halifax Hotel Burned.

Halifax, Dec. 30.—The King Edward Hotel, opposite the Intercolonial Railway station in this city, was totally destroyed by fire last night.

It was a very dangerous conflagration on account of a heavy northwest gale that swept over the city and carried great embers for half a mile over the roofs of buildings on Lockman street and the waterfront. The only outbreak of fire outside the hotel, however, was in a wooden house three hundred yards distant, but this was extinguished without much damage.

Sixty men from H.M.C.S. Niobe under Lieut. White, R.N., volunteered and gave effective assistance to the fire department. The building and furniture, owned by Wm. Wilson, valued at $65,000 were partially insured.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

VICTORIES FOR HYDRO IN ALL PARTS OF PROVINCE

Not One Defeat Registered Against Provincial Power.

Hydro-Electric Bylaws Carry Wherever Submitted With as Few as 2 and 10 Votes Against—C. H. Hartman Wins on Electric Issue In Brantford—Ottawa Re-elects Mayor Hopewell—Berlin's Improvements.

Two outstanding features marked the municipal contests throughout the Province of Ontario, the overwhelming sentiment in favor of the Hydro-electric system and the setback given to local option, which failed in 23 municipalities of even a straight majority.

The Hydro-electric bylaws were carried wherever they were submitted, in many cases only from 2 to 10 voting against public power.

In Brantford the majority contest was fought out on this issue, and resulted in the return of Charles H. Hartman by a majority of 263.

Among the other cities and large towns which voted for Hydro power were Kingston, Owen Sound, Goderich, Clinton and Prescott.

Mayor Hopewell is again chief magistrate of Ottawa by a good majority, and Mayor Lees still retains the confidence of the electors of Hamilton.

Charles M. H. Graham is mayor of London, and F. J. Hoag had an acclamation in Kingston.

The city of Berlin voted to spend $130,000 for a number of civic improvements.

In Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Toronto's civic elections yesterday resulted in a turn down for the proposed subways and a win for most of the other bylaws. F. S. Spence, the well-known temperance man, and J. J. Ward, for a long time a controller, were defeated in the running for the Board of Control. The mayor was re-elected by acclamation. The new council is:

Mayor, G. R. Geary. Controllers, H. C. Hocken, J. O. McCarthy, T. Foster, T. Church. Aldermen: First Ward, D. Chisholm, Z. Hilton, W. J. Saunderson; Second Ward, J. O'Neill, H. A. Rowland, R. M. Yeomans; Third Ward, S. McBride (accl.), A. Maguire (accl.), M. Rawlinson (accl.); Fourth Ward, G. Weston, J. Wanless, G. McMurrich; Fifth Ward, J. Dunn, R. H. Graham, J. T. V. May; Sixth Ward, F. Mc Brien, D. Spence, J. A. Austin; Seventh Ward, A. J. Anderson, S. Ryding.

In Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 2.—Hamilton's City Council for 1912 will be constituted as follows:

Mayor—George H. Lees (elected by acclamation).

Board of Control—W. G. Bailey, Charles W. Gardner, John Allan, Thomas W. Jutten.

Aldermen—Ward 1, J. H. Horning, J. H. Milne; Ward 2, Hugh S. Wallace, Charles G. Bird; Ward 3, David Garson, Charles W. Homing (accl.); Ward 4, J. E. London.

London, Jan. 2.—Charles M. A. Graham was yesterday elected mayor, defeating Ald. Eckert and Ald. Stevenson by a large majority. The business men's slate of eight, endorsed by the Board of Trade, was elected. Only three of last year's council go back again—Ashplant, Richeter and Bennett.

G. E. Rose, a Labor man, who was disqualified last year by Ald. Wilson, is returned. Ald. Bennett is also a Labor man. The council is as follows: Robinson, Moore, Richter, Ashplant, Wright, Coles, Blandford, Spittal, Rose, Murphy, Johnston, Bennett.

Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—All circumstances combined to make yesterday's municipal vote the heaviest ever polled in this city. With the keenest fight for the mayoralty that has occurred for many years, and the biggest struggle ever for the Board of Control, the people had a great incentive to turn out in throngs to the polling booths.

The figures of the vote for mayoralty were: Mayor Hopewell, 4,156; E. J. Laverdure, 3,937; Ross, 3,340; re-electing the old mayor by a majority of 219.

The vote for controllers was a close fight as regards the three last of the four elected out of nine candidates: McClenaghan 6,063, Parent 4,243, Hinchey 3,820, Hastey 3,548, Wilson 3,543, Pepper 3,388, Draper 3,368, Champagne 2,861, Stanley 2,258.

The aldermen elected in the different wards are: Rideau Ward, Perney and Slinn; Capital Ward, Nelson and Ault; Victoria Ward, Green and Garland; Dalhousie Ward, Forward and Slack; By Ward, LaPointe and Desjointes; Central Ward, Hogg and Kent; Ottawa Ward—Valin and Desjardines; Wellington Ward, Campbell and Black.

Kingston.

Kingston, Jan. 2.—Kingston had four bylaws to vote on and interest centered there, as there was no mayoralty contest, Ald. F. J. Hoag having been elected by acclamation. All four carried. The bylaw asking for a reduction of ten liquor licenses was carried by a majority of 123, while other three giving a fixed assessment of $100,000 to the Canadian Locomotive Co., concessions to box factory, and giving city council power to open negotiations with the Hydro Electric Power Commission were carried by very large majorities.

The aldermen elected were: Ald. Wm. Clubston, Ald. J. W. Litton, Ald. W. P. Peters, R. D. Sutherland and Allan Stroud.

Brantford.

Brantford, Jan. 2.—Charles H. Hartman was elected here yesterday on the Hydro-electric ticket by a majority of 266 over Joseph Ruddy. The bylaw to raise $85,000 for the improvement of the John H. Stratford Hospital was carried by nearly 500 majority, having received influential support in all the wards.

Berlin.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—The municipal contest yesterday resulted as follows: Mayor, William H. Schmalz; reeve, W. D. Euler; first deputy, N. Armusson; second deputy, H. A. Dietrich; third deputy, Fred Rirleder. Aldermen: E. W. Clement leads the poll, Carl Krantz, David Cross, William Pieper, C. H. Mills, H. A. Hagen, N. B. Wetweiter, Joseph Winterhalt, George Pucher, C. B. Dunk, Wm. O. Knichtel, J. R. Schilling, W. V. Utley, John S. Schwartz, John Schnarr.

Bylaw to raise $100,000 for extensions to the waterworks system was carried by 576 majority. Bylaw to raise $10,735 for deviation of Wilmot street storm drain was carried by 223 majority.

Belleville.

Belleville, Jan. 2.—The municipal elections yesterday did not create much of a stir, notwithstanding that there was a mayoralty contest. Ald. Vermilyea was elected mayor for 1912 by a majority of four votes over ex-Ald. Thomas, the vote being 749 for the former and 745 for the latter. In Coleman ward, the only ward in which there was a contest for aldermen, R. Bogle, F. Slater and R. P. White were elected. In this ward Mr. S. T. Harris was elected public school trustee by a majority of 103 over C. Greenleaf. In Bleecker ward, J. B. Ives was elected school trustee by 53 over W. H. Wrightmyer.

Sault Ste. Marie.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 2.—In a spirited contest for the mayoralty yesterday Mayor Munro defeated J. Stevenson by a majority of 188. The councillors elected are: George Boyd, A. G. Blain, J. A. McPhail, H. Sargeant, A. E. Crawford and P. M. Everett. School trustees: C. A. Leaney and U. McFadden elected by acclamation, and H. Meggeinston defeated R. G. Campbell in ward three.

Woodstock.

Woodstock, Jan. 2.—The municipal elections which took place yesterday aroused very little interest. Dr. A. B. Welford was elected over Clifford Kemp, barrister, for mayor, by a majority of nearly 500. Others elected were: Aldermen, J. G. McBeath, Geo. King, T. D. Broom, John Butler, W. D. Hobson, John Manning, George Parker, W. S. West, J. W. Scarff; Board of Education, G. Whitlaw, E. A. Rae, F Downs, Dr. John Mearns and W. S. Bean; water and light commissions, R. E. Shepherd; third ward, A. Mertsky, H. Trumble, J. E. Banwell; fourth ward, Euclid Jacques, A. J. McTavish and W. Lanspeary. School trustees—G. A. Courtenay, B. Allison, Henry Clay and E. A. Edgar were elected.

St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, Jan. 2.—There was no local mayoralty contest here yesterday, Dr. Merritt being elected by acclamation, but ratepayers, besides electing city council with three new men, carried the bylaw empowering the city council to purchase "Old Corner Lot," known as Athletic Lacrosse grounds, to save them as permanent playground. The cost to the city will be $6,000.

Chatham.

Chatham, Jan. 2.—Local option received a death blow in Chatham yesterday. On a straight vote it was defeated by 503 majority.

The following municipal representatives were elected: Mayor, W. Anderson. Aldermen: A. J. Dunn, Ed. Wanless, James Pritchard, C. E. Lister, S. B. Arnold, P. G. Piggott, A. D. Westman, J. W. Protest Against Masons.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—It has just transpired that when the Canadian Roman Catholic archbishops met at Quebec to attend the consecration of Mgr. Mathieu, Bishop of Regina, they decided to send a letter of sympathy and protest to the archbishops and bishops of Portugal, in view of the attitude of the Government of that country towards the Catholic Church and its orders.

The language used by the prelates is very vigorous and Freemasons are held to be behind what is called an odious persecution. The Canadian archbishops, through Mgr. Begin of Quebec, who sent the protest, say that they hope the better feeling and better educated men of Portugal will stay their hand in the course they have already outlined.

Merger of Steamships.

Boston, Jan. 2.—The consolidation of the Eastern, Metropolitan and Maine Steamship Companies into one corporation became effective yesterday, notwithstanding protests made by Mayor Fitzgerald and others.

The properties are now owned by the Eastern Steamship Corporation.

ITALIAN WAS BLOWN TO ATOMS

Spark Exploded Dynamite—He Was Sawing at Camp

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, Jan. 1—While sawing dynamite an Italian named Valentino Lucono was killed at the construction Camp of the C.P.R. Seabord branch, near Glenarm. A spark found its way into one of the cases and his body was blown to atoms by the six cases of dynamite which exploded.

ON THE BY-LAW

"It was the only thing the people could do," replied T. H. Adams today in response to a Review query of his opinion of the hydro-electric by-law vote yesterday.

"A friend of mine from Toronto says the people there would not have anything else."

Several other prominent citizens agreed with the above opinion when asked to-day by a Review representative, although several owing to business reasons, preferred not to express themselves.

FOUR NEW FACES APPEAR IN THE COUNCIL OF TEN

Ald. G.N. Gordon, G. A. Gillespie, J. J. Duffus and W. J. Johnston Win Out.

Hydro-Electric By-Law Endorsed With a Majority of 1,300.

"Well, we'll see what these new men will do," was the frequent remark on the street last night when the returns on the aldermanic vote was made known. There wasn't the enthusiasm and excitement of the recent elections, and the interest shown was not up to that of other years. The general opinion was, however, that the council of 1912 had a shade on the body of 1911.

The new faces are Ald. G. N. Gordon, who polled the large vote of 420, and secured a majority over his opponent, W. G. Morrow, of 371; Ald. G. A. Gillespie, who squeezed in with two votes to the good over ex-Ald. Joseph Metheral; Ald. J. J. Duffus, who came back in good form after an absence of a term from the council, and Ald. W. Johnson, who had a hard run with Mr. Wm. Langford, jr., a new candidate.

Mr. Jas. Garside polled a large vote in the South Ward for a newcomer, and has every reason to be proud of his success. Ald. Buller was returned with a majority in all but No. 2 polling subdivision, where his opponent had him by four votes.

MR. G. N. GORDON.
He had the largest majority of the day, 271.

The surprise of the day was perhaps the defeat of Ald. Edgar, who, although he had not the record of Ald. Metheral, whose usefulness during the past year has been of the most constant and practical, nevertheless he was slated for return. Mr. H. C. Hill divided up a vote that ex-Ald. Edgar would have got, but it was persistently rumored that Ald. Edgar was to get the post office, and that his time would be fully taken up there. This operated against him, and possibly secured his defeat. Under the circumstances his vote was very large. At the poll where he lived and at the poll near All Saints', where he has done such excellent work, Mr. Edgar came out ahead, which is somewhat of a tribute to the esteem in which he is held.

Mr. C. H. Hill opposed experienced men, and while he was low man in each of the polling subdivisions, it was his first attempt, and should he decide to again consent to nomination at a future municipal election, success may come his way.

In the defeat of ex-Ald. Metheral a good man is lost to the Council. His department, the Board of Works, ever had his close attention, and only those who were in close touch with the work knew of the splendid services he gave to the city.

There was nothing to it but Hydro-Electric by-law. In every polling subdivision the vote was all in its favor, the total majority being 1,300. It was decisive, and it is unnecessary to say anything further.

The following table of returns will show how the candidates and by-law fared in the five wards:

CANADIANS SHARED IN NEW YEAR'S HONORS

Premier of Canada Is Made Member of Privy Council.

London, Jan. 2.—The New Year's honor list this year is a short one, as a result of the honors conferred by the King during the Durbar, but the selection covers a wide range of civil servants, politicians and men of distinction, the various professions and commerce being included.

Canada is well represented in the colonial list, which is headed by R. L. Borden, the Canadian Premier, who becomes a Privy Councillor. Only three peerages are conferred, the new barons being Sir Thomas Gibson-Carmichael, governor of Madras; Sir Alfred Thomas, for many years leader of the Welsh party in the House of Commons, and Samuel Hope Morley, ex-governor of the Bank of England.

Among the new baronets are: Wm. Nelson, chairman of the Nelson Steamship Line; Thomas Skinner, a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and deputy governor of the Hudson Bay Co.; Joseph Beecham, Valentine Chirol, director of the foreign department of The London Times; H. Rider Haggard, the novelist, and S. J. Pocock, a large land owner of England and Canada.

The Canadians honored besides Premier Borden, are Col. John Morrison Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and Joseph Pope, Under Secretary for External Affairs, who are made knights commander of St. Michael and St. George; Thomas Cooper Boville, Deputy Minister of Finance, companion of St. Michael and St. George, and Lieut.-Col. Rodolphe Forget of Montreal, and Edmund B. Osler of Toronto, both members of the Canadian Parliament, knights bachelor.

Congratulations To Premier.

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—The Right Hon. Robert Laird Borden was occupied yesterday in answering the messages of congratulation which came pouring in from Conservatives and Liberals alike. Among the first to congratulate him were His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, and the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The conferring of the title of right honorable came as a surprise to the many who anticipated a knighthood, which bears with it the title of Sir. But while it is no secret that the Prime Minister could have had the knighthood if he had wished, it is taken among the friends of Mr. Borden as an evidence of his unassuming disposition.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was created knight in 1897, and a month afterwards a member of the Imperial Council.

There are fifty gentlemen in Canada with the title of "Sir," while there are only five gentlemen who are entitled to the rank of Privy Councillor.

Special to the Review.

Edinburgh, Jan. 2.—Kolehmain, of Finland, won the Powderhall Marathon to-day, beating out Hans Holmer by only ten yards. This pair of runners were on even terms till the last two hundred yards of the race. The rest of the field were outdistanced.

The Cry of the Canadian West.

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—At last the Canadian West is bursting its mysterious bands that have crippled public action in regard to unfair and extortionate railway charges—freights, passenger and telegraphs—that have prevailed, and now the cities and towns, farmers and dealers are demanding action on the part of the Government and the Railway Commission. Equally strong is the movement against the insufficiency of the railways and their equipment to move the crops. There is a cry coming from the West that will arouse the east to action and to redress.

TWO DROWNED AT SMITHS FALLS; ELEVEN OTHERS ESCAPE DEATH

Freight Wreck In West.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Jan. 2.—At 3.45 o'clock Sunday morning as an east-bound freight ran into another freight at Nord water tank, between Mortlach and Parkbeg.

The casualties were: John Bradshaw, section man, Parkbeg, in caboose of stationary train, killed; Gorman Reynolds, brakeman, Moose Jaw, leg severely crushed, condition dangerous; Glenn Ashlock, brakeman, bruised and head injured; Joe Macdougall, conductor, both legs fractured, will recover; William Rusk, blacksmith, Caron, not in Canadian Pacific Railway service, traveling on freight, both legs severed above the ankles.

Youth and Girl Drowned While Skating at Smith's Falls.

Smith's Falls, Jan 2.—A sad drowning fatality took place here Saturday evening, the victims being Keble Gibson, aged 16 years, a clerk in the Frost and Wood office, and Minnie Pruner, only daughter of J. J. Pruner, aged 15 years.

With hundreds of others the young couple were skating on the river, and at the time of the accident, were skating together. At a point near Beech Island, a mile and a half above Smith's Falls, the ice gave way beneath them. Despite the fact that there were so many on the river, no one witnessed the accident. Both bodies were recovered in a short time, but life was extinct.

Miss Pruner's body was frozen to the ice at the place where she went in and Gibson's was found just below in seven feet of water. The two were great favorites with their young companions and their tragic death has cast a gloom over the town. The parents of both victims are well known residents of Smith's Falls.

In addition to the two who were drowned, eleven others had miraculous escapes during the day. The ice appeared to be solid, but it had numerous weak spots and in these the unwary were caught. Among those who had narrow escapes were Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Warwick, Ottawa, who are spending the holidays in the town. They were returning home after spending the afternoon on the river, and when half a mile from town, they skated into an air hole. As in the case of Gibson and Miss Pruner, no one saw them go in, and it was only by the most heroic efforts on the part of Mr. Warwick that he succeeded in getting his wife and himself out, as the ice kept breaking away as soon as they seized hold of it.

Mrs. Warwick swooned from shock, which made it all the harder to effect her rescue, she being in a precarious condition for some time after being taken out, but is now recovering from the effects of her experience.

Roy Boyd, a clerk in the Bank of Ottawa, and Miss Ella Caswell skated into the hole where Gibson and Miss Pruner went in, and after a trying experience, succeeded in reaching ice strong enough to support their weight. They were in the water ten minutes.

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, JAN. 2, 1912.

THE NEW COUNCIL

There will be four new faces in this year's Council, but only one of them—Ald. Gordon—is new to civic work. Ald. Duffus, Gillespie and Johnson, who were returned yesterday, have all sat previously, and with credit, in the Council, and Ald. Buller, who was elected in the South Ward, was in last year's Council. The new Council is a strong one from every point of view, and the citizens have every reason to look forward to a year of progress in civic affairs in 1912. There are many important questions to be dealt with, and Peterborough is fortunate in having a strong Council to deal with them.

SWEEPING MAJORITY FOR BY-LAW

That citizens generally approve of the corporation going thoroughly into the question of hydro-electric power for Peterborough was amply evidenced yesterday by the sweeping majority given in favor of the by-law. The carrying of the by-law was prettily generally conceded, but its supporters hardly hoped for such a decisive vote.

The Council will now take up the question with the Commission, and get a definite proposition, and then a money by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers before any definite action is taken. Yesterday's vote clearly indicates that the rateyayers believe in conserving the water powers of the province for the people. The hydro-electric has been the means of reducing the cost of power greatly in other places, and the result should be the same to Peterborough as we have the water power right at our door.

The people want cheap power and the hydro-electric is apparently prepared to give it to them. Electric power supplied at a moderate cost, can be put to unlimited uses, both in the city and on the farm.

There were 2,817 freeholders on the voters' list entitled to vote for the by-law yesterday, and out of this number 1,622 exercised the franchise, which is a good vote, considering the fact that there was no mayoralty contest, and aldermanic contests only in four wards.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Might as well have made that by-law vote unanimous.

Wonder do the power people see "the handwriting on the wall.

Don't forget your pre-election promises, Mr. Alderman. Get busy and carry them out.

Two "dry' days in succession, were pretty hard on the "wets," but it won't occur again for many moons, so cheer up.

The Review always backs a winner. Its support of the by-law was consistent from the start.

Trent Waterpower looks good to the ratepayers. Cheap power means much to the masses. The laborer and farmer will share the benefits.

A man yesterday informed us that "Prohibition is a frozen dream and life a red hot time." Must have lived in a local option town.

Don't forget those New Year's resolutions. We bet some of them will be planted good and deep before the week is out.

The Council have a clear and decisive mandate from the people to take up the hydro-electric question with the commission.

Hon Adam Beck will have a soft spot in his heart for Peterborough, after such a magnificent victory for his hydro-electric scheme.

The Council will be one of the strongest Peterborough has had for some years, and many much-needed reforms should be carried out.

Peterborough wants to do something in the publicity line. This is a question the Council should deal with at the earliest opportunity.

The chap who voted against the by-law must feel kind of lonesome fike to-day. There is not enough of 'em to form a good corporal's guard.

Magistrate Jelfs, of Hamilton, says he has found the average detective to be as decent a fellow as the average lawyer. The detectives threaten to sue the magistrate for defamation of character.

Why women will persist in going to the moving picture houses in Peterborough with hats about two feet wide and feathers about the same height is something mere man is unable to fathom. The person who will invemt a transparent hat would be a benefactor to mankind.

The Canadian Forewstry Association which will hold its 13th annual meeting in Ottawa, in February, is doing excellent work and deserves hearty support of its forest conservation efforts. The Association was founded in the year 1900 for the purpose of arousing public opinion to the need of forest conservation. It has had a leading share in bringing about the present attitude on this subject and its members intend to prosecute this work until the lands of Canada are examined and classified and the absolute forest lands are permanently reserved for timber production. The benefits of this to agriculture, stream flow, navigation and all forms of industry will be tremendous. The Association has about 2,?00 members.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucuous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you may have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucuous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FISH CULTURE IN CANADA

Hatching fish by artificial means to stock the waters of Canada is engaged in on a large scale by the Dominion Government. In 1909, the Dominion fish hatcheries planted no fewer than 1,021,282,000 fry in various waters throughout the country. In 1900, only 271,996,000 fry were planted by the Government fish hatcheries, so that the plant of young fish has increased by nearly 277 per cent. in the past ten years and the number of hatcheries has increased from 12 to 37, or 208 per cent. Of the 37 hatcheries now in operation, British Columbia and Quebec have 8 each, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Ontario, 5 each; and Manitoba and Prince Edward Island each have 3.

The amount voted by the Dominion Parliament for fish culture purposes in 1909 was $322,300, and of this $160,345, or approximately 56 per cent. was expended. The importance of carrying on this work can not be emphasized too much in a growing country like Canada, where the increasing population is making greater and greater demands on the fish supply.

Gift of $300,000 To Quebec.

Quebec, Jan. 2.—Mayor Drouin has been officially notified of a nice New Year's gift to the city in the shape of the $300,000 which was subscribed toward the construction of the ill-fated Quebec bridge. It has been known for some time that such refund was to be made, but the matter has been finally settled by the Federal Cabinet, as the following telegram will show:

Killed In Rochester.

Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 2.—A man believed to be George L. Smith of Troy was struck by a Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern Railway car near here yesterday afternoon and instantly killed. Smith's body was caught under the front truck, his skull crushed and one leg amputated.

THE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Jan. 1.—The receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 52 carloads—1028 cattle, 82 hogs, 472 sheep and lambs, 26 calves and 31 horses.

There were few good to choice cattle on sale, the bulk being common and medium.

Trade was active in all the different classes, owing to the large number of buyers and a short run, all the leading abattoirs and wholesale butchers being represented on the market.

And, besides these, there were several outside points, such as Montreal and Hamilton, that had buyers in attendance, but owing to higher prices did not operate very heavily.

Business opened up early in the day and continued active until all offerings were cleaned up, which was before the noon hour.

CHAPTER XI.

A Pact

At my involuntary expression of amazement, Miss Cooper looked up, and our eyes met. Her charming face immediately broke into a smile; her fears seemed to fall away from her like the dissolving of a sun-smitten mist.

"Mr. Swift!" she exclaimed under her breath. Her voice expressed relief. And, too, she spoke as if there might be others in the house whom her errand did not in the least concern. "I'm so glad! I was afraid I should not find you here."

The idea of her wanting to find me for any reason was distinctly pleasing. I'm afraid I appeared for the moment a trifle foolish; I was tongue-tied, at any rate.

"May I come up?" she went on brightly. "Or will you come down?"

She was so pretty standing there and looking up at me, so everything that a dainty, refined little lady should be, that I could have remained indefinitely watching her.

But I'm so glad to say that I did not. I found my tongue by and by, and voiced some inane remark to the effect that she might most assuredly "come up," if she had the least inclination to do so, but, on the other hand, that I was more than willing to "come down." Which I did, when she made known her choice by sitting down in the settle Stodger and I had occupied some hours earlier.

But I moved down the steps deep in meditation. Great as had been my surprise when the opening front door disclosed Miss Cooper, I was not long in surmising why she had come, and I was more than a trifle reluctant to discuss the brutal details of the tragedy with a lady so obviously gentle and refined. The subject was so utterly foreign to anything within her experience that I felt she could harken to and review the different aspects of the crime only with shuddering aversion. But, dear me, how incapable is any man of estimating a woman's fortitude!

While I descended to her, she continued to talk—the merest bit flurried, perhaps, but with a direct, fearless glance which the dullest comprehension must have understood.

"I suppose I should have rapped," she was saying; "but who was here to open the door? Poor Mr. Page! Poor man! How terrible it is!"

She was a little awed, and seemed glad when at last I stood confronting her.

As if it were the most natural thing in the world to do, she made room on the settle for me to sit beside her. I did so, awkwardly enough. There was not the slightest trace of coquetry in her conduct, she was entirely free from the least indication of affectation, and I could not do otherwise than meet her in the same spirit, although I apprehended some difficult moments before our colloquy should be finished. Her errand must indeed be urgent that she should alone brave this house of death.

After a minute of hesitation on her part, during which she sat with downcast eyes while I took a base advantage of the opportunity to drink in her loveliness, she abruptly faced me. Her countenance reflected an expression of determination, tempered by the wistfulness of uncertainty and doubt.

"Mr. Swift," she began, in a straightforward manner, "it was simply impossible for me not to have sought you out—if not here, then at the police station, or wherever it is you make your headquarters."

I remarked that a message would have brought me speedily to her.

"Oh, no!" in quick protestation. "There is no place where we could have been private—to-day. And, besides, I wouldn't have put you to so much trouble."

"Trouble!" I interrupted. "I would have been only too glad."

She smiled at my warmth, proceeding:

"Anyhow, I succeeded in finding you alone; now tell me—truly—am I bothering you?"

"Truly, you are not bothering me in the least. I can fancy nothing nicer than sitting just like this and talking—with you. It's so—so—"

"Comfy?"—archly.

"Exactly. But that's a woman's word; I never would have thought of it."

The handsome eyes flashed a look at me which made me hastily revise my opinion that she was entirely free from any trace of coquetry.

"I didn't come here to listen to nice things," she said, smiling into my eyes; "I'm awfully serious."

And in very truth, she straightway grew grave. She drew a long breath, and sat suddenly more upright, questioning me with a look. Such fine, honest eyes!

Her first spoken interrogation was direct enough, in all conscience; while I was expecting some such inquisition, I was by no means prepared with an immediate answer.

"I want to know, Mr. Swift,—is it going to appear that Royal Maillot murdered his uncle?"

She spoke very quietly, but, too, very earnestly. Murder is an ugly word; I marvelled that she did not shrink from it.

"Why are you so anxious to know, Miss Cooper?" I temporized—"out of friendship for Mr. Maillot?"

"No," frankly meeting my intent look, "though that would be a sufficient reason." She paused a moment, biting her under lip in the intensity of her musing. Then,—

"Mr. Swift, I'm going to be perfectly candid with you; I'm going to lay bare my mind—and my feelings. I pray that you will do the same by me. Am I presuming too much?"

Lay bare my feelings—great heavens! She would have thought me crazy. In a sense, Torquemada himself could scarcely have made me more uncomfortable; but I would not have had that delightful tete-a-tete broken in upon for anything in the world.

"I realized this morning," she proceeded, after I had clumsily begged her to, "that Royal is in a desperate plight, though why or how he came to be I can't understand.

"I realized, too, that the story he told will appear incredible—even ridiculous—to anybody who does not know him. I do know him"—I could well believe that!—"and for that reason, nothing short of an admission of guilt from him would cause me to consider him as a participant—in any capacity, Mr. Swift—in last night's tragedy."

"Your loyalty does you credit," I murmured, for lack of anything better to say.

"Loyalty?" she cried, with emotion. "Oh, Mr. Swift! That's not the word! It's not loyalty that moves me to speak in Royal's behalf, although I would do much for him in any case. But—Belle—"

She was stopped by a sudden accession of feeling, and I tried to inject into my deemanor the encouragement she quite plainly needed.

"Before you go on," I quietly observed, "I will say that Mr. Maillot impressed me very favorably."

"Yes," quickly; "I also perceived that. It was that circumstance which finally overcame my reluctance to intrude upon you. You were greatly puzzled, though, baffled, by his extraordinary story."

"Not baffled, I trust," I said.

"Well, no; perhaps not baffled. But the extravagant recital that fell from his lips must have seemed to you fantastically improbable.

"It is chiefly for Belle Fluette's sake, however," she pursued, "that I want to learn—oh, everything about this dreadful affair—all the little details. I want to enlist your sympathies for Royal; not against him."

It was a relief when she grouped her desire for information into this vague generalization; I could see my way as long as she was not too specific. But some further intimate knowledge respecting this pretty young lady was imminently in store for me.

"Miss Cooper," said I, "I am against no man—except the guilty one; and even he, in a measure, has my sympathy."

"Then"—she was suddenly breathless—"in your estimation, Royal is not the—the—not the guilty—"

My smile checked her. Alas, I was not to escape.

"You read a meaning into my speech that was not in my mind," I said— and immediately regretted it. Her countenance at once reflected deep concern.

"Please, please, Mr. Swift, don't be inscrutable with me," she pleaded.

I thrilled at the wistful light in her handsome blue eyes, and I looked longingly at the wavy brown tresses and at the scarlet lips, now eagerly parted and revealing a glimpse of pearly perfection beyond. Such delectable realities were quite unknown in my lonely life, and before them the image of Miss Fluette's more highly colored and suggestive beauty faded away to a mere blur.

"Miss Cooper, I rejoined, with perhaps unnecessary warmth, "heaven forbid that I should not be frank with you. The truth is, I'm sorely perplexed. It did not require this appeal from you to spur me on to find a way for Mr. Maillot out of his predicament, for undeniably—whether by his own fault or by accident—he's in a very serious one. Maybe, if you will state more definitely just what you want to know, I can then tell you."

The expressive eyes thanked me, then suddenly twinkled with a gleam of humor.

"Even a mere man," she sagely remarked, "could not have remained blind to the fact that Belle and Royal—foolish children!—are awfully fond of each other."

"Your assumption of mature wisdom is eminently becoming," said I, "because it is so apparent."

"My!" she retorted, "I really believe you improve with acquaintance."

"Thanks," I said; "I need encouragement."

"On the contrary," she said coolly, "I think a snubbing is what you need."

I dodged. "Yes," said I, "I could not help noticing that their affection is—er—rather immoderate."

Instantly a tiny line appeared between her brows; she was all seriousness again.

"There you have my interest in this matter—my reason for meddling," she informed me. "Belle's welfare means a great deal to me; just how much you can perhaps best understand after hearing a bit of my history. Have you the patience?"

What a question! Lucky it was for me this day that I could combine business with the delight of revelling in this agreeable tete-a-tete. It was lucky, in truth, for all who were being drawn into the web of the Page affair. For if the two had not fitted so smoothly together, the interests of the Central Office would have been forgotten.

She colored prettily at the ardor of my gaze—it was of no use; I couldn't help it—but save for the circumstance that she temporarily averted her look from mine, went steadily ahead with what she had to say.

EMPEROR HAS FLOWN?

Correspondent Says His Mother Has Taken Him Away.

Yuan Shi Kai Is Object of Attacks by Manchus, Says Same Reporter—Fighting Has Been Renewed Between Republicans and Imperialists and Battle Is In Progress—Princes' Wealth to Be Seized.

London, Jan. 2.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says that news received there from Manchuria reports the secret flight of the Emperor and the Dowager Empress of China through Mukden, on the way to the Imperial residence at Sehikhe, near the Mongolian frontier.

Yuan Shi Kai is suspected by the Manchus of playing double. He has not been shaved for days and does not sleep. He is being attacked and betrayed in every quarter, according to the correspondent, but still is holding his own courageously, like a lion at bay.

Fighting Renewed.

Hankow, Jan. 2.—Fighting between the revolutionists and the Imperialists, which began Sunday evening, was renewed yesterday morning twenty miles up the river, by the republicans, who had not yet received notice of the promulgation of an armistice. The republican commander ordered the fighting to cease, but a desultory gun fire was heard throughout the day.

Yuan Welcomed Attack.

Pekin, Jan. 2.—Much depends upon whether the fighting near Hankow was authorized by the republicans and whether it will be followed up by the republicans or imperialists. The Associated Press is informed that the news of the attack was welcomed by Yuan Shi Kai, who will now await the issue of the battle. If the Imperialists are victorious it will give the throne a brief lease of life, while a reverse to the Imperial arms, it is believed, would precipitate the abdication of the Emperor.

Must Surrender Wealth.

Paris, Jan. 2.—A special despatch to the Paris edition of The New York Herald from its Pekin correspondent says that Yuan Shi Kai, the Premier, to-day will present to the throne a signed demand of all the commanders of the northern army that the wealth of the princes and nobles shall be commandeered for a continuance of the war.

The memorial characterizes the dictatorial attitude of the revolutionists unbearable, expresses loyalty to the monarchy and a desire to fight the issue to a finish. It insists that unless the princes contribute they shall be treated as traitors. It is stated that if the memorial is rejected by the throne Yuan Shi Kai will insist that his resignation be accepted.

OLD LONDON REJOICES.

High Revel Is Held In Metropolis at Birth of the New Year.

London, Jan. 2.—Scenes of revelry in the city and west end of London heralded the birth of the New Year. All the leading hotels were crowded, and some of the schemes devised for the entertainment of dinner and supper parties were highly ingenious.

At the Carlton a huge basket of flowers were brilliantly illuminated, from the centre of which appeared a well-known actress, who sang "Auld Lang Syne." The guests joined in the song with great fervor.

A pretty surprise awaited the guests at the Savoy. Mavis York, a charming little actress, attended by 16 diminutive fairies, danced down the restaurant, distributing crackers and to the ladies handsome theatre bags.

A gigantic cracker which at midnight opened to allow Father Time to emerge and distribute souvenirs was the principal feature of the celebration at the Waldorf. Here also 24 singers from the London Opera House, dressed in mediaeval costume, sang carols to welcome the New Year.

The Hotel Cecil had a Roman chariot, drawn by a pony and driven by a fairy, to distribute crackers and souvenirs to the guests. At 12 o'clock the lights went out and when they were restored it was seen that ten waiters, who had been ranged around the room, had been suddenly changed and formed the greeting "A Happy New Year to You All."

A Winnipeg Catholic society has retained a barrister to conduct inquiries into the "Ne Temere" case recently aired here, and may prosecute Winnipeg newspapers.

ENTERTAINED AT THE ARMORIES

Many Friends of the Regiment Were Given Good Time

The officers, non coms. corporals and privates of the 57th regiment threw open their quarters at the armories yesterday afternoon, welcomed a large number of their friends, and gave the visitors a very enjoyable time.

There were practically three receptions and in each case the hosts acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner. Refreshments were served. The corporals and privates were visited by Lt. Col. Clegg, and officers of the regiment, Mr. J. R. Stratton and others, and just before their departure, all stood and sang the Maple Leaf Forever.

Music was provided during the afternoon and Mr. T. Hooper had the catering in hand.

WEDDING BELLS

CARVETH—PAYNE.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carveth, "Hall's Glen," was the scene of a very interesting event on Wednesday evening, 27th, when their youngest daughter, Lillie, was united in wedlock to Mr. Roland Payne, of Warsaw. The ceremony was conducted under an arch of evergreens and wedding bells, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Mr. Huffman, of Warsaw.

The spacious home which was suitably decorated for the occasion, presented a beautiful scene.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of cream silk santoy, trimmed with madria allover lace, and satin bands edged with beaded fringe, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations She was attended by Miss Mary Payne, sister of the groom, who was attired in cream voile trimmed with allover lace and satin, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Walter Carveth, brother of the bride.

The wedding march, "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin," was played by Mrs. E. Hamblin.

After the ceremony and expressions of good wishes for happiness, a sumptuous supper was partaken of by some one hundred and seventy guests. The esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends was manifested by the numerous and costly presents of which she was the recipient, among these being cheques from Mr. Jacob White and Mr. F. R Darling, several useful pieces of household furniture including a large dining-room extension table, parlor sofa, half dozen dining room chairs, parlor table. A very serviceable dinner and tea set of 98 pieces also presented to the happy couple; and a large number of valuable and useful pieces of silver and chinaware.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in games and music, both vocal and instrumental. The host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Payne extend hearty congratulations and best wishes, and bespeak for them a life of usefulness and prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne will reside in Douro two and one-half miles from Lakefield.

"LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM"

Robert E. Irwin will present Fiske O'Hara in his latest and most successful play, "Love's Young Dream" at the Grand, on Tuesday January 9. It is needless to state that this play like all of the others in which Mr. O'Hara has appeared, is of refined type. Nothing suggestive or vulgar is to be found in the lines or situations, and it is a story filled with heart interest and fascinating romance. The story revolves around Barry Caroll, a young physician, who like most young Irishmen, manages to fall desperately in love. The young lady in question is one Nora MacNamara, an heiress with the distasteful incubrance of a cranky guardian, her uncle. This Ignatius Dwyer has picked out a husband for Nora, in the person of Colonel Richard Lovell, a British officer, who has promised to reward Dwyer in the event of the marriage being consumated. Barry and Nora finding the uncle obdurate, elope. They are overtaken at a wayside inn and Barry is forced to relinquish the girl, or cause the death of his father, who has confessed to aiding the smugglers. Learning that Lovell intends forcing Nora to marry him and that the confession of the elder Carroll is still in his possession Barry turns highwayman for the once and meeting the party on, the raod recovers the paper and rescues the girl he loves. A highwayman whom he has once befriended, assists him to finally discomfit Lovell and all ends serene for the lovers. Manager Irwin, who is one of the most conscientious producers in the country, has fully sustained his reputation in the elaborate stage settings he has provided for "Love's Young Dream" and he has selected a company of unusual excellence to support his star. With O'Hara's charming songs, sung in his own inimitable manner, the music of the play will be a delightful feature.

RECORD SEASON ON THE TRENT CANAL WATERWAY

Number of Lockages at Young's Point Was 2591—Passengers Were 35,528.

That the Trent Canal waterway is an important factor, in facilitating the carrying of freight and building up the villages and towns in the districts which it serves, is evidenced by the increased amount of traffic on the Canal.

The freight traffic and the passenger service on this great waterway for last season broke all records in its history, and goes to show how important it is that the completion of the canal should be pushed forward especially that portion that opens into Lake Ontario, thereby giving the cities, towns and villages along its route a service through to the seaboard.

In comparison with the traffic on the Welland Canal the Trent Waterway shows up very favorably as will be seen from the following comparison.

WELLAND CANAL MAKES RECORD

(From the Toronto Globe.)

Port Colborne, Dec. 29—Twenty-five hundred and seventy-four vessels of all kinds this year passed through the Welland Canal, up and down, breaking the record for any previous year in the history of the canal. The lockages total nearly four hundred more than last season. Perhaps fifty million bushels of wheat were brought down through the canal during the season. The fastest trip from one end to the other was made by the steamer "City of Montreal," which took just nine hours, and twenty minutes to go through.

TRENT CANAL.

At Young's Point Lock, which connects Kachawanooka Lake and Clear Lake, there were 2591 lockages, the number of passengers 35,528. At Rosedale locks, which connects Cameron Lake, and Balsam Lake, there were 2765 lockages, so it is evident that in the matter of lockages, there are more at certain locks on the Trent Canal, than there are on the Welland Canal.

While perhaps 50,000,000 bushels of wheat passed through the Welland Canal, the Trent Canal, with its shorter route from Port Arthur to Montreal, consequently with cheaper freight rate, and the rich farming community, mining and lumbering districts which it serves, would certainly far exceed this were the outlets into Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario completed.

"PAL POUDRE" AT CONSERVATORY

A charity "Bal Poudre" in aid of the King's Daughters, delighted a very large gathering of the elite of the city, in the spacious and gaily decorated Conservatory of Music Hall last evening. The affair was excellently managed and to remark that everybody was highly pleased, very mildly expresses the enjoyable nature of the event.

Most acceptable music was supplied by Howarth's orchestra. Dainty refreshments were provided at intervals and the merry-makers dispersed early in the morning.

The reception committee was composed of Mrs. Hazen Ritchie, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard, Mrs. George Rubidge Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. F. J. Harvey, Mrs. Peter Campbell, Mrs. R. W. Travers, Mrs. L. M. Hayes, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, Mrs. T. D. Mulholland and Mrs. A. H. Stratton.

Ten stewards also officiated. Mr. G. E. Clarke was honorary secretary.

HOW NEW YEAR'S DAY WAS SPENT

Plenty of Entertainment and Good Weather

New Year's Day was celebrated in the city yesterday in a very enjoyable manner, and the various forms of amusement and recreations were well patronized. The bright, clear and invigorating atmosphere which prevailed tended to popularize out-of-door sports and during both afternoon and evening the skating rinks were crowded to capacity. The large out door rink at the church of Sacred Heart and the Jackson Park rink were popular places, as was also the ice at Brock street, which was used yesterday by skaters for the first time this year. The presence of sections of the 57th regimental band at both of the latter rinks rendered the popular pastime additionally pleasant.

The day also was ideal for driving and many availed themselves of this enjoyable sport.

Receptions were held at the Armories during the afternoon.

In the afternoon and evening the presentation at the Grand Opera House of "The Chorus Lady" attracted bumper houses. A Charity Ball under the auspices of the King's Daughters was also given in the Conservatory of Music Hall, where the scene was especially brilliant and attractive.

Many of the citizens crowded the offices of the newspapers to learn the results of the elections, although, as was anticipated, the enthusiasm displayed was of much smaller calibre than on the last elections.

OPTION GETS SETBACK

Prohibition Fights Show Defeat For the Alliance Workers.

Total Result of Year's Work Will Be the Cutting Off of Twenty Licenses—In Thirteen Municipalities the Temperance Workers Overcame the Three-Fifths Clause, In Eleven They Got a Simple Majority.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Slightly more than 20 licenses will be cut off as a result of the voting on local option bylaws throughout Ontario yesterday. Bylaws were carried over the three-fifths requirement in thirteen towns, villages and townships; while in eleven municipalities a majority was recorded, but the bylaws failed to get the necessary three-fifths.

In 23 municipalities the bylaws failed of even a straight majority. In all the cities where the reform was voted on it was defeated. Chatham, Fort William and Port Arthur were the most conspicuous of these, and they all defeated the measure, the antis were unsuccessful in securing a repeal in Owen Sound.

The liquor party were also unsuccessful in securing repeal in thirteen other municipalities, though figures are not available to show in how many places the three-fifths requirement prevent a return to license.

On the whole the local optionists have no reason to complain, since they held what they had and gained a few more.

Kingston voted on a bylaw to reduce the number of licenses from 25 to 15. This was carried.

The results are:

Sustained.

Richmond Hill—For repeal, 44; against repeal, 126. Majority, 82.

Coldwater—For repeal, 35; against, 88. Majority, 53.

Wyoming—For repeal, 46; against, 111. Majority, 65.

Thedford—For local option, 72; against, 55. Majority, 17.

Peel Township—Against repeal, 74; for repeal, 46. Majority, 28.

Tara—Against repeal, 76; for repeal, 57. Majority, 13.

Durham—Against repeal, 203; for repeal, 180. Majority, 23.

Lakefield—For repeal, 160; against repeal, 175. Majority, 15.

Carried.

Lucknow—For local option, 208; against local option, 70. Majority for, 138.

Kinloss—For local option, 320; against, 135. Majority, 185.

Calbogie Township—Carried by 3 to 1.

Cannington—For local option, 193; against, 84. Majority, 99.

Defeated by Three-Fifths Clause.

Sherbrooke Township—For local option, 40; against, 39. Defeated by the three-fifths requirement.

Goderich—For bylaw, 624; against, 449. Allowing for the three-fifths clause, this defeats the bylaw by a majority of 18.

Chesterville—For local option, 122; against, 108. Majority for, 14.

Hepworth—For local option, 43; against, 35. Majority for, 8.

Hagerman—For local option, 59; against local option, 48. Majority for, 11.

Wroxeter—For local option, 56; against, 42. Majority for, 14.

Caledonia—For local option, 153; against, 119. Majority for, 34.

Defeated by Straight Majority.

Dunnville—Local option was defeated in Dunnville by a vote of 284 for and 431 against.

Elgin—For local option, 182; against, 234.

Waterloo Township—The local option vote in Waterloo Township yesterday resulted in an utter defeat for the local optionists, being about twenty vote behind the anti vote.

Hastings—Against local option, 131; for, 84. Majority, 47.

Alvinston—The local option bylaw was defeated by the following vote: For, 108; against, 116.

Mimico—Against local option, 183; for, 148. Majority, 35.

Ontario Alliance workers were somewhat disappointed at the results of the battle between the drys and the wets. They had discounted the victories for their side in advance so far as the repeal contests, and were not surprised when the fourteen of the total fifteen repeal contests heard from were received in their favor to remain dry. The Alliance executive had the results announced in Room 411, Confederation Life Building. About 40 representative local optionists were present, including several ladies.

At first the meeting was marked by evidences of grave anxiety, and a tendency on everyone's part to lapse into deep silence.

When the announcement came that Owen Sound had been held by the drys the meeting began to assume a normal appearance, but the defeat of local option in all the new urban municipalities attacked precluded any exurbant enthusiasm.

Johnny Is Disgusted at Cowardice of Schoolmates.

Johnny, who lives on the south side, hasn't been to school long, but he already holds some peculiar views regarding the administration of his particular room.

The other day he came home with a singularly morose look on his usually smiling face.

"Why, Johnny," said his mother, "what's the matter?"

Johnny snorted.

"I ain't going to that old school no more," he fiercely announced.

"Why, Johnny," said his mother reproachfully, "you mustn't talk like that. What's wrong with the school?"

"I ain't goin' there no more," Johnny replied, "an' it's because all th' boys in my room is blamed old cowards!"

"Why, Johnny, Johnny!"

"Yes, they are. There was a boy whisperin' this mornin', an' teacher saw him an' bumped his head on th' desk ever an' ever so many times. An' those big cowards sat there an' didn't say quit nor nothin'. They let that old teacher bang th' head off th' poor little boy, an' they just sat there an' seen her do it!"

Human Nature.

"Why are you putting a danger sign here before the ice forms? You surely can't tell now where the ice will be thick or thin."

"Yes, I can," answered the park functionary. "The ice is always so thick and strong at this point that if I didn't put the sign in before freezing weather I'd never be able to get it in at all."

"Then why place the sign here?"

"'Cause it's around the danger sign that everybody wants to skate," he explained contemptuously.—Buffalo Express.

Daniel and the Lions.

"Not unreasonably," replied Daniel, who was well up in the legal vernacular of the day.

"Good," ejaculated King Darius as he rolled back the stone. Thereupon he went forth and proclaimed to the multitude that the lion question had been solved.—Puck.

They Slept.

"So you actually went to church last Sunday?"

"I really did."

"Excuse me if I seem skeptical. What was the text?"

"Aha, I have you there! The text was, 'He giveth his beloved sleep.'"

"Good work. And who were there?"

SERIES WAS CONCLUDED

Interesting and Thoughtful Discourse by Rev. Mr. Sawers

The concluding sermon of a series, on the four last things, was delivered by Rev. F. J. Sawers of St. Luke's, at his evening service on Sunday, and the reverend speaker's discourse was probably the most thoughtful and impressive of the series. He referred to that place known in Scripture as Heaven, and dealt with some great questions concerning it, that are most commonly asked, and which very vague ideas are entertained.

One of these questions was "What are we to do when we reach Heaven? Is it to be a perpetual Sabbath, a time of eternal rest?

"Would such a period of perpetual rest, satisfy man," asked the rector, "man who is so full of activity and who finds keen satisfaction in the results of his labors? The parable of the talents could be used as an illustration. There assuredly was work for man in Heaven. It was true that Revelations says, "that man shall rest from his labors," but such labors in Heaven, wer enot of the kind that produce lassitude and tiredness of mind and body, such as were induced by earthly toil. The work of Heaven would bring an dsatisfaction.

"What kind of work will be given us in Heaven?" is another question asked.

"That I do not know," said the rector, "but I feel sure that the work of heaven, will bring joy and satisfaction and will develop the qualities which we possessed and put into use here on earth.

"Are all equal in Heaven?" is another query. Is the soul of the man that dies without education, untutored and yet believing, on a par with the soul of the man of holiness, of education and of saintly life? Are these two lives to be identical? We cannot believe it would be true, and yet here again, the parable of the talents was applicable. We se emoreover the necessity of our being as great as we can here on earth, that every power, naturally and potentially should be brought out and developed."

"Then lastly, shall we know each other in Heaven?" We feel that should we not know each other there one of the greatest of the anticipated delights of that beautiful land will be lost. What is it that enables the true Christian to bear with equanimity and patient resignation the agony of th edeath of a dear one? It is the thought that he shall see his dear one again in Heaven, and he cries with Tennyson;

"Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still."

Is this to be doomed to disappointment? We cannot believe it.

Rev. Mr. Sawers concluded his sermon with an impassioned appeal for all to cast themselves upon God's mercy, and at this fitting season, the commencement of a new year to strive for high and noble things; to overcome all that is low and degrading and cultivate only the best attributes.

Enquiring Into Ne Temere Case.

Winnipeg, Dec 28.—John O'Connor, barrister, has been retained by a Catholic society to conduct an enquiry into the facts of the ne temere case recently aired here. He is now examining witnesses and rumor says if the outcome is favorable, action may be taken against Winnipeg publishers to vindicate the attitude of the church in this matter.

Rev. Mr. Richeson's Successor.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 28.—Rev. Austin T. Kemptor of Lunenburg, Mass., was last night called to the pastorate of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, succeeding Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, now in the Charles street jail awaiting trial on the charge of the murder of Avis Linnell.

THE SECRET OF A GOOD COMPLEXION

This is the season for evening parties, social events, etc. Why not look your best? Why let your complexion suffer by contrast with other ladies? Why not ensure a good complexion? You can do this on sound, natural lines by using Zam-Buk, nature's herbal balm.

Zam-Buk is a skin food; and complexion is purely a matter of skin health. Zam-Buk smeared lightly over the face each night acts as a skin tonic. It stimulates the cells beneath the cuticle to healthy action, makes the capillaries and blood vessels work, and the vigorous circulation thus started carries away secreted impurities. Waxy, sallow deposits are thus removed. Hard, pimply growths are softened and disappear. That yellow tinge gives place to the pink of health and the white, velvety "look" and "feel" which healthy skin alone has.

Isn't this wiser than relying upon talcum powder and cosmetics? These only put on a "complexion" from the outside. It doesn't last. Zam-Buk helps nature to build up a complexion from blood and tissue. It lasts.

Zam-Buk also cures skin diseases, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds, chapped places, scalp sores, piles, etc. 50c. box all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, but beware of harmful substitutes and imitations.

STORY OF SVEN HEDIN'S TRAVELS REACHES MANY NATIONS.

Intrepid Explorer Who Penetrated Into the Mountain Fastnesses of Thibet Has Been at Work on a Monumental Work Entitled "From Pole to Pole," Which Will Deal With the Whole Field of Exploration.

Publishers of so many lands have competed for the right to bring out the monumental work upon which Sven Hedin, the famous Swedish explorer, has been engaged for the last year and a half, that a new record has been created.

The first part of "From Pole to Pole" deals with Eastern Europe and

DR. SVEN HEDIN.

Asia, and the second volume describes Western Europe, America, Africa, Australasia, and the Polar regions. Although part of the work is based upon the travels of other explorers, it is packed with Sven Hedin's first-hand observations.

So far twenty-three countries have secured the rights of translation. Even Peary's Polar exploits were not sought after to this extent. The twenty-three editions will be in English, Swedish, Danish, Finnish, Dutch, Italian, Polish, Russian, Hungarian, Bohemian, Japanese, Hindustani, Portuguese, Roumanian, French, Greek, Icelandish, Krontian, Chinese, Servian, Spanish, Ruthjan, and Turkish languages.

A Busy Bishop.

Dr. Gore, the recently appointed Bishop of Oxford, is one of the most energetic and democratic of English Church dignitaries. He is a Liberal, a Home Ruler, and has just brought himself prominently in the public eye by voting at the Representative Church Council in favor of the disestablishment of the Anglican Church as the State Church of England.

Dr. Gore's first bishopric was that of Worcester, and he had not been long appointed before he made his influence felt. A clergyman of the diocese, of the old-fashioned and sleepy order, was one day talking with a cleric from an adjoining diocese, in the Cathedral Close, when the new bishop came bustling by.

"How do you get along with your new bishop?" asked the stranger of the Worcester clergyman.

"For goodness sake, don't ask me;" said the other with a groan. "They used to call Worcester the dead see; they may as well call it the red see now, for there's Gore all over the place."

Lots of Lots.

It is the age of big things, and the sale of great undertakings is becoming increasingly common. The transference of the telephone system to the British General Postoffice is an instance of mammoth dealings, for no fewer than 650 experts were required to make the inventory alone.

Among other big lots that have recently been in the market is the vast Crystal Palace property, and several of our large landowners have disposed of enormous tracts, principally in small parcels.

When one railway company wishes to buy up another, the matter is put to the shareholders at an extraordinary general meeting. Then the proposal goes before Parliament. Payment is arranged by the creation of new shares for the holders of the selling company.

The World's Largest Flying Bird.

Among the most notable of recent additions to the London Zoo is what is generally regarded as the largest flying bird in the world. It is known as the lammergeyer (lamb vulture, or bearded vulture). This giant bird has recently arrived from India, and is the largest of all eagles or vultures. Its wings measure over 14 feet from tip to tip, and it is not yet full grown.

The lammergeyer is found in Mid-Europe, Asia, and North Africa. It is said to live mainly on carrion, but it is not averse to "creating" carrion by knocking an unwary chamois or goat over a precipice with a blow from its tremendous wing, afterwards flying down to the body to obtain a meal. Even mountaineers have been reported as having fallen victims to this method of assault.

Big Game-Eater.

In an interesting account of the collection belonging to Mr. F. C. Selours, the famous big game hunter, "Country Life" says that though Mr. Selous has killed more African game than any other white man, he himself maintains that, with the exception of elephants, which he shot for the value of their tusks, the meat of every other animal he killed was necessary to supply himself and the large number of natives, by whom he was often accompanied, with food. Some of the more interesting details of animals killed between 1870 and 1900 are as follows: Elephant, 106; buffalo, 175; lion, 30; rhinoceros (white), 23; rhinoceros (black), 36; giraffe, 65; eland, 118.

OSHKIGMONG

Special Correspondence.

Oshkigmong, Jan. 2.—Christmas festivity at Chemong Christmas Day passed off in Chemong in the usual way. The primeval custom among the people of Chemong presented itself again on the occasion more so among the children. Long before daylight they could be heard, with the usual greeting "Merry Christmas, Merry Christmas," with uniformity of tone and distinctiveness and as each house is visited they are complimented with the same greeting added with a small present in the shape of a candy an apple or some other subject. In the evening all repaired to the town hall, where a gift tree had been erected during the day laden with Christmas presents for both old and young. Prior to the distribution of gifts the children gave a very commendable program, assisted by their teacher, which was much appreciated. Mr. J. Crow, of Hiawatha, and Alfred McCue, of Chemong, gave a very appropriate address to the children, also Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Wesley, made a very instructive address, which was received with much applause. The ice being in good condition for skating, the young folks indulged themselves both morning and afternoon to shosquaddeadah.

A joint council of the three united bands, viz., Rice, Mud and Scugog Lakes was held here on the 27th and 28th December. Some very important matters were submitted and much business transacted. The delegation consisted as follows;—Chief, Alfred Crow, Madden Howard, Wellington Cowie Jeremiah Crow, of Hiawatha, Chief Alfred McCue, William Taylor, sr., George Taylor, L. D. Taylor, Daniel Whetung, jr., of Chemong. Chief Isaac Johnson, David Elliott, George Goose, of Scugog. Chief Alfred McCue was appointed chairman, Mr. Henry Cowie secretary, Mr. David Whetung, jr., assistant secretary.

Mrs Joseph Whetung, Ruth and Georgie are visiting their friends at Rama.

We are pleased to report that the box of clothing we received from the Ladies Aid Society of Wesley Methodist church was thankfully accepted and the articles are very much appreciated by the recipients and the kind acts of the ladies are much valued. Also two bales of clothing was sent to Chemong by some friends from Darlington.

Modified Marriage.

"You and your husband celebrate your silver wedding next week, do you?"

"Yes; next Wednesday."

"Does it seem possible that you have lived together twenty-five years?"

"I should say it didn't! Harry's a traveling man for a wholesale queensware house, and we've lived together just three years, eleven months and nineteen days."—Chicago Tribune.

A Nice Point.

"Every student of history knows that our Christmas customs are a development of the Roman saturnalia."

"Oh, surely not all!"

"I think so."

"No, no! There's no reason to suppose, for instance, that the Romans were all the time being hunched to do their Saturnalian shopping early."—Puck.

Had Narrow Escape.

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 2.—One thousand persons escaped with difficulty from the First Presbyterian Church of this city early yesterday, when the church was destroyed by fire. The congregation had assembled to hold special watch services. Shortly after the new year had been welcomed the church suddenly filled with smoke and the members had to grope their way out. Good order prevailed and no one was injured. A few minutes later flames swept through the edifice, which was soon a mass of ruins.

Cost of Fighting White Plague.

New York, Jan. 2.—The sum of $14,500,000 was spent during the year 1911 throughout the country in the war against tuberculosis, according to a statement issued last night by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Rail Fireman Injured.

Cornish, Maine, Jan. 2.—The fireman of the forenoon passenger train from Portland on the Mountain division of the Maine Central was injured in a collission with a freight train yesterday.

WHERE THE BIRDS DIE.

A Question That Is a Puzzle Even to the Naturalists.

We have countless thousands of birds in this country; therefore the mortality must be high. Yet have you ever seen a dead bird? The majority of us have not, and even those of us who dwell in the country but rarely see a bird lying dead.

At a time one may be seen in a wood or field, but the people who have seen many birds lying dead are astonishingly few—dead birds, that is to say that have really died and have not been shot down. Nevertheless it is obvious that thousands of birds must die each month. Where do they die? That is a question that even the naturalist cannot answer satisfactorily.

Of course many birds are killed off by animals. Cats kill many birds, and birds kill each other, as witness the fact that an ailing rook is killed off by his fellows.

Blackbirds, too, kill off any sick member of their community, and other birds adopt a similar method. It is quite possible that those killed off birds are the ones seen dead in woods and fields, but there yet remain thousands of bird deaths that cannot easily be accounted for.

The most likely explanation is this—that an unwell bird crawls away to cover of some sort and there dies. Without doubt hundreds of birds so perish each month, and sometimes a bird gets into a corner that he cannot escape from; then he dies there.

Small animals as well as birds crawl off to some isolated spot and die unseen, and where they die there do their bodies wither to decay. We know that an unwell dog gets out of sight if he possibly can and an ailing cat does the same thing. They seek to hide, and it would almost seem that the bird and animal kingdom does not want the eye of man to rest on its members when the time of death comes.

Quite a lot of birds are carefully buried in England. The sexton beetle attends to this. No sooner does the sexton come across the dead body of a bird than he sets to work. The earth is scraped away all around the dead body, and as the earth disappears the body sinks down into the hole made. Once the body has sunk far enough the female sexton beetle comes on the scene to do her part. She, in short, bores small holes in the dead body, and in the holes she deposits her eggs.

The body is then lightly covered, and the result is that when the eggs hatch out they—the young sexton beetles—are surrounded by a large quantity of decaying food, the very sort of food they want and require. No doubt the sexton beetles bury thousands of birds in this way every year.—London Answers.

Story of a Lost Will.

Lord St. Leonards has celebrated his coming-of-age. He is the great grandson of the first peer, Edward Sugden, who became Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain. Sugden, who had worked his way up from a humble origin, was justifiably proud of his peerage, and meant at one time to endow it with the great bulk of his fortune.

But his grandson and immediate successor in the title fell out of favor with his grandfather, who accordingly altered his will to the detriment of the said grandson. But at Lord Chancellor St. Leonards' death the will could not be found anywhere, and never was found.

However, the courts allowed it to be proved from the intimate recollection of its contents possessed by the testator's daughter and companion, the late Miss Charlotte Sugden. The unfortunate second peer died three years ago, leaving only a daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Drury-Lowe, and was succeeded by his nephew, the present peer.

Prince's Lessons on Banjo.

The Prince of Wales has a pleasant singing voice which has not yet declared to which order it belongs. It is His Royal Highness's own wish that it should develop into a tenor.

As a child, he and his brothers used to sing little part-songs, in which he always insisted on his "right" to have the high parts. While on the Hindustan he took lessons on the banjo, and showed marked aptitude in learning. He has a very correct "ear," and is clever at improvising accompaniments.

Like all his brothers, the Prince of Wales has had pianoforte lessons, but although he plays in the usual boyish fashion he has no real penchant for the instrument. He still, when occasion offers, plays the accompaniments to Prince Albert's violin, for that young prince promises to emulate his great-uncle, the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg, in his skill as a violinist.

A Queer Election.

Earl Grey is at present assisting in a campaign against absurdities in the British election law. There are many of these, and Earl Grey once had a queer experience with one of them. It was in 1878, and Mr. Grey, as he was then, fought a bye-election in South Northumberland with a barrister who is now Mr. Justice Ridley.

Each polled the same number of votes, and the sheriff declining to give a casting vote, a double return was made. The two "joint members" both took seats in the House of Commons; but two months later Earl Grey withdrew, as it was found that his opponent had a majority.

Need Teachers In West.

Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Education in Saskatchewan, who has been in the east, spoke recently of the western schools. He said that the English language is taught excepting for a half hour at the close of the day, when the language of the majority of the inhabitants of that section is taught. He went on to say that the dearth of teachers continues and that hundreds of districts are wanting both male and female teachers.

Murderers.

The great majority of murderers are between 21 and 40 years old. Of 100 murderers, 44 are under 30 years; 26 are between 30 and 40; 16 between 40 and 50; 9 between 50 and 60, and 5 over 60.

CHEMICO-METRICAL MADRIGAL

I know a maiden, charming and true,
With beautiful eyes like the cobalt blue
Of the borax bead, and I guess she'll do
If she hasn't another reaction.
Her form is no bundle of toilet shams,
Her beauty no boon of arsenical balms,
And she weighs just sixty-two kilograms
To a duodecimal fraction.

Her hair is a crown, I can truthfully state,
'Tis a meter long, nor curly, nor straight,
And it is as yellow as plumbic chromate
In a slightly acid solution.
And when she speaks from parlor or stump
The words which gracefully gambol and jump
Sound sweet, like the water in Sprengel's pump
In magnesic phosphate ablution.

One day I said, "I will leave you for years,"
To try her love by rousing her fears.
She shed a deciliter of tears,
Turning brown the turmeric yellow.
To dry her tears I gave her, you know,
A hectogram of candy; also
To bathe her red eyes H_2O.
She said, "You're a naughty fellow."

I have bought me a lot, about a hectare,
And have built me a house ten meters square,
And soon, I think, I shall take her there,
My tart little acid radical.
Perhaps little sailors on life's deep sea
Will be the salts of this chemistry
And the lisp of the infantile A B C
Be the refrain of this madrigal.

NEW STAMPS NOW READY DESIGN IS HIGHLY PRAISED

King's Portrait Appears in Uniform of An Admiral—His Majesty Approved Design.

Ottawa, Jan. 2—Early in the New year, the first instalment of the King George V postage stamps will be on sale. The new stamps which in colors and denominations will be the same as those of the current series have for their central and dominant feature, a faithful portrait of His Majesty in the uniform of an admiral thus typifying the sailor-King.

the top and above the head of the King are found the crowns, one at each side, emblematic of the Empire. Just below the portrait, and forming a base for the oval frame containing the King's head, are two supporting branches of maple leaves (more prominent than in either the present or previous stamp issue) gracefully presenting Canada's national emblem

Thhe design which thus so fitly symbolizes the Empire and Canada was in due course submitted to His Majesty the King, who, as is well-known, is one of the most discriminating of judges in such matters, and received his ready approval, so that the new stamps, in addition to departmental authority for their issue have the privilege of royal sanction.

The scheme of the new stamps as a whole is harmonious and in the best of taste, and the blending of light and shade is most happily carried out representing the highest expression of the steel engraver's art.

According to the department circular on the subject, which is about to be sent out to postmasters, it is possible that only the more commonly used denominations (the 1c and 2c) will be ready for issue by the 1st of January, but that the others will follow shortly.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By J. W. BROWETT, Optometrist

Q—Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A—Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q—Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?

A—Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q—Can my headache be relieved with Glasses?

A—A personal visit will be necessary. LET US TALK IT OVER.

Thanks to the Electors

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

My thanks are due and are hereby tendered to the electors of the Centre Ward for the very hearty and unsolicited support at the polls, which resulted in my being again elected a member of the Board of Aldermen for this city.

That I should be successful in the face of the strong opposition, and out of a ballot composed of four candidates, and without any personal canvassing on my part, is satisfactory evidence of public confidence, which I value highly.

Trusting that the year 1912 will prove one of advancement and prosperity for Peterborough, and that all citizens will share to the fullest extent in this prosperity.

I remain,
Yours, truly.
GEO. A. GILLESPIE

CARD OF THANKS

From Mr. C. H. Hill TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST WARD

I wish to sincerely thank the electors of the above ward, who so kindly gave me their votes in the municipal election, and take this opportunity of extending the season's greetings.

H. CYRIL HILL

To the Electors OF TH CENTRE WARD

I beg to thank the electors of the Centre Ward for electing me alderman by such a large majority. During this year I shall make every effort to prove to the electors that their confidence has not been mispalced.

Wishing you a happy New Year, I remain, Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON

W. J. JOHNSTON Card of Thanks

To the Electors of the North Ward of the City of Peterborough.

Ladies and Gentlemen—Allow me to thank you for the confidence you placed in me yesterday by electing me one of your representatives at the City Council Board. I would be very ungrateful indeed were I not to acknowledge that confidence.

I will make an honest effort to look after your interests to the very best of my ability. I realize that a great deal of our future progress hinges upon the action of the present City Council. The great majority vote polled in favor of the power by-law convinces me that the people are thoroughly in earnest on this great question, and that they want this matter looked after in their interests. I promise you that after this mattdr has been most rigidly gone into by the Council that not one cent of the people's money will be spent upon it without their sanction.

I want to try and see that the people get the very best results for money expended all over our city consistent with proper management.

Wishing you one and all a very happy and prosperous New Year. I am your obedient servant,
W. J. JOHNSTON

BELIEVES HE CAN STILL SAVE THRONE

Premier Yuan Shi Kai Gets Big Loan to Carry on Government.

Tang Shao Yi Dismissed From Cabinet for Exceeding Instructions.

Pekin, Jan. 3.—The feeling in Pekin last night was that the throne has taken on a new lease of life. Indeed there are some competent observers, who believe that Premier Yuan Shi Kai is still determined that he can succeed in preventing the consummation of a republic.

The Imperial Cabinet has accepted the resignation of Tang Shao Yi, who was sent to Shanghai as the representative of Premier Yuan Shi Kai and the Imperialists at the peace conference between the representativs of both parties there. The Government has also telegraphed to Wu Ting Fang, the leader of the revolutionaries at the peace conference, stating that in future it will negotiate telegraphically. The Government is of the opinion that Tang Shao Yi went beyond his instructions when he signed the agreement as to the calling of the national convention to decide on the future form of government of China with Fu Ting Fang.

The Premier adheres to two points of his original suggestion regarding the national convention, namely, that he insists on the proper selection of delegates to the national assembly and also that its gathering place shall be Pekin.

Premier Yuan Shi Kai again offered his resignation yesterday morning, but it was not accepted. The court also received a round robin from the generals commanding the Imperialistic troops in the vicinity of Pekin, in which they demanded that the princes of the Imperial clan should withdraw their wealth from the safety of the foreign banks, where much of it has been placed quite recently, and deliver it into the hands of the War Office.

Prince Ching, the former Premier and Foreign Minister, received a letter yesterday on behalf of the Manchu troops in the vicinity of Pekin, threatening to destroy his palace unless it was delivered over to them.

When negotiating recently for a loan, Yuan Shi Kai explained that about $10,000,000 would carry the Government on for six months. By that time discord would have occurred among the rebels in the south and the provinces would return gradually to their allegiance. Yuan Shi Kai has now obtained from the Empress Dowager more than $2,000,000, which will permit the carrying on of the Government beyond the period which the rebels have fixed for the assembling of the national convention.

It is believed here that the lack of funds among the rebels has inspired their haste in settling the date for the national convention.

Seven hundred soldiers guarding the Lanchau arsenal mutinied yesterday. They are part of the Imperial Government troops, among whom there has been a movement for some time past in favor of a republic. The commanding officer fled to Kaiping, from which point he sent a message to the railway authorities at Tientsin warning them that the mutineers intended to stop all railway traffic.

Fighting Around Hankow.

Hankow, Jan. 3.—The fighting around Hankow has not been serious and the Imperialists have evacuated Hanyang and entrained for the north with their batteries. Gen. Li Yuen Heng, the Republican commander, has given the Imperialist commanders assurances that he will not occupy the vacated positions. The armistice is again being observed.

Dr. Sun Sworn In.

Nanking, Jan. 2.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen has taken the oath of office as provisional President of the Chinese Republic and yesterday morning was farmally invested with the powers of Chief Executive. The ceremony was simple but very dignified, and was attended by all the prominent men of the revolutionary party.

The first official act of the President was to change the Chinese calendar. He made New Year's Day the first day of his Presidency, thus marking the commencement of a new era and making the Chinese year begin henceforth on the same day as the year begins in most other countries of the world.

Many prominent men among the revolutionaries met him at the station and accompanied him to the Government House, the route to which was lined by 10,000 soldiers. The whole town was beflagged, the warships and merchant vessels along the river dressed ship and a salute was fired from the guns of all the forts.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who was dressed in a khaki uniform on his arrival, held a reception, which was attended by a number of Governors-General and other high officials.

INSURANCE AS ALIMONY

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Under a novel court order entered by Judge Brentano in the Superior Court yesterday, Frank J. McAvoy, head of an automobile supply company, is directed to take out a $9,000 life insurance policy in favor of the woman to whom the court in the same order granted a decree of divorce. In addition to becoming the beneficiary of an insurance policy, Mrs. Nellie McAvoy is to receive a total of $10,000 alimony, payable in annual instalments of $1,000.

OPERATIONS TO START

The International Harvester Co. commences operations at the old Cordage works to-morrow morning. Former employes at the plant will be placed on their application at the gate.

Fighting In Hayti.

Cape Haptien, Hayti, Jan. 3.—Gen. Dorsilien, a Haytien citizen, one of the chief of the last Dominican revolution, Zemon Toribio, former governor of San Francisco de Macoris and Desidirio Arias, former governor of Monte Christi, the last two of whom were expelled from San Domingo during the presidency of Gen Caceres, were engaged in a fight Monday at Los Arroyas, half a mile from the frontier.

Gen. David de Luna, former commandant at Dajabon, with a body of troops from Santiago, has left to disperse the revolutionaries.

Politician Sent Down.

Jersey City, N.J., Jan. 3.—Stephen M. Egan, county collector of Hudson County, was sentenced late yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Swayze to not more than seven years nor less than one year at hard labor, in state prison, and to pay a fine of $1,000 for embezzlement, in having loaned to the late Robert Davis, Democratic leader of Hudson County, $31,000 of the county's money. Egan was convicted on Dec. 16.

An Immoral Defence.

New York, Dec. 3.—The defence of the American Tobacco Co. in a suit brought against it for $500,000 damages under the Sherman anti-trust law is characterized as immoral in an opinion handed down yesterday by Judge Ward in the United States District Court, denying the company a motion for a rehearing of an order that it file verified answers in the case.

KILLED BY EXPRESS

Special to the Review.

Paris, Jan. 3.—George Spablegher, piano tuner, of Goderich, was struck and killed by the through Grand Trunk express at the station here last night.

JOINT HIGH COMMISSION

Montreal, Jan. 3.—An informal meeting of the newly-appointed Canadian section of the International Joint High Commission was held in the city yesterday, preparatory to the convening of the body in Washington on Jan. 10.

The new commission, the Canadian members of which are T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., of this city, C. A. Magrath of Medicine Hat, and H. A. Powell of St. John, N.B., will direct its energies for some time towards the settlement of all outstanding differences between Canada and the United States respecting the boundary waters and their potentialities.

Of these, the great problem which the international commissioners will face in so far as Montrealers are concerned, will be that of the project of damming the Long Sault Rapids. The Long Sault Development Co., of which the Pittsburg Aluminum Co. is the principal factor, now have a bill before the United States Senate asking for the necessary authorization to carry out the proposed work. There has, however, been strong opposition to the scheme at Washington, and a determined effort will be made by the opponents of the measure to have the matter referred to the new international commission.

SHAKE UP IN THE CABINET

Political Rumor at Ottawa is Not Credited—Monk to Replace Brodeur

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The Free Press today prints a rumor emanating from Montreal, that Hon. Mr. Monk will shortly leave the Cabinet and take the place of Hon. Mr. Brodeur, on the Supreme Court bench, the latter replacing Hon Philippe Roy as Canadian Commissioner in Paris. Then it is added Hon. Mr. Perley would be made Minister of Public Works and Bourassa become Minister without portfolio. The story is not credited in political circles.

A Boon to Grain Growers.

Regina, Sask., Jan. 3.—What will prove a great boon to the holders of preemptions is the order issued by Hon. Robert Rogers to the various Dominion land officers throughout the west not to cancel preemptions for non-payment of interest. The reason for the suspension of the provision allowing cancellation of the preemptions, if interest is not paid is that the settlers have had great difficulty in marketing their grain and are not in a position to pay the interest.

ONE OF THE FEW

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—In sending the statement of funds received for Dr. Grenfell's Deep Sea Mission. I desire to express my sincere thanks for the assistance given to the work by the daily papers.

It is, no doubt, owing to their interest and co-operation that the response to the appeal was so generous.

The total amount received and forwarded to Miss Greenshields is $190.10. Of this amount fifty dollars to go to the maintenance of the Peterborough Cot at St. Anthony's Hospital, the remainder is used in the general work of the mission.

If any contributions have not received acknowledgement by mail, it is because the addresses were not fully given.

Again thanking you for your share in the good work, I remain.

Yours sincerely,
M. E. WOOD,
Sec.-Treas. D. S. M.

ANTI-GERMAN DEMONSTRATION

Feared by the French Authorities—Escaped Officer Leaves Paris

Special To The Review.

Paris, France, Jan. 3—Captain Lux, French officer who escaped from a German fortress has left Paris because it was feared that a popular jubilation would assume the form of an anti-German demonstration.

DICKENS' SON DIES SUDDENLY

New York, Jan. 3.—Alfred Tennyson Dickens, eldest surviving son of Charles Dickens, the novelist, died suddenly of acute indigestion at the Hotel Astor here late yesterday. Mr. Dickens was in this country on a lecture tour.

Mr. Dickens was a godson of the late Alfred Tennyson, poet laureate of England. He was in his 67th year.

Mr. Dickens, who has spent the greater part of his life in Australia, going there at the age of 20, arrived in this country on Sept. 29, landing at Boston. He rested there for ten days because of a slight indisposition before beginning his lecture tour, which he opened at Lowell, Mass., on October 9.

The lecturer reached New York last week, spent Sunday with cousins in Pelham, N.Y., and was on his way to attend the theatre Monday night when taken ill.

WAS TO HAVE LECTURED HERE

Late Alfred Tennyson Dickens Was Coming to Peterboro

Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of Charles Dickens, who died suddenly in New York yesterday was to have lectured in Peterboro, at the Conservatory of Music on Feb. 16 next, and many people were looking forward with great interest to his appearance here. Mr. Glidden, Principal of the Conservatory of Music, informed the Review of this fact to-day.

Drowned In Spanish River.

Pogamasing, Jan. 3.—Word has been brought here by an Indian named John Spaniel, that James King, who was in charge of Messrs. J. and T. Charlton's lumber camps at Munroe Siding, two and a half miles west of here was drowned in the Spanish River Saturday. The body will not likely be recovered before spring owing to the ice. Mr. King's mind was evidently deranged.

Home Dynamited.

Tyrone, Ky., Jan. 3.—The home of Police Judge Lancaster was blown up with dynamite here yesterday and practically wrecked. No one was injured. It is believed that revenge was the cause for the blowing up of the house. An investigation is being made.

Belgian Census.

Brussels, Belgium, Jan. 3.—The figures of the census of Belgium taken in 1910 show that the population of the country now numbers 7,423,784, or an increase of 730,236 since the previous census was taken in 1900.

PRIEST TALKED FLIPPANTLY

Winnipeg, Jan. 3.—The Northwest Review, the organ of the English-speaking Catholics, does not agree with the remarkable views of Father Comeau as to marriage, and says:

"From the fact that the man has taken the woman to be his wife (even should the marriage be unlawful in the eyes of the Church), such a man has contracted certain legal and moral obligations in regard to that woman which he cannot deliver himself of simply by endeavoring to square himself with the laws of the Church, and he cannot be a 'good Catholic' unless he recognizes his obligation to the woman he married.

"It is not our purpose to expose in detail what such obligations would be, but merely to point out that in our estimation, Father Comeau has spoken rather flippantly on such a grave subject."

TYPE OF PERSIAN SOLDIERS IN CONFLICT WITH RUSSIAN TROOPS

PERSIAN WARRIORS AT TABRIZ. FROM THE GRAPHIC.

Tabriz was the first city in Persia to feel the iron hand of Russia in the present trouble. Fifty Persians were killed by the Russians, who afterward bombarded the government's palace and demolished many private dwellings with their artillery. Types of Persian warriors at Tabriz are shown herewith.

BITTER FIGHT GOING ON OVER HOME RULE

Prominent Welsh Liberal Expresses His Resentment

Sir Clifford Cory Gives up His Office in the Party.

London, Jan. 3.—Sir Edward Carson is leading the Unionist party's vigorous campaign against Irish home rule. Generally, his argument is: "Ireland is prospering; leave her alone." The possibility of religious intolerance is also emphasized.

Sir Clifford Cory, one of the great coal and shipping barons of Wales, a stalwart Liberal, has resigned the presidency of the Cardiff Liberal Association because the committee invited Mr. John Redmond to the city to address a meeting on home rule, and has reminded the Government that he is as strongly opposed to home rule as ever.

Other Nonconformists are in doubt as to whether to throw over their convictions against placing their coreligionists in Ulster under the rule of Catholic Ireland, or the Government, which has promised them a new education bill and disestablishment of the church in Wales.

The alleged weakening in the demand by the people of Ireland for home rule, as a result of increasing prosperity, is another string that the Unionists have to play in England. So little do the people want it, say the Unionists, that they will not contribute to the funds of the Nationalists, who are now dependent on "American dollars" for support.

TWO ARRESTS ARE MADE

In Connection With the Death of Kenneth Kingston

Mistatin, Sask., Jan. 3.—As a result of an inquiry conducted personally by Commanding Officer Pennyfather, of the R.N.W.M.P., the two Norwegian trappers, who found the body of Kenneth Kingston, who was shot in the bush north of here on December 14th, were arrested here, charged with having caused his death.

Opposes U. S. Preference.

London, Jan. 3.—The Morning Post has started a strong agitation against the reported proposal of the United States Government to grant preference to American shipping in the Panama Canal. It devotes three columns and a long editorial this morning to that subject. It declares that such discrimination would be a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and says:

"By no sophistry can the American Government pretend that it is not bound by the terms of the treaty. An evasion of the obligation into which it entered would prove to the world that its pledges are meaningless."

Asuncion Blockaded.

Paris, Jan. 3.—The French Minister at Asuncion, Paraguay, has succeeded in getting through, by a circuitous route, a despatch to the Foreign Office, dated Dec. 28. He says that the revolution continues, but without serious fighting. The capital is blockaded and all communication is badly interrupted. The Paraguayan authorities hope to have control of the situation, adds the Minister, early this month. This is the only telegraphic communication that has reached the Foreign Office from Paraguay since the revolution broke out.

CHORAL SOCIETY

Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie in a note to the Board of Education, last night requested permission to use the Collegiate Institute hall to form a choral society for children in the city, promising to carefully look after the furnishings, etc.

On motion of Robert Fair, the matter was referred to the supervision committee with power to act.

Bars Beer From Her Court.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 3.—Although as Justice of the Peace Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch has a court room in her house here she refuses to allow beer to be exhibited therein. Mrs. McCulloch was asked to hear a case which involved an exhibit of beer. She refused to allow the beverage to be brought into her house. The prosecution intimated that the case could not go on without the beer exhibit. A police patrol was called, the beer loaded into it and Mrs. McCulloch then climbed into the vehicle and rode to the police station, where the case was begun. The case involved the arrest of a man who had been accused of selling beer in the streets.

Annuities Branch Transferred.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The annuities branch of the Trade and Commerce Department is to-day doing business under the control of the Postoffice Department, and hereafter will be administered by that Department. The plans for the new campaign have not yet been matured, but it is probable that an official announcement will be shortly issued by Hon. Mr. Pelletier for general distribution.

PREDICTS MANY DISASTERS IN 1912

London, Jan. 3.—Mme. de Thebes, most celebrated of Parisian soothsayers, is pessimistic as to 1912, and predicts:

War, which will wreck Europe and other continents as well.
Conspiracies.
Assassinations.
Total ruin of Paris.
Downfall of the German Emperor.
Riots.
Epidemics.
Evil destiny for England.
Fusilades and bloodsheds in Spain.
Tears and misery elsewhere.

Zadkiel's almanac and book of prophecy foreshadows worries for the Kaiser, Czar and King of Spain. As far as Great Britain is concerned, the sixpenny prophet states that the spring will be marked by political tumult and a serious risk of foreign warfare, consequent upon the breaking of a treaty, binding upon Great Britain, by a foreign power. However, it will all end happily, because King George's horoscope is stronger and more fortunate than that of any other living monarch.

HON "BOB" ROGERS A VERY BUSY MAN

Winnipeg, Jan. 3—Hon. Robert Rogers left for Ottawa Monday night. He gave up almost the entire week to the transaction of public business. In the offices of the school lands department he kept long office hours, receiving from day to day hundreds, who had business with his Department.

New Year's Day was no exception to the rule. From nine o'clock in the morning till late in the evening, the Minister of the Interior remained in his office, the holiday making no appreciable difference in the number who sought interviews with him. Notwithstanding the wide range of business matters, which Mr. Rogers dealt with, following his arrival in Winnipeg, he found time to attend a public banquet in North Winnipeg, where he delivered an address and to spend a short time at the reception by the Maple Leaf Conservative Club.

INMATES OF THE LONDON ASYLUM HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Damage Will be About $20,000 – Caused Great Excitement in Forest City.

London, Ont., Jan. 3.—Fire, which broke out last night in the kitchen of the main building of the London Asylum, destroyed the theatre with damage of about $20,000.

The fire was discovered at 10.30 o'clock and the London brigade responded.

Six hundred and fifty patients are housed in this building and all were brought to the lower floor, but they were in no serious danger at any time.

There were 1,100 patients in the asylum, the remainder being housed in the infirmary and the north wing, neither of which were touched by the flames.

The flames were quickly brought under control by the firemen.

Considerable excitement was caused here when the first news of the fire came, as telephone communication with the asylum had been cut off, and it was feared that many lives had been lost.

Big Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Fire broke out in the kitchen of the Strathcona Cafe yesterday and spread rapidly to the surrounding buildings.

The grocery store of Gravel Freres on the corner of McGill College avenue and St. Catharine street was the first to fall a prey to the flames, and from there the fire worked its way into the fur establishment of Wills and Wills.

It took about three-quarters of an hour to get the flames under control and it is estimated that the damage done will amount to between $40,000 and $50,000.

A GOOD CHAIRMAN

Before the meeting of the Board of Education closed last night, Mr. John Crane, chairman of the Board thanked the members for their splendid services during the year, and congratulated the members who had been elected without a contest.

L. M. Hayes, K.C., on behalf of the Board expressed the appreciation of all the members of Mr. Crane's excellent services in the capacity of chairman, and referred to the efficient and able manner in which the duties of his position were invariably fulfilled.

Will Be One Man Show.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—That the three remaining appointees to the National Transcontinental Railway Commission will shortly go out of office is a practically sure thing.

The commission will be a one-man institution, and Major R. E. Leonard will be the man. The Government will take action within the next few days. The men who are to go are W. S. Calvert, Colin McIsaacs and C. A. Young. The two former are ex-M.P.'s, and the latter is a brother of Senator Finlay Young.

Legislation will probably be necessary in order to alter the constitution of the commission.

PROBABILITIES

Fair and quite cold to-day and on Thursday.

"FEEBLE STOMACH"

Causes Digestive Weakness and Poisons the Entire System.

"No one can have suffered more than I did with stomach trouble," writes Phil. E. Pascalar, well known at St. Andrews Corners. "My doctor told me my indigestion and sleeplessness were due to poisons in the blood. Certainly my condition was desperate, and it seemed from the despondent feelings that swept over me that I would lose my reason. I happened to read about Dr. Hamilton's Pills and bought five boxes from the druggist. Such body-cleansing pills I never used; they were mild and yet quite strong enough to drive all the humors out of the blood. My stomach gained strength rapidly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I improved so much that in eight weeks I could eat and digest all ordinary food. Depression and weariness passed away and I am, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills, enjoying robust good health."

No remedy for biliousness, indigestion, headache, sick stomach, or constipation that compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse substitutes. Sold in 25c. boxes. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

LAST OF THE QUEUS

On New Year's Day in New York alone five thousand Chinamen cast off their queues and did so joyfully. This came on the head of the announcement that the rules of the new Chinese republic had decided that the queue should go. It begins to look as if China is about to really become a progressive nation and that the natives of that country will soon take a standing equal to the Japanese with the other nations of the world. A few years of progressive rule in China will mean much as the Chinaman is quick to learn. The universal and simultaneous sacrifice of the queue is interesting evidence of how we have misunderstood our Mongolian fellow-citizens. They took the first opportunity afforded them to show that they were willing to join in making China an enlightened and progressive nation. It was only the fear of the old Chinese dynasty that held them back from taking advanced steps in reform long ago. Reformers in China were looked upon as enemies of the throne.

WILL COVER ENTIRE PROVINCE

The vote on the hydro-electric scheme on Monday, means the extension of the government eelctrical development to the central district of the Province. The municipalities in the district east and west of Peterborough will be served by the water-powers of the Trent system, and to the eastward this system will be linked with another derived from the water-powers of the Ottawa river. It will be joined to the westward by the Niagara system. The whole Province will thus, in a few years, be covered from Windsor to Ottawa by the hydro-electric system. This will involve an outlay on the part of the Province, Hon. Mr. Beck estimates, of some fifteen million dollars raised on the credit of the Province, and a similar amount raised on the credit of the municipalities when the power is used.

The Montreal Herald says in referring to the hydro-electric scheme:

"The great fact is that the national resources of the Province are being developed under the will and with the support of the Legislature for the service of as many of the people as can be induced to make use of the conveniences electricity affords. There has been nothing quite equal to it in significance since the early seventies, when vast obligations were undertaken by the Legislature and the municipalities to the end that everyone might be within reach of the railway."

What is puzzling quite a number of people is how Toronto and Hamilton and other papers of Saturday last, which must have reached here not later than Sunday, were only found in the P. O. boxes to-day. Deafness Cannot Be Cured

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucuous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you may have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucuous surfaces.

One More Victory

Toronto News.

The vote for the extension of the municipal light and power plant is only one more victory for the Ontario Government's Hydro-Electric policy.

Good Reason to be Satisfied

Toronto News.

The Hydro-Electric Commissioners ask for $2,200,000 more in Toronto, and get it by a vote of five to one; and Hydro-Electric by-laws are carried in more than thirty places in Ontario. Mr. Beck has good reason to be satisfied. He has the people behind him.

The Local Option Vote

Hamilton Herald.

The results of the voting on local option by-laws in Ontario municipalities yesterday serve to show the strength of temperance sentiment in this province. In ten municipalities the by-laws were carried, wiping out 21 licenses; in eighteen municipalities by-laws would have been carried but for the three-fifths majority requirement, in fifteen local option municipalities the existing system was sustained by the defeat of repeal by-laws. There were 24 local option by-laws defeated. Of the 822 Ontario municipalities 412 are now under local option and without bars.

Leather Roads

London Globe

For over twelve months now a road made principally of leather has been in use at Handsworth, Birmingham, and shows practically no signs of wear. It is another example of the elimination of that commercial bugbear, "the waste product," for until some ingenious person hit upon the idea of the leather road practically no use has been discovered for the leather waste from which it is made. The waste leather was shredded until it virtually became a pulp. It was then treated with bitumen and tar and laid in the usual way. The road is claimed to have many great advantages. It creates little or no dust gives considerable wear, is resilient and silent, and gives a good grip for motor tires and similar objects. It is a comfortable material for horses to tread on, and the heaviest vehicles that have so far passed over it have made no impression on it.

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

The Paternoster Ruby

By Charles Edmond Walk.

Supplied exclusively in Canada by the British & Colonial Press, Limited, Toronto.

"I have been an orphan ever since I can remember, though my father and mother are not even memories. They fell victims to yellow fever in New Orleans before I was two years old. Uncle Alfred took me at once into his household, which has been my home all of my life that I know anything about.

"I am two years older than Belle, but reared together as we have been, we are more nearly sisters than cousins. Indeed, I even believe that we are closer together than most sisters; we love each other very, very dearly.

"You can see, then, how anything affecting her will equally affect me. Belle has been gently nurtured; she is a proud, high-spirited, intrepid girl, but of a delicate organism that would break beneath the shock of Royal Maillot being stigmatized by such a crime. I tremble to think of it!"

Her look was again bent on me, with utmost gravity now, and her voice broke a little as she concluded:

"Can you comprehend my anxiety, Mr. Swift? Can't you see that I would make any sacrifice to forestall such a dreadful chance?

In spite of her reserved nature and admirable habit of self-control, it was easy to see that she was deeply affected; she was, indeed, torn by conflicting doubts and anxieties; and I became meditative and, for her sake, exceedingly desirous of lightening the burden of her worry.

That very beautiful and very wilful young lady, her cousin, would never have made such an appeal to me. I did not care to conjecture the way in which she, long before this stage of the conversation, would have been expressing her indignation and withering me with her scorn and contempt.

"Miss Cooper," said I at length, "assume for just a moment that Mr. Maillot is guilty: would you counsel me, for the reasons you have stated, to turn aside from my duty and permit him to go unpunished?"

She caught her breath sharply. Her lips went suddenly white, and her look became a trifle wild. I watched her keenly.

"Mr. Swift!" she presently whispered, in dismay. How unfair!"

"I do not mean to be unfair," I tried to make clear; but she cut me short.

"Are you trying to prepare me for—for the worst?"

"Gracious, no!" I expostulated, with an emphatic embarrassed laugh. "But I should like to have you answer my question."

"It is hideous even to assume such a thing," she very soberly made answer; "but if such were actually the case, I—I"

"Well?" I prompted curiously, when she paused and pressed a hand to her throat.

Of a sudden the lovely eyes were brimming with tears. She timidly laid a hand upon my arm.

"You don't think he's guilty, do you?" she murmured distressfully. It wrung my heart.

"Don't—please don't," I said hastily. "Here is my honest opinion, Miss Cooper: whatever that young man has done to involve himself in this affair, I am sure that he is no deliberate, cold-blooded assassin; my judgement of his character could not be so far at fault.

"For the same reason I am strongly inclined to believe his story, preposterous as it appears standing alone. I don't mind admitting—to you, Miss Cooper—that I'm looking beyond him for the guilty man."

She drew a long breath of relief and clasped her hands in her lap. But how little did either of us realize that we had disposed of one difficult situation only to turn round and find ourselves face to face with another. My candor, to which she had made such a powerful appeal, soon led to an impasse; one that neither of us was in the least prepared for.

"Of course," she said presently, in a low voice, "I would not utter a word or lift a finger to influence you from what you regard as your duty. If your assumption were true, why, I would be with Belle, doing all that lies within my humble power to comfort her."

She leaned toward me impulsively, her face all at once bright and animated.

"Mr. Swift," she began, and stopped amid sudden confusion.

"Tell me, Miss Cooper," I encouraged her.

"Oh, I can't—I should not," she said, blushing.

Her blushes signified a deal to me, for I harbored an idea that she was not given to betraying her feelings so vividly. I was curious.

"The first impulse was the best, I'm sure," I urged.

"It was merely a flitting thought," she responded, her repose still shaken; "it was purely out of absent-mindedness that I same so near to voicing it. It was nothing, believe me. There—it is gone!"

"Which is to be deplored," I soberly returned. "I attach considerable importance to your thoughts. Besides, you opened this conversation with an assurance of frankness. Perhaps—so far—I have'nt been as frank as I might; but it's simply because I have not yet found words to tell you all you want to know."

At once she stripped the occasion of its seriousness.

"Dear me!" she laughed, "you are a diplomat, too; how alluringly you persuade one to talk! Very well. If the impertinence of my poor little idea will not drive you to changing your opinion, I will put it into words."

I waited.

"I wondered," she continued shyly, supposing I knew every detail of this that you know—if I could aid you any. Only in this one particular case," she made haste to add, "because it means so much to me."

My pulses leaped. The idea of having this lovely girl as a coadjutor, to give her sharp wits free play with the harrassing minutiae which had not only arisen but were bound to continue to arise as I went deeper into the mystery, was one that filled me with joy.

After all, doubtless I had been unnecessarily considerate of her feelings. Miss Cooper was a gentlewoman, to be sure; but it did not inevitably follow that she was too sensitive to hearken to a distasteful topic. I know that my features must have reflected my feelings at this moment, for the color began to grow deeper and deeper in her pretty face, and at last she sprang nervously to her feet.

"It was only a silly impulse," she deplored, in a flustered rejection of the scheme; "it was very stupid of me to express it. Pray forget it. . . . I—I must go." She darted an uncomfortable glance toward the door.

I did not stir. She was so lovely in her discomposure, so inexpressibly winning, that I sat there with my heart throbbing as it never throbbed before.

Make her my confidante? Every nerve of my body thrilled at the thought. And the incentive that had prompted the proposal left it shorn of all forwardness or presumption. I appreciated the cause of her agitation; and at last, with an effort, I hid my own emotions behind an appearance of calmness.

"Please sit down again," I entreated. "It is a bargain."

She stood irresolute, poised for flight, yet constrained by a desire to return again to the settle. Her color was still high, her eyes were sparkling, she was breathing fast.

"You would be an invaluable aid," I said simply. "The idea, instead of being impertinent, gratifies me more than I can express; I'm sometimes very blind, Miss Cooper. And think: you may be the instrument of freeing Mr. Maillot from all suspicion or blame."

Slowly, her eyes shining, she resumed her seat. It was manifest that my regarding the matter so favorably pleased her immensely—doubtless because the potentialities appealed strongly to her curiosity and imagination, aside from any faith she might have entertained in her ability really to assist me. She was collected once more, but alive with enthusiasm.

"Such an alliance," I went on, "will entail many demands upon your time; from now on I shall make no move that we have not threshed out together."

"How lovely!" she murmured, joyfully. "And you will always find me ready."

And then I told her everything there was to tell. I recounted every incident that had befallen me since coming to the house, every fragment of possible evidence that my search had brought to light; to all of which she listened with the closest attention, interrupting only occassionally to elicit more comprehensive information. Verily, how I had misjudged her!

Next I strove to prepare her against the inquest. "It will try your strength to the unmost," said I. "What with Mr. Mailot's injured eye, coupled with the struggle preceding the fight and Burke's inability to have delivered the death-blow himself, you must anticipate the worst."

"Royal may have to go to jail?" she interrupted, in a troubled voice.

"It's not unlikely. If the coroner's jury fastens the crime upon him, the coroner will have no alternative except to hold him for the grand jury. If we could show that a third person was in the house last night, it would help him tremendously.

"But bear in mind, Miss Cooper," I strove earnestly to allay her fears, "that the inquest will be merely a preliminary hearing, of no consequence further than the extent to which it will excite comment and influence public opinion; that's the worst feature of it for an innocent man. Whatever we may succeed in accomplishing will in all probability come after the inquest."

Last of all, I produced the small leather jewel-case, and the visiting card I had found lying before the concealed safe. She examined the card first, reading aloud the inscription thereon:

"'I pray that you be showered with all the blessings of the season. With love'—"

Her face went suddenly white. The hand holding the card dropped to her lap. She sat bolt-upright, and directed at me a look of surprised bewildement.

"Clara!" she gasped. "Why that's—"

We both started and looked at the front door.

"Listen!" Miss Cooper whispered.

Light, stealthy footsteps sounded upon the porch. Next instant the knob was being slowly turned by a cautious hand.

To be continued.

NEW POLICY IS NEEDED

Ontario Temperance Leaders May Change Their Tactics.

Some of the Chief Workers Think Next Year Will See the Last Campaign on Present Local Option Lines Because Nothing Now Remains But "Hard" Places—New Agitation Will Be For Shorter Hours.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—Some of the representative Toronto temperance men, sizing up the Ontario situation, in view of the results on Monday, take the view that there will only be one more round fought on a provincial scale by the Ontario Alliance on local option lines. That will take place next January. After that a new plan of campaign will have to be adopted by the alliance, or the drys will have to go on the defensive.

The position taken in well informed temperance circles is that the territory in which the adoption of local option by a three-fifths majority is likely in Ontario is now very limited, and will be exhausted by another general engagement.

Where important urban municipalities were attacked, not only did the local option bylaws fail to get a three-fifths majority, but they were voted down in straight majorities. It is recognized by the drys that the movement from the rural municipalities to the cities is not favorable to the adoption of drastic prohibitory liquor legislation. Men who have been in the light and have given the outlook thought, say that the course which the alliance will take is already marked out by the logic of events, and that it will take the form of a license reduction and earlier closing movement.

The alliance had one of its organizers, Dr. McTavish, assisting in the license reduction movement which has just cut off ten licenses at Kingston.

The alliance was never in such good fighting trim as it has became during the past three years under the generalship of Rev. B. H. Spence. He has now a staff of effective speakers and organizers, an alliance weekly paper, with a big circulation, and he is successful in securing ample campaign funds each year.

There is a quiet tip going around that a movement will be gradually developed in Toronto for earlier closing of the liquor shops and bars and that it will be championed in due time, by Controller McCarthy and Ald. Austin.

There are nominally 175 municipalities where local option contests could be brought on next January, but most of them are hard places from the alliance's standpoint or else are too sparsely settled for organization purposes.

Additional returns received yesterday of the local option votes leave the net result a reduction of 20 licenses by local option successes, and 16 by license reduction. The reductions are those previously announced of ten at Kingston, and also six at Stratford.

Kingston had 35 and will now have 25. Stratford had 16 and will now have ten.

Places heard from yesterday were Vavalle and Point Edward, where local option carried. Elzevir and Gennsthorpe defeated local option.

Emo, Wallace and Ridgetown gave local option majorities, but failed to attain the necessary three-fifths.

Secretary Ben Spence says of the result 55 out of the 69 contests have been heard from. The fifteen repeal contests all failed. "We are preparing for a new fight which will be no child's play."

Canadian Missionaries Safe.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—Rev. R. P. MacKay, secretary of the Presbyterian Missions, yesterday received word from China respecting conditions at the Canadian Presbyterian Mission fields.

While the missionaries had not been molested they had, on the advice of the British consul, sent some of the women and children to ports where they could have the protection of British warships. The other women and children would follow and remain there until fear of danger was over.

The missionaries had been advised by the British consul that it was impossible to guarantee their safety at inland points.

THE GOOD OLD SUN

W. LYMAN HUME, Esq., M.D., says:

I took my last policy in the "Sun Life" five years ago. You may think how agreeably surprised I was to receive your letter of the 28th ult., informing me that my share of the profits earned by my Policy during the last five years amounted to $205.80 IN CASH; or if I preferred they would give me $46.65 a year for for the next five years, to be used as an annual reduction of my yearly premium; or better still they would increase my policy by $311.00, making it worth $5,311 instead of $5,000, upon which I would continue to pay the old premium. This is the option I have chosen.

Suppose that instead of insuring I had placed the amount of my premium $277.75, in the Bank each year, and had allowed the interest to be compounded for five years at three per cent., the interest allowed by all safe, conservative Banks. What would be the results? To-day I should receive $130.11 as the accumulated interest from the Bank, instead of $205.80 from the "Sun Life," a difference of $75.70; but in addition to this the Company has carried the risk on my life for $5,000, which they might have been called at any time to pay.

This is in marked contrast with the so-called Fraternal Societies. I have a policy of $1,000 in one of the best of them; I was notified the other day that my policy would be reduced one-half, or my premium doubled. The "Sun" increases my policy, or reduces my premium; the Fraternal Society reduces my policy or increases my premium; it should not be a difficult matter to choose which is the better system of the two.

The "Good Old Sun," may it never set except to rise again with increased effulgence!

MISS M. MANN IN COMEDY AT GRAND FORKS

'Mr. Bob'' Was Presented With Great Success

A recent issue of the Gazette of Grand Forkes gives an account of the presentation in the Opera House of the comedy, "Mr Bob" and speaks of the work of Miss Marjorie Mann and Mr. Harry Mann, daughter and son of Mr. Robert Mann, of this city. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Grand Forks Hockey team, the proceeds being $70.

Miss Mann took part in the piece when the Collegiate students presented it in the Collegiate auditorium severat years ago. The Gazette has the following to say—

"Miss Marjorie Mann, the maid whose feet itched for the footlights and thoughts soared in poetry, was as charming as she was vivacious and a fountain of humor.

The entertainment also had some splendid musical numbers. Two vocal quintettes—by A. and D. Carter F. Hicks, V. Davies and H. Mann—had unique camp-fire staging, the the vocalists longing leasurely round burning embers beside a tent among trees. The selections were "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Polly Wolly Doodle."

Following this a children's treat is now in progress. This is to take place in the Market Hall on Thursday afternoon, Jan 4th at 5.30, when every English child under fourteen years of age in the city will be made welcome Details have been left in the capable abnds of a committee o fladies, who have each done their best to help make it a success. The market hall has been secured for the event and the little folks are looking forward with pleasure to the grand time they will have. Tea will be served and there will be a present for every child from the tree.

ST. ALPHONSUS LYCEUM EXEMPT FROM TAXATION RULING OF JUDGE HUYCKE

The following written judgment on the assessment of St. Alphonsus Lyceum has been given by Judge Huycke, the case having been heard before His Honor on December 18. and 19:

Re St. Alphonsus Lyceum v. Peterborough City. Assessment appeals.

These two appeals are both between the same parties and argued by consent at same time and by same counsel. They both are in regard to the same property, but one is as to the assessment for 1911 made in 1910, the other as to the assessment for 1912 made in 1911. They came before me in different form, however.

In the first case the assessment was made and confirmed by Court of Revision, no appeal was taken, therefore in the specified time. The tax roll was made out and the appellants paid their taxes under protest. Then they made an appeal to the Court of Revision under section 112 of the Assessment Act, 4 Ed. VII, Cop. 23. Their request was refused, and they now appeal to me. In the second case the appeal comes regularly and in time, and is a straight appeal to me from the Court of Revision of the city, confirming the assessment of appellant for 1912, the appeal being regularly launched. The property in question is a block on Simcoe street, Peterborough, known as St. Alphonsus Lyceum, the last word, to some extent, a misnomer, for it does not appear to be a lyceum in the strict sense of the term. The property is owned by the R.C. Episcopal Corporation for the diocese of Peterborough, and its operations directed and controlled by the Bishop and clergy resident in this city, or more particularly those connected with St. Peter's cathedral. It is not on the same block or grounds as the cathedral or physically connected with it in any way; it receives its name Alphonsus from the present Lord Bishop of Peterborough, being named after him. The building is used for every purpose more or less closely connected with the operations of the church, Sunday school and catechism classes are held and taught there every Sunday, and sermons or lectures on sacred religious subjects delivered there on Sunday afternoon Lectures, debates, concerts and various other entertainments are given, and held there, as may be convenient during week days, but all such under the oversight and direction of the church. It is used, too, as the headquarters of the St. Peter's T. A.S., a temperance organization (Catholic), of over 1,000 members, this, too, under the guidance of the church. A young ladies' society also has its headquarters and meetings there, but it, too, is an association of the church and operated and directed by it. There is also a library open to all the members of those societies, with reading rooms, recreation rooms, etc., attached, instruction is given here on various subjects, sacred and secular, but all either by or under the direction of the church. The activities carried on here are much the same as are found in modern days, in what is known as an institutional church. It should also be mentioned that the C.M.B.A. and A.O.H. societies have the privilege of holding their meetings there and for this privilege pay to the church $100 per annum. The building is, as stated, owned by the church and supported by the membership fees and voluntary offerings of those using the rooms or building, in any way, and partially by the church itself, i.e. St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro, but is totally and wholly managed and directed by the church or its authorities. The church has assumed all liabilities and obligations of the building and its various activities, spiritual and financial. Such being the facts, what is the legal aspect of the case or cases before me.

First, as to the first appeal for the year 1911, under section 112, 4 Ed. VII cop. 23, it was admitted on argument that only under that section, if at all, could relief be given to that case and I think this appeal must fail. It is not a case of vacancy of buildings or poverty of the occupant, nor is it a case under section 61, where land missed by the assessor and placed on the roll by the clerk. If applicable at all, it must be as "a person who, by reason of any gross or manifest error in the roll has been overcharged."

I fail to see how this can apply! it is not a case of overcharge at all. The assessment should stand in full as a whole and it is not contended the assessment is too high, provided there should be an assessment at all; this section has been amended in 1910, but not as to effect this question. The appellants lost their right to relief, if they had such, by failure to appeal regularly and properly for the assessment and decision of the Court of Revision in time.

Second, as to the appeal for the year 1912, this case is regular and before me properly and in time so I deal with it squarely on the facts as directed by the statuets. The sole question for determination is, whether or not, the building is exempt from taxation, either as (a) place of worship" under 4 Ed. VII, cop. 23, section 5 S.S. 2; (b) "Public Library" under 4 Ed. VII, cop 23 section 12; or (c) "Seminary of Learning" under 10 Ed. VII, cop 88, section 1 S.S. 3A. which provides for the exemption of taxation of the buildings and grounds of and attached to or otherwise bonifide used in connection with and for the purposes of every seminary of learning maintained by philanthrophic, religious, or educational purposes, the whole profits from which are devoted or applied to such purposes only, but such grounds and buildings shall be exempt only while actually used and occupied by such seminary."

"If a place of worship is exempt," I do not think the location matters, whether or not physically connected with the church itself, St. Peter's. The services and classes held there in the building in question on Sundays are, in my judgment, "worship" and sacred services, while many of the week-day and week-night services also partake strongly of that nature, quite as much I think as those frequently held in schools and lecture rooms, of other churches, attached or not to the church building, and by common consent exempted. But this I do not think could be strictly applied to the whole of the building, but to parts of it only if possible, to divide it up for assessment purposes. What then about the other parts. I do not think it is a "public library," in such a sense as under the decisions makes it exempt. That ground must fail. I think, however, that the balance, or even the whole of the building, comes under the heading of Seminary of Learning as defined in above section "Seminary" is a word of elastic meaning. Liberally it is a "seeding place" or a place where seeds of knowledge and growth, mental, moral and physical are planted. It need not be a school for teaching simply and only. Many of us think there are other things equally good, indeed better, than a quisition of knowledge alone. I think we may reasonably call this a "place of worship," and "seminary" combined, most certainly its purposes are philanthrophic, religious, or educational, or perhaps more strictly speaking, all combined. I think too, I can combine them for the purpose of construing the statute. I am not materially assisted by any decided or reported cases. None I have seen apply directly or exactly. Each such case must depend on the individual facts. I think on the whole, this property is exempt from taxation and the appeal succeeds as to 1912 roll. The order will be accordingly. Success being divided there will be no costs of either appeal.

JUVENILES AND CRIME

Police Commissioners Had Discussion on Local Conditions

Following a meeting of the Police Commissioners the latter part of the year, the members discussed several matters relating to lamentable cases of youthful crime, that from time to time are brought before the courts. The strong underlying tendency frequently observed in the children of certain parents towards the committing of crime was strongly remarked upon, several striking examples being cited. Police Magistrate Dumble concurred in the opinion, referring to the two brothers of a certain youth who is now doing time in the reformatory for theft. One of the lads, the Magistrate remarked, is an exact replica of what his elder brother was when small, and already he has appeared in police court quarters either in the capacity of witness or on charges of juvenile crime.

DRUNK AT 11.

Although not more than eleven years of age, and shocking as it may seem, the little fellow only recently was discovered so helplessly drunk that he had to be drawn home on a hand-sleigh by a companion of his own age. Nobody had supplied the boy with the liquor, but to the Chief of Police, the lads confessed to having taken a flask from the pocket of an intoxicated man whom they found lying in the rear of an hotel. One of the boys would not touch it, but the first boy was bolder and downed sufficient to render him helpless and place him in a pitiable plight.

When given a good heart to heart talk by the Chief and asked why he did it, he replied "because he liked it." This same boy's father is very fond of liquor, and only recently appeared in police court over an offence against the liquor law.

ABOUT THE WHISKEY.

The fact also that intoxicated men after having sobered up, almost invariably state that they only had two drinks, brought up the question of whether some ingredient was placed in whiskey to cause it to have such a doping effect.

One local youth, who is now serving a term, seems to have made a practice of living on the proceeds of his thieving from helpless, intoxicated men, quite often men from the woods with large wads of money. It was on such a charge that he was arrested, tried and found guilty, and for which he is at present continued. The youth has been heard to openly brag that it was unnecessary for him to work.

Since his confinement the Chief of Police has had no complaints of a similar nature, which would indicate that the majority of the robberies were directly attributable to the prisoner.

QUEEN MOTHER SAW CORONATION PICTURES

Honored by a Royal invitation, Charles Urban gave an exhibition at Sandringham of his "kinemacolor" living pictures of the Coronation. The performance was given in the evening in a small room where in the darkness sat two widowed queens, the Queen mother of England, and the dowger Empress of Russia, with Princess Victoria and the Ladies of the Household. The first entertainment which Queen Alexandra has attended for eighteen months was this representation, lifelike in form and color and movement, of her son's Coronation ceremonies.

Her Majesty had not seen the reality of those scenes of solemn grandeur. All the Court that had been hers attended King George upon those crowning days, but she in her mourning was far away, so that not even the cheers of the great multitude which roared about the King on his way between the Abbey and the palace on his Royal progress through the streets had echoed in her ears or had thrilled that lonely Queen's heart. Now, as in a magic mirror, she gazed at those scenes, and saw her son driving on his way, clothed in majesty, with his Queen consort by his side, radiant and gracious. She saw her son's smile, his constant salutation of his people, his noble escort of great princes, each familiar to her as he passed, the wonderful procession of English and foreign officers who preceded and followed the King, who went to vow himself to the services of his people in the shrine of his ancestors.

Queen Alexandra, sitting in her darkened room at Sandringham, watching this living drama, must have been profoundly moved. It is but a little while as time goes, since she sat by the side of her own husband and King in such a processionn as this, in such crowded streets, receiving and answering the homage and enthusiasm of great multitudes. Not then had she thought how short would be the reign of her beloved Sovereign, how brief her own precious rule at the Court. Now her son took up the burden of the crown, his queen the duties of her high place, side by side with him upon the throne.

The Queen mother, when the permance was ended, sent for Mr. Urban and, leaving her chair, advanced to him and expressed her deep interest and pleasure at having seen those moving pictures. Afterwards the exhibitors were entertained at Sandringham, and then motored on their way back to London, with an unforgetful memory of their honor in this revealing to the Queen mother the beauty and drama of her son's crowning ceremonies.

This same series of animated pictures which for six weeks have been shown to over 100,000 patrons at the Princess Theatre, Montreal, two weeks at Massey Hall, Toronto, and the entire company, will be seen at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, for three days, commencing Thursday, Jan. 4th. Mr. Sidney Herbert, the noted English traveller and lecturer, will give his entertaining explanatory lecture during the running of the pictures on the screen, and Miss Florence Virkler, the accomplished young pianist, will render a specially arranged musical program for this series of wonderful pictures.

A Charming Comedy

Fiske O'Hara has the best play of his career as a star in Irish stage romance in "Love's Young Dream," which was presented twice at the Baker theatre yesterday. Mr. Sayre has the proper recipe for concocting Irish plays and Mr. O'Hara the right method of playing and singing them. He is no longer a tenor with an excuse of a part in which to sing songs he is a clever comedian at the sort of work he does and he sings better than ever. This year he plays the part of a gallant lover who has a lively time of it in winning the girl of his choice, whom Miss Quinn makes a charming heroine. The story of the play is a good one, and there is the right mixture of excitement, comedy and music which the public of Irish comedy-romance demand.

SPORT TALK

With Peter Spratt and Bill Stoddard on the Lindsay lineup, local fans should see a great game here Frida ynight.

Blomfield will likely turn out with Marmora in the Trent Valley League this season, he being stationed at the bank there.

Lindsay and Port Hope juniors clash on Thursday evening in the first O.H.A. game of the season. Port Hope is said to have a strong line-up. Everybody turn out and see the game and encourage the juniors.—Post.

A special train will be run to Peterborough on Friday evening, it being the occasion of the first intermediate O.H.A. game of the season. Peterborough and Lindsay are old-time rivals, and a goodly crowd of fans will likely journey to Peterborough to cheer the team to victory.—Post.

The new uniforms for the junior O.H.A. team have arrived and are on exhibition in the window of Dundas & Flavelle's Ltd. The body is blue with white trimmings. Across the front is the word Lindsay in white letters. They are pretty nifty sweaters, and are being much admired.—Post.

About fifty red hot fans, the kind who root at home and pay their good money to help the Hockey Club defray the expenses of running a special to the different towns, stormed the rink last night in an attempt to watch the juniors work out.

Now there are two sides to every story, but the crowd didn't think much of the rink management when they found the door locked and a youth in charge armed with orders to allow none but hockey players in the rink.

If the rink people think for a moment that such a blockheaded arrangement is going to be swallowed by the hockey enthusiasts of Peterborough, they have made a whopper of a mistake, whether their own grievances be actual or imaginery.

The complaint is that the crowd gets into the rink, break chairs, etc., and in some cases, steal their way with the aid of a confederate on to the . Now, this may be true enough, but never did a person who attended a punk hockey match, and there have been several, ever get a rebate on the 25 cents, 50 cents or 75 cents, as the case may have been.

It is up to the management at the rink to pick out offenders and mete out the chastisement to them, but not make many of the loyal followers of puckdom suffer.

Hamilton Spectator — While the league president was in London, Secretary M. M. Robinson was doing some missionary work in Peterboro, where a great deal of enthusiasm is being shown over the opportunity to secure a league franchise. The Canadian league attracted a great deal of attention in the eastern town all last summer, and judging from the feeling shown at a conference held yesterday with several of those interested, there should be no trouble placing a good strong team in the Electric city, backed up by a strong stock company The Peterboro grounds are situated very close to the centre of the city, and the ground owners are taking a very active part in the organization of the club; in fact, will be found among the shareholders of the stock company that will be formed.

It is very likely that Old Folks Templin will land the job of manager for the Peterboro club. Templin has been suggested to several of the Peterboro magnates, and appears to have the best chance to land. Manager Deneau, of the Berlin club, has intimated that he will be only too willing to let Templin go if he has a chance to land a managerial berth. Templin is one of the most popular players on the Canadian league circuit, and his appointment as the Peterboro manager would find favor all around the circuit.

Art Burn, whose death at Victoria, B.C., was announced in these columns yesterday, took part in the London Olympic Marathon in 1908, but failed to show the class expected of him. About eight years ago he raced in Peterboro, and had several warm engagements with Dave Belland. He was made conspicuous by his long hair.

Leo Millan has given up the Ottawa College idea and will be found with the senior Frontenacs.

By the way, Ottawa College seven, was bumped in Boston the other night with a 7-1 score.

Jimmy Preston, of Stratford and Toronto may not be able to play hockey this season, because of a wrenched knee received in a baseball game at London.

At the first practice of the junior Frontenacs at Kingston, thirty players turned out, and so did the rooters, who it might be remarked did not have to get down on their knees to get transportation into the rink.

O Somewhere bands are playing,
And teams have won the game:
While others yet must struggle,
To get their block of fame.

Tough luck in this fair city
The only game we think
Is that one played by hockey fans.
To get inside the rink.

The Scottish Curlers won the morning games at Halifax yesterday, having a majority of 27 shots. In the afternoon the visitors were 7 shots behind.

PLENTY FISH FROZEN DAILY

The opportunities which are offering in all lines of trade and resourcefulness on the Pacific Coast is demonstrated by the fact that the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., Ltd. have recently erected a cold storage and fish freezing plant at Ritchie Point in the City of Prince Rupert, B.C., the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and has been built for the handling of the fish industry of the Northern Pacific Ocean.

The waters surrounding Prince Rupert teem with Halibut, Ling and Grey Cod, Salmon, Sole, Herring, etc., the market for which is unlimited, and with the completion of the railway the fish can be in transit to the eastern markets on the day caught, thus assuring, with speedy transportation, their arrival in first class condition at destination.

The building is constructed of re-inforced concrete throughout. The foundationdation is built on solid rock, and is of sufficient strength to carry the building to the height of ten stories. The present structure is six stories high, and can be extended as soon as trade permits.

The daily fish freezing capacity will be sixty tons, and the storage capacity of frozen fish about 6500 tons. The ice making plant is of 25 tons daily capacity, and space has been left for an additional 25 tons for future installation.

Over 30 miles of piping was required for the refrigeration installation. Twenty-three car-loads of cork were used in the building for the flooring and for the partitions between each room.

Another despatch from Teheran says that two Russian regiments have left Kasbin for Resht.

Found His Freedom.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Gen. Messimy, Minister of War, has forbidden Capt. Lux, who recently escaped from the fortress of Graetz, in Prussia, where he was serving a term of six years' imprisonment for spying out German military secrets, to accept a projected newspaper subscription designed to make him a presentation as a gift from the people of France. The French Minister of War wishes the matter to be forgotten, as continued reference to it might unnecessarily inflame German opinion.

Public opinion in France is elated over Capt. Lux's audacity and ingenuity. It is now established that his flight from the fortress prison was carefully planned by his brother officers in France. They forwarded to Capt. Lux various works on the "Life of Napoleon." These were heavily bound in leather and the covers concealed several thin but powerful files, with which he eventually sawed his way through the prison bars to freedom. Capt. Lux was informed of the scheme for his release by marked letters in the books and phrases written in invisible ink.

How Wilcox Won.

Mr. Oliver Wilcox, the Conservative M.P. for North Essex, had a hard time winning the seat in the recent Federal campaign. And they say that he only clinched his victory by "getting in right" with the colored population of Windsor. There are several thousand negroes there, and one night just before election day they had a big chicken feast, which Mr. Wilcox attended. The story goes that when called upon for speech he addressed the company somewhat as follows:

"Fellow countrymen, I am delighted to be with you at your great national feast. But I must remind you that if reciprocity carries you will have no more feasts — all Canadian chickens will be shipped across the border."

That was enough for the colored voters.

Canada's London.

Bendigo, Australia, also has a Pall Mall and a Charing Cross.—London Chronicle.

MINE ACCIDENTS IN CANADA

Statistics recently compiled by the Commission of Conservation show that the death rate in Canadian coal mines is much higher than in any other civilized country. In 1902, the year of the Fernie disaster, the death rate per 100 men employed (above and below ground) reached the maximum rate of 13.25. The average rate for the ten years preceding 1910, however, was 4.79. The United States comes next with an average rate for the same period of 3.43. Perhaps the worst aspect of the situation is the fact that the death rate from coal mine accidents has been steadily on the increase in Canada for a number of years. The minimum rate of 1.63 was reached in 1897. In 1909 the rate was 4.21. During the same time there has been a steady decrease in all the leading European countries.

It would, of course, be unreasonable to expect that the loss of life and proeprty could be entirely done away with, but experience has shown that careful investigation of the conditions will point the way to the remedying of many abuses. That the danger inherent in coal mining can be largely eliminated is shown by the low, constant death rates in Belgium and Great Britain. Coal mine explosions are much more frequent in Canada and the United States than in any of the European countries. The following example is exceedingly significant. In 1850 the fatality rate in the Belgium coal mines was as high as the present Canadian death rate while at the present time it averages the lowest in the world. This decline in the death rate was due to the combined efforts of the mine owners the workmen and the Administration of Mines; to the diffusion of technical and professional knowledge and to the administrative organization for the scientific study of accidents.

Although the death rate in metalliferous mines in Canada is lower than in the coal mines, it is much higher than in any of the European countries. The death rate in Canada for the period 1900-1909 was 3.82.

With the exception of the Kimberley diamond mines and the Transvaal, where native and Chinese labor are employed, the fatality rate during this period (1900-1909) was considerably lower elsewhere than in Canada. It requires no discussion to emphasize the importance of an inquiry into the whole subject of fatal accidents in the mines of Canada.

Milady's Mirror

The Beauty Diet.

In a London household there has been adopted a diet which is making beauties of the whole family. Mealtime, instead of being a trial to the mind and to the body, is now a time of rest.

Once upon a time this family went through a nerve destroying ordeal at each meal. The servants worked for hours upon the dinner; the wife planned it the day before; the head of the household viewed it with more or less approval. And at the end of the month there was a good bill to pay.

Now it is all beautifully simplified by the system introduced by Dr. Beaufort, who is in a way following Fletcher. His plan is to eat only one thing at a meal or two things at most.

Suppose a woman is not as good looking as she ought to be, and suppose the family treasury is low, and suppose the father of the family is worried, and suppose there are things to be bought and not enough money with which to buy them.

Or suppose a different situation. Suppose there is enough money for everything except an automobile, and suppose the father of the family earnestly desires to own a car. What is to be done about it?

The answer is found in the Beaufort system, just as it might be found in Fletcherizing. Dr. Beaufort advises families to eat just one thing at each meal.

If he were here at this season he would say spinach. Still later he would advise stewed fruit and bread without butter. It is a system that works well.

Dangerous Thinning.

The use of drugs for thinning oneself is a dangerous experiment. While it may not injure one woman in ten, so far as she can see, the other nine suffer. The risk is not worth while, unsightly as flesh is.

Since there are no signs of styles coming her way, what is the overfleshy woman to do?

Advice is prolific and generally not acceptable. The average fat woman much prefers to keep her figure by a pill before and after meals rather than by discriminating in those meals.

One girl consulted a specialist on the subject of thinning. After listening to her woes he looked at her quizzically, saying, "I can thin you if you will take as your meal motto, 'Taste makes waist.' There is one sure way to cut down flesh—cut down food, which does not mean cutting it out."

Dieting is not starving. Indeed, dieting is less necessary than reducing quantities. One very large woman has reduced herself fifty pounds by eating everything she likes, but eating much less of it. She helps herself less bountifully and heroically refuses a second serving of the favorite dainty.

It is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules for diet, but it is safe to say we all eat too much, especially if assimilation and digestion are good and food turns to flesh. Cut down quantity in the interest of your new winter costumes. Slinkiness still prevails.

Stretching Exercise.

It imparts elasticity.

And it is good for one.

It will lift the vital organs.

It gives strength and poise to the body.

The clothing must be loose and comfortable.

To begin any exercise one must stand erect.

The chest should be high, the head up and the chin in.

The body should rest on the balls of the feet, not on the heels.

At first it may be enough to breathe deeply and slowly (mouth closed) while standing.

This alone is a fine thing if practiced in the open air or before a window open top and bottom for five or ten minutes twice a day.

Now for the stretching. Sweep the arms slowly outward and upward until they touch above the head, lifting the chest walls and stretching the arms.

Lower the arms with the same sweep, stretching them all the time. Five times will be enough at first, breathing deeply and slowly all the time.

A Good Mental Tonic.

As appearance means so much to the average woman, mentally as well as socially, the question often arises, "Is she justified in aiding or improving nature if she sees fit?" Many of our well known medical men think that makeup is as good a mental tonic as any one can take and urgently advise its use, especially for the girl who has some slight personal defect—a scar, a poor complexion or bloodless lips—for the knowledge of defects makes her shy and oftentimes sulky and miserable.

Remove Powder Before Retiring.

The most important thing to remember in the use of powder is its removal from the face before retiring. By allowing it to remain on the skin the pores become clogged and refuse to perform their natural duties, and the result is a discolored and blotched skin that no amount of powder or cosmetics will entirely efface.

BLUE WATER NOVELIST

LATE W. CLARK RUSSELL WAS AN INVALID FOR YEARS.

The Man Whose Tales of the Sea Have Been So Widely Read Was a Martyr to Gout and Rheumatism For Over Twenty Years — Was In the Merchant Service, Where He Started as a Middy at Fourteen.

Mr. W. Clark Russell, the inimitable writer of stories of the sea, died at Bath a short time ago at the age of sixty-seven. He had been a martyr to gout and rheumatism for over twenty years, and since April had not been able to leave his bed. He died in his sleep.

Mr. Russell was the son of Mr. Henry Russell, the composer of "The Ship on Fire," "Cheer, Boys, Cheer," and other famous songs. He went to sea as a middy in the merchant service before he was fourteen, and made several voyages to India, Australia, and China. It is said that on a voyage home from Sydney he had a disagreement with the captain and was ordered below, where he was kept for several days.

"Having nothing else to do," says the novelist, "I took to reading Tom Moore, and that started me on the writing of poetry. I did not go to sea again. I wrote a drama in 1886, which was a gloomy failure. After a while I wrote 'John Holdsworth, Chief Mate,' and that was my first nautical novel."

Mr. Russell's first great success was "The Wreck of the Grosvenor." Curiously enough, he looked upon it as his worst work—that may have been because it brought him little pecuniary reward.

Most of his books were based on things that actually happened to himself, and he had many interesting stories to tell of his early days.

"It was a dog's life, that of merchant seaman," he would say. He recalled that when he went below on his first appearance on the Duncan Dunbar, a great big middy greeted him with "Hullo, youngster, why don't you go down on all fours and wag your tail? Don't you know you're a dog? You must be a dog or you wouldn't go to sea. The sea's only a fit life for a dog."

"I had ruffians for shipmates very often," said the novelist, "and the stench of the harness cask was the animating influence of my own particular story of the sea so far as I was concerned."

Apropos of the "Convict Ship," there is a story of some interest. It was fully planned, when Mr. Russell received a letter from one of his greatest admirers, the late Sir W. S. Gilbert, suggesting that he should write a story about a convict ship, and practically outlining the very plot which Mr. Russell had hit upon.

For twenty-two years Mr. Russell was crippled with gout and rheumatism. He could neither walk nor write, and had to dictate his stories to his son. He used to give his "recreation" to books of reference as "crippled by rheumatism."

Some twelve years ago Sir W. H. Lucy paid Mr. Russell a visit at Bath. They had not met for ten years, and as "Toby" entered the room he exclaimed, "Why, you haven't changed a bit. How are you?" "Well enough in mind," answered Mr. Russell, "but as regards body, I haven't stood for ten years." "Humph," retorted "Toby," cleverly covering his natural pain at seeing his old friend in such a state, "what are you going to 'stand' now?"

Nicknames In the Navy.

On board our great naval battleships nicknames are in common use. Most of them are originated by the sailors themselves, but they are careful to address their superior officers by their right denomination. The captain, for instance, is usually referred to either as "the skipper" or "the owner"; the first lieutenant as "number one"; the gunnery lieutenant as "Gunner Jack"; a signalman is called "a bunting tosser"; the artificer engineer is sometimes referred to as "Tiffy"; while the sailors themselves are usually called "matlows" or "flat feet."

Men Wear Combs.

The traveler in India is surprised to see that men wear combs in their hair much more than women do. A Cingalese gentleman wears what we know as the circular comb and a very ornamental back comb of tortoise shell to gather his curly locks together. He wears a full beard also, but his servant must trim his own beard and is only allowed to wear the circular comb.

Animals' Ages.

The average lifetime of an elephant is 100 years; rabbit, 7; pig, 25; cow, 15; pike, 150; salmon, 10; lion, 25 to 60.

A Fine Dagger.

The proboscis of a flea, with which he "bites," is twelve times thinner than the finest needle made.

FRIDAY SUPERSTITION.

King Edward Dreaded Having His Mattress Turned That Day.

A strange story of the late King Edward is told by M. Xaxier Paoli, the famous commissary of the Paris detective force, who has guarded so many royalties during their journeyings in Europe, in his book entitled "My Royal Clients." It appears that one of the chief duties of Hawkins, King Edward's second valet, was to make the bed.

"He was better acquainted than anyone with the King's habits and tastes; he knew, for instance, that His Majesty's mattress must never be turned on a Friday. This was a curious superstition of the King's, and it was the only one I ever knew him to cherish, and he made no secret of it." It was curious that he died on a Friday, and that "the doctors, forgetting his expressed wishes amid the grave cares occasioned by the sudden altercation for the worse in his condition, ordered his mattress to be turned, hoping that this would give him a little rest. A few minutes before midnight he drew his last breath."

Very amusing, by the way, are M. Paoli's recollections of another royal visitor to Paris—Sisowath, King of Cambodia, who came attended by a huge suite of sons, daughters, Ministers, favorites, chamberlains, and a troupe of twenty dancing-girls, and who flew into a great rage because his suite was seasick.

"I forbid you to be sick," he shouted to them. "These are my orders. Am I king, or am I not?"

The King's baggage included 200 sacks of coal, which the Cambodians insisted on landing, fearing they should find none in France. The King was extremely polite, and shook hands with everyone, including all the flunkeys who lined the staircase of the Marseilles Prefecture on his arrival. Even to this eccentric sovereign, as to all others, M. Paoli made himself agreeable, and he writes:

"When at length the hour of parting had struck, good King Sisowath, greatly moved, called me to his side. 'Here,' said he; 'present for you.' And he handed me a parcel done up in a pink silk handkerchief. As soon as I was on shore I hastened to open it. To my great confusion is contained a splendid Sampot made of cloth of gold. The King of Cambodia had presented me with his state breeches!"

Outmanoeuvred Them.

There is a good story, which concerns the days when Sir George Newnes was wooing the Newmarket constituency as a Parliamentary candidate. A few hours before one of the meetings, which was being held in a tent, the information reached him that a gang of the enemy were coming to the meeting to upset the platform. The gang with their lady friends, who had been invited to see the fun, duly appeared on the scene, and were politely invited to seats close to the platform; and, as space was limited, the ladies received a pressing invitation to take seats on the platform.

After a few ineffectual protests the blushing maidens accepted the invitation, and thus the gang were compelled to sit listening with unwilling ears to the political gospel of their opponents, while above them in the midst of the enemy's camp their sweethearts sat blushing and giggling.

And when towards the end of the meeting Mr. Newnes rose and told the whole story, told it with many a word of admiration for the young men who, for the sake of the ladies they loved, were now abstaining from deeds of valour, and when in an eloquent peroration he wished all the young Tory couples very happy married lives, the audience nearly sent the tent flying with their shouts of laughter.

Proclaimed a New Sultan.

Sir Rennell Rodd, the British ambassador in Rome, has seen an enormous amount of diplomatic service, having served in Berlin, Paris, Athens, Cairo, and Stockholm. Of him Queen Victoria said: "Rennell Rood has a suavity of manner which would get over anyone."

This was on his return from Abyssinia, whither he was sent on a special mission to Menelik, and not only succeeded in arranging affairs satisfactorily, but brought back some gorgeous presents from the Emperor to the Queen, as well as an Ethopian star and various orders for his own adornment.

It fell to his lot in 1893 to proclaim a new sultan of Zanzibar, Mr. Rennell Rodd, as he then was, being British agent.

Read It Differently.

A man was charged with stealing a sheep belonging to Sir Garnett Fitz-Maurice.

"I found the poor creature starvin' on the road, my lord, an' was just drivin' it home," pleaded the accused.

"Can you read?" asked his lordship.

"A little, me lord."

"You could not have been ignorant, then, that the sheep belonged to your landlord, Sir Garnett Fitz-Maurice, as his brand, 'G. F. M.,' was on the animal."

"True for ye, me lord; but sure I thought the letters meant 'Good Fat Mutton!'"

Fortune In Stamps.

A lady living in Sydney for many years has hoarded a collection of postal stamps left by her father, who had pursued his hobby of collecting for fifty years. The daughter was ignorant of any knowledge of philately, and threw the stamps into an old trunk.

Recently she visited a stamp exhibition, and for the first time awoke to the value of the stamps in her possession. She secured the assistance of experts, who estimated the value of the collection at $100,000.

A Sense of Danger.

"Do you know," said one deer, "the expression in your eyes is positively human?"

"Don't say that," replied the other. "One of these excited hunters may mistake me for a guide."

The Canadian Top Company factory at Tilbury, was damaged by fire to the extent of $12,000.

FENIAN RAID VETERANS TO RECEIVE MONEY GRANT

As the result of interviews with the Minister of Militia, Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, the Fenian Raid Veterans are likely to receive grants fo money from the Government instead of land grants, in fact a bill has been introduced to give the veterans the land.

There are twenty-three veterans in the surrounding district and their association has as its president, Col. Miller. Some time ago a memorial was forwarded to the new Minister, who promised as he did when here after his appointment, that the matter would receive his serious consideration.

The majority of the veterans have reached an age when the money grant would be preferable to the land. None of them, however, who went from Peterborough, forget the transportation to the front, when some of the volunteers left here in a cattle car, while others who entrained in a car that had been used for the shipment of flour, looked rather strange to the people of Cobourg, who fed them the following morning.

CANADIAN CLUB THURSDAY NIGHT

Members of the Canadian Club are reminded of the meeting in the Oriental hotel, Thursday night, when Mr. H. B. Ames, M.P., of Montreal, will speak before the Club.

THIS LETTER CAME WITHOUT STAMP OR ENVELOPE

Mr. Henry Moore Unearths a Letter Written in 1837

Mr. Henry Moore, Aylmer street, north while looking over some old papers, came across a letter written by his grandfather, John Moore, at Drumhick, Ireland, April 13, 1839, and sent to his son, John W. Moore, at Brantford, who died some twelve years ago. He lived in Smith township for forty years. In the letter, the writer spoke of the rebellion, then in progress in Ireland, and expressed his pleasure at his son's marriage, which had just taken place.

The letter was written in a good hand, folded and sealed and sent in that manner, stamps and envelopes not being used.

Needless to say Mr. Moore will find a fitting and safe place for the missive, which he prizes very highly.

This May Concern You

Just at this time as we are about to start upon a new year we desire to again call your attention to the fact it is our earnest and constant endeavor to please every patron of this store perfectly—to carry out our oft-repeated guarantee of satisfaction or your money back. So we want to say right now that if anyone has purchased here any article that has not proven to be worth all we charged them for it we want the opportunity to make it right. No dealers anywhere examine their goods with greater care, and none are more particular about the kind of goods they sell, but we are only human, hence we sometimes make mistakes of judgment, and if we have sold you anything during the past year that has proved unsatisfactory in any way we want to know about it. Drop in at your earliest convenience, tell us about it, and we will see to it that you are reimbursed for any shortcomings in the goods we have sold you.

We make satisfaction sure by guaranteeing it, and we carry that guarantee out to the letter. We want your business for 1912 and we want your friend's business and your friend's friend's business. We consider the advertising our customers give us the best advertising we can have for this store, therefore we make it a point to see to it that every customer of ours gets full value for every dollar he spends here.

MINISTERS HAVE HAD BUSY TIME

Getting Matters in Shape for Re-opening of Parliament Next Week.

Estimates to be Presented—Three Bills Ready for Consideration.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—When Parliament reassembles on Wednesday next the Government will be ready to provide it with work. The period before Christmas served the purposes of getting rid of the inevitable post-mortem upon the election, and of getting the estimates for the current year finally voted.

On reassembling the Ministry will promptly lay before the Commons the estimates for 1912-13, and, in addition, on the opening day will have three bills ready to introduce—that respecting the Department of External Affairs, that respecting the archives, and that respecting the status of private secretaries of Ministers.

A vigorous pushing forward of business may be expected from the start.

The Government has already taken steps to implement the promise contained in the speech from the throne for closer trade relations between Canada and the British West Indies.

Negotiations have been opened through the Imperial authorities with the West Indies, and the expectation is that the progress now being made will clear the way for more direct and detailed conferences between representatives of the West Indies and the Government of Canada.

The Canadian end of the negotiations now in progress is in charge of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. George E. Foster. The object toward which the negotiations are now working is the establishment of a mutual trade preference. As long ago as 1893 Canada gave the West Indies a preference of 25 per cent. and got nothing in return.

The royal commission, headed by Lord Balfour of Burleigh, which was appointed by the British Government to investigate West Indian trade conditions, reported in 1910 that the islands might be willing to extend a 20 per cent. preference to Canadian products and accept a lower Canadian preference in return, provided the present Canadian system of letting in each year a little foreign sugar at lower rates were discounted.

The Island of Barbados, some time ago, passed an act giving preferential treatment to certain Canadian products, but the list was not large enough for Canada, especially as the Dominion was required to grant a still more extended preference in return.

It is understood that the principal difficulty to be encountered in the negotiations is the somewhat complicated condition of the sugar trade, and the unwillingness of the Island of Jamaica, the most important fruit-exporting island of the group, to jeopardize its commercial relations with the United States.

DIVORCE GRANTED IN CHANLER CASE

Paris, Jan. 4.—"If Cavalieri comes in by the door, I will jump out by the window," was the statement made by Robert Winthrop Chanler of New York, according to the decision court here yesterday in granting a divorce of Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the grand opera singer, from Chanler, on the ground that Chanler repeatedly refused to receive his wife at his conjugal domicile. Chanler adhered to his purpose not to contest the divorce suit and the proceedings were of a purely formal character. Chanler was condemned to pay all costs.

Quebec Legislature Tuesday.

Quebec, Jan. 4.—Daily meetings of the Provincial Cabinet are being held at the Parliament Buildings, the Ministers being busily engaged in preparing the business for the coming session, which opens on Tuesday next. It has been decided that Mr. Laetare Roy, the new Minister for Levis, will move the address and the seconder will be W. H. Walker, member from Huntingdon. In the Legislative Council the address will be prepared by Hon. George E. Amyot and the seconder will probably be Hon. Mr. Bryson.

Aylmer Sets Timber Limits.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—After six months' discussion the Aylmer Council Tuesday night decided to prohibit the piling of lumber inside the town limits.

For the last five years the residents of Aylmer have lived in constant terror of the large lumber yards inside the town catching fire, which would mean, if the wind was high, the total destruction of the town.

Last summer the lumber yards were burned and it was only by the good work of the Ottawa firemen that the town was saved.

Hayti's Little War.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Jan. 4.—The losses sustained by the Dominican Government in the first attack along the Haytien frontier by the revolutionary forces under Gen. Zenon Toribio, are reported to be 13 killed. The revolutionaries lost three men killed.

A Dominican coast guard arrived here Tuesday evening and left yesterday morning, having on board the chief of the port of Monte Christi, who will communicate with the Dominican authorities on conditions in that district.

Persia In High Excitement.

Teheran, Jan. 4.—The execution of Shegat Ul Islam, head of one of the religious sects, which took place at Tabriz on Monday after a court-martial by Russian officers, has deeply perturbed officials here.

Seven other Persians were hanged at the same time, and there is apprehension that Russia's drastic and wholesale executions, which occurred during the most solemn religious festival of the Persian year, will affront national feeling to a dangerous degree.

The successor to W. Morgan Shuster as treasurer-general of Persia has not yet been named. Rumors are again current that the Bakhtiaris design to create a new dynasty.

COSTLY FIRE AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—For over two hours last evening the fire department fought a stubborn fire in the central district in an atmosphere of 30 below zero. The origin of the fire, which was in the Excelsion Motor Works, on Garry street, about a block from the postoffice, and in the same block on the same side of the street with Premier Roblin's residence.

The loss in the garage includes 16 motor cars, averaging $1,500 each, while a terrace of houses, the fronts of which had been extended for stores, was destroyed, at a loss of about $13,000; the total loss being placed at $75,000. During the fire two firemen had their feet badly cut by jumping on to broken glass.

The firemen were handicapped by the failure of high pressure on two occasions, the fire gaining at once and spreading south.

Cotton Strike Extends.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 4—The lockout of the weavers and spinners in Lancashire, which began Dec. 30, has extended to several mills at Bolton and elsewhere.

The conference, which took place here yesterday between Sir George R. Askwith, the noted strike arbitrator, the employers and employes, lasted for six hours.

No settlement was reached and the conference adjourned until to-day.

Brantford Fears Rabies.

Brantford, Jan. 4.—A dog was shot on Crown street yesterday having symptoms of rabies, and last night Constable Reed gave a canine a chase down Queen street, firing several shots. The dog had bitten a young man, who rushed into the police station for assistance, and the animal escaped to the outskirts of the city. Only recently several dogs were exterminated as a result of the visit of a Government inspector.

Still Using Dynamite.

Bedford, Conn., Jan. 4.—No trace has been found of the dynamiters who partly destroyed the just-completed Clark Opera House here Sunday night. The owner believes personal enemies were responsible.

Tyrone, Ky., Jan. 4.—The home of Police Judge John Lancaster was blown up with dynamite and practically wrecked. No one was injured.

Will Dig For Dynamite.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—The new county grand jury organized this week determined yesterday to renew the dynamiting investigation and subpoenaed five persons formerly actively connected with the McNamara defence.

Samuel Gompers has again denied knowing anything about the dynamite cases in any way.

FREIGHT TRAINS IN BAD WRECK

Rear Train Went Through Nine Car Lengths

Special to the Review.

Cornwall, Jan 4—Traffic for several hours was held up this morning as the result of a rear end collision on the Grand Trunk at Wales. The rear train split the caboose in two and ploughed nine car lengths into the forward train. Conductor Boileau, although in the wrecked caboose, escaped with but a cut on the head.

Captain Baker's Danger.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—Captain Baker of the West St. Catharine street police station, who was injured in a clash with McGill students about three months ago, is dangerous ill at his home.

It was while endeavoring to handle a mob of students who were interfering with the street cars that Captain Baker was injured.

Condition of Sir Charles Tupper.

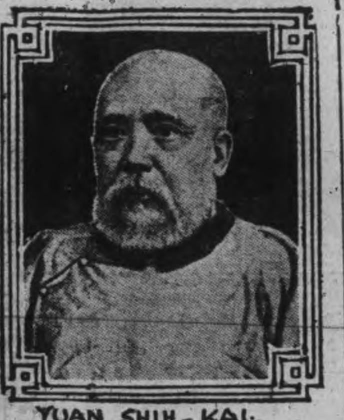
London, Jan. 4.—The condition of Sir Charles Tupper is still serious, but he is progressing as well as can be expected.

Recalls a Sea Mystery.

London, Jan. 4.—A life buoy, inscribed "S. S. Waratah," has been picked up on the west coast of New Zealand. The discovery recalls a mystery of the sea, but throws no light on the loss of the Waratah. It is remarkable that the buoy should have drifted 7,000 nautical miles in two years and five months.

CHINESE REPUBLICANS GIVE JAPAN WARNING.

DR. SUN YAT SEN



YUAN SHIH-KAI.

The republicans in Shanghai, China, are all worked up over a report which has reached them that Japan is exerting her influence with Prince Ching, the deposed Manchu regent, and Yuan Shih-kai, the Premier, in opposition to a republic. A strong protest is being framed to be forwarded to Tokio, warning Japan that the whole responsibility for the resumption of hostilities will be upon her shoulders. It is reported that the Delegates of the eighteen provinces of China plan to elect Dr. Sun Yat Sen as President of the provisional government of the United Provinces.

TO CROSS THE ATLANTIC IN POWERFUL AEROPLANE

Special to the Review.

London, Jan. 4.—James V. Martin, a member of the Harvard Aeronautical Sosiety, is constructing an aeroplane filled with five engines, with which he hopes to fly across the Atlantic, starting from Newfoundland and heading for Ireland.

The Royal Aero Club is considering the offering of a big prize for the first trans-Atlantic flight.

CONSERVATIVES SWEEP P.E.I.

Only Two Liberals Elected in the Provincial Elections

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Jan. 4.—The provincial elections yesterday passed off quietly and the Conservative Government achieved a victory, quite beyond precedent in its sweep.

For some weeks past the general opinion had been that the Conservatives would win, but it was still thought by many that eight or ten Liberals at least would be returned, and even the most sanguine were surprised at the vote.

Such a sweep was not anticipated, and in Charlottetown especially the Liberals were completely routed. Every division in the island is Conservative, except Second Prince, which is not yet verified.

On nomination day a week ago one Independent Conservative, Prof. Alex. MacPhail, in the fourth district of Queen's, and five straight Conservatives—Premier Mathieson, his colleague, T. W. Macdonald, in the first district of King's, Hon. John McLean and John Kickham in the first district of Queen's, Hon. John A. Macdonald in the third district of Queen's—were elected by acclamation.

In yesterday's elections only two Liberals have safe majorities, Hon. John Richards, their leader, and his colleague, A. MacWilliams, in the second district of Prince, who are returned by 165 and 49 respectively.

In the second district of King's R. N. Cox, Liberal, is one vote behind E. Simpson, Conservative. The result will not be known till declaration day, when the special votes put in for these men in other districts all over the Island are counted. They will likely increase Mr. Simpson's majority, judging from previous elections. All the other Liberals have gone down to defeat.

NEW RECTOR OF ALL SAINTS' HERE SUNDAY

His Toronto Congregations Have Farewells Arranged for Him

The parishioners of All Saints' will hear their new rector, the Rev. R. B. Grebb, M.A., next Sunday, when he will begin his duties at the church, preaching both morning and evening. During his college life and since his graduation with honors, he has been successful at Port Hope and Toronto. He graduated with honors at the University of Toronto in 1904 and from Wycliff College in 1906. In his course at Wycliff for the two successive years he was a strong factor in the winning of the Inter-College debating championship, of Toronto, and during his final year he was president of the Literary and Theological Society.

His first charge was as curate of St. John's church at Port Hope, where he spent two and a half years. Then he was called to Toronto and for the past three years he has been curate of the church of Ephiphany and an evidence of appreciation of his services and regret at his departure the congregation is tendering a farewell reception to him to-night. Three other societies of the church are also giving him a farewell reception this week. Rev. Mr. Grobb will arrive in Peterborough at the week-end and no doubt All Saints' edifice will be crowded on Sunday. He is a young man with energy and enthusiasm and he will be a valuable acquisition to the ministerial forces of the city.

RECIPROCAL PREFERENCE

To be Established Between Canada and West Indias

Special to the Review.

London, Jan. 4—It was learned today that negotiations were being carried on between the Imperial Government and West Indian Government, looking for the establishment of reciprocal preference between Canada and the West Indies.

SERENADING BY THE S. A. BAND

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—With your permission, I wish to thank all the citizens who have so kindly and generously assisted the Salvation Army band in connection with this season's Christmas serenading. The response so far, has been most liberal from all classes, and we appreciate the kindness of all who have given, either when we serenaded at their residences or under cover by mail.

One cause of regret, however, was the absence from their homes, when the band called, of so many of our old friends and regular subscribers and I would like to assure any who have thus been overlooked or missed, that we would still be very pleased to again have the opportunity of placing their names on our lists of subscribers. All donations sent by mail in response to this reminder, will be gratefully acknowledged in like manner.

Again, thanking all our friends for their assistance in this connection,

On behalf of the band boys,

W. PERYER, bandmaster
J. H. MERRETT, ensign

FOUR PEOPLE FROZEN TO DEATH

Great Bend, Kas., Jan. 4.—Four persons were frozen to death during the recent blizzard in Western Kansas, according to James Leighty, a telephone lineman, who arrived here yesterday. The deaths occurred near Hess City, he said.

Sheridan, Wyo., Jan. 4.—Twenty-nine degrees below zero, the coldest weather in five years, was the record here yesterday. Frozen water pipes caused a terrific explosion in a kitchen stove here, which partially wrecked the building. No one was injured.

Irregularities In Belleville.

Belleville, Jan. 4.—It is alleged that there were several irregularities at the civic elections, held here on Monday. It is stated that in the Foster Ward, a married lady obtained a ballot and voted upon her maiden name, which appeared on the voters' list. In a polling sub-division of Murney Ward, it is stated, the poll was not opened until some minutes after nine o'clock, and that a prominent citizen was personated in two polling sub-divisions.

Ptomaine Candy Fatal.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 4.—Eating impure Christmas candy is believed by physicians to have caused the death of four-year-old Anna Franke yesterday. The child was taken ill a short time after eating ribbon candy. The autopsy showed that death had resulted from ptomaine poison.

J. W. Arrowsmith of Morristown, N.J., and Toronto, will be here to-day to arrange moving his Toronto factory to Niagara Falls.

IMPERIAL COURT MORE CONFIDENT

London Is Next.

London, Jan. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Charles Sumner Ward, champion money-raiser of the world for philanthropic and especially Y. M. C. A. objects, commences next Monday a 12-days' campaign in England for raising $500,000 to free absolutely the new headquarters of the London Y.M.C.A. of debt. The Lord Mayor has generously promised to extend civic hospitality to Ward and will join him at Mansion House each day at luncheon and report amounts collected.

Upon the advisory committee, in addition to the mayor, are Earl Grey, the Bishop of London and Sir J. Kennaway.

IRREGULARITIES IN POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Big Stock of Furniture and Mail Boxes on Hand

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Jan. 4—It is reported here that when the Royal Commission investigates the Post Office Department they will find office furniture on hand at Toronto and elsewhere enough for five years, while the supply of rural mail delivery boxes in storage here is said to be practically inexhaustible.

Too Much Fresh Meat.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—W. D. Miles, general manager of the Armour Packing Co. at Kansas City from 1894 to 1902, testified yesterday in the trial of the ten Chicago packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws, that the old packers pools were organized to prevent the glutting of the market with fresh meat and that there always was active competition between the members in all parts of the country.

Despite the fact that Miles had on two occasions given testimony against the packers before federal grand juries, he proved an unwilling witness yesterday, and little of value to the Government's case was gleaned from his direct examination, which was not concluded when court adjourned.

MEDICINE FOR BROKEN LEG

A good joke on a local hardware man is going the rounds to-day.

Yesterday a young man walked into his store and asked for the loan of thirty-five cents, as his mother had fallen down stairs and broken her leg, and he wanted the money to buy medicine. Moved by such a story, and without thinking, the hardware man handed out the silver. The tale was, of course, simply a ruse to procure money for liquor. When telling the story later on to a friend it dawned upon him that he had been swindled when his friend asked why would the man want thirty-five cents for medicine for a broken leg.

POLICE HAD TO BE CALLED

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Some of the most riotous scenes that have ever been witnessed during a Hull municipal campaign occurred last night at the meeting held by Mayor Archambault. There were over 300 persons present, partisans of Mayor Archambault and Ald. Dupuis, the two mayoralty candidates, and the utmost confusion reigned during the early part of the evening.

Free fighting was going on all over the hall, and yelling, catcalls and obscene language blocked any attempt on the part of the mayor to address the meeting, the services of the police having to be called in to quell the riot which was in progress, several arrests resulting.

Bryan Is Reluctant.

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 4.—"I cannot conceive any condition that would make it possible for me to consider the question of my becoming the candidate for the Presidential nomination of the Democratic party in 1912."

This was the declaration of Colonel William J. Bryan on his arrival here yesterday from Havana in company with Mrs. Bryan. They left last night for Washington. Mr. Bryan declined to comment on the action of the Progressive Democrats of Ohio in pushing his name to the front as a candidate.

New York Living Better.

New York, Jan. 4.—A death rate of 15.13 per thousand in New York City for 1911 was officially announced by Health Commissioner Lederle last night. This is the lowest on record, last year's rate, the record up to now, being 15.98 per thousand. There were 75,423 deaths, as against 76,742 in 1910, the number being 13,537 less than the decennial average. The saving of life extended to all age groups, but was most pronounced in that under five years of age, there being 7,332 less deaths in this group.

Women Deputy Sheriffs.

New York, Jan. 4.—True to his promise to appoint several women deputy sheriffs, Sheriff Harburger has selected Mrs. Caroline Truax, widow of the late Justice Truax of the State Supreme Court. The sheriff has other applications from prominent women.

Fighting Expected to be Resumed in China Now That Funds Are at Hand

Reign of Terror Exists in Shanghai—Emperor Going to Mongolia.

Pekin, Jan. 4.—Confidence continues to revive among the adherents of the Imperial court. The Chinese nation is very easily encouraged or discouraged owing to its trait of timidity. Nowhere else in the world could 80,000 ounces of gold bars such as were delivered from the Imperial purse into the hands of Premier Yuan Shi Kai Tuesday seriously affect a great empire at a critical moment.

A belief is current that fighting will shortly be resumed. Premier Yuan Shi Kai has not received any reply from Wu Ting Fang at Shanghai, who he informed that he would in future carry on negotiations by telegraph. It is understood that the republicans object to negotiate by telegraph.

The Imperial delegates, who have returned here from Shanghai, state that a reign of terror prevails in that city. Nobody dares to venture an opinion in favor of a constitutional monarchy.

In quarters closely connected with the Imperial Government, it is believed that the important provinces of Hupeh and Hunan are dissatisfied with the foreign educated element, which is dominating the affairs at Shanghai. The hope exists in these quarters that these two provinces will soon revert to the idea of a constitutional monarchy.

In case Yuan Shi Kai makes satisfactory progress in the course of this month in his attempts to suppress the rebellion, more treasure will be forthcoming from the coffers of the Manchu princes and the Imperial court.

Tang Quits Gracefully.

Shanghai, Jan. 4.—"I have done my best for my country and do not desire to embarrass my old chief." That is all that Tang Shao Yi would say for publication after the announcement of his resignation as a representative of Premier Yuan Shi Kai to the peace conference.

Tang Shao Yi appears to be much affected over the situation. Up to Tuesday night he believed that peace was assured and that there would be no further bloodshed.

Emperor Going to Mongolia.

Harbin, Jan. 4.—The commander of the Imperial troops at Zekhe, Mongolia, has received 100,000 taels and instructions to prepare a residence for the Emperor and other members of the royal family, and to organize a Mongol bodyguard.

No Negotiations by Wire.

London, Jan. 4.—Wu Ting Fang has written to Premier Yuan Shi Kai, says The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent, informing the Premier that he declines to carry on negotiations by telegraph. He insists upon Yuan Shi Kai coming to Shanghai for that purpose. Dr. Wu believes that the Premier is willing to join the republicans, but is afraid to leave Pekin.

A despatch from St. Petersburg to The Telegraph says that there is danger of Mongolia splitting into three separate kingdoms. Eastern Mongolia has already proclaimed independence at Urga. Western and Southern Mongolia are preparing to follow suit, with capitals at Kobdo and Ullassutai.

FIGHTING THE STREET RAILWAY

Montreal, Jan. 4.—The Quebec Legislature is, according to information gleaned at the City Hall yesterday, to witness a repetition of the fight which took place at Quebec last February between the civic authorities of Montreal and the representatives of the Montreal Street Railway Co., aldermen having yesterday morning expressed in caucus a determination to send a delegation down to Quebec to make one more stand against the ratification of the tramways amalgamation as it now stands through the street railway company's action.

The aldermen have been informed that it is the company's expressed intention to present a private bill before the Legislature in its coming session, which will ask for legislative sanction to the amalgamation of the Montreal Street Railway with the Terminal and Park and Island and the Public Service Corporation.

Another Erroneous Return.

Stratford, Ont., Jan. 4.—The full returns and later computations show that the bylaw to loan the Paul Bennwitz Co. $10,000 to assist in establishing a manufactury of piano accessories, submitted to the ratepayers, on Monday last, was carried by a majority of 23 over the requisite three-fifths vote. This bylaw was originally reported as having been defeated.

Lives In One Room With 30 Dogs.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Amelia Ludwig was found living in a single room Tuesday night with thirty dogs which she said she had picked up in the streets. Mrs. Ludwig explained to a member of the Anti-Cruelty Society who called on her that she gave the dogs oatmeal and milk in the morning, and looked for scraps from restaurants for them at night.

Catarrh and Bronchitis

The Bane of Thousands, and has Hitherto Baffled the Skill of Medical Science.

Catarrhozone

Dry air treatment is the one treatment that will cure these diseases.

What stomach medicine has ever been known to cure Catarrh or Bronchitis?

Catarrhozone is not a stomach medicine, but an air medicine, that carries to the remotest parts of the throat, lungs, and air cells little drops of healing so curative that whenever it touches germ life it kills and eradicates them from the system.

Thousands of doctors and patients have been disappointed by using stomach medicines for coughs and colds. Have you not found it a rather roundabout way to reach the diseased portion of the throat and lungs?

Why not use Catarrhozone, which is breathed to the very root of the disease and heals so quickly and perfectly that every spot is rebuilt with new healthy tissue?

Catarrhozone is the only medicine that will cure. Thousands have testified.

Think for a moment. Is it not sense? Little drops of healing—the air carries them just where disease exists. That is why

THE CRISIS IN CHINA

Is the present crisis in China paving the way for the partition of that unhappy Empire? Many writers believe that this is what is going to happen. They figure that Russia would not have taken steps to grab Mongolia if there was not some definite understanding among the powers. If there is to be any slicing up of Chinese territory all the powers will want to be at the feast.

Russia issues a statement that she intends to refrain from any interference in China. Further, the Czar is ready to recognize the Republic, if it becomes firmly established, but at the same time the Russian bear grabs a big slice of Chinese territory under the protectorate bluff.

However, Russia's action has not been without its good effect as it has been responsible to a great degree, in bringing about peace negotiations between the two Chinese factions who realize that while they are engaged in hostilities at home other countries may proceed to slice up Chinese provinces.

Japan is watching events closely, and will enter an emphatic protest if Russia attempts to hold Mongolia. Russia is not likely to risk another bout with Japan at the present time.

All the nations seem to favor the idea of a new government for China.

A DANGEROUS PASTIME

Many people have already been reported drowned in skating accidents this winter. It is the same each year, but it seems to have no warning for others. Why can't people patronize the rinks or else wait until the winter is well under way, and a good thickness of ice assured if they must skate on rivers and ponds. A river is never safe for skating, as there are open spots caused by air holes, etc., always in parts. Parents should see that children are specially careful in this regard. The unfortunate drowning of two young people at Smith's Falls recently, with many skaters only a short distance away, evidences the great danger, even if people are close at hand, as it is a difficult matter to locate anyone once they disappear under the ice.

Reports state that eleven other people had narrow escapes from drowning the same day at Smith's Dalls, all breaking through the ice and getting a ducking. River skating is certainly a dangerous pastime at the best, and costs many lives every year.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Russia calmy helps herself to one of the largest provinces of China. and the Chinese are too busy at home trying to form a Republic even to protest

A Colorado man killed a black bear with a blow from his fist. Why don't he tackle Jack Johnson.

The old Chinese Government has outlived its usefulness, and it is to be hoped the Republic succeeds.

A chap who has been travelling on the water wagon since New Year's complains of the rough roads. Due for a fall shortly.

Mayor Hopewell has been elected for a fourth term of office at Ottawa, and they have dubbed him "the perpetual mayor"

Do you notice that while the bankrupt tradesman rides in his carriage his honest competitor is in the back yard sawing wood.

Don't lose any time, girls. This is Leap Year. Make that young man a proposal and cinch matters for the month of roses.

Many of our good intentions are so feeble that, like snow flakes they melt as they come. Same with New Year's resolutions.

Both the Italians and Turks claim a victory in each scrap that takes place in Tripoli. Nice war when both sides can win every every time.

"Teddy" Roosevelt won't deny or confirm the statement that he might be a presidential candidate if wanted very badly by his party. That "Teddy" will be around looking for the nomination is "the one best bet"

Sixty persons were lynched in the United States last year, all but two of the victims being negroes. This is less than for some years, showing that conditions are improving regarding mob law.

A Hull, Que. man had his landlady in court for beating him. She used a fence rail on him with good effect. She must be a suffragette, and apparently he was no star boarder.

Ottawa policemen will have to take an examination in first aid work, so they will be able to act before the arrival of a physician in case of accidents, etc. It is a good move, but the physician usually arrives ahead of the policeman.

Mr Shuster blames the British Government for what happened to him in Persia. The British Government ought to be proud of their work as Shuster tried a typical "American bluff" but it was called good and plenty.

Management by Commission

A Popular Proposition

The Hydro-Electric proposition seems to be as popular in every other municipality as it is in Kingston, for it has been carried in twenty-seven places in the Province. The Hon. Adam Beck may well be pleased with the endorsation he has received at the hands of the electors.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucuous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you may have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucuous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Not This John Nurse

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I noticed an item in the Review of December 21st stating that a man by the name of Nelson Nurse, from North Monaghan, was fined for recklessly driving a team of horses in Peterborough while under the influence of liquor." I am the only man of that name I know of. There may be a man of the same name in North Monaghan, but if there is, I have never heard of him before. I live in South Monaghan, and I may also state that I am not the man who had the police court experience. I am under the impression that this enterprising fellow assumes another name when he is doing one of his John Gilpin stunts.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts for the week ending Dec. 30 were 1450 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 1350 hogs and 300 calves, while the offerings on the market to-day for sale were 850 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 925 hogs and 150 calves.

There was no actual change in the condition of the market for cattle, on account of the fact that supplies were small, but, as there were no really choice steers offered, the top price realized was $6 for the best stock on the market, but if choice steers had been obtainable buyers would have willingly paid $6.25 to $6.50 for the same. The demand was fairly good for the season of the year, and a moderately active trade was done.

A feature of the small-meat trade was the stronger feeling in the market for lambs, owing to the limited supplies, and prices scored a further advance of 50c to 75c per 100 pounds, with a good demand at $7. The tone of the market for sheep was firm, with no change in prices to note. The demand for calves was fairly good, of which the offerings were small, and prices ruled higher for the best stock.

There were no new developments in the hog situation, prices being fairly maintained under a good demand from packers for supplies, which were none too large, owing to the fact that very few country dressed hogs are coming forward this season, and sales of selected lots were made at $7 to $7.10 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 30 were 1500 cattle, 1800 sheep and lambs, 3000 hogs and 200 calves. The supply on the market this morning consisted of 300 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 75 calves. A fair trade was done in all lines.

CHAPTER XII.

The Cipher

We sat rigid and breathless, with our eyes glued to the slowly revolving door-knob. At last a faint click announced that the latch was released. Then the door opened a few inches, to reveal the slender figure of Alexander Burke.

Manifestly he was ignorant of our presence. Neither I nor Miss Cooper stirred, and Burke was for the time being blinded by having come so abruptly from the snow glare into the comparative dimness of the hall.

I regretted that we were not in a position to follow his movements unobserved, for of course he must be attracted to us the instant either of us stirred. I was exceedingly curious to learn what had brought him back to his employer's house.

And now he did a singular thing. His hand was still on the knob, and only his head and the upper part of his body projected through the doorway. His attitude was that of a strained listener; and had I not been there to testify to the contrary, one might have sworn that he received a warning not to enter. The silence, however, remained absolutely unbroken.

All at once a shudder convulsed his frame. He slowly withdrew his head, as if fearful of disturbing the house's lifeless occupant. Next he deliberately closed the door, without entering at all.

Miss Cooper turned to me in blank amazement, and for a moment I confess that I was nonplussed myself by such singular conduct. But in a second I comprehended: the fellow was afraid.

I laughed quietly, and explained to my companion:

"He expected to find the house thronged with people, and the undisturbed stillness dismayed him. . . Careful! He's still on the porch, hesitating between desire to enter and fear to make the attempt. Slip quietly into the library; I mean to find out what he's after, if I can. He does n't need to know of your being here."

She colored, and nodded in comprehension, and at once tripped across the hall, carrying with her the card and jewel-box.

"Mind, I shall be close at hand," I whispered after her; which she acknowledged, before the door hid her from me, with one of her bright, friendly smiles.

I then went and threw the front door wide open. Burke jumped as if I had unexpectedly fired a shot at him.

"Come in," said I, dryly.

He stared unblinkingly at me for a moment, but during that moment he recovered his equanimity, and became his customary inscrutable self. It would perhaps be too much to say that the color returned to his face, for it was colorless at all times. However, I knew that for once I had caught the man off his guard.

I surveyed him with derisive contempt.

"I did n't expect to find you here," he said at length.

"And all whom you did expect to find have gone," returned I. "But that's no reason why we should stand holding the door open and filling the house with cold. Come in."

"I don't understand you," said he, hesitating a second longer; "I was looking for no one."

I glanced out for some sign of Stodger, but saw nothing of him. Then I closed the door and placed my back against it.

"Perhaps no one in particular," I observed. "Neither did you anticipate such a forbiddingly empty house. Look here, Burke, what did you come back for?

His eyes might have been actually sightless, his pallid features a lifeless mask, for all the expression they conveyed; there was absolutely no facial sign by which I could even determine whether I commanded his attention; but his hands were never quiet, the slender, nervous fingers twitched unceasingly.

Was his mind occupied by the crack in the library door? For an instant I imagined that he detected Miss Cooper's presence, and my look hardened with a sudden gust of anger; but he immediately answered my question.

"I came for the papers I brought here last evening; they should be returned to the file-case."

"Is Mr. Page wanting them?" I inquired ironically.

"It's not a joking matter, Mr. Swift; it would be decidedly awkward for me to have them misplaced."

"Then I can set your mind at ease: I gave them to Mr. Ulysses White"—naming Mr. Page's lawyer.

Burke elevated the blank expanse where his eyebrows should have been.

"Don't you think," said he, in a tone of hurt surprise, "that you might properly have consulted me before making any disposition of them? I feel, in a way, responsible for all the business affairs which Mr. Page ordinarily entrusted to me."

"I daresay I might have done so," returned I, indifferently, "if you had been present when I handed them to Mr. White. Don't you regard them as being safe with him?

"To be sure—they could 'nt be in safer hands. But it is the implication that I no longer command or deserve the confidence—"

"Pooh!" I unceremoniously cut in. "Burke, if I were you, I'd be a little careful how I emphasized an attitude of innocence toward this affair. There's no implication or innuendo about; I'm only too willing to tell you frankly that I am something more than suspicious of you. I know that you haven't told everything you might about this murder. You're lucky that I have n't run you in before this. Is that plain enough?"

He recoiled a step, with a queer, hissing intake of breath.

"Swift, he muttered, "I have half a mind to make you prove your words."

"Do," said I, grimly. "I would like nothing better."

He stared at me so long that it gave me an uncanny feeling. I broke the silence with a blunt demand.

"Burke, where's that ruby?"

"Don't try to browbeat me," he said through his teeth. "Please understand that you are not dealing with a criminal, and I don't propose to be bulldozed by any fat-witted sleuths."

I laughed in his face.

"Maybe it will interest you to know that I have wit enough to contrast your secretive manner with Maillot's willingness to talk, and to draw the one consistent inference therefrom."

The Paternoster Ruby—3.

There is a nervous affliction of the eyes, called by pathologists nystagmus, which is charaterized by a perpetual weaving to and fro of the eyeballs; it is impossible for the unfortunate victim to fix his look upon a given point without the greatest effort. When the attention of such a one is not centred the swaying of his eyes goes on incessantly.

So it was now with Burke's pale orbs and his lean death's head. He seemed to be searching, forever feverishly searching, for something that he could not find. There was something positively repulsive about the man in this new guise, although the change was so subtle that I was unable to define it. At last he spoke.

"Swift," he said, scarcely above a whisper, "I'm a peaceable man; nevertheless I resent your aspersions. I can't do it openly in the circumstances; this murder ties my hands; but—damn you!" he suddenly spat at me, "if my silence would hang Royal Maillot, I'd bite my tongue out before I'd ever utter another word. There you have it."

I stared at him in astonishment. Was it possible that this cold-blooded creature could harbor an emotion as fiery as hatred,

"What have you against Maillot?" I sternly asked, after a pause.

His bloodless upper lip, thin and flexible, curled in a smile; there was a momentary flash of his teeth.

"You're a detective," he said; "find out."

I pondered, still regarding him.

"So," said I at last, "it's to be warfare between you and me, is it? Very well. Take care, Burke, for I do mean to find out. And I promise you that when I do you'll get all you have coming to you."

He knew that I was more or less at sea; he had divined that in my own mind I had already cleared him of the actual murder.

"Thank you," he now had the impudence to say suavely. "Forewarned is forearmed, you know."

"You get out of here, Burke," I said, without heat, eyeing him steadily.

"Do you mean," he asked quickly, "that I'm not to have an opportunity to ascertain whether I left any of my possessions here?" I fancied that he was disconcerted.

"I mean that I haven't any time to waste on you," I replied, evenly. "I'm busy now; but I'll take care of you when the time comes. If you want to go to any other part of the house, be quick about it."

Again his voice dropped.

"You intend to go with me—I see. I'm not to be trusted. I'll submit to no such indignity."

"Just as you choose."

He moved over to the door. There was no use questioning him further, because all his defences were up. But I watched him steadily—as I would have watched any other dangerous animal that I was not at liberty to crush.

At the door he paused and looked back; for the briefest instant his restless glance lingered upon an indefinable point up the stair-well. So thereabouts lay the centre of interest, did it?

The door was open; he turned again to me.

"I'll go," he said, "and—"

"And you need not come back," I broke in curtly. "This house will not be unguarded for one second until the ruby is found."

I felt, rather than saw, that the blank eyes flashed venomously.

"You devil!" he hissed, slipping hastily through the narrow aperture—"you devil!"

Next instant he was gone. And I drew a great breath of relief.

When I turned round Miss Cooper was advancing from the library, her eyes bright with suppressed excitement.

"What a horrid creature!" exclaimed she. "I heard all, Mr. Swift; no wonder Uncle Alfred despises the man."

I looked sharply at her: what earthly reason should Alfred Fluette have for despising Felix Page's private secretary? But of this later. If I was not much mistaken, Miss Cooper held in her hand the cause of her present pleased agitation.

"FIGHTING BOB" DEAD

Rear-Admiral Evans of U.S. Navy Passes Away Suddenly.

Celebrated Naval Officer Who Commanded the Battleship Iowa in Sampson's Fleet at Santiago Has Had a Busy Career—Taken With an Acute Attack of Indigestion When In Best of Health.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, retired, died suddenly last night of acute indigestion. He had been apparently in the best of health up to the minute he was stricken.

Admiral Evans, one of the most popular men in the United States navy, arose yesterday morning apparently in better health than he has enjoyed for some time. He lunched at two o'clock and almost immediately afterward was stricken. Dr. S. S. Adams was called hurriedly, but the naval officer lapsed into unconsciousness, dying at 4.45 o'clock.

Admiral Evans started the battleship fleet in its cruise around the world, resigning command at San Francisco because of his approaching retirement from the service. From President Taft down, officials of the Government last night expressed the deepest regret over his sudden demise.

Robley Dunglison Evans was born Aug. 16, 1846, in Floyd County, Virginia, and educated in the public schools of Washington. He graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1863, and was made an ensign in October of that year. He participated in both attacks on Fort Fisher in January, 1865, and in the land attack received four severe rifle shot wounds. He achieved his lieutenancy in 1866, became a lieutenant commander in 1868, and a commander in 1878. When in command of the Yorktown in 1891, at Valparaiso, Chile, his conduct when American sailors were attacked, earned for him the name of "Fighting Bob" Evans.

He was promoted to a captaincy in 1893, and in 1898 commanded the battleship Iowa in Sampson's fleet, taking an active part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet off Santiago, Cuba. He was appointed president of the board of inspection and survey, and was made a rear-admiral on Feb. 11, 1901.

He was commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, 1902-4, and commanded the Atlantic fleet from 1905 to 1907. He retired on Aug. 18, 1908.

Since his retirement he has devoted himself to writing his memoirs and to the directorate of oil fields in California.

Thugs In Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 4.—Four men working together holding up innocent citizens is the latest in Vancouver thugdom.

A young Englishman, James Malcolm, who was walking home on Melville street just after midnight, was the victim. He met two men who stopped him.

One, pointing a gun, said: "Give us your valuables quick." Just at that moment the young man noticed two other men on the opposite side of the street walking. Ducking away from a possible shot from the hold-up men, Malcolm ran across the street, shouting for aid from the new arrivals and they received him with open arms with another revolver. They pressed the gun in his ribs and held him so he could not get away. The first two men walked away, apparently assured that their two comrades would do the job well. The young man was relieved of $18 in cash and a heavy overcoat before being told to walk homeward.

Shoe Machinery Case.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—Testimony was given before the commission investigating complaints against the business methods of the United Shoe Machinery Co. of Canada yesterday afternoon by G. A. Slater, president of the G. A. Slater, Limited.

The witness stated that, in his opinion, its methods were calculated to hamper trade. He declared the Canadian company compelled those using its machines to use old types long after new ones had been put out and that improved machinery was not introduced into Canada until the United States market had been supplied.

He also objected to the tieing clause, under which users of the company's machinery were bound to lease machinery for a certain period, and only to use machinery of certain make in connection with it, considering this took away from the independence of the shoe manufacturer.

DIED IN TORONTO OF DIPTHERIA

Son of Mr. Joseph Turnbull Was on Visit to Aunt

The funeral of the late Harold Bass Turnbull, the four year old son of Mr. Joseph Turnbull, 485 Patterson street, took place last night to the Little Lake cemetery.

The particulars of his death are unusually sad, he having been stricken with an attack of diphtheria while on a visit to his aunt, Mrs. McGill, at Toronto, and he passed away on New Year's day. On account of the nature of the disease, the body had to be conveyed here by road. He was a bright youngster, and his parents have the sympathy of their many friends.

NEW TUNEFUL IRISH MELODIES IN "LOVES YOUNG DREAM"

Charming Play and Bright Music on Tuesday Night Next at the Grand Opera House

Fiske O-Hara in Robert E. Irwin's superb production of "Love's Young Dream' is announced as the attraction at the Grand, on Tuesday, next January 9th. The reports of the production that have heralded its coming are extremely flattering both to the star and the play. A pretty and romantic tale of Irish chivalry has had woven into it the characters of that brilliant period of nearly two centuries ago in Ireland, when the land was dotted over with the homes of the nobility and the times developed more stange characters than perhaps any other epoch in the country's history. As a dashing young Irish physicain fighting for the possession of the woman he loves, Mr. O'Hara gives an impersonation of one of the most fascinating of types. His rare personality, wonderful musical talent and intelligent analysis of such roles make him unique as an actor and easily the best in his line to-day.

Fiske O'Hara is said to be singing more sweetly and has a finer selection of songs this season than ever. One of the songs that he is introducing and singing in his own inimitable way, is the famous lyric of Tom Moore, from which his play has taken its name, "Love's Young Dream" This, with other old and new compositions make up a collection of rare merit and attractiveness.

The seat sale opens Saturday morning.

THE BLUE BIRD, IN TORONTO

Wonderful Scenic Production Coming to Royal Alexandra Theatre

The new theatre's famous production of the "Blue Bird," the exquisite fantasy by Maeterlinck, will be presented at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, for two weeks starting Monday, Jan. 8th, with matinees Thursdays and Saturdays.

No recent play has made quite so profound a sensation in America or Europe, with its beautiful philosophy, rare humor and pathos, it has charmed playgoers of all ages and all countries. In New York, where it was produced at the New Theatre, this so-called literary drama, scored the greatest popular success of the season, attaining a run of 268 performances. In England, France, Germany and Austria, it has met with the same huge success, while in Russia fifty-two different companies are now playing it throughout the Provinces.

This season a number of innovations from the London, Paris, Berlin and Moscow productions have been added to the original New Theatre production, better to interpret the symbolism and poetry of the piece.

Indeed, so carefully has the drama been staged, to bring out all the fanciful flights of the poet's imagination, and to make vivid his wonderful descriptions, that the New Theatre production of "The Blue Bird" is probably the most marvellous bit of stage-croft that has ever been witnessed. Certainly, no scenes have yet been conceived that can compare in beauty and compelling weirdness with "The Palace of the Night," "The Kingdom of the Past," "The Land of Happiness" and the other lands born of the poet's imagination, where Mytyl and Tyltyl have their adventures.

In "The Blue Bird" Maeterlinck has revealed a new and comforting philosophy of life, expressing it through the light and delicate fancy of the pursuit by two children of the blue bird, the symbol of happiness. They are accompanied on their journey by "Bread," a jolly grotesque individual, "Milk," a beautiful, timid creature; "Water," a flowing, sylph-like girl; "Fire," a hissing, tempestuous youth; "Sugar," a silly chap with candy hands; the faithful "Dog," the sly, scheming "Cat" and other things and animals embodied in human form by the magic of fairy Beryylune.

So intricate are the various scenic effects that nearly a year was spent in the preparation of them. Beauty, fantasy, wisdom, humor, and a delightful tenderness are all blended into one.

"The Blue Bird" brings tears to the eyes and then chases them away with laughter; plunges you in revery and then startles you with some joyous surprises. Children and those who like to take their amusement lighter, derive infinite pleasure from the amusing actions and witty sayings of things and animals turned into human beings. To those who look deeper, however, the author has furnished a bottomless well of mysticism, romance and inspiring symbolism.

Particular attention will be given to out-of-town orders; mail orders with remittances and a self-addressed stamped envelope will receive prompt attention. All orders should be addressed to Manager Lawrence Solman, Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto.

Kinemacolor Pictures to be Shown in Opera House Commencing To-day, Promises Great Treat for Public

Commencing to-night, grand exhibitions will be given at the Opera House of the work of Kinemacolor, a process for the presentation of moving pictures in the original colors of nature.

Animated pictures are familiar to the eye of most everyone, but animated pictures in natural colors are something new to science.

Many have seen colored moving pictures before, but those were colored by artificial means either by hand or by machinery. Only simple pictures could be so treated. In the Kinemacolor pictures there is no hand work of any description, yet the coloring has been done by the most powerful and beautiful artist the world has everseen. The artist who works for Kinemacolor is the same great power that paints the beautiful colors of the flowers of the garden; and that puts the green into the country, the golden yellow into the cornfields, the blue into the sea the dazzling colors of the peacock's tail, the gorgeous coloring into sunset skies—namely the beautiful Sun above our heads. The Sun pours down his abundant beams and lights up the world with his rays of peerless color. The Sun enters the lenses of the Kinemacolor cameras and reflects the various scenes in their natural colors and in every movement.

The bulk of the pictures to be exhibited here are scenes of the recent Coronation festivities, only just received in Canada. Although these form only a portion of the entire set taken by the Kinemaclors operators they form a much fuller and comprehensive view of the thing than has hitherto been shown, while the reproduction of the natural colors in varying degrees of vividness— the scarlet and crimson and purple and gold of the ceremonial costumes being especially strong— naturally it places them in a class by themselves as concerns their effect of reality. Views of London under its mantle of timber and scantling and gay bunting also assist materially in conveying what may be termed the "atmosphere" of the Coronation.

This company comes direct from a two weeks engagement at Massey Hall, Toronto. During the display of the films. Mr. Sydney Herbert, a lecturer of exceptional ability will give, his entertaining talk on this series of wonderful pictures. A special musical program has been arranged for this series of views and will be rendered by the gifted young pianist, Miss Florence Virkler.

PETERBORO'S BIG POULTRY SHOW ON NEXT WEEK

Everything looks bright and promising for the annual three day show next week of the Peterborough Poultry Association, and indications are that the exhibition of 1912 will be the best in the history of this fine organization, of which Peterborough may well be proud. During the past few weeks in particular the birds of its members have been shown at Guelph, Orillia, Cannington and other places, and carried off a large number of special and other prizes. Of late it has become known by breeders of the province that they must send their best birds to the Peterborough show if they expect to capture any of the cups or prize money, and this year's entry list will eclipse all others. More coops have been secured, the specials number in the neighborhood of seventy-five, in some cases the prize money has been increased in fact every department of the exhibition shows growth, and it is expected that the citizens of Peterborough will give a liberal patronage on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The directors, officers and members are working faithfully in the interests of the show and their efforts are deserving of co-operation. They are boosting Peterborough by endeavoring to attach to this city the name of the home of the premier Poultry Association and Poultry Show of the province.

The market hall should be the objective point, not only of hundreds, but of thousands on the three days.

NEW HALF MILE TRACK FOR THE LOCAL HORSEMEN

Mr. F. J. Daly is Behind Scheme—Three Properties to Choose From.

Peterborough has a rosy chance of having for next summer a new half-mile race track, and the man behind the proposition is Mr. F. J. Daly, part owner of Angus Pointer, jr. Three properties well suited to fill the bill are in mind and Mr. Daly proposes to push the new scheme and give Peterborough one of the best tracks in the province.

It appears that the Exhibition officials refuse to pull with the local horsemen and have refused to allow the local steppers to workout at the exhibition park. Dr. Johnston's Harry Direct was to have been entered in the races at Ottawa, which start to-day, but his owner was refused permission to send him around the track at the Exhibition grounds and he is not in the condition necessary for the keen competition which would be met with at the races at the Capital.

For this winter a track has been laid out at the Canal, just north of the golf links and the sport will be confined to that place. The local horsemen state that they are through with the exhibition people and will run their own show in the future.

Mr. Daly has gone to Ottawa for the races. Angus Pointer, jr., has been entered.

LOCAL O.H.A. SEASON OPENING TO-NIGHT

Juniors Will Try Hard to Land First Game With Cobourg.

There will no doubt be a big crowd at the rink to-night, then the Juniors stock up against the husky Cobourg seven in the first game of the season. The Lakeshore town, it is said, has a fast aggregation and are coming with every intention of taking first honors to their credit. The local boys are in good shape having greatly benefited by the training at the Y.M.C.A.

Harvey Sproule, who was such a favorite with the teams and fans in this district last season will handle the bell to-night.

Peterboro Intermediates have but one game next week when they journey to Belleville on Friday.

The Juniors rest up after their game with Cobourg to-night till a week from next Thursday, when the colts go to Port Hope.

Junior O.H.A. encounter billed for Belleville to-morrow night has been postponed because of lack of ice in the new rink.

New Glasgow with Jiddy Miller at left wing won their initial league game against the Crescents by a score of 9-4.

The new sweaters it is expected will be handed out to the Juniors to-night.

SOME DON'TS FOR TO-NIGHT

DON'T HISS because the referee is only human, and Solomon, wise as he was, had his mistakes.

DON'T KNOCK. Its the first game. The player who misses a pass does not do it intentionally. He may score the deciding goal later on.

BIG FINE IMPOSED

Conviction Against A.G. Lawless for Illegal Sale of Liquor.

Judgment was given in the Lakefield liquor case at 11.30 this morning by County Magistrate with the result that A. G. Lawless was fined $100 and costs. The decision was given in the office of the Magistrate Messrs. G. N. Gordon and R. Ruddy, being present.

According to the evidence given at the trial a number of the members of the Turtle Lake Hunt Club, with a number of their friends, had decided to take a trip back to their quarters at Turtle Lake. They commissioned Mr. Lawless who was going with them, to procure a quantity of liquor for the party. Mr. Lawless accordingly sent down to Peterboro for the liquor, and inspector Stewart was made aware that it was going to the village in a livery rig, and just as the rig with the liquor arrived in front of the town hall, it was seized by the constable. The result was that Mr. Lawless was summonsed for selling liquor without a license. The evidence taken showed that Mr. Lawless had no intention of breaking the law, but merely ordered the liquor to accomodate his friends. The magistrate reserved judgment for a week. Mr. Haverson of Toronto and Mr. G.N. Gordon of Peterboro, appeared for the defendant, and Mr. Ruddy of Peterborough appeared for the Crown.

The Little Widow.

A Toronto editor tells the following story—therefore, it is not necessarily true.

To a certain Ontario city, there came a charming widow on a visit and her victims were many and moneyed. One of her most ardent admirers was about to make a trip to Winnipeg, and she asked him to go to the cemetery and place a wreath of flowers on the grave of her Dear Departed. He promised to fulfil this mournful mission and, faithful to his trust, proceeded to the Winnipeg place of burial carrying a profusion of chrysanthemums.

What was his surprise to find two graves in the lot, each provided with a stone on which were inscribed the virtues of the beloved husband. The later one, however, conveyed a shock in the final quotation: "Be Thou Also Ready!"

Absentminded Member.

Not long after Hon. W. J. Hanna's appointment to the portfolio of Provincial Secretary, he was in the office of Premier Whitney, when there entered a certain Methodist minister of Conservative "leanings." The Premier introduced him to Mr. Hanna, remarking, "Mr. Hanna is a strong Methodist, Dr. C——."

The Doctor beamed on the Provincial Secretary and asked: "Let me see! Who is in charge in Sarnia now?"

Mr. Hanna replied: "Oh, he's all right, Mr. ——, Mr. ——. Oh, hang it all, I've forgotten his name."

FLEETWOOD

Fleetwood, Jan. 1.—The annual Xmas entertainment held in the Methodist church here, was a grand success. The weather was not at all favorable during the early part of the evening, yet in spite of this by seven o'clock the church was fairly well filled, and by eight it was packed, many being unable to get seated. Our esteemed pastor, Rev. R. M. Patterson, was selected chairman, and filled the position to perfection, his many pleasing remarks were earnestly listened to.

The program, which consisted fo choruses and dialogues by the school children, were exceptionally well rendered, much of the credit being due the unstinted efforts of Miss Valzie Laidley, our esteemed public school teacher. Others deserving of mention are Miss Inez McCullough, of Lindsay, who quite captivated the audience with her recitations, Mr. Harry Preston, the popular tenor soloist, was present, and was well received.

Rev. W. W. Jones, of Janetville, also rendered material assistance in an excellent bass solo. Miss Laidley also sang a patriotic solo, which was exceptionally well rendered. Santa Claus was there and entertained all with his songs and last, but perhaps not least, were the pieces rendered by a male quartet.

The proceeds amounted to something over $27, which was gratifying to the Sunday school and all present, who went away feeling well pleased with the evening spent at Fleetwood annual Christmas tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Jones, of Peterborough, were visiting relatives in this vicinity last week and returned home on Wednesday.

The municipal elections of the township of Manvers turned out as most people expected they would, and the following will look after the wants of the ratepayers for this year:—Reeve, Joseph Hicksen; Deputy Reeve, James Armstrong; Councillors, S. W. Sisson, Wm. McMaster and William Carbett, the last named is a new man, but he will give a good account of himself for this year.

WARSAW NEWS

Special Correspondence.

Warsaw, Jan. 3.—The Misses White, of Verium, were the guests of Mrs. Richard Deen during Christmas week.

Mr. Sinkler, of Essex, is the guest of Mr. John Selkirk.

As yesterday was the election of reeve and councillors, there was quite an exciting day in Warsaw. Mr. Rork Ferguson was elected Reeve over Mr. John Darling, with a majority of 20. The councillors elected are Mr. Jas. Greystock, Mr. Nathan Payne, Mr. Albert Webster and Mr. Hugh McDonald in the east.

A skating adventure which two two young people will not forget for some time to come, occurred last Tuesday afternoon. While Master Willie Aitkins and Miss Grace Darling were skating on the pond they ventured too far up the pond on a strip of ice which had open water on each side, when suddenly the ice broke and let them in. They were soon rescued and escaped with nothing more than a good ducking.

Mr. and Mrs. William Archer are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Clifford.

A Royal Arch meeting will be held to-morrow night in North Dummer Lodge. There will be five candidates for the Arch Degree.

The Presbyterian Sunday school is holding their annual concert to-night instead of New Year's night, as is the custom.

Mr Thomas Dunsford, of Lakefield, and his daughter Gertie, were guests of Mrs Henry Clements on Christmas Day.

Mr Marmion Clements, who has been visiting in Highland Grove and Clysdale, has returned home.

INDIAN RIVER

Special Correspondence.

Indian River, Jan. 2.—We wish you all a Happy New Year.

The Indian River bachelors please remember that the present year is a Leap Year. In all likelihood it will not be necessary to call any more meetings of the club, but the Benedicts' Club should receive a big boost.

The elections are over for another year, and for Otonabee the western portion has much too much the best of it.

Among those who were home for a portion of the Xmas week were Mess Thomas, Joseph and George Whibbs, at Mr. A. Whibbs'; Joseph and May Collins, at J. C. Collins'; Mr. Earl, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kidd, at Mrs. S. A. Kidd's, also Mr. Gordon Earle, of Toronto.

Mr. H. H. Sheldon, of Brockville, is renewing old acquaintances in the neighborhood.

Mr Frank Sullivan was home for the holidays, also James Fitzgerald spent the week at his home here.

LAKEHURST NEWS

Special Correspondence

Lakehurst, Jan 3—Another Christmas with all its festivities has passed into history. Old Santa's annual visit caused the usual amount of rejoicing and people are just beginning to settle down to everyday life once more.

The Christmas tree held on Monday night was well attended, the school house which is deplorably small for such an occasion, being packed to its utmost capacity. The lack of space also proved a great hindrance to the entertainment, which, however, was as good as could be expected under the circumstances. Mr. Bain was chairman and filled the position in his usual happy manner.

The basket social held in S.S. No. 4 was a success in every sense of the word. The building was beautifully decorated and as well filled as was compatible with comfort. The baskets realized a good figure and all seemed to enjoy themselves to the utmost.

Mr. James Wilson entertained a number of the young people at a party at his home on Thursday evening. An extremely enjoyable time was spent, and it is hoped that the party may be a forerunner of many similar ones.

We regret to learn that Mr. Fred. Esson was not enjoying his usual good health last Wednesday, but hope he has recovered ere this.

The Lakehurst boys who have been working in the camps north east of here spent Christmas at home.

Messrs. G. Weir and H. Stevenson attended a party at the home of Mr. Speence of Rockcroft on Christmas night.

Miss Bell Wilson of Fenelon spent Christmas at her home here.

Miss Ethel Clarkson of Peterboro spent Christmas with her parents.

Miss Elizabeth Smith of Toronto and Misses Jean and Gwen Smith of Peterboro spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Misses Sue and Lizzie Weir of Orillia are spending their holidays with their parents here.

Miss Mary Smith of Valetta spent part of her holidays at her home here.

Miss Annie Smith is visiting friends in Otonabee.

Mr and Mrs. Jas. Coons spent Christmas at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. Anderson of Keene.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Shearer spent Christmas with Mrs. Geo. Patterson of Indian River.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE MEETINGS AT STEWART'S HALL, OTONABEE

Excellent Addresses by Agricultural Experts. "The Selection & Training of Horses" Educatively Treated by C. W. Gurney. Other Speakers Well Received.

The first of the winter meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers Institute opened very encouragingly on Wednesday afternoon at Stewart's hall in Otonabee. The initial meeting was fairly well attended and great enthusiasm was displayed by those who did attend. Mr. C. W. Gurney, of Paris and Mr. E. S. Hopkins, of Norwood, the latter the Peterborough District representative of the Agricultural department, were the main speakers present, the former giving a very intelligent and interesting lecture on the "Selection and Training of Horses."

Mr. Gurney's address was the first on the afternoon program, and by the aid of charts picturing horses, his talk was made exceptionally interesting. The shapes of the heads of the horses illustrated were pointed out by Mr. Gurney as indicative of various characteristics pertaining to different horses and he clearly showed how the temperament of a horse can be plainly recognized by certain out-standing features.

PEDIGREE IMPORTANT.

"Pedigree is very important," said Mr. Gurney, "in choosing your horse. Any person going into the horse-breeding business should invariably fix a type in his mind of the class of animal he wishes. It takes a great deal of care and good environment to bring a horse up to a high standard.

"Select your best mare and then be sure to take her to a good stallion and one of recognized good quality. Under-sized stallions are about the worst kind we have got, and many farmers are under a misapprehension regarding the quality of a stallion.

There is nothing better for keeping a boy on the farm, like giving him a good horse. A little money put on a good horse is a great thing to invest in, and tends to create a pardonable pride in your animals.

"A horse that stands up well is one that is always envied and to cultivate this habit is greatly to be desired. In the stallion one thing is absolutely necessary and that is a masculine appearance. It is necessary in every class of cattle. There should be nothing effeminate in the body or head of any good stallion. There should be good width between the ears, a good strong forehead and firm sloping shoulders. The latter is necessary in every case. With a sloping shoulder almost always goes a good prominent breast.

A little droop at the hind quarters is not objectionable, but on the contrary, it is often advantageous. The tendency is a good one. A horse, however, with too much muscle and meat on the thigh is not, however, to be sought.

"In regard to the feet, a great deal has been said about unsoundness. We like a broad hock and tapering well in front. A horse is never born with unsoundness, but it generally comes through wrong habits of breeding.

"A big roomy loose mare will lose more foals than do the stronger more compact mares. The more compact the better they get along, and the tendency to longevity is bound up in quality.

"Regarding the breeding of mares, farmers by necessity are forced to breed mares."

METHODS OF BREEDING.

"In breeding your mare give her a little bit of a chance. Don't work her too hard. Give a stallion a good smart trot every day. It gives him a vigor every time. It is the same with a mare. Don't work her in harness to excess, but allow her a brisk trot regularly. Great care and precaution should be taken to keep the mare and stallion in a clean, healthy condition.

Mr. Guerney also favored the artificial breeding of foals.

"The early foals are most liable to live. Don't let a mare on very much grass as it is deleterious to them during foal." Along foaling time a mare needs to be watched. In foaling there are several very important and vital matters to be guarded all of which the speaker described minutely.

At the conclusion of Mr. Guerney's address, an opened discussion was allowed and many of those present had their horse-training problems solved by the speaker. His address was heartily applauded.

MR. E. S. HOPKINS

Chairman J. H. Garbutt, the president of the Institute, called upon Mr. E. S. Hopkins for the next address. Mr. Hopkins' topic was relative to "Drainage," and he treated the subject in a most up-to-date and comprehensive manner.

The speaker referred to a few of the benefits of drainage, which he considered were of main importance.

Look at drainage from the standpoint of fertility and how it can be adapted to the farm. A 12" drain is as large as is necessary for a tile drain. "Where should we distinguish a tile or an open drain?" The open drains are practically a necessity in nearly every case. The speaker did not favor a too technical address on drainage, but a more practical treatment of the subject. Mr. Hopkins referred to a plan he carried of the best system of drainage to his knowledge, which he presented to his hearers for their inspection.

The question of grading is a source of difficulty to many farmers. The best plan is the overhead line which is generally adopted and which has been found to be successful every time. The plan was described simply by the speaker in such a manner as to easily understood.

The question comes, where and to what depths the drains should be placed?

For average soil about 60 feet apart is the correct distance, although 30 feet apart have been put in. One professor says that three feet is the correct depth, although the condition of the soil must be considered. With regard to protecting the outlet, unless you have a good system you practically have no outlet at all. There should be a drop of about six feet at the outlet of the tile. Then there is the question of the sand traps, which in certain cases can be well employed, where deposition of sediment in grades can be looked after. With regard to a traction ditcher, many farmers wonder why there is none in this community. The cost is very high and a certain amount of work must be guaranteed the traction ditcher ere the department will send one.

Mr. Hopkins went thoroughly into the hearing of the law upon drainage there being three of these laws, each of which were thoroughly discussed. A period for discussion also followed the conclusion of Mr. Hopkins' address.

EVENING SESSION.

The institute session was resumed in the evening at eight o'clock. The attendance filled the hall, and the ladies especially turned out in large numbers.

Mr. Guerney was again called upon to address the gathering first, his subject being the "Training of Horses" his subject being again illustrated by charts.

The preliminary part of the address was confined to describing the correct and only method of breaking in a colt, and of how to gain the first mastery of a spirited and unruly animal. The speaker also illustrated with a rope, some clever knots that have prove of standard efficiency in nearly every case.

After having won the first victory over the animal, the next step is the placing of the harness upon him. In bridling the horse be sure the bridle is not too tight. In one of the diagrams the speaker showed a certain hobble attached to the front fetlocks, which can be used to decided advantage in breaking in a colt, and getting it accustomed to being driven. Take plenty of time in getting the colt hitched up. Possibly the colt will want to get away too quickly. Don't allow him to have his way, but force him to walk, and make the colt see that you are the master.

Mr Gurney's address was extremely well recited, and he was heartily applauded at the finish of his address.

DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE.

E. S. Hopkins was the next speaker, taking as his subject "The work of district representatives." "It is the purpose of our live stock short judging courses to educate the farmers along all lines," said the speaker in commencement.

"It is a known fact that we have evolution in agriculture as in other lines. There was a time when farming was not as congenial as now. We hope by Institute meetings to mitigate these uncongenial circumstances and improve conditions on the farm. One professor says that there has been a big increase in farm production, mainly due to better methods of agriculture. In the last 12 years there have been increases in the percentage of the yield per acre of grains, etc. If we could get even bigger increases we undoubtedly have even more uncongenial influences on the farm. The district representatives are employed to disseminate the accumulaative data which has been collected at the agricultural colleges, with a view to creating more interest in farming.

Many farmers, for instance, do not properly cultivate their orchards. The district representatives are now in the habit of making experiments and demonstrating new methods of orchard cultivation, and the system has been found to be of immense value. The Ontario field crop competition also induces good grain raising. Take the subject of agricultural education which is something new. The subject should be part of the curriculum of all the rural schools, and it is the intention of the Department to introduce the subject into the schools.

MR. H. B. COWAN.

Mr H. B. Cowan, editor of Farm and Dairy, who began by asking what had happened to the egg circles in Otonabee. He endorsed Mr. Hopkins' remarks upon the good work the agricultural societies are doing for the province.

"One farmer," said Mr. Cowan, had told him that nineteen out of twenty farmers had mortgages on their farms. Also a large percentage of farmers' children were unable to even read or write. Statistics reveal that there is a tremendous exodus from the farm to the city.

Mr. Cowan gave a very good address and his words received an attentive hearing. A vote of thanks was tendered him on motion of Messrs. Robt. Hanbridge and Deyell.

During the evening meeting two good musical numbers were introduced. The Johnston family of ten children in singing and dancing performed very cleverly and the crowds liberally applauded the number.

Mr. Bert Deyell was heard in two excellent vocal selections.

Miss Annie Deyell was accompanist.

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD SERVICE

During a recent dispute between the Grand Trunk Pacific and their boiler-makers, sympathetic interests with the latter endeavored through several channels to circulate the report that the freight traffic of the Grand Trunk Pacific was badly congested, and they had difficulty in moving freight. The Secretary of the Board of Trade of Watrous Sask., wrote an unsolicited letter to the General Freight agent of the railway, in which he complimented him on the position of the freight conditions on the line. In this letter he gives the information that in connection with the installation of the electric light plant at Watrous they received a carload of machinery on the 9th of Dec. that was shipped from Montreal on November 29th via Grand Trunk route, and says—"A ten day service between Montreal and Watrous appears to us an exceptionally good service under the best of conditions and it certainly does not go to show that your road is tied up in any manner but entirely the opposite, that you are able to handle all freight to the best interests of the shipper. I compliment you on the prompt service rendered.

A whole new council will transact the village business during the ensuing year, the councillors elected being Dr. Kindred, Jno. Howe, Jno. Garrett and Wm. Jones.

J. V. A. Coon	72	87	159
H. Fikner	68	83	151

Robt. Walton	54	77	131
Alex. Primrose	65	58	123

FEATURES OF THE ELECTION.

A whole new council. Weese and Mathison, two of last year's council, were left home. The excitement was at a high fever in town. Dr. Kindred polled the largest vote on the slate. The two contestants for the reeveship are both merchants and both shoe men. Joyce has been reeve of Havelock on two previous occasions.

A mass meeting of the citizens to hear the successful as well as the defeated candidates, was held in the town hall on Monday night. There was a big attendance and an enthusiastic meeting resulted.

BELMONT ELECTIONS

A. A. Wilde was elected reeve of Belmont and Methuen townships. W. Griffith was the defeated candidate. The results up to a late hour on Monday night, showed that the councillors elected would probably be Thos. McConnel, Jas. Kitchen, Wm. Anderson and A. Breckenridge.

Philips and Stillman delighted a good sized audience with their moving pictures in the Opera House on Saturday night. Mr. Claude Riley was heard in several illustrated songs.

NEW YEAR USHERED IN

On the stroke of midnight, Sunday, the village was rudely awakened from its slumbers by the wild clang of the village fire bell as well as the loud shrieking whistling of several locomotives in the C.P.R. yards. Citizens rolled quickly out of bed, cast a few handy garments about them and rushed out into the cold biting frost air to render what assistance they could to save the town from the ruinous fire which the bells and whistles denoted must be raging in some part of the town. However, no reflection could be seen in any direction, but the bells and whistles continued to send their message for help, out upon the night air. The source of the noise was then sought out and what was the anger of the many midnight risers to find that the noise merely meant the passing of another year into history and the entrance into another "happy new year." No murder was committed by those so rudely awakened from their slumbers, although it shone from their eyes as they groped their way home to pacify those who were waiting in terror there and to make some illusions to the boy who in the old fable cried "Wolf! Wolf!" the "Peck's Bad Boy" element has not as yet disappeared from the railroad town.

ELECTRIC POWER OFF

During the strong winds of Sunday evening the local electric light service was affected. In some of the churches the services had to be discontinued while in others oil lamps were pressed into service in order that the day's worship might be completed. The current was put on however, within an hour's time.

The "power" seems to select most inconvenient times for going on the rocks. Just a week ago, on the Saturday previous to Christmas they were not in working order, causing a great deal of inconvenience and loss to the local merchants. Users of the electric lights have need to congratulate themselves however on the improved service oevr that of two months ago.

THE G. WALTER GREEN CO. LTD. EMPLOYES WERE BANQUETED

Annual Gathering of Men and Officials Was a Big Success.

Every likes a winner, and the employes of the G. Walter Green Company Limited, are no exception. They were banqueted as is the usual custom at Hooper's Palm Garden last night and the opportunity was taken to express to Mr. Green, the fighting head of the company, the appreciation of the employes of him.

G Walter Green starced at the bottom rung and climbed, slipping back at times through reverses which came at intervals, but getting a fresh hold every time, he continued his ascent and the busy and growing premises of the company on McDonnel street speak of his energy and perseverance Under his command are men who have worked with him as he with them. On past occasions reference has been made to the loyalty of the employes at the G. Walter Green Co. Limited. That feeling has continued; it has grown and expanded.

It was a happy gathering of upwards of seventy-five at Hoopers last night. It was free and easy and every man together with each of the guests enjoyed the banquet to the full.

Mr. Green held down the big seat and around him were, his brother in law, Mr. John Crothers of Chicago, Mr. F. D. Kerr, Mr. W. R. Morris, Mr. V. Eastwood, Mr. James Maude, foreman of the Machine shop, and Mr. T. O. Donaldson, secretary-treasurer of the company.

THE GRUB WAS GOOD

Mine host "Tommy" Hooper right royally spread the tables with the dishes which brought smiles of approval from the healthy looking crowd. This item on the program was a favorite from the turkey to the fragarnt Havana, which was passed around as a finale. Toasts of the King, the Ladies, the Employes, the Company, the Press, and Mr. Hooper, were proposed and responded to in neat speeches. Interspersed, were musical and vocal selections which showed that the employes have ability along these lines besides that displayed in the busy rush of the company's operations. The entertainers were Messrs. "Harry Lauder" Peace, Brown Hill, Andrews, Mallory sr., and Mallory, jr. Every number was enthusiastically received with cries for more.

THE STARTING POINT

A short account of the uphill fight of Mr. Green, gathered from his remarks as he responded to the toast of the Company, would be right in place here. He has been in Peterboro sixteen years and four days. He started business twenty-five years ago in the city of Dufferin, with half half a dozen pump heads and a ten dollar bill. With the money he bought a horse and brought the pump timber from the woods on his back and then had to do the boring himself! His books went into no safe but rather into an inner pocket of his coat, and some he still retains. He paid $3 a week for board and lodging the horse got hay. Later he managed to obtain a rebate of 25 cents for sweeping out the stable of the hotel. Success and reverses were met with and in connection with his business it was a Mr. Neil who earned the first dollar for him. In their relations, a friendship never to be broken was formed.

Some time after coming to Peterboro the plant was commenced not without some fear and trembling. He had to be cautious. In the lease of the buildings was a clause that called for an order of five tons of scrap iron each year but this was changed to two tons.

Last year the company melted about one thousand tons.

Mr. Green in his speech referred with pride to the loyalty of his men toward him, particularizing on the fact of the employes having evidenced this loyalty when he was absent from the works and city. He remarked that the manufactured goods of the company were to be found on the shores of the Atlantic and on the slopes of the Pacific.

Altogether the banquet was a big success and it was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem and cheers for the company.

PRESENTATION TO EARNEST MAHOOD

His Coldsprings Friends Gave Him Leathered Covered Couch

The home of Mr. Ernest Mahood was visited by a dozen friends from Coldsprings last night, who presented Mr. Mahood with a leather covered couch, in honor of his recent marriage. The couch was carried in from an adjoining house and placed in the parlor and the boys carried Mr. Mahood in blind-folded and placed him on it. The presentation was made by Mr. Herb Peters. Mr. Mahood although taken by surprise, expressed his appreciation in an able manner.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church voted 500 to 88 for church union.

LARGER GRANTS FOR AGRICULTURE

Promised by Hon. Mr. Burrell at Meeting of Dairymen in Campbellford.

Fisher Was Niggardly With His Grants—An Important Address.

Campbellford, Jan. 5.—At the last big public meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Convention, held here last night, Hon. Martin Burrell, the new Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, delivered a short address in which he made promises that the new Government would give more aid to agriculture than the preceding one. He said, in the course of his address: "There is only one criticism I have to make in connection with the last Government, and Hon. Sydney Fisher's administration, and that is that my predecessor was too niggardly. But you have in Mr. Borden one who has deep sympathy with the agricultural interests, and we are doing our utmost to devise a scheme whereby we can give more assistance to the agricultural industries, so that they can help themselves."

Mr. J. R. Dargavel, M. P. P., was chairman, and on the platform were: Senator Derbyshire, Mayor-elect C. J. Owen, Mr. John Webster, M.P. of Brockville, and President Henry Glendinning. Other speakers were: President George C. Creelman of the Agricultural College at Guelph, and Mr. A. D. McIntosh of Sterling.

Mr. A. D. McIntosh of Sterling, district representative of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, spoke on "How to Apply the Need of Dairy Education." Canada, he said, had an unparalleled system of education and one recognized the world over as a model. There were some defects though. These defects were responsible for the exodus of young people from the farm. The action of the Provincial Government in appointing district representatives to visit the farmers and find out what problems they were facing was a move toward remedying these defects. He advocated organizing agricultural classes in the public and high schools. Next Monday, he said, such a class would be opened in the Sterling High School, and a large number of pupils had been enrolled. The course will be of six weeks' duration.

RUSSIANS BUSY HANGING PERSIANS

Tabriz, Jan. 5.—The hanging of Fidais by the Russians continues. Three of the Fidais were hanged Wednesday night and their bodies displayed on the gallows yesterday. Many arrests are being made, and several houses of Fidais and nationalists have been blown up. The prisoners who were brought in by Shua-ed-Dowleh, brother of the ex-shah, when he arrived here on January 2 to assume the governorship, were handed over to the Russians, who marched them to camp with chains around their necks. All the houses in the neighborhood of the Russian camp have been wrecked.

The general feeling among Persians is that the situation will become normal when the governorship has been placed in the hands of Shua-ed-Dowleh.

At the present time Tabriz is controlled by a Russian general, who is quartered in the governor's palace.

$100,000 School Opened.

Berlin, Jan. 5.—The formal opening yesterday morning of Berlin's new $100,000 public school was a forward movement in educational work here. The new school is a nine-roomed one and provides accommodation for third and fourth classes. There were 450 in attendance yesterday.

The new school fills a long felt want in public school life, and provides for the "95 per cent.," something not heretofore enjoyed, that is, a graduate of this school will be armed with a diploma with which he can enter the third form at high school.

The dedication of the school will take place on Jan. 12, at which the Hon. Dr. Pyne will be present.

BISHOPS TO BE BANISHED

Lisbon, Jan. 5.—Following the punishment of the Patriarch of Lisbon, Mgr. Anthony Mendes Bello, who was ordered to be expelled on Dec. 28 by the Portuguese Government for two years, all the Portuguese bishops yesterday proclaimed their independence from the Government. The Minister of Justice, in reply to a communication from them notifying him of their decision, declared that if they persist in their refusal to recognize the civil authorities they will all be expelled from Portugal. At the same time he will hold them responsible for any disturbance.

Gave Himself Up to Police.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Jos. Devine, known in police circles, is under arrest for assault on Charles Selsby, a well known citizen. The alleged assault occurred on May 7. The accused has been out of the city, but gave himself up to the police yesterday.

Sustained the Call.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Kingston presbytery sustained the call extended by St. Andrew's Church to Rev. S. J. Compton of Ballymoney, Ireland, and submitted the call to his presbytery for approval and acceptance.

Row In Separate School Board.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Separate school elections did not suit some of the members of the board and it is reported that two or three will resign. This is the second row on the board within a year.

PROBABILITIES

Strong westerly to northwesterly winds, light local snow falls or flurries, but generally fair and very cold to-day and on Saturday.

HEIR TO MILLIONS, IN ACTUAL WANT

New York, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Julia Curtiss Lawrence complained to the Supreme Court yesterday that although she was heir to more than $20,000,000 from the estate of her aunt, the late Mary G. Pinckney, she was in actual poverty at the present time. Mrs. Lawrence asked the court to have the estate partitioned so that she may be able to support herself. Her desire to have this done was particularly prompted by the fact that there is more than $2,000,000 due her immediately, she said, as the result of a recent sale of a portion of the Pinckney estate, the value of which is estimated at between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000.

Guarding McManigal.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—Ortie E. McManigal, confessedly a member of the dynamiting staff of John J. McNamara, was not brought into this city last night, as was expected, but will reach here in time to testify before the federal grand jury on Monday. Agents of the Department of Justice yesterday guarded with greatest secrecy the whereabouts of McManigal, and prepared to prevent the time of his arrival from becoming known.

It is believed that he may have been taken from a train by the detectives in charge and lodged in an intermediate city. Federal authorities said they feared some sort of vengeance against him unless his movements were carefully hidden.

Fell From Window.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Michael Tremblay, aged 83, acidentally fell 20 feet from one of the windows at the House of Industry, where he is an inmate and will die from his injuries. His former home was in Ernstown.

Editor Wants to Be Mayor.

Vancouver, Jan. 5.—This was nomination day for civic offices. Mayor L. D. Taylor, editor of The World, is being opposed by James Findlay, former president of the Conservative Association of Vancouver.

TWO INDIANS MURDERED

Wallaceburg, Jan. 5.—Late yesterday the body of Hiram John, one of the Indians murdered on Walpole Island, was found in the St. Clair River near the scene of the crime.

Blood spattered over the walls and floors and little tufts of human hair former the gruesome sight which greeted the neighbors when in response to the sound of shots they hurried to the house of Charles Nahdee, an Indian, living on Chicken Island, part of the Walpole reserve.

The appearance of the place pointed to a desperate battle. The belief is entertained by the Indians that Nahdee was killed for his money.

Induction at Brantford.

Brantford, Jan. 5.—Rev. G. A. Woodside, formerly of Owen Sound, was inducted here last night into the pastorate of Zion Church. Rev. Mr. Scott, moderator of the Paris presbytery presided. Rev. Matheson of Drumbo delivered the address to the people and Rev. R. G. MacBeth of Paris to the minister. Rev. H. M. Paulin of Woodstock also assisted. The new minister in his reply made an excellent impression and his pastorate will doubtless prove a popular one.

A. T. Day was unanimously chosen by the new-elected school board here last night as chairman for 1912.

JUMPED FROM SECOND STORY

Guelph Man Died of Exposure at Toronto

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Clad only in his shirt and trousers, James McClurken, of Guelph, leaped from the second storey window of the Hotel Rupert, at the corner of Queen and Parliament streets, some time during the night, and died of exposure shortly after being found by a policeman. McClurken had not been drinking and he appeared rational last night.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Destroyed Shack at the Hand's Fireworks Plant Hamilton

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Jan. 5.—A terrific explosion destroyed shack 13 of Hand's fireworks plant this morning, and the fire which followed threatened for a time to reach tons of high explosives stored in nearby buildings. All the employes escaped injury.

Equal Treatment Wanted.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Chairman Smithers of the G.T.R., discussing the American proposal of preferential treatment upon the opening of the Panama Canal, said he interpreted the Hay-Pauncefote treaty as guaranteeing equal treatment to vessels of all nations passing through the Panama Canal. He wouldn't like to commit himself to any forecast of the changes, which the opening of the canal was likely to bring, but so far as Canadian lines were concerned considerable traffic carried westward to the Pacific for shipment to Europe might be witnessed. He had no doubt that English ships would still carry the bulk of the overseas Canadian trade whether it be conveyed across the Pacific or the Atlantic.

Sold Liquor Illegally.

St. Catharines, Jan. 5.—Momer Bergon, convicted here yesterday of keeping liquor for sale on his premises, near Queenston quarries, was fined $25 and $11 costs. He endeavored to escape punishment by claiming that he had purchased the liquors for neighbors, but H. Cole, the Niagara Falls wholesaler, who made the sale, swore differently.

No Heat, No Fare.

Winnipeg, Jan. 5.—As a result of failure to heat the street cars by the Winnipeg Railway Co., the Board of Control yesterday discussed the advisability of passing a bylaw to prevent fares being collected in cold cars. With the mercury at 30 below yesterday many cars had no heat and many passengers refused to pay fares.

PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT OF CHINA AND FLAG OF THE REPUBLIC

DR. SUN YAT SEN. PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN IN THE GARDEN OF DR. SUN'S SINGAPORE HOME EXPRESSLY FOR THE HERALD.

FLAG OF THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA FLYING IN NEW YORK.

The imperial representative at the Shanghai Conference has yielded to the demands of the rebels, and the Manchu army is to be withdrawn, leaving the republicans in control pending the people's decision. Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been elected Provisional President, and the election was made on the understanding that if Yuan Shih-kai shall accept that office Dr. Sun will take the Vice Presidency. The news of the imperialistic grants was received with great glee by the Chinese republicans in America, and in the heart of New York's Chinatown district wherein is located the rebel headquarters the flag of the Republic was flown to the breezes, as shown above.

TWO FIRES AT GODERICH

Public School Scorched — Grain Elevator Burned

Special to the Review.

Goderich, Jan. 5.—In zero weather the firemen fought two fires this morning, one of which slightly damaged the new public school, while the other burned the top portion of the Western Canada Flour Mills elevator. Much grain was damaged by the water.

Collision Near Wales.

Cornwall, Jan. 5.—There was a bad pitch-in accident on the G.T.R. near Wales yesterday morning, between two freights, one of which was going very slow, when the other came along at great speed, split the van, smashed and derailed cars, and blocked both tracks.

Conductor Boileau of the leading train, was in the van, but escaped with a cut in the head.

The Brockville auxiliary was called out and had one track cleared about 11 a.m.

The International Limited, westbound, was delayed for a short time at Milleroches, and No. 12 local, eastbound express, was delayed west of the wreck.

SQUEEZED CASH OUT OF THE PRINCES

More Money Secured to Fight the Republicans in China—Is Premier Playing a Double Game.

Pekin, Jan. 5.—The court's preparation for residence in Mongolia is believed to be only against an emergency. There has been a report current that a residence for the Emperor and the members of the royal family is being put in order at Fekhe, Mongolia. Additional treasure to that contributed to the Government by the Empress Dowager, has been forthcoming from the palace, and the Empress Dowager has issued an edict addressed to the princes, commanding a loan from each of them for the Imperial cause. This has resulted in further contributions of a few hundred thousand taels.

The foreign banks are experiencing difficulties in converting the bars of gold into silver. Foreign bank notes are no longer current, silver alone being acceptable.

Premier Yuan Shi Kai is being accused of double dealing. It is alleged that he is attempting the destruction of the Manchus financially before conniving in their dethronement, but it is thought that the revolutionaries, whose agents employ every trick, are circulating reports that Yuan is secretly republican, in order to discredit him.

Dynamite discovered along the railway line has been brought to Pekin by a woman. This is the first evidence that the long-standing revolutionary threats are serious. The revolutionaries months ago declared that they would employ dynamite to accomplish their purpose of driving the Manchus out of the Government.

Reports regarding disaffection among the Hankow troops are conflicting. It is believed that the disaffected soldiers number not more than 800. Yuan Shi Kai is making preparations in anticipation of the arrival of the republican army by sea, and for this purpose is despatching troops to the north.

Sent Note to Consuls.

Shanghai, Jan. 5.—Referring to representations contained in the identical note from the foreign powers, comprising Great Britain, United States, Japan, Germany, France and Russia, which was presented by the consuls on Dec. 20, Wu Ting Fang yesterday addressed a note to the consuls, in which he explains the present situation. He says:

"The republic, confiding in Tang Shao Yi's credentials, continued friendly negotiations until they were broken off by the action of the Manchu Government. Tang Shao Yi in refraining from making counter-proposals said that he acquiesced in the reasons, which justified the establishment of a republic in the interests of a peaceful settlement."

Wu Ting Fang expresses surprise and regret at Yuan Shi Kai's long delay in referring the form of government to a national convention. Reviewing recent events, he accuses Yuan Shi Kai of trying to render abortive the agreements already signed by Tank Shao Yi, thus jeopardizing all chances of arriving at the substantial peace desired by the powers.

"Therefore," continues Secretary Wu, "it is with extreme regret that the republican government is compelled to say that the prospects for peace have been wilfully nullified by the Manchu Government, upon whose shoulders will rest full responsibility for a longer period of disturbing indecision, possibly the resumption of hostilities."

Secretary Wu asks that his representations be submitted to the respective Governments.

The identical note from the foreign powers was read to both Tang Shao Yi, the representative of Premier Yuan Shi Kai and to Wu Ting Fang, representing the republicans. The note did not go much further than to express the good-will of the Governments represented and the hope that the peace conference would result in bringing the revolution to a close.

Premiership Abolished.

Nanking, Jan. 5.—President Sun Yat Sen has received a letter from Yuan Shi Kai, insisting that the entire people be permitted to decide upon the form of Government for China, and thanking Sun Yat Sen for his offer of the presidency. The first Cabinet meeting will be held to-day. The position of Premier has been abolished. President Sun admits that the situation is delicate, but is hopeful that Yuan Shi Kai will avoid the terrible bloodshed which must follow the resumption of hostilities.

Rebels Capture Lanchow?

CONFERENCE WITH DOMINION CABINET

Steel Men Ask That Bounty be Renewed for Steel and and Iron Industry.

No Assurance is Given by Government—May be Sent to Tariff Commission.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—A deputation representing the iron and steel industry of Canada, waited on the Government yesterday afternoon and held a protracted conference. There were present J. H. Plummer, head of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co.; Mr. Hobson, for the Hamilton industry, and Thomas J. and George E. Hammond for the Algoma Company.

The steel men appeared with counsel in an effort to obtain from the new Government a restoration of the iron and steel bounties and further encouragement for the industry. They presented a mass of material in the form of statistics, showing the actual degree of prosperity enjoyed by the industry under present conditions. The bounties paid on iron and steel in the last fiscal year amounted to $1,138,748. The iron and steel bounties were paid for twenty-eight years before finally cut off by the late Government, the bounties on pig iron, steel and puddled bars expiring a year ago, and the last bounty, that on wire rods, being paid on the last day of June, 1911.

The deputation left the east block at 6 o'clock without having received any assurance from the Government There is a rather strong probability that the whole question will be turned over to the Tariff Commission, soon to be established. In any event, it is understood the Government does not intend to make any tariff changes this session.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Sloop Belle Malone of Clayton, N.Y., made a record yesterday afternoon when she arrived from Clayton and will load logs for her return trip. A great deal of ice was encountered near Wolfe Island, but the rest of the journey was easy.

PREFERRED WIFE TO MILLIONS

Denver, Col., Jan. 5.—Lawrence Brown, the only son of J. J. Brown, millionaire mine owner of Denver, is compelled to pound a drill in a mine at Victor, Col., in order that his young wife and five weeks old son may have the necessities of life.

More than a year ago Brown met Miss Aileen Horton, a Kansas City debutante. The two were married and young Brown brought his bride to his father's home. The father did not take kindly to the marriage because of the youth of the two, and told his son he would have to shift for himself.

Young Brown said he and his family were happy and that he would not ask his father for support so long as he was able to work.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

FREIGHT TRAIN SNOWBOUND

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 5.—An Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe freight train that has been snowbound near Laird, Kansas, since Dec. 26, was released yesterday. The train crew reported that the snow in Western Kansas is covered with a mass of ice that will bear up horses and cattle. One farmer near Dighton reported that he lost 300 head of cattle in the storm.

Dighton, Jetmore, Ness City and other towns on the Santa Fe have been without train service for several days. Unless wagon communication can be established soon, much suffering will result as supplies are running low.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

The new Civil Service Commission at Ottawa, will tackle the work of investigating the Department of Agriculture first, and this is one of the branches where there is room for much improvement. Hon. Mr. Fisher the late minister of this department spent a big sum of money each year but very little of it went to really help agriculture. The Department of Agriculture has been far from what it should have been, and it is hoped that the new commission will recommend many changes, which will benefit the farmer and fruit grower. It is then up to the government to see that they are carried out.

SOCIALISTS IN GERMANY

Elections to the German Reichstag take place next Friday, and great Socialist gains are predicted. Socialism in Germany has become something of a state creed. State railways, state employment agencies, state telegraphs, old-age pensions, etc., are in operation and the state regulating hand of authority stretches in every direction. And this has all been accomplished without the the Socialists even having controlled the government of any of the Federated states. The more Conservative parties granted these concessions to prevent the advanced sections from getting where they could demand even greater things. But the Socialists are gaining greatly in strength and will make many demands on the new Reichstag. They have gradually worked themselves into a position in Germany, so that to-day they practically "hold the balance of power."

A TYPHOID EXPERIMENT

An interesting experiment is being tried by four hundred officers and men of the National Grand regiment in New York. They have submitted to an experimental inoculation to guard against typhoid. The war department is conducting the experiment. Each man is to be inoculated three times with intervening periods of three days. Physicians claim that only about 1 per cent will suffer from fever and this will only last one day, while 99 per cent will suffer only rom a slight soreness of the arm. Those inoculated are supposed to be rendered immune from typhoid. The inoculation is purely voluntary on the part of the troops. A complete record will be kept of each man and the result will be watched with interest. If the plan works out successfully it should prove of great benefit to the troops, who are stationed in climates where fever claims many victims each year.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Parliament will meet next Wednesday. We can expect a big wind storm about that time.

The Peterborough Poultry Show is a good "ad" for the city and deserves the patronage of the citizens generally.

It has been a case of bump, bump, bump, with the Liberals of Canada ever since Sept. 21st last, and the end is not yet.

A correspondent wants to know when a man is really drunk. We'll let him into the secret. When he buttons his suspenders to his collar button.

But two Liberals in the [illegible] legislature. The leader and one follower. What a healthy opposition. The Liberals have certainly hit the toboggan all along the line.

English and French soothsayers are predicting all kinds of disasters during 1912 but we haven't heard of anyone in this neighborhood losing any sleep over their rantings.

Two fires started in the Globe building and two in the Mail and Empire building. Perhaps some of those hot editorials used during the civic election campaign got loose and have been smouldering ever since.

A chap looking about as healthy as Jack Johnson, called at the Review yesterday looking for a handout. Might as well have tried to pick the pockets of a native savage as to find newspapermen with money at this late day in the week.

The meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, should prove a great benefit to those attending them. Excellent addresses are being delivered by agricultural experts. The Institute is doing a splendid work in this district.

Deserve No Sympathy

Hamilton Spectator.

Britain is said to be threatening intervention in Macedonia and Albania as a protest against the massacres by the Turks. When one considers their outrages in these provinces, and in Armenia as well, it is difficult to fan a single spark of sympathy for them in their present struggle with Italy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucuous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you may have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucuous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
